PARNELL'S MANIFESTO.

WILL BE ISSUED TO HIS FOLLOWERS TO-DAY.

But He No Intention of Resigning the Leadership Will Perhaps Personally Appeal to the Irish People

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Mr. Davitt publishes in The Labor World to-day an appeal to the Irish race at home and abroad. In this he implores the people to rise and show themselves equal to the present emergency, and says that if Parnell remains at the head of the party there can be no hope of saving the cause of Ireland. The Irish party, he says, contains more than one man who is capable of leading it to victory, and there is sufficient patriotism in the party to follow a leader chosen from its own ranks by a majority of its members. In conclusion, he says that whatever decision may be made the Irish cause is imperishable, and he asks the people to pray to God that wisdom and courage may guide those upon whom Ireland's hopes are centred.

The Labor World adds: Mr. Parnell declines to yield to the prayers and requests of his friends. The promptings of duty, patriotism and honor are stifled and in their place are the workings of hidden influences, which if permitted a free rein, will ruin for a generation the chances of Home Rule.

Gladstone to See It Out.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Timothy Healy and Mr. Parnell had a conference to-day in the library of the House of Commons. The feeling among the Nationalist members of parliament is more favorable to Parnell than on Tuesday or yesterday, and the opinion prevails that at the meeting Monday next they will sustain him.

Mr. Gladstone had intended to go to Hawarden to-morrow, but has decided to wait in London the settlement of the crisis in the Home Rule party.

Mr. Parnell had frequent conversations with Mr. Healy during the day, but the latter refused to say anything about the Irish leader's intentions. Parnell appears to be in buoyant spirits and splendid health.

In the House of Commons to-day when Parnell went to record his vote on Labouchere's amendment he passed the Liberal benches and his late allies studiously ignored him.

It is stated that if Parnell remains in the leadership of the Irish party Mr. Sexton and other Irish members will apply for the Chiltern Hundreds and offer themselves for re-election in order to test the feeling of the electors.

The Press Association says Parnell considers he has been most unfairly treated by some of his colleagues who practically owe their position to him. He also feels strongly about Gladstone's attitude and is more determined than ever to remain. If Monday' meeting opposes him he will appeal to the Irish people.

Will be Asked to Resign.

It is understood that at Monday's meeting of the Parnellites a resolution will be proposed recognizing Parnell's great services but calling upon him to resign the leadership

After the House rose a hurried meeting of the Nationalists was called in the conference room. Parnell was not present. The meeting was held ostensibly to arrive at an agreement not to mention recent events publicly until after meeting on Monday, but great secrecy was observed as to what was really done. Mr. Sexton emphatically denies that he was aware of the existence of Gladstone's letter to Morley at the time the Nationalist meeting was held Tuesday. The whole party is annoyed at the leaking out of the proceedings of the meeting, as it indicates a violation of the pledge of secrecy.

Sir William Marriott, Conservative speaking at Brighton, said the rumors of a speedy dissolution of Parliament were baseless. Lord Salisbury, he declared, would never take advantage of a sectional scandal or a domestic quarrel among his opponents.

Canon Doyle denounces, as the most absolute of scandals, the futile attempts made to whitewash the unfortunate Parnell, and strongly condemns Mr. McCarthy's hints that the O'Shea divorce suit might have resulted differently. Canon Doyle calls upon Mr. McCarthy not to stop an innocent man in the dark, but make his charges openly and honestly giving, Capt. O'Shea a chance to defend himself.

Mr. Parnell in conversing with colleagues combats the inference from Gladstone's letter that the Liberal leader threatens to retire in case Parnell continues to lead the Nationalists.

To Issue a Manifesto.

The Freeman's Journal, upon request of Parnell, states that he purposes to issue a manifesto to the Irish people to-night and he asks them in the meanwhile to suspend judgment.

The Catholic hierarchy it is expected will take action before next Monday to influence the wavering.

Mr. Labouchere has written to Parnell, urging him to withdrawal. Labouchere says Parnell's remaining in the leadership means another six years of Balfour and coercion for Ireland, while his withdrawal will mean the meeting of an Irish Parliament in Dublin in two years at the least.

Many Parnellite members of Parliament have declared that they would gladly see the alliance with the Liberal party broken so the Irish party could resume its independence.

One of Parnell's closest friends declares Parnell regards the movement to expel him as radical revenge for his support of the royal grants last summer and he will resist to the last this attempt to destroy the independence of the Irish party and make them a mere appanage to the Liberal party.

Opposed by the Priests.

DUBLIN, Nov. 27.—The Freeman's Journal suggests that T. P. O'Connor's return from America be hastened, and that the Nationalists wait until he arrives before taking definite action in the matter of the Irish leadership.

A movement is on foot to hold meetings throughout Ireland Sunday next, for the purpose of expressing confidence in Parnell. The priests are opposed to the scheme.

The Freeman's Journal also says it appears that a majority at yesterday's Nationalist meeting in London favored the retirement of Parnell.

The Evening Telegraph asks why Parnell elected unanimously to the Irish leadership 24 hours before, should have voluntarily offered himself by retiring. It continues: "If the Irish party on Mr. Gladstone's demand wishes to recast Mr. Parnell it is right to demand a solemn vote of want of confidence in which every member must take part both speaking against the [illegible] his vote before the Irish people. The business is too gigantic and momentous to permit of the acceptance of a clandestine settlement as a final settlement. Whatever is done must be declared openly in the presence of the nation. The Irish race everywhere must know how each member of a party elected to support and not to depose him. When a conclave of the Irish party shall have decided the issue the Irish nation will demand the right to be heard in final review of the decision. A National convention has been held in Ireland for the solution of less perilous problems." The Telegraph vehemently urges the country to stand by Parnell and stiffen the waverers.

A Roland for His Oliver.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The Chronicle, commenting on the division of Labouchere's amendment, says Parnell has speedily given the Gladstonians a Roland for their Oliver. Regarding the new Irish Land Bill The Chronicle says it is probable Balfour will prove more squeezable in committees.

Lord Spencer on the Situation.

BROMLEY, Nov. 27.—Lord Spencer in a speech this evening said the opinion of the Liberals of England was clearly and unmistakably against Parnell's continuance in the leadership of his party. The electors rightly put a high value upon the character of public men. Gladstone's letter had struck a note in harmony with the feelings of all Liberals. The Irish party, Lord Spencer said, had been too severely criticized on account of the attitude they had taken, but he could not blame them for not repudiating Parnell at once. [Cries of "Hear, hear!"] They owed a debt of gratitude to Parnell. The members of the Irish party were not indifferent to moral considerations, but loyalty to their trusted leader had made them hesitate before pronouncing against him. He honored them for not in a moment throwing over their leader. When higher considerations of the permanent welfare of the country came into operation they would respond to the appeal of the English Liberals and ask Parnell to retire. If they did not do this the Irish cause would be rolled back and the ship which was just at the mouth of the harbor would be driven by storms out into the ocean. It would be a mighty misfortune to both Ireland and the empire. The Liberals, even if Parnell remained at the head of his party, would not alter their opinions. They would still resist coercion, but they would cut away the old policy and try a new one. [Cheers.]

SWINDLED THE CUSTOMS.

Justice Gets Her Claws on a Halifax Lobster Dealer.

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 27.—The sensation of the day is the arrest of John P. Chetwynd who carried on a large lobster fishing and supply business in Nova Scotia and Newfoundland. A private examination was held before Judge Motton to-day and the prisoner was remanded until Monday. It appears that Chetwynd has for years been engaged in wholesale smuggling operations. He imported large quantities of oil and clothes from A. J. Towers of Boston. He had a supply of blank billheads of Towers and he is alleged to have filled these out as he pleased and passed bogus invoices through the customs with Towers' signature forged and swearing to their genuineness. In this way the revenue is alleged to have been swindled out of thousands of dollars. It is said to be one of the boldest and most successful efforts to rob the customs discovered for years, during which time no other dealer could compete with Chetwynd in the oil clothes business. The customs detectives are now going through his invoices for years back. Chetwynd's wife is now in Boston applying for a divorce from him on the grounds of cruelty and adultery. None of the creditors will get a cent. It is the worst failure recorded in Halifax for 10 years and there is a general impression that Chetwynd has a neat little sum salted down somewhere.

OPPOSING PROF. KOCH.

How Dr. Damm Will Criticise the Discoverer of the Lymph.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—Dr. Damm's pamphlet entitled "Versus Koch" is awaited with much curiosity by the medical faculty. It will appear to-morrow at Wiesbaden and in it will be found the following [illegible] points:

"Prof. Koch has as yet obtained no real results, but he promises to do so in the future, and in this he deceives himself, neglecting, as he has done, the real seat and emanations of the sources of sickness. He forgets the nervous system. The brain and spinal cord regulate all the functions of the body, and if certain parts of the body become ill the regulating nervous power must necessarily be affected.

"Prof. Koch's method, which takes no notice of the primary seat, cannot succeed as it only applies to the secondary seat, which derives its life from the primary.

"The bacilli are bred by tuberculosis, they are not the cause of tuberculosis."

The pamphlet also attacks Dr. Koch because he made public his discovery before giving it the years of consideration that he should, and because he thus raised false hopes in the hearts of thousands doomed to die of consumption.

Winnipeg Notes.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 27.—Three persons from Hamilton, Dakota, have been in the city since Monday, and to-day left for the west. Their expenses here are paid by the Dominion Government and their mission is to pick out sufficient good farm lands on which to locate 300 Dakota families whose names are in their possession and will remove to Manitoba early in the spring.

An appeal to the full court in the school case was made this morning and argument will be heard upon the return of Attorney-General Martin from California.

A person named Gurn, who has been drinking heavily, tried to suicide by throwing himself in the Red River last night, but was pulled out by some men.

A surveyor named J. D. Vanbuskirk died suddenly yesterday. While walking about his house he felt pain, and lying down on the sofa to rest died in two hours.

Fears are here entertained that Warden Bedson of Manitoba Penitentiary cannot recover from his present illness.

Extending the Franchise.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 27.—The Prime Minister to-day introduced in Parliament a bill providing for an extension of the franchise This action was a complete surprise. The Radicals are greatly elated, and the workman, who had intended to inaugurate a general strike as a part of the universal suffrage movement, have decided to remain at work The streets to-night are thronged with people, and the rejoicing is general.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

THE IRISH LAND PURCHASE BILL PASSED.

Parnell Voted With the Government—The River Shannon Overflows Its Banks at Athlone and Does Much Damage—A Steamer Sunk.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The Norwegian bark Neptunus, Capt. Tobiasen, at London from Quebec, reported that while lying to during a gale off Dungeness Sunday evening she saw a large westbound steamer turn to the eastward, capsize and founder. A heavy sea was running at the time. No trace of the steamer's crew has been found.

Imperial Parliament.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Balfour introduced the Irish Land Bill. He said the Government's policy was the same as in 1889, but for simplicity the bill had been cut in two. Both portions, however, were practically the same as in the bill of 1889. One variation of the present bill from that of last year was that it met in some degree Mr. Parnell's views. Mr. Parnell had suggested that privilege of purchase be confined to tenants whose holdings were under £50 valuation. Though he (Balfour) could not accept exactly that limitation, he had altered the scope of the bill by excluding all purely grazing farms, and farms whose tenants did not reside on them. Amongst other changes embodied in the new bill one had reference to the objection taken at the last session to a limit of 20 years purchase then proposed. That limit did not appear in the new bill. [Cries of "Hear, hear!"] Further power would be given the Viceroy to extend the period of five years during which 8 per cent. of the purchase money was payable. In regard to increasing the powers of local authorities, Mr. Balfour said he considered that the original proposals in the bill were the best that could be devised. Land purchase in Ireland was not a local question at all. The government was using the British credit to carry out this vital reform not primarily for the benefit of this country or that, but for the benefit of the empire as a whole. [Conservative cheers.] Another consideration was the fact that the land question in Ireland was largely used for political objects. It would be absurd, therefore, to leave the communities under the incitement of agitators to determine whether they should adopt a remedy going to the root of agrarian discontent. [Parnellite laughter.] If they were given local control in any form it ought to be by a plebiscite of ratepayers, enabling them under the safeguard of the ballot to vote upon the question of granting a contingent portion of the guarantee fund for each county.

Mr. Labouchere moved an amendment against pledging the imperial credit for the purchase of land until the country should have given its consent at a general election.

The amendment was rejected 286 to 117.

Mr. Gladstone, Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. Morley walked out before the vote was taken. Mr. Parnell and all the Parnellite members voted with the Government. The bill was then given its first reading amid the cheers of the Government supporters.

When the Parnellites were flocking into the division lobby to vote on the amendment there was a sudden unusual movement seemingly instigated by Mr. Healy, who with Mr. Sexton and a large contingent turned back and abstained from voting while Parnell, Mr. Power and about 30 others supported the Government.

FAMINE IN KHARTOUM.

The Inhabitants Starving—Fighting the Mahdi.

SUAKIM, Nov. 27.—The Desert Chief Benousi is marching against the Mahdi with a large force, and the Mahdi is in no condition to meet the enemy. In Khartoum and vicinity all the food has been seized for the support of the Mahdi's followers, and the inhabitants are perishing by hundreds. An Arab living in Khartoum is said to have killed one of his slaves, his family being without food, and lived, with his household, for several days on the remains. There is abundant food in Suakim, but none of it is permitted to pass into the interior, as it is the purpose of the British to reduce the enemy as much as possible by starvation.

Why France Excludes the Lymph.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The French Government will not allow the importation into France of Prof. Koch's lymph. The refusal of the customs officials on the frontier to admit the lymph also to M. Pasteur by Prof. Koch was based on the ground that the importation of medicines, the composition of which is not known, is illegal, a law prohibiting such imports being in existence.

The Shannon Overflows Its Banks.

DUBLIN, Nov. 27.—The River Shannon has overflown its banks at Athlone, and the towns which are situated on both sides of the river are submerged. Hundreds of acres of farm land are under water and the crops are destroyed. A large number of cattle have perished. Many families are rendered homeless.

Wholesale Extortion.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—The Post publishes a statement of Dr. Danelius, a colleague of Dr Levy, in which he admits 5000 marks was asked and paid for a single injection of Prof. Koch's lymph. The money was paid to Drs Cornet and Dengel. It is reported Koch has declined to further supply Levy and Denge with lymph.

Killed in a Collision

QUEBEC, Nov. 27.—Engineer Alvin French was instantly killed in a collision between two trains on the Canadian Pacific Railway near Terrebonne this morning. He was some time ago elected a delegate to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers convention in Winnipeg, and had only returned, and was on his first trip when he met his death.

Hamilton Notes.

HAMILTON, Nov. 27.—Fire broke out in F. J. Fralick's clothing store last evening. Its origin is unknown, but it is supposed to have started in some of the clothes. A stream from the chemical engine quickly quenched the fire. The second floor was badly wrecked and a large quantity of glass broken. The damage will amount to several hundred dollars.

A Centenarian Falls Out of Bed and I Seriously Hurt.

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Bridget Gannon of Lewis-street, now in the 101st year of her age, met with a most unfortunate accident. While the family were sleeping they were awakened by the sound of something falling heavily on the floor and when they entered her room found the aged woman lying prostrate and unconscious on the floor By some means the old woman had fallen out of bed and received injuries which may result in her death. Her whole family are remarkable for their longevity. James Nolan, a brother now living in the States, is over 90 years of age and is still a strong and able-bodied man. Michael Nolan, another brother, died recently in the neighborhood of 90 years.

East Middlesex Petition.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The East Middlesex protested election case has resulted in a complete collapse. The petitioner only appeared in court by proxy. Mr. Love, his lawyer, stated that on examination of the witnesses he found they were not able to make out a case against the respondent, whereupon Vice Chancellor Ferguson dismissed the case with costs.

East Durham Vacant.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 27.—By consent of both parties to the petition to unseat George Campbell (Conservative), M.P.P. for East Durham, that seat in the Legislative Assembly was to-day declared vacant on the ground that the names of a large number of qualified voters had been accidentally omitted in printing the official lists.

STANLEY IN TORONTO.

IN THE CITY SEVEN HOURS HE TAKES AWAY $3,000.

Presentation of an Address to Mrs. Stanley by the Ontario Society of Artists—She Makes a Neat Little Speech.

TORONTO, Nov. 28.—Stanley took away with him from here about $3000. Mr. Stanley and his party arrived in the city in their private car at 6¼ last evening from Buffalo and left again at 11¼ for Detroit. The party travels well and live like nabobs in their rolling palace. Mr Stanley, in his old age, is making up for his years of hardship in Africa. The lecture in the new Toronto Auditorium was listened to by a large and fashionable audience The great explorer is a very clever lecturer. He speaks somewhat quickly, but very distinctly, and he understands the rules of punctuation as applied to oratory.

The lecturer was introduced by Hon. G. W Allan, and seated around him on the platform were several prominent citizens.

The lecture, that part of it which referred to the march of the heroic Stanley column through the primeval forest, with its many horrors and privations, was listened to with the deepest interest. There was a pleasant little event after the lecture. As is well known, Mrs. Stanley is an artist of considerable standing. So the Ontario Society of Artists decided to present her with a little souvenir of her visit to the city. This took the shape of an address and an album of paintings and pictures. Mrs. Stanley is a young pleasant-faced lady, with a wealth of brown hair.

Hon. G. W. Allan, president of the Artists' Society, read the address. The fair recipient smiled sweetly and looking about for a second said in free and graceful language: "LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—I am indeed grateful to you for this honor, and I am sure you do not know how highly I will prize it or how much I will appreciate it. I have indeed, short as it has been enjoyed my visit to Canada, it has brought recollections of England. As we came along in the train to-day and as I looked out of the car window and saw the homesteads and orchards it put me so much in mind of the homes, cottages and orchards in England. When I saw those great big orchards I at once found out where the Canadian apples came from. [Applause.] I think a great deal of your Canadian hospitality your hospitality for our waifs. You have given so many of them good homes. I do sincerely hope that all Canadians will remain linked as they are now to the old Motherland. [Applause.] I am sure I shall come back and see you again. Again, ladies and gentlemen, I thank you all. [Applause.]

Mr. John Livingstone of Listowel, brother of the heroic doctor, attended the lecture and declared his belief that Mr. Stanley would come out unscathed from the Bartellot controversy. "He is a much less robust man," said Mr Livingstone, "than when I last met him 12 years ago. His voice, too, is not the same."

500 PERSONS INJURED.

Seats Collapse at a Football Game and Disaster Follows.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 27.—Yale to-day downed Princeton in the great football game at Eastern Park, on which the interest of every collegeman and every lover of football has been centered for weeks past. Princeton's defeat was complete, the score standing Princeton 0, Yale 32. The game was witnessed by at least 30,000 spectators. Among them the partisans of Princeton were more numerous, but what Yale's friends lacked in numbers they made up in enthusiasm. The hour fixed for calling the game was 3 p.m. but as early as 9 a.m. the exodus from all parts of New York and Brooklyn began to flow toward Eastern Park. The gates of the park were opened at 11 o'clock and then were then hundreds outside patiently awaiting admittance. An hour later every seat on the bleachers was occupied and there was already a thickly-packed mass of men pressed against the board fence that surrounded the field. At 1 o'clock the grand stand also began to fill up, and long before 2 o'clock every seat on the stand and in the boxes was filled. About 12.25 o'clock the crowds seated on the free stands on the eastern side made frantic endeavors to get a place of vantage A vast throng standing in front thought they could see a way to get seats in the rush. They crowded on to the seats, which were ordinary portable baseball seats made of cast iron supports with planks across. The minute the rush began an ominous crack was heard. It was followed by a crash and then a roar, which was soon drowned by the voices of men and women crying out in distress. The north end of the eastern bleacher had fallen, carrying down every one upon it. It took but an hour to extricate those from the debris. The part of the stand that fell was occupied by 3000 people and it was a miracle none were killed Over persons were hurt and half a dozen were injured internally. A dozen ambulances responded to hurry's call and the injured were carried away. Among the more seriously hurt were John Weed of Yale John Carruthers of Wesleyan, Mr. Curley of Princeton '94, Mr. Leomard of New York, Percy Bainey of the Peeks kill Academy and George Johnson of the Hotel Normandie, New York. The accident cast a gloom over the entire crowd and the cheers and horns were hushed. It was half an hour before the crowd recovered its wonted gaiety. As the hour of opening the contest approached the shock of the accident was forgotten. Never before has such a crowd assembled to witness a football match, or in fact to witness any kind of a game. On one side of the arena the people all had a bit of blue as a distinguishing mark ranging from a small bow up to a flag. hat bands and handkerchiefs. One fellow had an entire suit of blue. Their cry was the short rattling "Rah-rah-rah, Y-a-l-e," and as soon as it died away it was echoed by the lusty "Rahy-ray ray, P-r-i-n-c-e-t-o-n" from the orange and black on the opposite side of the arena. The appearance of the 23 athletes was greeted with vociferous cheers. Everybody got up and yelled for 15 minutes. The sun was shining brightly and the ground was good and firm. Referee Brooks of Harvard was referee and Coffin of Wesleyan umpired. The final score was 32 to 0 in Yale's favor.

If Your House is on Fire.

You put water on the burning timbers, not on the smoke. And if you have catarrh you should attack the disease in the blood, not in your nose. Remove the impure cause, and the local effect subsides. To do this, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which radically and permanently cures catarrh. It also strengthens the nerves. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st October in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date, to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now; but they have come at last and open out beautifully. We have two ranges, plain and fancy backs, at $1.00 and $1.25, in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta; some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us, and we also do so to our customers.

We have quantities of desirable goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit.

Although early in the season our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing, which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on our counters. They are desirable goods, and worth remembering.

The Farmer's Condition.

(The Globe.)

The Chatham Banner says the Order of Patrons of Industry is making great headway among the farmers in that part of the Province.

"The grievances complained of are: The combines and monopolies, such as the salt and the binder twine trusts by which exorbitant prices are fleshed from the consumer; exorbitant taxation in the way of customs duties; too high rates of interest on mortgages."

The farmer has it within his power to right most of these wrongs, and it is astonishing what he can accomplish when he takes to organization. The Chicago Tribune prints a table showing the extent of the revolution which occurred in the ten Congressional farming districts in Illinois on the 4th Nov. In 1888 all these districts were carried by the Republicans, whose majorities aggregated 44,690. On the 4th five of the districts went Republican by a gross majority of 10,128 and the other five went Democratic by a gross majority of 5,415. The net Republican majority in the whole ten was therefore 4,711, as compared with 44,690 two years ago. Mr. Hitt was one of the Republicans who saved his seat in the upheaval, though his old time majority was sadly reduced. The farmers quarrelled not with his advocacy of Canadian reciprocity, but with his vote for the McKinley tariff, and his support of the coarse methods of Speaker Reed. The returns show that it was throughout the Union. In some States, especially in the Southwest and Northwest, he went into the campaign under the banner of the Farmers' Alliance, whilst in others he merely took counsel with himself or with his neighbor, and voted in his own interest for tariff reform. The Alliance platform contains planks which can never become law. It is absurd, for instance, to expect the Government to establish sub-treasuries and advance money to the farmer on his crop. The demand for cheaper money or lower interest, which is the same thing, is also a vain one. The artisan in the city might as well ask the Government to provide him with higher wages. The strength of the Alliance in the States and of the Patrons of Industry in Canada lies, not in pursuing such chimeras as these but in the reasonableness and justice of their demand that protective taxes upon the necessaries of life and labor shall be reduced so that the farmer may be liberated from the grip of the combines and rendered all the more able to face the merciless competition in agriculture.

The Canadian farmer is urged by some to wait awhile until the home market that was promised in 1878 shall make its appearance. The American farmer has been waiting for is these thirty years and

IT HAS NOT COME YET.

New England is the seat par excellence of the tall chimney on this continent, nevertheless Prof. C. S. Walker has just said:—"A careful study of New England farming in the light of all points of view, carried on for the past ten years by means of statistical investigation, personal observation during carriage drives from Canada to Long Island Sound, and intimate association with all classes of farmers, assures one that the man who cultivates an average farm and depends upon its profits alone for the support of himself and family, if he pays his taxes and debts, cannot compete with his brothers, or attain to their standard of living, who, with equal powers, employ them in other walks of life." The Canadian farmer is warranted in concluding that if protection were good for agriculture the farmers of the United States would not have risen against it on the 4th. His own experience since 1879 teaches that instead of benefiting it has injured him. The decline in the value of his farm shows that it has no more effect upon the price of his crop in years of average yield than it has upon the tides of the sea. Prices at home are determined by the price he gets for his surplus sold abroad, and that is fixed by supply and demand in the free market of the world, where the products raised by the lowest civilizations sell side by side with those of the highest. The per quarter of eight bushels has run as follows during the last fifteen years:—

	s.	d.		s.	d.
1876	45	2	1883	41	7
1877	56	9	1884	35	8
1878	46	5	1885	32	10
1879	43	10	1886	31
1880	44	4	1887	32	6
1881	45	4	1888	31	10
			1889	29	94.

The British returns show that the fall in values has manifested itself throughout the whole category of farm products. The import price (deducted from the declared quantities and value) of live cattle per head has dropped from £21 52 in 1875 to £18 41 in 1889, of sheep and lambs from 44 3d shillings to 35 2d; of beef from 42.15 shillings per cwt. to 41 2d; of butter from £3 79 per cwt. to £3 3l; of cheese from £2 89 per cwt. to £2 3d; of flour from 15 8d shillings per cwt. to 11 6d; of lard from 60.52 shillings per cwt. to 36 5d; of salt and fresh meat from £2 89 per cwt. to £2 10; of bacon from 62 3l shillings per cwt. to 41 6d; and so on. As has been said, British prices are the standard that regulates the price received by the Canadian farmer, who has to dispose of his surplus of these commodities in the British market. So far from exalting the value of his wares, the so-called protection which he has enjoyed for the last twelve years has been wholly incompetent to check their depreciation. All that it has done for him is evil—evil unmixed and unrelieved. In the first place, the

in order to exclude them from Canada, have obliged the British people to seek food supplies in lands whose rulers are willing to accept British goods in payment on more favourable terms. Then these duties have enhanced the cost of production in this country, and to that extent diminished the farmer's returns. They have also enabled the protected manufacturers to combine against him. The N.P. men told him that once they had acquired a monopoly of the home market they would compete amongst themselves; that having got their victim down they would not rob him. That humane theory has not been borne out. Such fundamental necessaries as sugar, salt, coal oil, cottons, iron, and many articles into which iron enters are controlled by combines which exact from the farmer the utmost farthing allowed by the high tariff. In some instances the price of the article in Canada is equal to the price paid by the American farmer plus the Dominion duty. Extortion could not go further. In other cases the price here is higher than the price across the line, though not to the extent of the duty. Lastly, the N.P., running into iron tariffs and Foster tariffs and export duties, has led by natural steps to a commercial war between us and our neighbors which has terminated in from the American market in which last year he sold sixteen million dollars' worth of coarse or bulky products. The result of it all is that he is probably in a worse plight than the farmer in the States, paying more for much that he has to buy and getting less for much that he has to sell. In Western Ontario, where the dairy and cattle industry has grown to large proportions, he is better off than in other parts of the country, but, taking it all round, his condition is unsatisfactory in the extreme, and at present there is no evidence to justify one in looking for any permanent improvement.

In times like these, as is apparent from the Alliance platform, the farmer is disposed to fancy that the Legislature is a god or demiurge who can work miracles at will. The Patrons of Husbandry and other organizations of the kind should dismiss that superstition from their minds and remember that, like the physical laws, the economic laws are above and beyond the reach of man. Parliament can no more produce a low rate of interest than it can produce a high rate for wheat. The Government, to be sure, might transform itself into a loan company and advance cheap money obtained on its own credit to the farmer; but its experience with the Municipal Loan Fund and in other ways shows that it would cut a sorry figure as a mortgagee. The farmer has no right to expect that the State should lend him money to the exclusion of others. If he wishes to abolish class privilege as incarnated in the combines let him not seek it for himself.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Killed on the Railway—Interesting Bigamy Case.

TORONTO, Nov. 26.—The shipments of Canadian eggs to the United States from Toronto average 900 baskets a day.

A carload of eggs, containing 406 cases, arrived here yesterday from the United States. Eggs are sometimes imported in February, before the season commences here, but never to any extent at this time of the year.

Tobias Levi, aged 14 years, whose father carries on a tailor's shop at 55 Peter-street, was riding on a Spadina and Bloor car and when between Willcock and Harbord-streets undertook to jump off while the car was in motion. The car passed over his right leg below the knee, crushing it so badly that it will have to be amputated.

The Ontario Hockey Association was organized at the Queen's last evening with these officers: President, A. M. Cosby; vice-presidents, J. A. Barron, M.P., and H. A. Ward, M.P.; secretary, C. R. Hamilton Victoria Club; treasurer, C. K. Temple committee: F. D. Ross, J. F. Smellie, J. S. Garvin, W. A. H. Kerr, Cap. Evans, A. F. D. Macgahen, W. Hendrie, jr.

There was an exciting fire early this morning in the neighborhood of Queen and Seaton-streets. It was in a rickety old two-story frame building, the front part of which is occupied by E. H. Hill as a barber shop and the rear as a stable. It was in this latter portion that the fire originated. It spread to the adjoining premises occupied by Hallman & Bone, fur dressers and dyers, and owned by Scott & Walmsley. The latter building was damaged to the extent of about $500. The loss on the frame building will be about $100.

A Grand Trunk sectionman named John Gimlet was engaged about 8 o'clock yesterday morning in repairing the track when, in stepping out of the way to allow a Northern train to pass, he was knocked down by the C. P. express. Both legs were cut off at the thighs and he received a bad cut near the right temple. He was taken to the hospital where he died about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. He had only been employed about nine days by the company.

MAN'S INHUMANITY TO MAN.

Whisky Responsible for the Death of a Promising Young Man.

RIPLEY, Nov. 29.—Murdock Macdonald aged 29, of lot 21, 7th con. Huron, died suddenly at Hodgins' hotel. At the inquest which was held Edward Hodgins, the proprietor of the hotel, testified that after Macdonald had had four or five drinks he fell against the wall and down to the floor. After leaving him lying there 15 minutes the landlord secured assistance and carried Macdonald into the cellar, where he put a piece of carpet under his head. Two hours afterwards Dr. Smith came into dinner and Hodgins sent him down to see Macdonald, and the physician discovered that the man was dead. The post mortem showed that death resulted from alcohol, and a verdict was rendered in accordance with this fact.

Church and State in France.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The Soir says the Pope will shortly make a definite statement in favor of Cardinal Lavigerie's policy of a union of church and state, and the Papal Nuncio here has requested Bishop Freppel to cease his extreme opposition to the republic.

What is a Day's Labour?

One day's work for a healthy liver is to secrete three and a half pounds of bile. If the bile secretion be deficient, constipation ensues; if profuse, biliousness and jaundice arise. Timely Wisdom.

Great and timely wisdom is shown by keeping Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry on hand. It has no equal for cholera, cholera morbus, diarrhœa, dysentery, colic, cramps, and all summer complaints, or loose, ness of the bowels. 2w42d

Just imagine your wife not being able to speak for ten days. What a change there would be in the house! what an unnatural silence! A case of this kind occurred in Hamilton some time ago, and one bottle of Wilson's Wild cherry cured the afflicted lady in four days. This medicine has no equal for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough or Croup. Sold by all druggists. dw

THERE must be some great merit in SLOCUM'S preparations. His OXYGENIZED EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL has taken the first place as a cure for consumption and kindred diseases. Every druggist sells it, and no householder should be without it. The remedy is reliable and invaluable. w47ss

Purify Your Blood

Sickness or disfigurement of the body is due to impurities in the blood in condition is generally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

THE PIONEER'S HOME.

DIRECTIONS BY WHICH A SETTLER CAN BUILD A HOUSE.

The Actual Experience of a Beginner on the Prairies—The Materials and Their Cost—How to Put Them Together—How it Will Look.

The settler on the treeless prairies, far from a railroad, must of necessity begin at the foot of the ladder. When I once wrote to a friend in the East telling him about my surroundings, and that my house was ten by twelve feet square, he was quite surprised, and said that his bedroom was larger than that, and was not half big enough then. A house ten by twelve feet seems small compared to those in the East, but there are thousands of them in the West and North West and many smaller—eight by ten—which contain all the elements of a pleasant home, a prospective view of which is seen in Fig. 1. Such a house can be very quickly and cheaply built; but, if possible, make it twelve by sixteen feet, as with one of this size a family of four or five can live comfortably for several years if necessary, and I will figure on cost of this size. One ten by twelve can be built for about one fourth less.

500 feet inch boards 16 feet long, sides, ends and gables, at $18	$9.00
275 feet inch boards 16 feet long, roof at $18	4.90

Tacks for putting on lining inside	.50
Sheet iron, galvanized, stove-pipe top for roof	.75
Door trimmings	.75
Door frame, lumber 30 feet, at $30	.90

Cost of material for 12x16 feet ... $48.90

I have not figured in cost of labor, as any one who can cut a board or drive a nail can put it up, but, if hired done, should not cost over $12, making the whole cost of house about $70. To build, throw up a bank of earth about a foot high and fourteen by eighteen feet across; that thrown out of a cellar, say six by eight feet, can be used. Lay down seven pieces two-by-four, sixteen feet long, two feet apart, placing them edgewise; spike a two-by-four twelve feet long on each end; use two two-by-four sixteen feet and two two-by-four twelve feet for plates, cut lumber for sides and ends eight feet long; nail firmly up and down outside floor timbers or sills and plates, leave a space of thirty-two inches for door, and one of thirty-one-inches for window; cut two pieces two-by-four, forty-five inches long, and fasten firmly in center of end plates, between top of these spike a two-by-four sixteen feet ridgewise up and down; put a brace under the centre of this to support it; cut roofing boards eight feet long and let them lap over the ends seven or eight inches; nail firmly to plates and ridge pole; spike three two-by-four sixteen feet three feet apart overhead to end plates, nail the twelve-feet ceiling joists on (if it does not come under ridge-pole and plate, firmly nailed, to help keep the roof boards in place. The floor may now be laid. For the gables, cut the boards four feet long, lay side by side enough to make just six feet wide; mark off three inches from opposite corners at each end Fig. 2, and draw a line from one to the other with a straight ridge; cut these in two, and you have enough for one gable; nail these firmly on outside the ends on which they lap three inches; a strip under the roof will keep the upper ends in place nailing firmly through the roof board into them. Cut the tar felt for roof sixteen feet long, running it over the roof from eaves to eaves; lap about two inches each strip, and batten down with lath, using one on each edge and three between on each width of felt. The sides are covered with felt, put on up and down, and battened with lath same as the roof. Put a two-by-four for studding each side of the door and window. Tack the building paper on inside, smoothly covering sides and ceiling. A two-by-four then nailed on flat on inside to sides, between floor and ceiling, will help keep them from springing and strengthen the whole. A trap-door about two by three feet in the floor gives access to the cellar, and a small one in the ceiling gives quite a space for storage overhead. Fig. 3 shows manner of nailing on sides, roof, etc., and Fig. 3 is the floor. A bed can be made overhead for use of children if necessary, putting in a small window on one end.

The Grand Trunk.

The statement made by Sir Henry Tyler at the half-yearly meeting of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk railway is exceptionally interesting. Sir Henry reports an increasing volume of traffic and a continual outcry for more engines and cars. There has been an increase in the receipts and of the profits. Passenger traffic has, however, fallen off slightly. This is attributable to "la grippe," which prevailed so generally last spring. The complaint with the French name deprived the railway of traffic aggregating £23,264, or $117,550. The work of double tracking the line between Montreal and Toronto is rapidly progressing. So far as it has gone it has had an excellent influence upon business, for it has reduced the delays in the movement of traffic by 45 per cent. Sir Henry does not look for injurious consequences from the McKinley Act. On the contrary, its effects, will be to drive some Canadian products, formerly passing to the United States, to the European and West Indian markets. The consequence of this movement will be a longer haulage for the Grand Trunk. There is one cloud, however, on the horizon. This is the low rate at which through freight is now carried. The president of the Grand Trunk attributes this to the presence in the field of the Canadian Pacific. The latter company has recently opened its line from London to Windsor, and has made a contract with the Wabash road by means of which it reaches Chicago. The first result of the Canadian Pacific competition was a reduction of the rates on dressed meat shipments. Formerly railways carried dressed meat from Chicago to the seaboard at sixty and sixty-five cents per hundred. Now, under the Canadian Pacific agreement, it is carried at from thirty to forty-five cents.—Toronto Mail.

Oil on the Breakers at Dangerous Bars.

The steamer Mexico appears to have solved a marine problem which may be of great use to navigators along certain portions of the Pacific coast. On the 22nd ult. she was detained outside the Columbia River bar, and could not cross it. The detention was caused by the heavy breakers which render passage of vessels impossible at certain periods of the tides. Capt. Patterson states that he waited outside ten hours for a favorable chance to cross the bar, and at last decided to try oil.

A large quantity of "waste" was placed in the closet pipes, and oil was allowed to drip slowly through to the water. The oil spread with astonishing rapidity over an immense area of water surface, and it spread inshore over the dangerous bar. The result was that the comb of the breakers was broken, and the Mexico passed over in safety, without shipping any sea. The experiment proved such a success that it will be tried at several bar-bound harbors along the north coast by vessels that usually suffer long and unprofitable detention.—From the San Francisco Chronicle.

Eastern Trees in California.

California is nearly destitute of the trees and shrubs which furnish the brilliant autumnal tints of eastern hills and vales. A few venturesome spirits, however, have introduced from the East the sumach, dogwood, swamp maple, sassafras, red and white oak, etc. They are all growing satisfactorily in various portions of the state, and at this time they are gorgeous in color, making strangely beautiful contrasts with the evergreens, palms, arucarias, pepper trees, acacias, etc.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam Balsam for coughs and colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c, and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

Self Application of Electricity FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES BY THE

DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments.

THE WORLD'S BEST.

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be all treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliances. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generate a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not close this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap article, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its prompt and liberal policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a home institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefitting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

May and December.

A wedding of more than usual interest took place at Norwood on Tuesday, the Register says. Of course "the boys" serenaded them in the evening.

Durham Field Battery.

The announcement that the Durham Field Battery won the skill in the Dominion artillery competion has just been gazetted. Their score was 220 points, 16 higher than the second best. The battery also stands fourth in general proficiency. Considering the circumstances and equipment of the battery this is a most creditable record. Corp. Hay, of the Peterborough wing, also made a record for firing, tieing for firs place among all the artillerymen of the Dominion.

Ladies who use this peerless remedy are unanimous in its praise, for it cures those countless ills which are the bane of their sex—irregularities, dragging-down pains, inflammation, hysteria, nervousness, and the "all gone" sensation which burdens their daily lives. Obituary.

The many friends of Mr. Thomas J. Marks will regret to learn that the illness with which he has been suffering for about a year past terminated fatally on Thursday. Deceased was in the prime of life being only thirty-four years of age. He was held in high respect by his acquaintances and many friends. He was a member of Court Peterborough Canadian Order of Foresters, and his funeral on Sunday at 3.30 o'clock will probably be conducted under Forester auspices.

A Steaming Engine Wanted.

A civic deputation composed of Mayor Stevenson and Messrs. Moore and Kendry are in Toronto to-day to see District Supt. Tait, of the C.P.R., and through him request the company to place a shunting engine at Peterborough station for the purpose of facilitating the transfer of cars from the C.P.R. and G.T.R. tracks into the Edison works. The deputation will also endeavor to get a re-adjustment of transfer rates. The G.T.R. has sent in a bill amounting to about $150 for demurrage on eleven cars of material for the Edison Co., which were held back on account of the delay in building the siding.

Another Way of Advertising.

The post office lobby is ornamented with a new and attractive advertising novelty, in the shape of a collection of business cards and photographs of the advertisers, systematically arranged on a black ground and enclosed in a frame. It was gotten up by Messrs. Powter & Sanderson, of Alexandria, who are "doing" towns in the province. Frames similar to that in the Peterborough office will be sent to Lakefield, Omemee, South Monaghan, Warsaw and Keene post-offices. A feature of the scheme is the photography. Mr. P. H. Green's excellent work on the photographs will be a prominent advertisement of his proficiency.

Removal of the Round House.

Norwood Register: "The rumor is current that the C. P. R. round house at Havelock is to be removed from that place to some other point on the line where better water can be obtained. It is claimed that the water at that place contains too much lime; that the boilers are injured by the heavy coatings consequent on its use, and that the large annual expense incurred on this score would amply justify the removal to some point on the line whether better water can be obtained. This rumor was current some months ago, but it has lately been revived again, and we give it for what it is worth." Peterborough is just the place for the round houses. Centrally situated, with an inexhaustible water supply, and plenty of choice of location, the C. P. R. authorities should be easily pleased. A little agitation might secure the round houses for Peterborough.

Certificates of Merit.

Rev. Father Rudkins, superintendent of Separate Schools, on Thursday distributed at the Convent School the handsome certificates of merit awarded to the fortunate competitors in the contests for spelling, penmanship and composition. These were, 1st, Miss Mary Ann Crowley; 2nd, Miss Susie Kelly, and 3rd, Miss Mary Lynch. The papers were set, examined and the marks awarded by Mr. C. Donovan, M.A., Inspector of Separate Schools. The following were the questions required to be answered, together with the maximum number of marks to be awarded:—

1. Name one important date in the month of November, and tell what you know about it.—20 marks.

2. Describe your own town, stating its name, situation, size, natural advantages, railway facilities, manufactures and educational institutions.—20 marks.

3. Write a letter applying for situation as clerk in a store.—25 marks.

Mixed or Mistaken.

A third offence against T. Cavanagh, of the Belmoral hotel, was tried at the police court this morning. The case took a peculiar turn. The first witness was Thomas Jamieson upon whose information Chief Ross had begun proceedings. The witness swore that he never told the Chief that he had gone down to Cavanagh's hotel another hour on the night of Saturday, Nov. 8th, and found his boy and others in the pool-room, taking drinks through the half door. Chief Ross went into the box, and to justify himself in bring this action, stated emphatically that the previous witness had given him the above information and had urged him (the Chief) to do his duty. Two other witnesses were examined but no new evidence was elicited. The case was of course dismissed. Mr. Edwards, town solicitor, conducted the prosecution, and Mr. W. F. Johnston appeared for the defence.

Rural Deanery of Northumberland.

A meeting of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland was held at the rectory, Hastings, on Thursday afternoon. The following were present: Rev. Canon Davidson, Rural Dean, in the chair; Rev. W. G. Cooper, M. A., Grafton; Rev. T. Walker, B. A., Campbellford; Rev. John Gibson, B. A., Norwood; Rev. J. E. Cooper, Hastings; Rev. J. W. McCleary, St. Luke's, Ashburnham; and Mr. W. M. Loucks, lay reader of St. John's Mission, representing the Rector of Peterborough. After the transaction of the ordinary business there followed the usual discussion. On this occasion the subject was the position of our Lord as High Priest. In the evening the missionary meeting held in the church was well attended. The brief services prescribed for the occasion was conducted by the incumbent, and addresses were given by Rev. Messrs. Walker, Cooper, Gibson and Rev. Canon Davidson. The meeting was a very pleasant and successful one.

The Telephone Question.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR.—Would it not be well for the ratepayers and property owners to protest against the erection of the new telegraph poles which the G.N.W. Co. propose to erect on George street for their wires, and also for the wires of the Ontario Telephone Company?

According to their proposition, the poles are to fifty five feet high, and can be completely strung with wires down to a distance of 21 feet from the street, which would form a complete network of wires for a height of 34 feet above that, and would undoubtedly prevent the firemen from extinguishing a fire which might break out in the upper part of any of the buildings which were fronted by this screen that such a network of wires would make. They could neither raise a ladder nor throw an effective stream through the windows into the fire, as the wires would turn it into spray.

I do not make this suggestion in any antagonistic feeling towards either company, but only wish to draw the attention of those who are most likely to suffer by the above wire trouble in case of fire.

Yours truly,

November 28, 1890. RATEPAYER.

THE MISSION SERVICES.

Jesus Christ, the Open Door,

The Subject of the Missioner's Address at St. John's on Thursday Night—The Only Way of Life—Another Large Congregation—The Last Night of the Services Take Week To-night.

The afternoon service on Thursday was well attended. The subject dealt with was "Our Daily Bread," which was made exceedingly interesting and profitable in the Rev. Missioner's usual manner.

In the evening there was a very large congregation. Rev. J. C. Davidson conducted the service, the latter part of the Litany.

The Missioner took for his text St. John's Holy Gospel, Chap. X, v. 9:—

"I am the door: by me if any man enter in he shall be saved, and shall go in and out and find pasture."

He drew a pathetic picture of the lonely, weary sheep wandering on the bleak hills by day and returning to the rest and safety of the sheltered fold in the valley. This was a type of the condition of the sinner, wandering on the bleak hills of sin, the day of grace fast passing away, and the night of danger and death coming on. But there was a shelter from the storm and darkness of God's wrath, but there was our Lord Jesus Christ, who had said, "I am the door." The hearer was warned not to make any mistake and to attempt to seek safety by any other door. Their well-doing and good intentions and good deeds was not the door. God, in declaring that there was "none good that doeth, no not one," had forever shut the door in the face of the self-righteous, and to all that strove to enter the fold any other way than by the open door. You might say that God was merciful and that you might escape. Yes, God was merciful, and had thrown wide an open door of safety. God was merciful, but there was no mercy for those who did not accept the merciful provision of salvation He had made. Dependence on good works, on fasting and fleshly mortification was a delusion. Christ alone was the open door. There must needs be good works, but these were the natural result of acceptance of Christ; they were not the door. There must be repentance, but that was not the door; there must be faith in and acceptance of Christ. Christ was a teacher come from God, and he was the only one who could from experience say—"We speak what we do know and testify what we have seen."—He was the door to a SPIRITUAL KNOWLEDGE OF THE TRUTH.

He was the door to peace through the atonement of the cross, for being justified by faith we had peace through our Lord Jesus Christ, who was the door to life, the door to heaven. The hearer was warned not to take a wrong door. The true door was only a little one, and the devil was able to set up a false one, but it opened upon darkness and destruction. They should not think that they knew better than Christ, who had declared—"I am the way to the truth and the life—no man cometh unto the father but by me," and this door was open alike to the high and low rich and poor. The speaker said it was the glory of our Church that as ambassadors for Christ they were empowered to advise the sinner to enter in and be saved. So long as God held open the door no man could shut it. Savanarola's dying words were that his excommunicators might exclude him from the Church militant, but they could not shut to him the door of the church triumphant. But those who refused and persisted in refusing to enter the open door through the weary years of a misspent life, would at length find the hand of God closing the door, and it is shut and there is no opening it. It was a blessed truth that none were excluded but those who exclude themselves. If the sinner persisted in refusing to enter the open door it was he that shut it. The speaker closed with an urgent and earnest appeal to his hearers to accept now the offer of a refuge before it was eternally too late.

There was an increased number remained at the after-meeting for intercession, counsel and advice.

To-night the subject of the missioner's address (which will be also the last evening of the services of this week), will be the "Atonement." A cordial invitation to this service is extended. Free seats, and hymn books provided.

Special attention is directed to the special service for men only to be held in St. John's on Sunday afternoon at 4.15. This service is the strong feature of Mr. Du Vernet's mission, and it is to be hoped every person who can, will make it a point to be present.

Transplanted.

Mr. Frank Mason's New Down-Town Seed Store and Greenhouse Premises—A More Congenial Soil for his Business and Flowers—The Opening Day Saturday.

To-morrow the new seed store premises and attached greenhouses will be opened to the public. These new premises are situated on the southeast corner of Water and Brock streets, opposite the Court House Park. The new shop building is neatly constructed of red brick, and is 18x40 feet in area, two stories in height. The interior or salesroom, on the ground floor, is lighted with plate glass windows and neatly fitted up with shelving, counters, etc. This contains a fine selection of seeds and of goods and conveniences connected with floriculture, such as flower stands, hyacinth glasses, German or English, plain and fancy; ornamental flower pots, etc. A large number of immortelles in wreaths and designs for funeral purposes, are kept in stock. There is also kept in stock a fine variety of floral design, wedding bells, crosses, etc., etc. The shop is lighted with electric light, and excellently adapted for the business, and though not large, is supplemented by the up stairs portion, which gives storage to reserve stock.

From this shop, double glass doors open into the greenhouse on the south. This building is 24x52 feet in area, and contains, roof and sides, 1600 square feet of glass. This greenhouse is only for the purpose of keeping in stock for down-town orders, the quantity of plants and flowers required, so that any person coming to the shop for plants or flowers, can procure what is wanted without having to send to the propogating houses as "Helendale," where four green-houses are kept at work to supply the and plants which has grown around Mr. Mason's business. Taking the down-town green-house and these at "Helendale," Mr. Mason has 8,264 square feet of glass in use in his business.

The new down-town green-house is splendid, stocked with all the seasonable plants, and especially with flowering plants for cutting, such as two large plots of roses just coming into bloom, camellias, carnations and geraniums. His recent importations, for Mason imports largely and directly from the United States, England, Ireland, Germany, Belgium and Holland, include some very choice orchids, English laurel, Irish yew, palms, etc., oranges and figs, etc.

Mr. Mason is arranging for having a large pitch glassed over for a rose house, the roses to be planted directly in the natural soil, by which the best bloom and results will be attained.

Mr Mason's new premises will be open to the public to morrow, and everybody interested in the culture of flowers is cordially invited to attend the formal opening of Mr. Frank Mason's new "Seed and Plant House," corner of Water and Brock streets.

Women Save More Than Men

A very observant gentleman declares that women are much more economical than men, and when thrown on their own resources and exertions will save a little out of a small income where a man would give up or commit suicide. Husbands who have such wives, have a treasure on earth. We see every day the man with a comparatively small income throw away some article of clothing half worn, or somewhat faded, which could be re dyed and made to look new again at a trifling expense. Women in the same position in life, will make a dress to pieces, and re-color it with Diamond Dyes at a cost of ten cents, making it look new and stylish.

Economical housewives to-day in this way save their husbands many dollars every year. Diamond Dyes have found a place in thousands of homes in the Dominion, and have invariably given satisfaction wherever used. Ladies who have used them for years declare they would see no other make, at any price. Some have tried inferior package dyes from curiosity and have thrown them aside as useless and worthless.

Smith Orangemen

Have a Grand Tea and Concert—A Most Successful Entertainment.

Thursday night a tea and concert was held under the auspices of Smith Orange Lodge in their hall on the 4th line. It was highly successful. The building was crowded, and the audience was perfectly satisfied. Supper was served early in the evening, and the friends were provided in an excellence of quality and a liberality of quantity proverbial to such entertainments. Shortly after 8 o'clock the concert was begun in the hall. On motion of Capt Sanderson, seconded by Mr. Samuel Stinson, Mr. Wm. Graham was called to the chair. That the programme was appreciated there could be no doubt, judging from the generous applause and the variable encores which followed each number. The programme was about as follows:—

The programme was a lengthy one, and it was nearly twelve o'clock before God Save the Queen was sung. It will be observed that a number of Peterborough people took part. The comic songs of Mr. Haywood were particularly "fetching." He was frequently recalled and encored. The last number, in which he was assisted by Mr. Cummings, brought down the house.

The entertainment all round was highly successful. The Smith Orangemen (and their ladies, who provided the supper), are to be congratulated.

The Toronto Home of the "Canada Life."

A Magnificently Housed Insurance Corporation—The New Buildings—Description of the Luxurious Environments a Life Insurance.

The following description of the new buildings is taken from the Toronto Evening News:—

The new Canada Life Assurance building in King street west is a credit to the City of Toronto, and surpasses anything of the kind in Canada. For many months past its progress toward completion has been marked by the citizens generally, and a proper pride has been felt by all in this triumph of modern architecture. The cost of the building has mounted away up in the hundred thousands, but the Canada Life is a flourishing institution, and a little thing like cost has had small consideration where solidity, beauty and comfort has been concerned. The style is something quite new in Canadian buildings, the square court in the centre and the numerous offices on either side, facing the street, being an innovation both attractive-looking and cheerful.

The building is of granite, red sandstone and red brick. The first story presents a massive granite front, only the pillars at the main entrance being polished, the second story is of red sandstone and the remainder of the building is of brick. The structure is seven stories high, including the basement, has two towers, and contains about one hundred offices. It is fire-proof, and all the floors and divisions throughout are of fire-proof brick and plaster.

The main entrance is by the court, the words "Canada Life Assurance Company," looking out from an immense polished granite block overhead. A large polished granite pillar stands on either side, with carvings thereon, and the vestibule is finished with Mexican onyx. The doors are of mahogany, heavy and artistic, and swing on oxydized silver hinges.

Inside the building the scene is surprising. The floor of the splendid, wide corridor is of old Roman Mosaic tile, each piece of the pavement being about a half inch inch in size, the pieces being placed in position one by one. This material is made only in Staffordshire, England, and men were brought from that part of England to lay it. The designs are beautiful and varied. The walls of the front corridor are of Nova Scotia free stone and enameled brick, and those of the back corridor are of Mexican onyx and enameled brick. The ceiling of the front corridor is of Shelton marble, in panels, with copper work surrounding the skylight. The skylight is of corrugated glass. In the centre of the main corridor is a circular radiator, with black Belgian marble top and bottom, and capable of a heating surface of two hundred feet. In the centre of the main hall is a magnificent stone arch, beautifully sculptured.

On the left of the main corridor are the offices of the Canada Life, which are reached by Quebec slate steps, with brass railings and granite newel posts. The offices of the Canada Life are finished in mahogany. The ceiling and frieze of the main office are Romanesque. Mr. E. W. Cox's private office is a division of this large room, and is a handsome one. In the rear is the private office of Mr. George A. Cox, which contains mahogany-top mantels. The ceiling is dark marble. The floors of the halls of the Canada Life offices are of Mosaic tile. In the main office of the Canada Life are two vaults.

On the right of the front corridor, with approaches like those of the Canada Life, is a branch of the Bank of Hamilton. The bank is finished in California hazel, or gum wood, the friezes and ceilings being of Romanesque design, in a lighter tint than those of the big insurance office. The main counter is a novelty in banks. Instead of the traditional wire netting thereon to prevent accidents, is ornamental plate chipped glass. The hinges of the doors of the bank, all as all the others on the ground floor, are of oxydized silver. The bank contains two vaults and three safes, the safes being in the money vault. The bank floor is of Mosaic tile.

All the pillars and columns, exposed iron work and brill work of the elevators are in silver bronzes. Throughout the building are iron riders and stringers, iron bannisters and mahogany hand rails and slate treads. There are fourteen flights of stairs. Winding stairs lead to the basement offices. There are two elevators, the fastest in the city, making the round trip from ground floor to tower in one minute.

A fine large corridor is on each floor of the building, and the offices are all arranged with a view to comfort and convenience. In all the corridor offices doors are prismatic tiles, twelve six-inch squares, which are unique and beautiful. On each floor is a lavatory for gentlemen, and two for ladies.

The big tower is a marked feature of the building, and is thirty three feet square, with a substantial iron railing. The view of the city from this tower is the best that can be obtained, and may be had in comfort. In the tower are two office rooms. The top tower is smaller and not so easily accessible, and the gentle breeze has a show there that is not conducive to pleasure at this season.

From the tower to the basement is a big drop, but the elevators make it in quickness and safety.

The engines in the basement are supplied with three big boilers, and the elevators and heat are furnished thereby. The basement is the full size of the building, and contains tracks and trucks for hauling coal from the front to the rear, where the engine room is.

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

PARNELL TO THE PEOPLE.

THE HOME RULE LEADER ISSUES HIS MANIFESTO.

Showing His Intrigue with the Liberals—His Deals and Dickerings with the G. O. M. and Morley—A Bribe of a Chief Secretaryship

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Mr. Parnell has issued the following manifesto:

To the Irish People:

The integrity and independence of a section of the Irish Parliamentary party having been apparently sapped and destroyed by the wire-pullers of the Liberal party, it has become necessary for me as leader of the Irish party to take counsel with you, and having given you the knowledge which is in my possession to ask your judgment upon a matter which now solely devolves upon you to decide.

The letter from Mr. Gladstone to Mr. Morley, written for the purpose of influencing the decision of the Irish party in the choice of their leader and claiming for Liberals and their leaders the right of veto upon the choice, is the immediate cause of this address, the purpose of which is to remind you and your parliamentary representatives that Ireland considers the independence of her party as her only safeguard within the constitution and above and beyond all other considerations whatever. The threat in that letter, repeated so insolently on many English platforms and in numerous British newspapers, that unless Ireland concedes this right of veto to England she will indefinitely postpone her chance of obtaining Home Rule, compels me, while not for a moment admitting the slightest possibility of such a loss, to put before you information which until now, so far as my colleagues are concerned, has been solely in my possession, and which will enable you to understand the measure of the loss with which you are threatened, unless you consent to throw me to the English wolves now howling for my destruction.

He Visits the Grand Old Man.

In November of last year, in response to a repeated and long-standing request, I visited Mr. Gladstone at Hawarden and received the details of the intended proposals of himself and his colleagues of the late Liberal Cabinet with regard to Home Rule in the event of the next general election favoring the Liberal party. It is unnecessary for me to do more at present than to direct your attention to certain points of these details, which will be generally recognized as embracing elements vital for your information and the formation of your judgment. These vital points of difficulty may be suitably arranged and considered under the following heads:

1. The retention of Irish members in the Imperial Parliament.

2. The settlement of the land or agrarian difficulty in Ireland.

3. The control of the Irish constabulary.

4. The appointment of the judiciary, including judges of the supreme court, county court judges and resident magistrates.

Reducing the Irish Parliamentary Party.

Upon the subject of the retention of Irish members in Parliament Mr. Gladstone told me that the opinion and the unanimous opinion of his colleagues and himself, recently arrived at after most mature consideration of alternative proposals, was that in order to conciliate English public opinion it would be necessary to reduce Irish representation from 103 to 32. Upon the settlement of the land question it was held that this was one of the questions which must be regarded as questions reserved from the control of the Irish legislature, but at the same time Mr. Gladstone intimated that, while he would renew his attempt to settle the matter by imperial legislation on the lines of the Land Purchase Bill of 1886, he would not undertake to put any pressure upon his own side or insist upon their adopting his views—in other and shorter words, that the Irish Legislature was not to be given the power of solving the agrarian difficulty.

How the Constabulary Was to Work.

With regard to the control of the Irish constabulary it was stated by Mr. Gladstone that, in view of the necessity of conciliating English public opinion, he and his colleagues felt that it would be necessary to leave this force to the appointment of its officers under control of the Imperial authority for an indefinite period, while funds for its maintenance, payment and equipment would be compulsorily provided out of the Irish revenues.

A period of 10 or 12 years was suggested as the limit of the time during which the appointment of judges and resident magistrates should be confined in the hands of the imperial authorities.

I have now given a short account of what I gathered of Mr. Gladstone's views and those of his colleagues during the two hours conversation at Hawarden—a conversation which, I am bound to admit, was mainly monopolized by Mr. Gladstone—and will pass to my own expressions of opinion upon these communications, which represent my views then and now. And firstly, with regard to the retention of the Irish members, the position which I have always adopted, and which I then represented, is that the concession of full powers of an Irish legislature equivalent to those enjoyed by a state of the American Union, the number and position of the members so retained, would become a question of imperial concern and not of pressing or immediate importance for the interests of Ireland, but that with important and all-engrossing subjects of agrarian reform, constabulary control and judiciary appointments left either under Imperial control or totally unprovided for, it would be the height of madness for any Irish leader to imitate Grattan's example and consent to disband an army which had cleared the way to victory.

I further undertook to use every legitimate influence to reconcile Irish public opinion to the gradual coming into force of new privileges, and to the postponements necessary for English opinion with regard to constabulary control and judicial appointments, but I strongly dissented from the proposed reduction of the number of members during the interval of probation, and I pointed to the absence of any suitable prospect of land settlement by either parliament as a constitutional and overwhelming drag upon the prospects of permanent peace and prosperity in Ireland.

At the conclusion of the interview I was informed that Mr. Gladstone and all his colleagues were entirely agreed that pending a general election silence should be absolutely [illegible] with regard to any portion of the difference on the question of the retention of the Irish members.

I have dwelt at some length upon these subjects, but not, I think, disproportionately to their importance. Let me say in addition that if and when full powers are handed to Ireland over her own domestic affairs the integrity, number and independence of the Irish party will be a matter of no importance. But until this ideal is reached it is your duty and mine to hold fast to every safeguard. I need not say that the question, the vital and important question, of the retention of the Irish members on one hand and indefinite delay in granting full powers to an Irish legislature on the other gave me great concern. The absence of any provision for the settlement of the agrarian question—of any policy—on the part of the Liberal leaders filled me with concern and apprehension.

On the introduction of the Land Purchase Bill by the Government at the commencement of the last session, Mr. Morley communicated with me as to the course to be adopted. Having regard to the avowed absence of any policy on the part of the Liberal leaders and party with regard to the matter of the Land Bill, I strongly advised Mr. Morley against any direct challenge of the principle of state-aided land purchase, and finding that the fears and alarm of the English taxpayers as to state aid by the hypothecation of grants for local purposes in Ireland, as a counter guarantee, had been assuaged, that the hopeless struggle against the principle of the measure should not be maintained and that we should direct our sole efforts on the second reading of the bill to the assertion of the principle of local control. In this, I am bound to say, Mr. Morely entirely agreed with me, but he was at the same time much hampered, and expressed his sense of his position in that direction by the attitude of the extreme section of his party led by Mr. Labouchere, and in a subsequent interview he impressed upon me the necessity of meeting the second reading of the bill with a direct negative and asked me to undertake the motion. I agreed to this, but only on condition that I was not to attack the principle of the measure but to confine myself to criticism of the details.

I think he was false strategy, but it was the strategy adopted out of regard to English prejudices and Radical peculiarities. I did the best possible under the circumstances, and the several days' debate on the second reading contrasts favorably with Mr. Labouchere's recent abortive attempt to interpose a direct negative to the first reading of a similar bill yesterday. Time went on; the Government allowed their attention to be distracted from the question of land purchase by a bill compensating English publicans and the agrarian difficulty in Ireland was again relegated to the future of another session.

Another Talk With Morley.

Just before the commencement of this session I was again favored with another interview with Mr. Morley. I impressed upon him the policy of an obligue method of procedure with reference to land purchase and the necessity and importance of providing for the question of local control and of limitation in application of funds. He agreed with me and I offered to move, on the first reading of the bill, an amendment in favor of this local control, advising that if this were neglected it might be left to the Radicals, on the second reading, to oppose the principle of the measure. This appeared to be a proper course, and I left Mr. Morley under the impression that this would fall to my duty, but in addition he made a remarkable proposal. In referring to the probable approaching victory of the Liberal party at the polls he suggested some considerations as to the future of the Irish party, and he asked me whether I would be willing to assume the office of Chief Secretary to Ireland, or whether I would allow another member of my party to take the position. He also put before me the desirability of filling one of the law offices of the crown in Ireland by a legal member of the party. I told him amazed as I was at the proposal, that I could not agree to forfeit in any way the independence of the party or any of its members; that the Irish people had trusted me in this movement because they believed that the declaration I had made to them at Cork in 1880 was a true one and represented my conviction, and that I would on no account depart from it. I considered that after the declaration we had repeatedly made the proposal of Mr. Morley, that we should show ourselves to be absorbed into English politics, was one based upon an entire misconception of our position with regard to our Irish constituencies and of the pledges we had given. In conclusion he directed my attention to the plan of campaign estates. He said that it would be impossible for the Liberal party, when it attained power, to do anything for those evicted tenants by direct action and that it would also be impossible for the Irish Parliament, under the powers conferred, to do anything for them, and flinging up his hands with a gesture of despair he exclaimed: "Having been in Tipperary I do not know what to propose in regard to the matter." I told him this question was a limited one, that I did not see that he need allow himself to be hampered by its future consideration; that funds would be available from America and elsewhere for the support of those tenants as long as might be necessary; that of course I understood that it was a difficulty, but that it was a limited one and should not be allowed to interfere with the general interests of the country. I allude to this matter only because the last few days a strong argument in many minds for my expulsion has been unless the Liberals come into power at the next general election plan of campaign tenants will suffer. As I have shown, the Liberals propose to do nothing for the plan of campaign tenants by direct action when they come into power, but I am entitled to ask that the existence of these tenants, whom I have supported in every way in the past, and whom I shall continue to support in future, shall not constitute a reason for my expulsion from Irish politics. I have repeatedly pledged myself to stand by these evicted tenants and that they shall not be allowed to suffer, and I believe that the Irish people throughout the world will support me in this policy.

Sixteen years ago I conceived the idea of an Irish parliamentary party, independent of all English parties. Ten years ago I was elected leader of the independent Irish parliamentary party. During these 10 years this party has remained independent, and because of its independence it has forced upon the English people the necessity of granting Home Rule to Ireland. I believe that the party will obtain Home Rule only provided that it remains independent of any English party. I do not believe any action of the Irish people in supporting me will endanger the Home Rule cause or postpone the establishment of an Irish Parliament, but even if the danger with which we are threatened by the Liberal party of to-day were to be realized, I believe the Irish people throughout the world would agree with me that postponement would be preferable to a compromise of our national rights by the acceptance of a measure which would not realize the aspirations of our race.

I have the honor to remain your faithful servant, CHARLES STEWART PARNELL.

THE MANIFESTO CRITICIZED.

Nationalists and Gladstone to Issue Counter Manifestos

LONDON, Nov. 28.—An important section of the Parnellites met to-night and resolved to take steps to combat the influence of the manifesto, resenting its appearance as a breach of faith. The meeting adjourned in order to get the opinion of the delegates in America.

It is reported Mr. Gladstone will issue a counter manifesto.

A canvass of a dozen bishops has been made, and all refrained from expressing views until they had seen Parnell's manifesto.

Cardinal Manning declined to be interviewed.

The Standard says perhaps a fatal blow has been struck at the prospects of the Home Rule party in England. The manifesto is highly damaging to the credit of Gladstone and Morley as straightforward statesmen. No English politician will ever trust Parnell again, but he has chosen exactly the right line to win the fanatical regard of Irishmen.

The Telegraph says those who confidently reckoned upon Parnell's enforced resignation will receive a certain shock from perusal of Archbishop Walsh's letter. It will not be surprising if Irishmen respond with passionate enthusiasm to Parnell's call.

In case the Irish Nationalists at their meeting Monday favor Parnell, a movement will be started among Liberals to give English reforms precedence over Home Rule and a meeting to advocate reverting to the program of 1885 will be summoned.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, it is believed, will succeed Gladstone as leader of the Liberal party should the latter retire.

COUNTING NOSES.

53 Nationalist Members Oppose Parnell. 23 for Him.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—A canvass has been conducted by members of the Irish party who opposed Parnell's retention of the leadership with a view to ascertain how the poll is likely to go at Monday's meeting. The result was the securing of pledges from 53 members of the party to vote against Parnell. Among those who have given pledges are: Messrs. Abraham, John Barry, Carew Chance, Clancy, Cummins, Condon, Cox, Crilly, Deasy, Dickson, John Dillon, Esmonde, Finucane, Fox, Flynn, Gilhooley Timothy Harrington, Timothy Healy, Maurice Healy, Jordan, M. J. Kenny, Kilbride Knox, Lalor, Lane, Leahy, McCartan, Justin McCarthy, Peter McDonald, Molloy, Morrogh, Murphy, J. F. X. O'Brien, Patrick O'Brien, P. J. O'Brien, Arthur O'Connor, O'Hanlon, O'Keefe, Quinn, Reynolds, Roche, Sexton, Sheehan, Sheehy, Stack, Timothy Daniel Sullivan, Tanner and Webb. The anti-Parnellites also rely upon the votes of William O'Brien, T. P. O'Connor, Gill and T. D. Sullivan.

These Will Stick.

The adherents of Parnell who have announced their intention to stick to their old leader through thick and thin number 23, viz.: Blaine, Byrne, Henry Campbell, Conway, W. J. Corbet, J. G. Fitzgerald, Edward Harrington, Hayden, T. E. Kenny, W. A. Macdonald, MacNeill, Maguire, Mahony, J. P. Nolan, Joseph Nolan, John O'Connor, O'Kelly, Pinkerton, P. J. Power, Richard Power, John Redmond, William Redmond and Shell.

The eight doubtful members are: Dalton Foley, Harrison, Leamy, Justin Huntly McCarthy, McKenna, James Patrick, O'Gorman Mahon and Tuite.

The strained relations between the two sections of the Parnellite party are becoming more marked. Parnell's supporters complain that his opponents are using unusual methods against him. They believe the American delegates have been misled and have cabled warning them not to accept the first version of the meeting as correct and describing the proceedings from their own point of view. The opponents of Parnell consider Parnell has been totally misinformed regarding the views of the Irish people generally. They believe his manifesto will increase his hold upon the country. They are preparing a counter-manifesto.

THE ENVOYS CONFER,

Dillon and O'Brien Consider the Best Course to Adopt.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 28.—John Dillon and T Harrington were the last of the six Irish members to reach the Burnet House here today. Messrs. O'Connor and Gill having come in about noon. At about 4 p.m. the six men locked themselves in a parlor to settle the great question of Parnell's leadership, which apparently is left to their arbitrament. The Nationalists of Ireland want to know what is the judgment of the American public on the issue presented. A large number of telegrams and letters have been received by the envoys, and some of the best men among the Irish, Americans of Cincinnati have given them their judgment. The conference is of such importance that the departure of Dillon, O'Brien and others for Chicago will be postponed until morning.

Some time after 7 o'clock the conference sent out the following note:

The Irish delegates wish it to be distinctly understood that their statements as to their view on the present position of the Irish party are entirely unofficial. The delegates have made no communication to the press as to their opinions, and they do not intend to do so for the present.

Mr. Sullivan, one of the delegates, stated there was so much depending on information and communications that nothing could be fairly stated as their conclusion at this time. It was his opinion nothing more could be said to-night. The party goes to Chicago in the morning.

FROM THE BISHOPS.

A Remarkable Letter of Mysterious Import From Archbishop Walsh.

DUBLIN, Nov. 28.—Archbishop Walsh writes to the press as follows:

The Parnell matter is altogether too grave to enable me as an individual bishop to feel warranted in making any public statement of my opinion with reference to it until I have had an opportunity to consult with my Episcopal brethren. I understand that the Irish Parliamentary party will meet on Monday to decide what action shall be taken in the lamentable crisis with which it stands confronted. It is easy to conceive that the decision of our Parliamentary representatives may have the effect of opening up a new phase of the Irish National movement, and that the situation resulting from their decision may be one that will put upon the bishops of Ireland collectively as well as individually, the very grave duty of considering whether or how far it will be in our power to continue in future to place in the Irish Parliamentary party that confidence which as a body we have felt justified in placing in it in the past.

The Archbishop adds that he would be unable to support in any conceivable circumstance the suggested new Irish National Liberal party. He concludes mysteriously as follows:

Let me in conclusion say that for the last few days certain events of not very remote occurrence, which seem, however, just now to have almost passed from public attention have been very prominently before my mind. With the recollection of these before me I am, I confess, unable as yet to feel absolutely convinced that we are even now in a position to form a final judgment on the case out of which the present unhappy crisis has arisen. In this I may be illogical, but it is better to be illogical than to run the risk of being uncharitable or unjust. At all events this is a matter that must now be decided one way or the other before many days.

ASKED TO RESIGN.

Forty Irish Members Sign a Petition

LONDON, Nov. 28.—A petition for Parnell's retirement is circulating and has received the signatures of 40 Irish members, headed with the name of Justin McCarthy. The signers declare that if Mr. Parnell does not retire on Monday they will resign their seats in Parliament. A manifesto to this effect is expected from them if the petition has no effect on Mr. Parnell.

Summing up the situation it appears undoubtedly a fact that unless Parnell agrees to compromise, and unless the delegates to America unanimously support his retention, a motion will be carried at Monday's meeting deposing him.

The business of Parliament has practically collapsed, as members cannot be induced to take an interest in anything else while the fate of the Home Rule alliance hangs in the balance.

Mr. Gladstone to-day held a conference with Earl Spencer and Arnold Morley, Home Rule member of Parliament for East Nottingham.

Both the supporters and opponents of Parnell, in the Irish Parliamentary party have agreed not to hold meetings or begin a popular agitation in Ireland regarding the Nationalist leadership until after the meeting on Monday.

At a meeting of Scotch Liberal members of Parliament to-day a resolution was adopted declaring Parnell ought to retire from the Irish leadership.

A Desire to Gratify Personal Hostility Attributed to Mr. Gladstone.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The Daily Telegraph publishes to-day an interview with a distinguished member of the Irish Parliamentary Party, who is also one of Mr. Parnell's closest personal friends, and has been in constant communication with him all through the present crisis. Mr. Parnell authorizes this gentleman to state his views on the question of the hour.

Mr. Parnell is convinced that the movement to drive him from political life has been started by the Radical section of the Liberal party for the purpose of destroying the independence of the Irish National party and making it a mere appanage to the Liberal party, and that it is specially in revenge for the attitude he assumed on the question of the Royal grants last summer.

He is determined to resist this movement to the last. On Monday he will make some most important statements to the Irish party, supported by documentary evidence, which he will publish and which he is confident will be decisive.

The Irish party is literally resolved into its first elements; there is no cohesion in it.

Mr. Gladstone will now have his revenge upon the man whom he imprisoned in Kilmainham jail and who afterwards compelled him to consider the demands of the Irish people.

The Nationalist meeting yesterday was carefully planned and led by John Barry, who boasted that he had moved Mr. Butt's deposition for the leadership, which was supported by Maurice Healy, Mr. Parnell's colleagues in the representation of Cork, and Sexton, all men who had been constantly benefited by Mr. Parnell. Outside the Irish party the leaders are Mr. Labouchere and Prof. Stuart of The Star newspaper. Mr. Parnell has hitherto been quiescent, but he is now determined to take the field and will issue a manifesto to his Cork constituents.

MICHAEL DAVITT'S VIEWS.

What Parnell Told Him—Who Will Succeed to the Leadership?

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Michael Davitt gave the writer a full and categorical statement of his views of the effect of the Parnell scandal upon the cause of Home Rule. He appeared to be suffering from great depression of spirits.

"This crisis," he said, "is unquestionably the most serious that has arisen during the last twenty years in connection with the Irish cause. It is now a question whether the Irish people are to lose all chances of Home Rule for the next dozen years by clinging to a discredited character and the leadership of Mr. Parnell, or whether, by throwing him over, they shall secure that for which Ireland has made untold sacrifices in supporting the Land League and National League movements.

"The decision practically rests with the Irish Parliamentary party, for Mr. Parnell is being appealed to in vain, first by the men who have worked with him faithfully since he entered public life, secondly by the best friends of Home Rule in Great Britain, and thirdly, at the meeting held this evening, by Messrs. Justin McCarthy, Sexton and his most trusty lieutenants. He was deaf to all these appeals and still resolves to maintain his position at any cost to the Irish cause.

"The Irish Parliamentary party has adjourned further consideration of this matter until next Monday in order to allow the National feeling in Ireland to express itself, and with a view also of hearing what the Irish delegates in America and the friends of the Irish cause beyond the Atlantic have to say. I believe that by Monday next Ireland will have demanded Mr. Parnell's retirement. I cannot conceive that there will be any hesitation in choosing between him and Home Rule, for the choice is now narrowed down to that. 'Either Parnell must go or Gladstone.'

"It would appear that forty or fifty members of the party are desirous that Parnell should remain in his present position, but the opposing minority includes all the old and more experienced members. If public feeling in Ireland and the opinions of the Irish in America reinforce that section of the parliamentary party which now demands Parnell's retirement he will find it impossible to resist any longer.

"Should the Liberal party abandon the cause of Home Rule, that cause will be practically at the mercy of the present Tory Government. That Government will be returned with an increased majority at the next general election, and the people of Ireland will then have nothing to look forward to but a continuation of Lord Salisbury's policy.

"Twenty years of a resolute government will be decided next Monday therefore it is the most momentous issue that has arisen in connection with the Irish question for the last quarter of a century, and as I said in the beginning of these observations it will rest with the public opinion of Ireland and the Irish in America to make their views known between this time and Monday next."

"Do you think, Mr. Davitt, that in the event of Mr. Parnell's retirement Mr. Justin McCarthy will succeed to the leadership?"

"Well, as to that, he probably will. He is at present the vice-chairman, but he is not at all competent, in my opinion, to be the leader of a combative party, although he is a very reliable and cultured man and thoroughly faithful to the Irish cause."

"Who, then, will be most likely to succeed Mr. Parnell? Is there any chance of your being called to the post?"

"I do not know who will be the leader, but I myself am entirely out of the question."

"What do you think of Mr. Dillon's chance?"

"If Dillon were at home I have not the slightest doubt but that he would get a majority of the votes of the party. He is not only popular in Ireland, but he is very highly respected by the Home Rulers here in Great Britain. He is a man of unquestionable earnestness and great ability, and he would, I think, be the most popular of the five or six men who might be considered to have claims on the leadership."

An Electrical Street Sign.

A most useful electrical street sign, says the Sun, has come into use in England. A light brass framework is fitted with opaque glass bearing the signs desired, the name of a firm, a railway station, or a theatre, as the case may be. These tablets are visible by day as well as by night, and as the obstruction to light is inappreciable, they are becoming as popular as effective.

DRY GOODS NEWS AT

TURNBULL'S

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st October in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date, to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now; but they have come at last and open out beautifully. We have two ranges, plain and fancy backs, at $1.00 and $1.25, in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta; some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us, and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better, and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit.

Although early in the season our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing, which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on our counters. They are desirable goods, and worth remembering.

Opened out this week a job line of Dress Goods, 12½c. yd.; also a fresh lot of Flannelettes at 8c.

We claim to have the best line 8c. Grey Cotton in the country. All other Cottons proportionate value.

THE VALUE OF POPULAR PETITIONS.

There is a story told of one man laying a wager with another that he could get a respectable number of signatures to a petition praying for the hanging of a prominent and estimable citizen. According to the story there were enough people signed the petition to show the estimable citizen that, ostensibly, a respectable majority of his immediate neighbours considered him worthy of the rope. The truth of this story cannot, perhaps, be vouched for, but there is no doubt it exactly represents the popular attitude towards petitions. It is no exaggeration to say that the majority of every-day persons sign petitions without thought, or even reading them over, whether it be for the pardon of a guilty criminal or the hanging of an innocent pillar of the temple of virtue. Many sign to avoid importunity of the solicitor for signatures; many sign because some other person has done so; many sign because they have a mania for putting their flowing signatures on paper. Not one in ten, perhaps, reads over the petition carefully and signs it, or declines to sign it, intelligently. An amazing illustration of the facile morality, and indifference, applied to the signing of petitions will be afforded by the presentation of two petitions at the next meeting of the town council—one against, and the other in favor of extending telephone pole privileges to the Ontario Telephone Co. And the joke of the matter is that a very respectable majority of the signatures to the two petitions will be found to be on both petitions, diametrically opposite as they are to each other in intention and spirit. This reduces the value of the popular petition very much below par. It is no wonder, then, that melting memorials and pitecus petitions fail to melt the stony hearts of the Executive when some unhung reprobate wants to escape the just punishment of the law.

South Victoria.

The Election Campaign in Full Swing—The Date Kept a Secret.

LINDSAY, Nov. 27.—Although the writ for South Victoria is in town, and the returning officer appointed, the name of that official and the dates of nomination and polling are kept secret by the Tory managers. The report stating that polling was fixed for the 10th December was not quite correct, as the proclamations are not yet out, but it is believed that the contest will be decided between the 10 h and 20th December.

The Tories hold two meetings a night, and are prosecuting a vigorous campaign. The Reformers have gone into the contest with great spirit and energy. They have a popular and respected candidate, and a cause that is strongly supported by farmers and mechanics, Mr. Thos. Bain's fine series of meetings last week created a most favorable impression, and there is a strong demand for Mr. Bain to attend other meetings. This week Mr. Joseph Tait held several successful meetings in North Manpoes, and is advocating the cause of reciprocity and freedom of trade with his accustomed ability and effectiveness. Mr. Tait is an old friend in this riding, and is always heartily welcome. Mr. Jos. McMullen, M. P. for North Wellington, and Mr. D J McIntyre, of Lindsay, are in North Verulam, presenting the trade question before large audiences with capital effect. On Tuesday evening Mr. W. T. R. Preston addressed a splendid meeting in Downeyville, where Mr. Lowesborough had a rousing reception. Mr. J. S. Larke, of Oshawa, is doing the talking for Mr. Fairbairn and opened the Tory campaign at Lindsay on Tuesday evening with a gathering which somehow did not enthuse worth a cent.

On Wednesday evening Mr Larke and Mr. Fairbairn proceeded to Oakwood to try to make an impression in Manipoe. Mr. Fairbairn was accompanied by Major Samuel Hughes, who always goes with him on his western trip. Mr. Silverwood was chosen chairman. The Adonis of the campaigners, Dominion Emigration Agent Webber, delivered one of his orations. He was followed by Mr. Fairbairn who talked on politics and the railway. An hour was then allotted to the representative of Mr. Lowesborough, the plan of the Lindsay Tory leaders of only giving half an hour having been abandoned. Mr. Preston, of Toronto, delivered a strong address in review of the great issue of the day, the trade question. He showed how the Conservative party had at last taken clear, decided and definite ground against reciprocity, and exposed their bad faith in dealing with this question. Mr. Preston was listened to with profound attention, broken only by hearty applause as he made telling points. As the worthy chairman said afterwards "you could have heard a pin drop while Mr. Preston was speaking." Not many public speakers can hold the attention of their audience so closely. The electors were delighted, and their was a strong desire manifested to have Mr. Preston hold a meeting at the hall, so that he could have ample time to discuss the whole question, as it is difficult to do it justice in one hour. Mr. Sam Hughes followed for an hour. He made rather wild statements, and was promptly brought to book by Mr. Preston and forced to admit his error, the audience enjoying hugely the way in was cornered. Mr. J. S. Larke closed with a long speech. A characteristic specimen was furnished by his statement that Mr. Wiman was supplying the money and the means to carry on the contest in South Victoria. Mr. Preston at once denounced the statement as wholly without foundation and demanded proof. Mr. Larke gave as proof, amidst the laughter of the audience, the circular by Mr. Wiman, accompanying a sheet of cartoons on the trade question, sent to business men in the Province. Mr. Larke endeavoured to wriggle out of his charge, but was pinned down and placed in a rather ignominious position before the audience. But it is nothing new for Mr. Larke to get caught in this way. The meeting closed at 11.30 with cheers for Mr. Fairbairn and the Queen, and with rousing cheers for Mr. Lowesborough.

Mr. William Mulock, M P, is advertised for three meetings next week. Mr. Tait will be kept here for some days, and altogether a lively discussion is going on throughout the riding. The farmers are deeply concerned, for they feel that if they had reciprocity then barley—which this year grades mostly N. 3 X—would command something much nearer the Buffalo price of 97 cents than the 40 cents to 43 cents, which are the prevailing prices in the riding to-day. This is only one of numerous cases where they feel they are heavy losers by the restriction and retaliation policy that prevails, and consequently they are going in for freedom of trade with our neighbours. Larke and other Tory stumpers argue with Mr. Colby that reciprocity would be ruinous to the Canadian farmer, but the Canadian farmer is going to try reciprocity again.

Dummer.

BROKE A LEG.—The other week Mr. Geo. Peters, of Dummer, had the misfortune to have his left leg broken at the ankle. He was assisting Mr. M. Barr, a neighbor, to remove a large stump, when one of the roots broke and struck him on the angle. Although the break was a bad one Mr. Peters is now able, with the assistance of a pair of crutches, to be around again.—Rejoider.

A Startling Contradiction.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—There is an old adage that says "a prophet is not without honour save in his own country," and the saying is generally accepted as containing much truth. Indeed it is expanded into the generally accepted belief that true merit, whether it be that of an individual, or that of some medicinary preparation is much more likely to meet with popular approval at a distance than at home. Nasal Balm, acknowledged as being the greatest remedy for cold in the head and catarrh, ever offered the people of Canada, affords a striking instance of the fact that popular opinion, for once, at least, is wrong. From the outset its popularity in the home of its manufacture has been unbounded and constantly increasing. In evidence of this we offer testimonials from two Brockville gentlemen who are known throughout the Dominion.

D. Derbyshire, Esq., Mayor of Brockville, and for the past two years President of the Ontario Creamery Association, says:—"Your Nasal Balm is truly a wonderful remedy. I may say that I was afflicted with a distressing case of catarrh, accompanied by a number of its disagreeable symptoms. I had tried other remedies, but without avail, and well nigh despaired of a cure, when I was induced to give Nasal Balm a trial. Its effects were wonderful, and the results arising from its use surprising. Briefly stated, it stops the droppings into the throat, sweetens the breath, relieves the headaches that follow catarrh, and in fact makes one feel altogether like a new man. No one who is suffering from catarrh in any of its stages should lose a moment in giving this remedy a trial."

James Smart, Esq., Brockville, Sheriff of the United Counties of Leeds and Grenville, says: "It would be impossible to speak too extravagantly of the wonderful curative properties of Nasal Balm. I suffered for upwards of a month from a severe cold in the head, which, despite the use of other remedies, was becoming worse, and developing into catarrh. I procured a bottle of Nasal Balm, and was relieved from the first application and thoroughly cured within twenty four hours. I cheerfully add my testimony to the value of Nasal Balm."

These are but two illustrations out of the hundreds of testimonials the proprietors of Nasal Balm have had from all parts of the Dominion, but they ought to convince the most skeptical. If your dealer does not keep Nasal Balm it will be sent on receipt of price—50 cents small size, and $1 large size bottle — by addressing FULFORD & Co., Brockville, Ont.

Purify Your Blood

Importance of the blood in its relation to health is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

BRIEF BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF HIS BUSY LIFE.

His Ancestors and Their Environments—His Career in Municipal Affairs—His Record in the Legislature—A Man of Kindly Nature and a Home Lover.

John B. Freeman, M. P. P. for North Norfolk, died at his residence in Simcoe on Saturday, 22nd Nov., 1890. The deceased gentleman was born in the Township of Windham, Norfolk, on the 22nd August, 1825. He was a son of D. W. Freeman and Isabella, daughter of the Rev. John Bailey, who came from the city of New York about the year, 1809, and settled in the township of Missouri, as pastor of the Episcopal Methodist Church at that place. He was one of the first to erect a brick structure in what is now the city of London, and was one of the first to take up lands on which that city now stands. He died about the year 1832. D. W. Freeman was the second eldest son of the late Rev. D. Freeman, minister of the Methodist Church, and one of the pioneer ministers of that body on the shores of the great lakes. This able and zealous man was won't to travel from the Niagara river to Detroit upon his sacred mission, without remuneration, and was the first Methodist minister to cross the river and preach in what is now the city of Detroit. He died at the residence of the father of the subject of this sketch, about 1835. It may also be stated that he was one of the U. E. loyalists. Mr. Freeman adopted the life of a farmer, settling himself in the Township of Windham, Norfolk county. In 1840, he was appointed superintendent of common schools for the county, and this position he held until 1872, when he retired, owing to ill-health. He always took a zealous interest in municipal and educational interests; was Clerk of the Township of Windham Council for several years; and clerk of the division court for the same district for fifteen years. He was President and Secretary of the County of Norfolk Agricultural Association, and was secretary of the same until the time of his death, having held that position for twenty-five years. He died in 1874, leaving eight of a family, the subject of this sketch being the eldest. John B. Freeman received a sound early educational training, and concluded his studies in the Simcoe Grammar school. At the age of seventeen he left school and assisted his father on the farm, until the age of twenty-two, when he removed to a farm in the township of London, where he commenced operations for himself in the middle of the bush. He remained here until 1874, and devoted most of his attentions to stock-raising. Upon the death of his father, he removed to the old homestead in Norfolk, and there he resided till his death. Mr. Freeman, early in life, took an interest in public questions, and in education. He was elected a school trustee, while in Middlesex, and served as Township Councillor of Windham, Norfolk, for six years. In 1878 he was elected for the North Riding of Norfolk to the Ontario Assembly, defeating William Wilson, of Simcoe, by a majority of 126. He was re-elected for the same constituency in 1882, defeating William Wallace, of Simcoe, of "Rag Baby" fame, by a majority of 429. Mr. Freeman's legislative career has been distinguished and useful. He was the first to present petitions asking for manhood suffrage, and to urge the concession of such a measure, and he was also the first to urge the necessity of only allowing one vote to be cast by each voter in the municipalities in which he resided. He has also been government whip since 1882, and his zeal and efficiency in this important office have met with cordial approval. He was a member of the A. O. U. W., and charter member of Lynn Lodge, No. 26, Toronto. In politics it is not necessary to say that he always has been a Liberal. He was a member of the County of Norfolk Reform Association, and director of the Reform Club recently established at Toronto. In religion he professed the Methodist faith, like his paternal ancestors. He married in 1851, Jane, daughter of Thos. Scotchard, of the township of Nissouri, Middlesex, and brother of the late John Scotchard, who represented that county in the old parliament, and who died while in political harness. Both these brothers were pioneer settlers in Middlesex, whither they had come from England early in the present century. Mr. Freeman was essentially a man of progress, and he was one of those who believe that when motion ceases, stagnation begins. He was a man very much devoted to home life, and those who have met him in the domestic hour bear cordial tribute to the broadness of his sympathies and his kindly nature.

RIVAL CANADIAN STATESMEN.

Sir John Macdonald Makes Good Jokes and Hon. Edward Blake Can't See One.

Sir John Macdonald's keen wit and large nose, writes a Canadian correspondent, have long been subjects of remark among all who know Canada's "Grand Old Man," as Tories term him. The caricaturist makes Sir John's nose the "salient feature" of his sketch: the wit makes a story more effective by telling it as one of Sir John's. A member of the Dominion Parliament told this story about him:

"The last time I happened in the barber shop of the Parliament buildings," he said, "Sir John was in the chair. The artist was shaving his upper lip as I entered, and had hold of the Premier's nose. I said, 'I suppose, Sir John, that he is the only man in Canada who can take you by the nose with impunity?'

"The lather was disturbed by the smile of the statesman, as he replied: 'Yes, and he has his hands full.'"

About as remarkable as Sir John's keen sense of the humorous is the utter lack of it displayed by his old opponent, the Hon. Edward Blake. When Blake was at the head of the Liberal party he was urged by an intimate political friend to make himself more agreeable in his general intercourse with his followers. "Sir John is as WARLIKE INDIANS.

Well Armed Redskins Massing and Will Fight.

One of the periodical Indian wars over in the Western States of the Republic to the South of Canada is imminent. This time the appearances indicate that it will be a greater struggle than ever before since the Indians were sent into reservations. Settlers are in danger, and regiments are being ordered to Southern Dakota and along the Nebraska line for their protection. The Sioux are taking the initiative, and settlers feel that under such leadership their lives are in deadly peril. The "New Messiah" craze intensifies the situation, and there is good reason to believe that these ghost dancers are quietly awaiting the coming of the troops. They are armed with Winchesters and side arms, and are well supplied with ammunition. The crash is to come when the troops start out to arrest the ring-leaders and break up the ghost dance. The Indians seem to be courting a good licking, but they have never yet been soundly whipped by the soldiers. The Indians now concentrating at White River, South Dakota, are insolent, and openly declare that they will fight the military when the latter come.

The other day 500 Cheyennes charged into the Sioux camp early in the morning in war paint and eagle feathers. This is the custom of the Cheyennes when they join the forces of the Sioux. They came as only Cheyenne horsemen can ride. They waved their rifles above their heads and fired volley after volley into the air. It was a sham charge, and after it was over the Cheyennes shook hands with the Sioux and joined in the Ghost dance, which was afterward followed by a war dance, in which the warriors stripped to the breech-cloth and daubed themselves in red paint.

It is estimated that with the Cheyennes already at this point there are 800 able-bodied warriors opposed to the troops, who number less than 400. Every movement of the troops is being watched by Sioux hostiles, who can be seen on the surrounding hills. They are in communication with the main body by a system of signals which is a primitive arrangement of the present heliograph system of the army. Last night a flash fire was seen from the Government corral at Porcupine Butte, which commands a splendid view of the surrounding country. Ranchmen in the exposed districts are as badly scared as their families. There is danger every hour of the stock being slaughtered by the hostiles.

The religious craze has now spread to nearly every Indian tribe between California and Iowa, and from the British line to Arizona. It is estimated that 40,000 Indians are in the dance.

Red Cloud, whose portrait appears above, was the Indian who notified the authorities of a probable uprising of the aborigines. He, however, is not trusted as he wants to see his probable successor to the chieftainship of his tribe killed. While the old fellow is trying to convince the soldiers that he is opposed to the ghost dance, it is probable that his counsel would be given to the hostiles, if for no other reason than to settle his bitter feeling toward American Horse and Thunder Bear. Both of these Indians were Red Cloud's lieutenants in the Fort Phil Kearney massacre, but since that bloody day, when seventy soldiers were ambushed and killed, they have been fierce enemies.

"Buffalo Bill," Col. Cody, has been ordered to the West to help in trying to quell the uprising if possible without fighting.

The late world-renowned Dermatologist,

Sir ERASMUS WILSON, F.R.S.,

The FIRST AND ONLY

President of the Royal College of Surgeons who ever gave a public Testimonial, and the following is

THE ONLY TESTIMONIAL HE EVER GAVE.

"If it be well to wash the skin—and we never heard the proposition questioned—it is well also that we should be familiar with the means by which that purpose may be most efficiently attained.

"We once knew a beautiful woman, with a nice complexion, who had never washed her face with soap all her life through; her means of polishing were, a smear of grease or cold cream; then a wipe, and then a lick with rose water. Of course we did not care to look too closely after such an avowal, but we pitied her, for soap is the food of the skin.—

Soap is to the skin what Wine is to the stomach;

a generous stimulant. It not only removes the dirt, but the layer which carries the dirt; and it promotes the displacement of the old cuticle to make way for the new, to increase the activity of change in the skin. Now turn we to Toilet Soaps and there we find a name engraven on the memory of the oldest inhabitant—PEARS.

PEARS' SOAP! an article of the nicest and most careful manufacture, and the most refreshing and agreeable of balms to the skin."

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was acquired by but one Canadian Life Company. The surplus as regards policy holders is three times as great as the amount carried forward at any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders can safely be highly estimated. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its assuring upon different policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home Institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefitting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up their own cities rather than those of foreign states.

A Runaway.

Friday afternoon as Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Drummond, of Otonabee, were driving northward, near the residence of Mr. John Carnegie, their horse took fright and ran away. Mr. Drummond ran the horse into the fence and the sudden stop threw Mrs. Drummond out, injuring her slightly. She was brought to town, to the residence of Dr. Caldwell.

Dr. Bessey Coming.

Dr. W. E. Bessey, the celebrated Toronto specialist, will be at the Snowden House on Saturday, December 6th. He is meeting with great success in his monthly visits to Peterborough. Dr. Bessey practiced his profession in Montreal for over twenty years, and at one time was Medical Health Officer of that great Canadian city. Since 1885 Dr. Bessey has been engaged in special studies, turning his attention to the development of a painless cure of all rectal diseases, their influence on the general health, and the best method of treatment. He has succeeded, and he now presents to the world an entirely new treatment for all rectal diseases, even though the disease be hereditary. 3d127 1w

A Sensation Exploded.

This forenoon Chief Russel's attention was called to a suspicious looking parcel which was lying on the ice in the creek above Paterson's dam. The outer covering of dirty linen was bound around with twine, as if to conceal the contents. The object was eyed at a distance for a while, then it was brought to shore with a pole-hook, and on pulling it apart it was found to consist of an old undershirt and linen shirt, both in an extremely dirty condition. The wearer had evidently made his annual change of underclothing, and thought it would be cheaper in the end to throw the cast-off garments away than pay a laundry bill.

The Railway Obliging.

The civic deputation which went to Toronto yesterday were most generously met by Superintendent Tait of the C.P.R. Formerly only the engine of the way freight, which passed through town every forenoon, was placed at the disposal of the Edison Company, but in future every locomotive (except of course those attached to the express trains) will give its services when ever required to convey cars on the Edison siding. This is practically as good as a regular shunting engine. In conversation with the manager of the Edison Company's offices in Toronto, the latter told a member of the deputation that he believed before long the Edison Company would procure an electric motor engine to do their own shunting. He further said that last year the company's business in Canada was over $800,000 as compared with about $25,000 a few years ago.

Their Nakedness Covered Up.

Public virtue was vindicated this morning. The Creole Burlesque Company's flaming posters ornamented the Arcade and other prominent places in town, advertising a performance here December 5th. Voluptuous southern beauties in scant costume exhibited their physical charms upon the gorgeous paper, and some of them were considered indecent. To say the least, there was a profuse display of symmetrical shapeliness in attitudes of gay abandon not calculated to improve the morals of either young or old. Chief Hassel promptly laid information against John W. Isham, the advance agent and Walter Stocker, the bill poster, who were jointly charged with posting indecent pictures. Upon hearing of this the defendants committed the Chief and agreed to cover up the most objectionable features of the bills. Accordingly date lines were pasted over certain portions of the bills. This is enough to evade the law, but there is yet enough suggestiveness about the advertisements to arouse the indignation of the public.

"The Telephone Question."

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly allow me through the medium of your paper to correct an impression which would likely result from a letter which appeared in your paper last night, respecting the placing of telephone wires on George street by the new Telephone Company. Any one reading it would infer that it was the intention to place our wires as low as twenty-one feet from the ground. This is not correct, on the contrary they will not be placed at any time lower than thirty feet from the ground, which will bring them opposite the top or third story windows. The firemen, therefore, will not be obstructed in the performance of their duty.

Yours truly,

GEO. EDMISON,
Vice-President Ontario Telephone Co.
Peterborough, November 29th, 1890.

THE MISSION SERVICES.

A Loving Saviour's Vicarious Sacrifice.

The Way of Salvation Open to Sinners—The Wondrous Love Which Worked Our Redemption—The Mission to be Continued Next Week.

A large congregation attended the mission services in St. John's church Friday night. As the mission progresses congregational interest appears to increase, and people of all denominations are drawn by the earnest, practical and pointed Gospel addresses delivered by the Missioner. The announcement, therefore, that Rev. Mr. DuVernet had been prevailed upon to extend the mission until next Wednesday was received with great satisfaction. Services will be held during the early part of next week. Sunday afternoon the special service for men takes place, and on Tuesday afternoon a service specially for women will be held, when the subject for consideration will be "The Beautiful Temple of God."

During the services so far the volunteer choir has rendered most effective and faithful service. Every member was to be found in his (or her) place with unfailing regularity. Both the missioner and the large congregations who have attended the services are much indebted to the choir for the great help it has afforded in leading the hearty singing that has been one of the enjoyable and profitable features of the services.

At Friday night's service the Missioner took for his text, I Peter, iii, 18:—

"Christ hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God."

Or, as the Revised Version has it, to bring out the idea of His holiness:—"Christ hath once suffered for our sins, the righteous for the unrighteous, that He might bring us to God."

It is the eternal law, said the Missioner, that where sin is, sorrow must answer for it. There must be suffering for sin. To-night he would talk more especially to those who would acknowledge that they had gone astray and were living for self instead of for God, but were anxious to return to God. But they should not imagine that they

by simply saying they were sorry for it. More than that was required. There must be repentance and love to God. They were guilty sinners before a God so righteous that the angels call Him "Holy, Holy," and so pure that He could not endure to gaze upon such an unclean thing as an evil heart. And much though He may love us He will not break His law and deny Himself. It is in vain to close our eyes and say, "we see no barrier." If we see it not, God sees it. He can take it all in with one glance. The majesty of His laws must be vindicated, and though it be a thousand years hence, there must be suffering for sin. What a strange light history throws on this law! See these martyrs and these dusty self-torturing pilgrims, see the Hindoo woman throwing her babe into the Ganges. What does all this mean? It testifies with unerring certainty that there must be some sacrifice for sin before there can be peace with an offended God; and it was because men recognized this that there are these efforts made to gain forgiveness. But only the God whom we have offended can declare the necessary atonement. And see the wondrous provision God has made whereby this law may be vindicated and yet the guilty sinner not suffer. Surely the language of the truly penitent heart must be, "Mercy, mercy. Can there be mercy still reserved for me; can my God His wrath forbear, me the chief of sinners spare?" And, coming in this spirit, the sinner must gratefully accept this wondrous promise of His love. True, there must be suffering for sin; but Christ has suffered. He was "bruised for our iniquities and wounded for our transgressions." Christ has suffered for us. This is an historic fact, but in order to value it aright it must be considered who the sufferer was. Jesus Christ, the righteous, sinless one, has suffered, and He must have suffered for the sins of others. Christ was the son of man, and not only the son of man, but the son of God, the representative of God here on earth. Christ, God manifest in the flesh, has suffered for sins. He was despised and rejected of men, a man of sorrows and acquainted with griefs, "the foxes had holes and the birds of the air had nests, but the Son of Man had not where to lay His head." Follow Him to Gethsemane and hear Him pray there. He is pierced with agony and drops of bloody sweat fall to the ground. Follow Him into the judgment hall; follow Him as He goes forth to Calvary bearing the cross. Behold the sufferer for sin uplifted on the cross. We love to sing of His crown of thorns and His pierced hands and wounded sides, from whence flowed the "water and the blood"—but this was a scene of which no one could have a conception. He, the head of humanity, the son of God, was suffering for the sins of the world alone on Calvary. "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." What God doeth He doeth well, and when He says "it is finished,"

THE HEAD OF HUMANITY;

THE WORK OF REDEMPTION

is complete. Repentant one, "Cling to the Cross, thy Burden will fall; Christ hath Redeemed us once for all." And for whom did Christ suffer? He suffered, the righteous for the unrighteous. There is nothing extraordinary in one suffering for another, and some proud ones have spurned this wondrous provision of God's love. It was no new thing for one to suffer for another. We came into existence and almost every blessing we possess, directly or indirectly, came through the labour and suffering of others. So with Christ, the representative of humanity, if He were only the son of man, we would gratefully recognize that he had suffered for our good. But it is the thought that He is the son of God, that "He so loved us that He gave His only begotten son to die for us"; to think that the Son of God gave Himself for us—for us, the unrighteous, the guilty, the sinful. Oh, this was love indeed. This was the love that passeth knowledge, and so instead of spurning it we stand lost in adoration before this stupendous mystery of love. Herein is not that the beloved loving God, but God loving us. Here is where the atonement rose greater and grander than all. Sin is not forgiven without suffering. It was at the foot of the cross that the sinner learned the value of these words. Those who were leading the purest lives to-day were those who were touched by Christ's suffering for them, His atonement for their sins. Christ has suffered that He might and give such a revelation of God's love that our hearts would be melted. The mountain of guilt has been laid low and the ransom paid, and it is open to every sinner in the world. Love only was required. There was absolutely no barrier—except the barrier of love to an unwilling heart. God invites and pleads and entreats, but He will not force the sinner. To force would be to destroy the free-will. But since the sinner's heart clings to the world notwithstanding the terrible warning of his judgment, there is another power which draws towards God—love. The wanderer may have wandered far from God, but he had not succeeded in wandering beyond reach of the infinite love of God the Father in Heaven. Do you not, asked the Missioner, feel the Saviour's love entwining round your heart and drawing you away from worldly sins and drawing you to God? Has Christ brought you to God? Look at the suffering Saviour and see the revelation of the awfulness of your sin, see the love of a dying Saviour, see the love of God the Father spread over all. Let the sight of a suffering Saviour bring you home to-night. If you reject such a Saviour and continue to reject Him, across your soul will be written the words which Heaven and Hell will witness, "his damnation was just." Once admitted to the heart, that love will draw you home. Open, and let the Saviour in. Let the language of your soul be "On Thee I lean," and let your song be:

Just as I am, Thy love unknown,
Has broken every barrier down,
Now to be Thine, yea Thine alone,
Oh, Lamb of God, I come.

The Skin of My Teeth.

It may be interesting to note that this expression, which by many is regarded as vulgar slang, has really the high classical authority of the Bible. It is Job (xix. 20.) who exclaims in his anguish, "I am escaped with the skin of my teeth!" We know there are many who use the expression, who have no idea of the high authority for its use. Who has not heard of some man or woman coming safely through some undertaking, accident or sickness, by the skin of their teeth? Ordinary mortals term this a "close shave." There are times when a man or woman comes through a most distressing illness, and barely escape death. The chances were altogether against the patient; the doctor held out no hope, and all means of success were exhausted, when Providence seemed to interfere and change the current of events. This, indeed would be a case of escape from death, by "the skin of the teeth." In many well known instances that could be cited, have the victims of nervousness, insomnia or sleeplessness, melancholia, dizziness, indigestion any dyspepsia been rescued from death by "the skin of the teeth," through the use of that mighty remedy, Paine's Celery Compound. The sufferers had allowed their troubles and diseases to run so far, that their cases were almost hopeless. Indeed all such cases would have proved hopeless had it not been for that great scientific remedy.

All sufferers run a tremendous risk when they allow any disease to run them completely down. Suffering is avoided, time is gained, money is saved, and the hearts of near and dear ones are made glad, if at the first appearance of trouble, Paine's Celery Compound is used. Often, one bottle will restore the ailing one to perfect health. Testimonials are coming in every day, willingly sent by thankful men and women who have been restored to new life, activity and vigor; they testify gladly to the great merits and curative properties of Paine's Celery Compound, and take care to recommend it to their friends.

A BAD FACE HUMOR

Covering the Face with Disfiguring, Painful Blotches, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About seven years ago I had a humor break out up on my face; it started in a small blotch and looked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and looked like a ringworm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best doctors in the city, and he could do me no good. No less than twelve of the best doctors have had a trial at my face, and all of them failed. I will not give you a list of their names but will say that they were from Boston, New York, and Maine, also from England, France and Canada. I have been a hotel cook and steward for years. In the summer I cook at watering places; that is why I have had an opportunity of being under good doctors. They could not cure my face, and I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June I went to Moosehead Lake, Maine, to cook for the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be seen. At the lake I met a gentleman from England. He told me to use your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and they would cure me at once. I did so. The result was in three weeks the sores on my face were healed up. I used it all the season. My face is now well and no scars to be seen. I have recommended it to a number, and in every case it has cured them also. It would take a good deal of money to put me back where I was one year ago, providing I did not know what your CUTICURA would do. I shall recommend it as long as I live, and shall ever remain,

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

FIGHT OVER PARNELL.

WAR TO THE KNIFE BETWEEN OLD ALLIES.

Vivid and Luminous Account of the Most Remarkable Irish Week of the Generation—Gladstone Replies to Parnell—The Envoys Against Their Leader.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Parnell's unusual demeanor while in the parliament buildings to-day, his affability to friends and foes alike, is interpreted as a consciousness of the uncertainty of his position. Opinions gathered at the National Liberal Club, the rendezvous of the anti-Parnell section of the Irish party, are that Parnell's manifesto will have no perceptible effect upon his dissident colleagues, and has resulted in defining more strongly the party split. Gladstone's rejoinder will not be generally known in Ireland until Monday.

A prominent Parnellite said to-night that it was a question of Parnell and no Home Rule or Gladstone and Home Rule, and that it was certain Ireland would decide in favor of the latter.

The Irish party met in the Parliament buildings this afternoon. Parnell was not present. Nothing was done at the meeting.

The Cork Clergy Against Parnell.

The Cork clergy held a meeting to-day to consider the situation and adopted a resolution declaring that Parnell had forfeited their confidence, and that his retention in the leadership would prove disastrous.

At a meeting of the Cork branch of the National League, at which the mayor presided, it transpired that Parnell had not informed any of his constituents of his intentions previous to the publicationof his manifesto. The meeting unanimously resolved to summon the committee to confer with Parnell in the event of his going to Cork. It is undenuable that the manifesto has alienated a section of Parnell's constituents.

At a public meeting at Lismore a motion expressing confidence in Parnell was unanimously adopted amid great enthusiasm.

Messrs. Fitzgerald and O'Kelly, Nationalist members of Parliament, have telegraphed to their constituencies that they will resign if Parnell is sacrificed.

Mr. Morley will publish a rejoinder to Parnell's manifesto on Monday. It will probably be an elaborate document.

Justin McCarthy has communicated with his colleagues in America by cable and is said to have influenced several waverers against Parnell. The defeat of Parnell at the Nationalist meeting Monday is now considered a foregone conclusion. The statement that Parnell control the Irish Parliamentary Fund is not true. The fund is in the hands of Messrs McCarthy and James Francis O'Brien.

THE ENVOYS AGAINST HIM.

Dillon, O'Brien and Gill Call for Parnell's Retirement.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Following is a brief summary of the Irish envoys' manifesto as dictated in person by them for the Associated Press before the document was completely revised: It declares against the continued leadership of Mr. Parnell and condemns the manifesto of Mr. Parnell for its attitude towards Gladstone, Morley and the English people. It will be about a column to its columns long. It is addressed to Justin McCarthy to be read at a meeting of the Irish party to-morrow (Monday) in London. It will be signed by all the delegates except Mr. Harrington. From an indirect source information was obtained that Harrington declined to sign the manifesto on personal grounds. He was said to have stated his position in these words: "My judgment s against Parnell, but my heart is with him."

GLADSTONE REPLIES.

A Prompt Contradiction of Mr. Parnell's Statements.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Mr. Gladstone has issued a reply to Mr. Parnell's manifesto, in which he denies in toto all the statements made by the Irish leader in regard to the retention of Irish members in the Imperial Parliament, the settlement of the land or agrarian difficulty in Ireland, the control of the Irish constabulary and the appointment of the judiciary in Ireland. Mr. Gladstone says he will not apply a single epithet to Mr. Parnell, not being his judge. He believes, however, that he showed by his course in the matter of the special commission appointed to investigate the charges made against Mr. Parnell, growing out of the Pigott letters, that he had no indisposition to do Mr. Parnell justice.

Mr. Gladstone then comes forth with to a recital of the proposal alleged by Mr. Parnell in his manifesto to have been made to him during his visit to Mr. Gladstone at Hawarden last November in respect to the intended proposals with regard to Home Rule in the event of the Liberal party winning at the than next general election. Mr. Gladstone declares that no single suggestion was offered by him to Mr. Parnell, either as a formal or as a final one. Mr. Gladstone simply made a statement, perfectly free and without prejudice, of the points on which Mr Gladstone, or such of his colleagues as he could consult, were inclined to believe the home rule plan of 1886 could be improved and concerning which he was desirous to know whether any serious objection had risen in the mind of Parnell. To none of these suggestions did Parnell raise a serious objection.

Parnell's Memory Sadly at Fault.

Mr. Gladstone denies that he made the statements which Parnell's memory ascribes to him, or anything substantially resembling them, either as to the retention of the Irish members in the Imperial Parliament, or as to the settlement of the land question, or the agrarian difficulties, or the control of the constabulary, or the appointment of the judiciary. The conversation between them was strictly confidential. To publish even a true account is to break the seal of confidence which alone renders political co-operation possible. Every suggestion made to Mr. Parnell was from written memoranda to which Mr. Gladstone can refer. Neither Parnell nor himself was bound by the conversation to an absolute acceptance of the proposals canvassed. During the year that had since elapsed he had never received from Mr. Parnell any intimation of an alteration of his views regarding any of them.

In conclusion Mr. Gladstone says that he has always held, both in public and in private, that the National party in Ireland ought to remain entirely independent of the Liberal party of Great Britain. It is their duty and his duty, unfortunately with the spirit of Grattan and O'Connell, to study all adjustments in the great matter of Home Rule which may tend to draw to their side moderate and equitable men. But for him to propose any measure except such as Ireland could approve on the lines already laid down would be fatuity as regards himself and treachery to the Irish Nation, in which, even by the side of Parnell, he can claim to take an interest.

MICHAEL DAVITT AGAIN.

The Manifesto of the Leader a Last Desperate Move.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Michael Davitt was interviewed to-day regarding the present political crisis. He said: "It is all terribly sad and sickening. If the Irish party had been aware of the circumstances and acted with courage at first all would have been well. They were bewildered, and no wonder here we are now in splinters. The Parnell manifesto is a last desperate move. I do not see how he could have struck Ireland a worse blow. He is furious against a majority of his party, and in his anger against them and Mr. Gladstone's letter he runs amuok. According to him a number of the members of his own party are false, and Mr. Gladstone and English Liberal wire-pullers are scheming against him. The Home Rule proposals outlined at Hawarden were entirely inadequate. The last of these is the most important in Mr. Parnell's opinion, but he forgets that he agreed to similar proposals in the bill of 1886.

Parnell Convicts Himself.

"He now declares against the cutting-down of Irish representation at Westminster, but in 1886 he agreed to clause 24 of the bill, which entirely excluded Irish representation, and further agreed to clauses retaining for a time Imperial control of the police and judiciary. The Land bill proposed by Mr. Gladstone was quite apart from the Home Rule question, and was finally abandoned. Parnell thus convicts himself. Why did he not make this appeal before? These Hawarden proposals were as bad then as now.

"Besides," continued Mr. Davitt, "we have yet to know whether Mr. Parnell did not agree to them. Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Morley, and, I believe William O'Brien, were parties to the company. They are now called upon to speak out. Meanwhile, no matter what the manifesto may do for Mr. Parnell's own position, he has shattered all hope of Home Rule for years, and that, too, for personal ends and revenge, just as in 1882 he shattered the Land League to get out of Kilmainham Jail, and was prepared in 1886 to smash his party and debauch the institutions of his country to thrust O'Shea on the Galway electors. Messrs. Dillon, O'Brien and Sexton ought to depose him from the leadership. He has brought terrible disaster, but not complete ruin, to Home Rule."

ABOUCHERE'S OPINION.

The Editor of Truth Says Parnell is Mad.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Like Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Morley also disputes Mr. Parnell's version of the negotiations which took place between them in regard to Home Rule and other matters concerning Ireland, and he will at an early date publicly repudiate his statements.

Mr Davitt is engaged in preparing a manifesto in behalf of Mr. Parnell's opponents in the Nationalist party, which will confute all the points advanced by Mr. Parnell as reasons for his retention as the head of the party.

Messrs. Sexton and Healy are taking the opinion of each Irish member of parliament as to the advisability of organizing a movement for an alliance of the Anti-Parnellites with Mr. Gladstone.

In an interview to-day, Henry Labouchere member of parliament and editor of "Truth," said it would be charitable to suppose that Mr. Parnell is mad. It is impossible to suppose that a sane man with any sense of honor or patriotism would issue a manifesto so dishonoring to himself and so injurious to his country's cause. In regard to the Irish Land Purchase Bill Mr. Labouchere said he was convinced that not 20 Liberals would favor a settlement involving an imperial guarantee. The division in the House of Commons on the first reading of the bill Thursday night was taken to test British opinion. Again referring to Mr. Parnell Mr. Labouchere declared that he must be crushed.

The manifesto issued by Mr. Parnell will effect no change in the position of his supporters and opponents among the Irish members of Parliament, but it will give the poll to be taken at the meeting of Nationalists to be held Monday a final and decisive character. The manifesto shifts the scene of the conflict from Westminster to Ireland. After Monday county conventions will be held in Ireland to ascertain the opinions of the Nationalists and the clergy.

CALL IT SUICIDE.

Smalley Reviews the Remarkable Events of the Week.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Down to last evening the Gladstonians believed that they had won their fight against Mr. Parnell. What they believe now, after reading and weighing his manifesto, it may be hard to say. But before I come to that I must give in briefest form what I believe to be the true version of the very remarkable events of the week. They have been supposed to turn on that singular ultimatum of Mr. Gladstone which took the shape of a letter to "My Dear Morley," dated on the 26th Nov. and given to the world on the 26th. But before that, again, very curious things had occurred. It had taken Mr. Gladstone a week to make up his mind as to what he would say on the question of the Irish leadership. Not till the Nonconformist protest against Mr. Parnell had assumed gigantic proportions, not till he saw his party going to pieces before his face, did he take a resolution. Mr. Parnell's manifesto makes this hesitation more intelligible. Mr. Gladstone well knew what damaging revelations his Irish master had it in his power to make. When he had resolved, he sent for Mr. Justin McCarthy and asked him to tell Mr. Parnell that he must go. Not relying—and the result proved that he was right in not relying—absolutely on Mr. McCarthy's willingness to convey such a message, he directed Mr. John Morley to put himself in communication with Mr. Parnell, and wrote a letter for Mr. Morley to show him. The message from Mr. Morley was taken to Mr Parnell by a sure hand, and it is certain that Mr. Parnell received it. Mr. Morley waited all Tuesday for an answer, but none came. He expected an interview, but Mr. Parnell made no sign.

The Grand Old Man's Ultimatum.

A meeting of the Irish party was summoned for Tuesday afternoon. Mr. McCarthy walked down to the House with Mr. Parnell. He held a commission from Mr. Gladstone, not only to tell Mr. Parnell that one of them must resign, but, in case Mr. Parnell proved obstinate, to announce this decision to the Irish party. It is almost inconceivable, yet it is absolutely certain, that Mr. McCarthy said not a word to the Irish party What he said to Mr. Parnell lies between the two. Nothing was whispered at the meeting about Mr. Gladstone. The existence of his letter, or his threat, was unknown. Mr. Parnell was received by his colleagues with enthusiasm and was unanimously re-elected leader of the Irish party. They knew perfectly the general state of feeling in the Liberal camp and treated it with open contempt. After adjourning the contents of Mr. Gladstone's letter became known. Great agitation followed. A second meeting was held at 9 o'clock the same evening. Mr. Parnell was not present. Mr. Gladstone's letter was then read, but in Mr. Parnell's absence nothing could be done, and the meeting adjourned till Wednesday again. Two conferences were held. It became known that Mr. Parnell would not resign, and the only question remaining was, should they turn him out? They could not face it. Mr. Dillon, Mr. O'Brien and Mr. Healy were all absent. So, after many speeches and much canvassing, they agreed to adjourn till next Monday.

The Effect on the Liberals.

The Liberals were furious. They could not understand that anybody should refuse to do what Mr. Gladstone wished. They themselves had renounced all their opinions against Home Rule at his bidding. Why should the Irish hesitate to renounce a discredited leader? They called in all kinds of allies. They set emissaries at work in London and Dublin. They appealed to Mr. Davitt whose love for Mr. Parnell is not of the kind that passeth understanding. They appealed to bishops and priests in Ireland. They let loose Mr. Labouchere. They sought American help, and trumpeted forth American opinion as if—and here they showed judgment—American opinion ought to be decisive with the Irish who were paid with American dollars. These tactics were not without effect. They contained, it is true, no very clear answers from either Mr. Dillon in America or the bishops in Ireland. But Mr. Labouchere turned readily enough against Mr. Parnell; Mr. Davitt put the knife to his leader's throat with a willing hand; the Irish press began to wobble, faint notes were heard from some scattered episcopal throats, and many parish priests wrote private letters against adultery. As a result of all these efforts, and many more, which I cannot stop to mention, a majority for Mr. Parnell's expulsion was last night supposed to have been obtained. Nearly two to one of the Parnellites were ready to throw over Mr. Parnell. The exact figures were supplied to anybody who cared for them. Mr. Parnell could not rely on more than 24 votes, while 45 of his colleagues had pledged themselves to depose him. The Anglo-Irish House Rule alliance was safe, and Mr. Gladstone was to conduct the united hosts to an early and easy victory.

Parnell's Manifesto Praised.

But this morning—well, it is too soon to judge of the full effect of Mr. Parnell's manifesto; but that it must have an effect is clear. Till that effect is known all yesterday's calculations go for nothing, and the interest of the story of the last few days is entirely historical. Never has Mr. Parnell shown more extraordinary qualities than in this document. He turns from his colleagues with the same cool contempt that he has always shown for them. His appeal is to the people of Ireland. He turns upon Mr. Gladstone and the Gladstonians with a bitterness which he makes no attempt to conceal. To the Irish and to English Home Rulers alike his message must come as a blow. For the chosen leader—and he is still the leader of the Irish party and of the Irish people—declares that Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule scheme is a sham and a fraud. He sets down particulars in his cold, clear way, brings evidence and gives reasons. You have them all and I will not go over them. But his retort upon Mr. Gladstone, considered merely as a piece of politics or a stroke of controversy, is a masterpiece. Said Mr. Gladstone to Mr. Parnell: "You must retire, for you have become only an obstacle to that union of hearts and hands, that great policy of justice to Ireland, that noble scheme of Home Rule, which I stand ready to assure to her." Says Mr. Parnell to Mr. Gladstone: "I will not retire. Your union of hearts and hands is a foolish vision. Your policy of justice to Ireland is a mockery. Your noble scheme of Home Rule would leave her still under the steel of her English oppressor. Ireland shall be saved by the Irish alone and I am still their leader." It is war, and it is magnificent. Nothing more masterly has been known in political strategy; nothing more malignant or more treacherous to an ancient ally.

Betrayed the Confidence of His Allies.

How is this declaration received? I turn to that invaluable Gladstonian thermometer The Daily News, which may be trusted to register accurately all the timidity of its party. To begin with, it prints Parnell's manifesto, quite the most important state paper of recent times, in its smallest type. Its editorial article on it is a mere shiver of apprehension. It talks of Mr. Parnell's "unhappy tone and spirit." It laments "the almost irreparable injury he inflicts on the Irish cause" and talks of making "the Irish masses fully acquainted with the sad revelation of the divorce court." Nothing could be more futile than these quavering comments. They are worthy of a metropolitan journal which could not make up its mind whether to condemn or to condone Mr. Parnell's intrigue with Mrs. O'Shea till it had heard from the provinces. The truth is, that in order to compose this manifesto Mr. Parnell has broken with every tradition of English public or private life. He has betrayed the confidence of his allies. He has repeated private conversations between himself and Mr. Gladstone, held under the most solemn sanction of secrecy. He has revealed what his Home Rule partner has declared it would wreck Home Rule to reveal. The Times, which has at least the courage of its convictions, speaks out, declaring that this act "dispels forever the superstition that Mr. Parnell can under any circumstances be again treated by Englishmen as a trustworthy friend or an honorable foe." It describes his manifesto but too truly as "probably the most shameless document that English public life has seen since the days of the revolution." True, yet it may none the less do its work.

The Rods Whipped Their Own Backs.

Already two of the reeds on which the Gladstonians leaned have pierced their hands. The Freeman's Journal, incomparably the most powerful paper in Ireland, has after some days of hesitation finally cast in its lot with Mr. Parnell. It is the organ of the Irish Catholic Hierarchy, and it cries aloud to Irish Catholics to ignore the ravings of traitors who do not think gradation from the divorce court the best title to public confidence. As between Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Parnell it pronounces for Mr. Parnell. He is not Mr. Gladstone nor any other Englishman, is the man to whom the Irish people should entrust their destinies. At the same moment out comes Archbishop Walsh with a letter, less decided, but only too significant of its author's readiness to climb down on Mr. Parnell's side of the fence should that prove to be the winning side. So here at one blow go the Irish press and the Irish priests.

Mutiny in the Ranks.

Nor is the outlook at home more comfortable for the Gladstonians. In their own ranks there are signs of mutiny. More than one voice has been heard saying, "Let us throw over Home Rule and get back to England and to the Liberal program of 1885." Not the most trustful Gladstonian believes that things can ever again be put back where they were. Should they succeed in discrowning Mr. Parnell, he will not disappear from the scene. If he does not lead Ireland he will divide Ireland. The old alliance is broken up, and no cobbling by Mr. Dillon, Mr. Healy or any of Mr. Parnell's mondam lieutenants can make whole this breach. Enthusiasm is gone, confidence gone, hope of coming victory has vanished. Home Rule does not mean to-day what it meant yesterday. It is an open question whether there be still a Home Rule party in England. G.W.S.

IS GLADSTONE AGEING?

The Recent Developments Said to Have Affected Him Greatly.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The Tories and Liberal Unionists view the situation calmly. One of them, Gen. Frazier, member for Lambeth, is reported to have remarked in his speech that there had been nothing like it since Gideon's victory over the Midianites. Leading men of all parties admit that Parnell's manifesto is a final blow to Home Rule, and that the subject may be regarded as shelved for many years to come. It is now thought doubtful whether Mr. Gladstone will appear in Parliament the coming week. The veteran statesman has aged more in appearance during the past few days than in the past two years, and his friends very much fear the strain upon him. His 81st birthday will be celebrated just a month from yesterday. He looks anxious and worn, and those who know him best say that he feels worse than his appearance indicates. Mr. Gladstone, it is well known, meant that Home Rule for Ireland should be the crowning victory of his career.

MORLEY REPLIES.

And Denies the Accuracy of Parnell's Manifesto.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Mr. Morley writes to the press as follows:

"The manifesto of Mr. Parnell contains two or three statements affecting me which I desire, without loss of time, to correct.

"1st. I made no sort of attempt to fetter Mr. Parnell's action with reference to the land bill. He agreed with me in all our conversations that the bill ought to be opposed as omitting the principals of local control and for other reasons specified in his speech of April 21. The only question was as to the form of motion for the rejection of the bill. I pointed out to him on April 14 that as many Liberals objected to the whole principle of the bill, an amendment stating that their reasons would be less suitable than a motion for its objection simpliciter. Parnell assented. Two days later he explained to me his alternative plan for fining down rents, and this at his request was immediately communicated to Mr. Gladstone. The same evening I wrote to Parnell that Mr. Gladstone felt we could have nothing to say about his plan one way or another, but that of course he was perfectly free to propound it on his own responsibility, so completely did we recognize that our relations with the Irish party were those of an independent alliance and not of a fusion.

"2d. Mr. Parnell imputes to me in our conversation of November 10, five days before the proceedings in court were begun, a remarkable proposal with the object of absorbing the Irish party into English politics by means of office. I made no proposal. It was natural that in a free confidential discussion of the possible future I should wish to make sure for Mr. Gladstone's information that Parnell still held to his self-denying declaration of 1880. His answer to my inquiry was what I fully anticipated.

"3d. Mr. Parnell's account of what passed on the same occasion on the subject of evicted tenants on the plan of campaign estates is wholly incorrect. I observed that some direct action might become necessary. Though I foresaw difficulties in the way of legislation, I never said that I or any of my colleagues had formed any conclusion against legislation. I never said or hinted that it would be impossible for an Irish parliament to do anything in the matter. I did say that whether by direct or indirect action evicted tenants ought not to be allowed to suffer. As to Tipperary, there is all the difference between sensible perception of difficulties and the despair which Mr. Parnell ascribes to me. Mr. Gladstone is well able to deal with his own share of the manifesto, but I am bound to say that on Nov. 10 I was under the most distinct impression that Mr. Parnell did not object to the suggestions thrown out at Hawarden a year ago as subjects for provisional examination if those suggestions were likely to make the scheme generally acceptable to Great Britain."

A Letter From Gladstone.

Mr. Gladstone writing to Mr. Mellor, the Liberal candidate at Bassetlaw, says: "Mr. Parnell's manifesto has widened the gulf made by recent disclosures and separated him from the Liberal party, and has now to consider the great and noble cause of justice for Ireland apart from any individual name. But I am glad to think, so far as, appears there will be no severance between us and the Nationalist party, for Mr. Parnell throws over his colleagues. He acknowledges in them no right or authority and goes past the constitutional representatives of his country in his fancied appeal to the nation which had chosen them to speak its wants and wishes."

Forsaken by His Namesake.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—The Parnell branch of the Irish National League to-day adopted a resolution calling upon Mr. Parnell to retire from the leadership of the Irish parliamentary party, and the secretary was directed to telegraph the resolution to Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien in Chicago, and to the Irish leaders in London.

NEWFOUNDLAND TROUBLES.

France Rejects Salisbury's Proposals for a Settlement.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—The latest phase of the Newfoundland trouble is M. Ribot's rejection of Lord Salisbury's request that the matter of the French bounty system be referred to arbitration. The French Minister is not averse to referring the whole question to arbitration, exclusive of the French bounties, on the condition that Great Britain guarantees the enforcement of the decision of the arbitrators. An early agreement having been found to be improbable, negotiations have been opened for the prolongation of the modus vivendi, but a difficulty has arisen over Lord Salisbury's demand that the present arrangement be amended.

STEALING GOODS IN TRANSIT.

Conference Between Toronto and Montreal Boards of Trade.

MONTREAL, Nov. 27.—A meeting was held here this morning between representatives of the Toronto and Montreal Boards of Trade to take means to prevent the theft of goods in transit. The transportation companies always denied their responsibility, claiming that the goods were not intact when put into their hands. The merchants present passed a resolution that in case of loss the companies handling the goods should pay jointly. The representatives of the shipping companies promised to lay the matter before their principals.

Dropped Dead in the Depot.

TRURO, Nov. 27.—A gentleman named McKean, from St. Mary's, Guysboro, dropped dead at the railway station to-night. He was 65 years old and accompanied by his wife and was coming to Halifax to spend the winter.

Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood reaches every part of the system expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

An Important Conference.

An important conference took place on Friday last in the Speaker's rooms, Parliament buildings, between Sir John Thompson and Mr. Courtney, Deputy Minister of Finance, representing the Dominion, Hon. Charles Langelier and Mr. Mackin, Assistant Treasurer, representing the Province of Quebec, and the members of the Ontario Government representing Ontario, with a view to clearing the way to a settlement of various disputed matters. The late treasurer, Mr. A. M. Ross, was present during the discussion of the question of accounts. Some constitutional questions—Indian claims, fisheries, right to foreshores, etc., were also discussed. The results of the conference are understood to be subject to the approval of the respective Governments, but meanwhile various matters were concurred in by all, and provision was made for a tribunal to set [illegible] which could not be agreed upon. Facilities have been arranged for bringing some of the constitutional questions before the Supreme Court, and, if necessary, before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. In the afternoon Hon. Edward Blake, Mr. Christopher Robinson and Mr. Æmilius Irving, counsel for the Provinces and the municipalities in the matter of the land improvement fund, had a special interview on that subject with Sir John Thompson and the Attorney-General, Mr. Mowat, in consequence of an intimation that the judges of the Supreme Court, to whom the subject had been referred by the Dominion, have hinted their unwillingness to hear argument unless Quebec should choose to be represented before them by counsel. The conference lasted all day, and on the whole is understood to have been satisfactory to all parties.

Growth of the World's Life Assurance.

A few months ago Mr. Henry Lippincott, of Philadelphia, presented some very interesting statistics before a meeting of life assurance representatives, relative to the progress made by the life business throughout the world from 1860 to 1886. He divided the time into seven periods, the first being the year 1890, when Great Britain led the world with $850,000 000 assurance in force. At that time the United States had in force $177 000 000. At the end of 1865 the amount throughout the world was nearly doubled. The gain in the United States had been 25¼ per cent., on the continent of Europe 12½ per cent., and in Great Britain 30 per cent.

At the close of 1870 the aggregate in force had again doubled, and in five years more had increased enormously, though not so much as during the preceding period. From 1875 to 1880, during which the financial panic so severely felt in the United States occurred, the business in that country showed a marked falling off—the actual decrease at the end of 1880 being $412,000,000, though elsewhere some gain was made. For the three years following 1880 the business in the United States again rapidly increased and made steady but slower gains abroad. The seventh period, from 1883 to 1886, showed still greater growth in the aggregate, and the assurance in force is set down as follows: United States, $2,520,000,000; Great Britain, $2 360 000,000; continent of Europe, $2,040 000 000; Canada and Australasia, $255,000 000; grand total for the world, $7,250,000 000. We have collected the statistics from reliable sources to the close of 1889, and here present the result as follows:

United States Co's	$3 630 860 000
Co's of Great Britain	2 708 280,000
Co's of Germany	942 000 000
Co's of France	625 000 000
Other European countries	547 150 000
Canadian Companies	137 621 376
Australasian "	287,000,000
Total	$9 917 911 376

The above figures for the United States and Great Britain include industrial life insurance—$320 000,000 in the former and $430 000 000 in the latter—but do not for the other countries, the statistics thereon not being accessible. If this business could be added we have no doubt the aggregate of level premium life assurance in force in the world at the close of 1889 would amount to over nine thousand millions. Great as the business now is, however, its magnitude a quarter of a century hence bids fair so to be to that of the present as the Rocky Mountain range is to the Alleghenies.—Finance and Insurance Chronicle.

Lakefield.

Extracts from the "Chronicle's" News budget.

About $20,000 have been expended in building operations in Lakefield this year.

Dr. Bell, who has been confined to the house with grip for the last ten days, is about convalescent.

Capt. Reynolds, wife and family, have gone on a visit to friends in Cobourg and Port Hope.

Mr. Arthur Kidd has purchased from Mr. Jonathan Griffin the blacksmith shop at the east end of the bridge, where he will in future conduct his business.

Mr. W. W. Grant, who has had charge of the Lakefield Cheese factory for the last two years, has leased the Lakefield Skating Rink for the season.

THE PINK SOCIAL.

A very pleasant time was spent at Mr Peter Eppies on Tuesday evening last. The name "Pink Tea" originated in the form of the letter T being cut out of pink paper and neatly pinned to each table-napkin, also in each member of the band having a pink Tea a badge. The lunch, consisting of bread and butter and coffee, formed a pleasing feature of the social part of the evening. A good programme was acceptably rendered.

ENDEAVOUR SOCIETY.

The annual election of officers of the Christian Endeavour Association of the Presbyterian Church, Lakefield, was held on Friday evening, Nov. 17th, at the residence of Mr. Todd The meeting was largely attended and officers were elected as follows:

HON. PRESIDENT—Rev. Mr. McEwen.
PRESIDENT—Mr. W. M. Graham.
VICE-PRESIDENT—Miss Duff.
SECRETARY—F. Tanner.
ORGANIST—Miss Edith Baptie.
TREASURER—A. Smith.
COMMITTEE—Miss Graham, Miss Tanner, Miss Campbell and Miss Smith.

ROYAL TEMPLARS RE-UNION.

A very pleasant re-union of Lakefield Council, No. 93, R. T. of T., was held in the Orange hall on Monday evening, the hall being well filled, members only being present. A very interesting programme was presented, as follows:—

Opening exercises
Address of welcome ..... Select Councillor
Duet ..... Misses White and Buchan
Reading ..... Mr. Jos. Sherin
Duet (inst.) ..... Misses Nelson and Buchannan
Solo (organ) ..... Miss Jury
Charade
Solo (mouth organ) ..... Mr. W. A. Eastland

Recitation in character ..... Miss Buchannan
Duet ..... Miss s Crawford and White
Reading ..... Miss Alice Sherin
Closing exercises

Refreshments were then served by the lady members, after which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the committee who had the matter in hand and carried it out so well. It is now about nine months since this Council was re-organized; it has at present an actual membership of between sixty and seventy, and it is expected that before the winter is over the membership will reach one hundred; everything is being done to make the meetings pleasant and profitable.

What Shall the Harvest Be?

Why? What can it be, but suffering and sorrow, disease and death, if you neglect the symptoms of a disordered liver? Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It outsells all other remedies. Sold under condition that it must either benefit or cure the patient, or the money paid for it will be promptly returned. It cures all diseases arising from deranged liver, or from impure blood, as biliousness, "liver complaint," all skin and scalp diseases, salt rheum, fever, scrofulous sores and swellings, fever-sores, hip-joint disease and kindred ailments. 8

Lindsay "Post" Holes.

Mr. J. McCarthy, proprietor of the Mansion House, who has purchased lots adjoining Mr. R. Smyth's dry goods store, intends erecting a fine brick hotel upon the property.

Crandell Bros. have sold the steamers Dominion and Eva and a number of scows and barges to a Toronto syndicate. Mr. Freemont Crandell will be manager for the syndicate. Capt. Crandell is building a new steamer, in which the hull of the old Vanderbuilt, which has been submerged for many years, will be used. The old bottom was found as sound as ever.

On Saturday last a young man named David Smith, of Somerville, was brought before County Magistrate Deacon on a charge of rape. The complainant was a Mrs. Booth of the same township. The investigation of the case occupied the entire day, when the prosecution asked to have the charged amended to that of attempted violence. The further hearing of the case as amended will be continued.

On Monday last Chief Bell, says the Lindsay Post, who had been conducting a quiet but thorough search for the principals in the child desertion case, reported last week, succeeded in locating the parties in Fenelon Falls. Both are residents of Somerville township. The woman—who was married in Lindsay in October last to the man who abandoned the infant—disclosed the facts without much persuasion, owing to fear of being arrested. The husband accompanied Chief Bell back to Lindsay, and upon agreeing to pay the law costs and put up for the infant's board, was allowed to depart with his offspring.

Benstort.

Miss Crebs, who is at present filling the place of Miss Rutherford in the West Ward School, has been engaged to take charge of the school at this place. Miss Crebs was formerly a pupil at this school and qualified for her first certificate during the regime of Mr. John Stirling, at present principal of the South Ward School, Peterborough.

Emily.

NARROW ESCAPE.—On Monday afternoon Mr. Adam Spence, of Emily, had a narrow escape from serious if not fatal injuries. He was taking a load of hay out of his barn when the team took fright and ran away, upsetting the load on top of him near the barn. We are informed that had Mr. Spence been a few inches further under the load his chances for escape would be small.—Herald.

Accidental Shooting.

William Beatty, son of Mr. David Beatty, of Boskung, Haliburton, accidentally shot himself while out deer hunting Saturday of last week. He lived but a few hours. The accident happened in the following manner: He was carrying his rifle across his shoulder, with the muzzle pointing forward, and his right hand clasping the barrel, when his foot caught on a root, tripping him up. As he fell the gun was tipped over and thrown forward, thus turning the muzzle towards him. When it struck the ground the concussion discharged it, the ball entering the body just at the pit of the stomach. After the first pangs were over his sufferings were not intense. He died from internal hemorrhage. His age was between eighteen and nineteen. The bereaved family have the heartfelt sympathy of a wide circle of friends and the public generally.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam Balsam for coughs and colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c, and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

What is a Day's Labour?

One day's work for a healthy liver is to secrete three and a half pounds of bile. If the bile secretion be deficient, constipation ensues; if profuse, biliousness and jaundice arise. Burdock Blood Bitters is the most perfect liver regulator known in medicine for preventing and curing all liver troubles. 2w42d

Timely Wisdom.

Great and timely wisdom is shown by keeping Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry on hand. It has no equal for cholera, cholera morbus, diarrhœa, dysentery, colic, cramps, and all summer complaints, or looseness of the bowels. 2w42d

Imperial Federation

Will present an opportunity to extend the fame of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, the unfailing remedy for cholera, cholera morbus, colic, cramps, diarrhœa, dysentery, and all summer complaints, to every part of the Empire. Wild Strawberry never fails. 2w42d

THERE must be some great merit in SCOTT'S preparations. His OXYGENIZED EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL has taken the first place as a cure for consumption and kindred diseases. Every druggist sells it, and no householder should be without it. The remedy is reliable and invaluable. w47ws

HARSH purgative remedies are giving away to the gentle action and mild effects of Carter's Little Liver Pills. If you try them they will certainly please you. dw

WORMS CAUSE MUCH SICKNESS among children. Freeman's Worm Powders prevent this and make the child bright and healthy. dw

MILBURN'S AROMATIC QUININE WINE fortifies the system against attacks of ague, chills, bilious fever, dumb ague and like troubles. dw

Purity [illegible] existence of the blood in a condition is generally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

PAYS LIKE A GOLD MINE

TORONTO STREET RAILWAY CO. MAKES FABULOUS PROFITS.

The Shareholders Received a Quarter of a Million Last Year—A Superintendent Who Knows His Business—Hon. Frank Smith's Apotheosis From the Coal Cart—Canadian Ability Recognised in Europe.

J. J. FRANKLIN.

SEVEN hundred and seventy-five dollars per day! That was the average daily net profit of the Toronto Street Railway during the year ending August 31 last! The proprietors of this gold mine ought to be pretty wealthy individuals. And they are too. The largest shareholder is Hon. Frank Smith, one of Toronto's millionaires. He holds a majority of the stock in his own name and is president of the company. But the goldmine which the Toronto Street Railway company are working to such an advantage just now does not belong to the company. It is a leased concern and the lease expires on March 1 next. The citizens of Toronto are the owners of the franchise and the city will have to decide in a few months in what way it will handle its valuable asset in the future. Under the provisions of the charter the city is bound to re-lease or to assume the plant of the company at the expiry of the term. Three arbitrators, assisted by the ablest lawyers in the city, Edward Blake being among them, are sitting at Osgoode Hall from day to day hearing evidence as to the value of horses, cars, tracks, stables and everything else connected with the concern. The company has filed a bill of its possessions and the values attached to the different articles exceed the modest sum of $5,000,000. The two Blakes, on behalf of the city, are vigorously attacking the company's evidence as to value, and the result will be a big shrinkage in the five millions. However, it will be no small sum that the city will have to pay the Hon. Frank if it is decided to take the franchise out of his hands. Just now it looks as if he stood a good chance of getting a renewal of the franchise. It is almost certain that the city will not run the street railway itself, although there are many, principally single tax and labor advocates, who embrace every opportunity of urging the theory that the city should assume the control of the street railway system the same as it controls the supply of water. Popular opinion is in favor of selling the franchise by tender or at public auction. The present company, owning the plant and knowing the ground thoroughly, has so many points in its favor that it is looked upon as a pretty sure thing that the Hon. Frank's company will continue to operate Toronto's street railways for another 21 years.

It was only about 18 years ago that the Toronto street railway was practically in the soup. It could have been acquired for a song. Many of Toronto's citizens had an opportunity of getting hold of the concern. It was then Frank Smith who seized the opportunity. Under his presidency the earnings of the railway have steadily increased until last year the net profits were within seven thousands of a quarter of a million dollars. It is doubtful if any other business in the Dominion can show such a superior development. The American street railway managers who have been examined by the arbitrators, admit that the Toronto street railway system is about the most ably managed concern of the kind on the continent. Toronto is advantageously laid out for street railway purposes. The streets running east and west are almost on a dead level. There is a rise in those running north but the incline is not sufficient to interfere with traffic. An Electrician who has viewed the situation says that Toronto offers as advantageous conditions for electric railways as any city in America. It is probable that the next two years will witness the exit of the horse car in the Queen city. Already there is one electric line in operation running from the terminus of the horse cars on Yonge street to Eglinton, three miles distant. The line has proved so successful that it has been decided to continue the system to Richmond Hill. Next year will witness considerable activity in suburban Electric railways. One is projected to Mimico, another to Weston via High Park, and plans are out for Electric lines to West Toronto Junction and to East Toronto. It is more than likely that these contemplated lines will be able to secure running powers over the tracks within the city limits. If such running powers can be secured a new era in the development of Toronto's many suburbs will be opened. The fact that the monopoly of the city's streets will expire in a few months is no doubt the reason why so many projected companies are on the alert just now.

REV. FRANK SMITH.

The gentleman to whom more than any one else is due the credit for the wonderful development of Toronto's Street Railway business is Mr. J. J. Franklin. It is just ten years since he came from Montreal and assumed control of the Toronto system. What the railway has become under his management everyone who has visited Toronto must be realised for himself. With its sixty-nine miles of track, the system now extends to every outlying section of the city. It requires some 1300 horses to keep the railway in good working shape. A horse becomes suitable for this kind of work only after a six months special education in diet and exercise. About three hours a day is the average time the street car horse is driven. Mr. Franklin has charge of a small army of men, who fit the capacity of conductors, drivers, blacksmiths and stablemen keep the big concern in motion. In dealing with the men the superintendent is an autocrat. He gives no reasons when he discharges a man. He rides about the town all day in a buggy, but none of the men know what business he has in hand at any particular time. To them he is a sphynx. But the hand of an excellent disciplinarian is manifest to the observing citizen who has occasion to ride in the cars from time to time. Even when the traffic is most congested, the circulation of the cars is marked with all the symptoms of a healthy organisation. Mr. Franklin's reputation has spread not only all over Canada, but it has reached Europe as well. In fact he has proven so excellent a manager of the Toronto railway that he has been secured by the Metropolitan Continental Tramways Company of London as general manager of their system in Paris. Mr. Franklin will leave in a few weeks for that city, and his first business will be the reorganisation and consolidation of the several lines owned by the company in Paris. His salary will be $6,500 a year. His knowledge of French, acquired in Montreal, will do him good service now.

President Smith and Superintendent Franklin graduated from the same school. The latter was harboring ambitious designs in his mind while driving a street car, while the Hon. Frank acquired part of his business education on the top of a coal cart. But this was many years ago. To-day Mr. Smith is identified with the largest concerns in the city. Besides controlling the Toronto Street Railway, from which he must derive at least $125,000 per year, he owns a very profitable wholesale grocery, is the president of a flourishing Loan and Savings Company, is a director of the Grand Trunk Railway and President of the Niagara Navigation Company. In addition to all this he holds a seat in the Dominion Senate and has the worry of spending the $50,000 that it costs him yearly to run his household.

Fashion in Window Shades.

After long neglect the plain, white linen window shade is again fashionable. Barring the white cord for raising and lowering them the curtains are entirely without decoration or adornment.

Lady's Dust Hood.

This hood is made of brown muslin, Holland or linen, and may be worn in either of the ways suggested by the illustration. An edging of feather stitching worked in linen floss gives a finish to the hood.

The new felt hats are very much in the shape of a boat, with the trimming put on it in two large tufts, one in front and one at the back; this trimming consists chiefly of clusters of loops of ribbon or of feathers, sometimes large velvet flowers, contrasting in color with the felt.

To The Newest Fashion.

My mother bids me dye my hair
A lovely auburn hue,
She says I ought to be aware
It's quite the thing to do.

"Why sit," she cries, "without a smile,
While others dance instead?"
Alas! no partners ask me while
My tresses are not red.

When no one else at all is near,
And I am quite alone,
I sadly shed a bitter tear
To think the season's gone.

But when the time again draws nigh,
The time when maidens wed,
I'm quite resolved to "do and dye"—
My tresses shall be red!

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

Self Application of Electricity

DORENWEND

ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments,

THE WORLD'S BEST.

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit, get a Dorenwend Belt.

The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its issuing unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home institution which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefitting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

PAUL, THE TRUE PATRIOT.

An Example for Scotchmen to Follow.

Annual Sermon to St. Andrew's Society—Causes of Scottish Greatness—Reminiscences by the Pastor—The Presbyterian Church and Her Position.

The annual sermon to St. Andrew's Society was preached by Rev. E. F. Torrance in St. Paul's church Sunday night. The sermon was one which could not fail to be of great benefit to the congregation, and particularly to those of Scotch descent. The hymns were selected with reference to the occasion, and were very well rendered by the choir, which as well as Mr. Crase, organist, deserves the thanks of the St. Andrew's Society, and yesterday's congregation for the pains taken to make the musical portion of the services the success it was. The collection was also devoted to St. Andrew's Society.

Rev. Mr. Torrance took for his text Acts xxii, 3:—

I am verily a man which am a Jew, born in Tarsus a city in Cilicia, yet brought up in this city, at the feet of Gamaliel, and taught according to the perfect manner of the law of the fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye are all this day.

The Apostle Paul, said the preacher, was one of the truest patriots who ever lived. He took a pride in the thought of his Jewish nationality, and while he was the disciple of the Gentiles he had a warm interest in the welfare of the Jews. So whatever faults Scotchmen may be charged with, they could not be accused of lack of patriotism. Wherever they were, at home or abroad, they had at heart the welfare of their country. The reverend speaker then proceeded to point out what to him appeared to be the principal causes which had contributed towards elevating the Scotch nation to the high position it occupied. There were three great causes—personal character, education and religion. The Scotch were a peculiar nation; and other causes had tended to the formation of their character. The quality of perseverance, which was exemplified in the story of Bruce and the spider, was a marked trait of the Scottish nationality. Perseverance was not one of the most elevating or refined qualities, but it was of great value. Majority with perseverance will accomplish more than genius with idleness. The quality of perseverance was highly extolled by Solomon in his writings, and in other places in the sacred narrative. Another of these traits was prudence. We have all heard the expression, "a canny Scotchman." Canny is a word of different meanings, but it implies caution and prudence. These were well-known characteristics of Scotchmen. Though not generally regarded a prime virtue, it has been said that all other good qualities without prudence were neither pleasing to God, serviceable to others nor profitable to ourselves.

HEREDITY, CLIMATE, OCCUPATION

Secondly, as regards the educational causes. Reference was made to the Scottish Universities and seats of learning, which had a paramount influence on the character of the nation. Unlike Oxford and Cambridge, the Scottish Universities had been open to all classes of people, of every creed and of every condition of wealth, and it was a patent fact that the Scotch universities were attended mainly by pupils of the poor or middle classes. The common schools, too, have given the poorer children the rudiments of a good education. How different from some other countries where thousands grow up without any education, in darkness and ignorance.

Thirdly, the religious causes. There can be no doubt of

in a country. In heathen lands vice and ignorance prevail. In Christian lands civilization, education and humanity exist. Even in nominally Christian lands may be seen the influences which different denominations of Christianity exercise. Protestant countries were, said the reverend gentlemen, more progressive than Roman Catholic countries. The position of Edinburgh and Florence respectively as now and before the Reformation, afforded a striking example of this fact. In his essays Hume points out that the number and prominence of the literary lights of Scotland, were due largely or altogether to the Presbyterian influence surrounding their lives. It is sometimes said that the Presbyterian church originated with Calvin not much more than three hundred years ago. The fact was that long before the Reformation there existed among the Waldenses of the Piedmonts the same doctrines, and purity and simplicity of Presbyterianism. But even if authority of the Waldenses was doubted they had the Testament to show that their doctrines were then in vogue. For instance, in the matter of episcopal ordination, Presbyterians think it sufficient if men are ordained now, as Timothy was, by the laying on of hands by the Presbytery. The Presbyterian ministers have always laid great stress upon the evangelical doctrines and Gospel teaching of the Testament. She claims that found origin in the New Testament. She is liberal to receive all and exclude no true Christian. She recognizes the good done by other churches, and rejoices in their prosperity at home and abroad. This was the church that held away in Scotland. She has withstood the storms of persecution. She has had men in her pulpits of seraphic character and commanding influence. She has sent men abroad as missionaries to all parts of world. The Presbyterian church is a church to which Scotchmen owe more than they can well repay.

Rev. Mr. Torrance concluded as follows: It is fourteen years since I first preached a sermon to St. Andrew's Society, and I cannot help thinking of the changes which have taken place during these fourteen years. I can picture before my mind's eye that scene of fourteen years ago when that sermon was delivered. I can picture certain persons who were in the church that night but have left us—some of them have gone to their long home, others far distant lands. There is something awe-inspiring in the thought of time rushing on, seemingly with ever-increasing velocity, bearing us to that home where all earthly things must go. Fourteen years are quite a piece out of these little lives of ours, yet to look back on them

THEY SEEM BUT A SPAN.

Oh, be warned by the flight of time. Oh, to live with constant reverence for eternity. We know the changes which have taken place in the fourteen years past; we know not the changes which shall take place in the fourteen years which are to come. And now let me conclude by exhorting you as I did fourteen years ago, not to think the all must be well with you because you have a Scotch ancestry, because the blood of martyrs and saints may course through your veins. A son of Abraham went to the place of torment and a son of Knox may go there, too. Nothing can compensate for rejecting Christ. With an earnest prayer that God's blessing may rest upon your Society.

THE MISSION SERVICES.

Three Well-Attended Sunday Services.

Three Interesting Addresses—Increasing Congregations—Intensified Attention—Manly Address to Men—Service for Women Only Next Tuesday at 4.15.

There was a large congregation at St. John's on Sunday morning. The service consisted of Morning Prayer and Holy Communion. There was a very large number of communicants. The sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. DuVernet. The missioner took for his text the 21st verse of the 20th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles:—

"Testifying both to the Jews and also to the Greeks repentance towards God and faith towards our Lord Jesus Christ."

The preacher quoted several Scripture passages to show that the entrance to the Christian life lay through repentance and faith. Repentance was defined as a turning from and forsaking of sin—a change of mind and purpose. This was, he said, repentance toward God. Regarding faith, it was declared that the essence of salvation was not faith in a creed, but faith in Christ. Regarding conversion, the preacher said that as every person could see the sun, and no two persons received the same ray of light, so the experience of conversion was not the same to different individuals. Faith was the turning of the heart towards Christ, and repentance the turning from sin, and as God had joined these two together no man could put them asunder. There was no salvation from hell without salvation from sin. He that died with the love of sin in his heart carried his hell with him. We could not repent without turning from sin, and we could not turn from sin without turning to Christ. A warning was given against mistaking conviction of sin for conversion—attempting to forsake sin without turning to the Saviour. Many made the mistake of fitting themselves for salvation, by trying to become better in their own strength. If one could make himself good enough to be saved, Christ did not come to save him—he came to call, not the righteous, but sinners, to repentance. We were saved, not for our works, not for our tears, not for our faith, but for Christ's sake, by taking our true position, by honouring God, by repentance for our sins, by accepting Christ. The speaker pointed out that the circumstances of conversion were as various as the conditions of persons—"the wind bloweth where it listeth, * * thou canst not tell whence it cometh nor whither it goeth, so is everyone that is born of the Spirit."

For Men Only.

There was a very large attendance of young men, elderly men and older men at the special service at 4.15.

The brief service was conducted by Rev. J. C. Davidson, and the choir of St. Andrew's Brotherhood led the singing which was very heartily joined in by the congregation.

Rev. Mr. DuVernet took as his text, I Timothy v, 22:—"Keep thyself pure." The preacher said while his remarks would be especially directed towards young men, yet he felt it a duty incumbent upon him to urge parents to instruct their children in such a manner as they would be able to meet and overcome the temptations which would assail them in after life. This was an important duty to often neglected, and it was to be feared that in the judgment day many a child would rise up in judgment against the parent to rebuke him for the criminal carelessness he had shown in not warning him of the dangers that beset the path of youth and early manhood. Impure thoughts led to impure words, and these led to acts of impurity, which was fast becoming our most fearful national sin. In view of this fact, a decided crusade should be waged against it. The speaker grouped his remarks around three parts of the old motto—"Aim High; Fight Shy and Keep Nigh."

Aim High—The aim of a young man's life was a key to his character and destiny. If he aimed low, he would become low; if he aimed high, though he might not hit his mark, he would reach high results. Young men were warned strongly against base habits—the use of tobacco, street loafing, and against insulting language in the presence of females, and urged to be men who had learned the manly lesson of self-control. They were urged to stand high in their calling, and to follow the example of the Great Pattern, Jesus Christ, who though tempted at all points like ourselves, was without sin, and to lead a Christ-like life.

Fight Shy—Young men were urged to fight any of doing anything degrading to body or soul—to learn the lesson of true manliness; not to tempt, to shun the very appearance of evil, and to subdue their passions. Strong passions under control were a noble sight, but to be passion's slave was a terrible degradation. The speaker urged his hearers to avoid all forms of impurity, to avoid tobacco, and he was particularly severe in his denunciation of strong drink—"In the name of God, and for Christ's sake, fight shy of strong drink." Keep the mind pure and the body also. The direful physical results of yielding to sin, both upon the person himself and his innocent children were strongly painted. Let men be faithful husbands, faithful fathers and faithful citizens. Let them learn the great moral lesson conveyed in the line of Tennyson:

"'Tis only noble to be good."

and its great complement, which the speaker paraphrased thus:—

'Tis only manly to be pure.

Keep nigh.—The speaker closed a splendid address by tenderly, earnestly urging his hearers to keep nigh the great Source of power, help and strength, to live consecrated lives, pure in the sight of God and man; thus they would reach the highest standard of manhood, and lead noble and happy lives here and hereafter.

The Evening Service.

At the evening service the church was intensely crowded, supplementary seats having to be provided. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Davidson. The missioner took for his text St. John's Gospel V:40:—

"Ye will not come unto Me that ye might have life."

As Jesus addressed these words to the Jews, Scribes and Pharisees in his day on earth, so he addressed the impenitent to-night in the words of the text. The speaker said impressively that he arraigned them before the bar of their consciences, and asked them why it was so. Some were indifferent and did not think of coming; the pride of some kept them from accepting, but they must walk over their pride to the Saviour. Men must abase themselves. Others were kept away by worldliness. As the hawser held the ship to her wharf, so the hawser of worldliness, of ambition, bound the sinner to earth and prevented him from coming, or a secret sin might be the tie, or other causes might combine to weave a many-stranded rope. The sinner to free his soul should be willing to have God's grace sunder these bonds. There were many excuses—some that they had not time; but God loved a busy Christian. The sinner was urged to take time to be a Christian, for he must take time to die. But the real reason that underlay all these excuses was, they would not come. If they were lost it could only be their own fault, and their consciences would cast the blame upon themselves throughout an endless eternity. It was the voice of love that sadly said, "Ye will not come." God rolled the responsibility of the loss of your soul upon yourself. In the world to come your soul is shrivelled up and dead to God and Christ and alive only to the harrowing consciousness of sin. The sinner, if suddenly translated to the joys of heaven, would not be happy. He would not be in harmony with his surroundings, the presence of a holy God would be a hell to him and he would seek to escape. The preacher urged upon his hearers to accept Christ, and painted a graphic picture of the bright development of the Christian life, till at length it passed into the perfecting development of Heaven and all its joys. The gloomy contrast of the eternity of the impenitent was also drawn, and the sinner assured that he was making his choice that night for weal or woe.

The mission will be continued on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings—the latter being the closing service.

There will be no afternoon meeting except on Tuesday afternoon at 4.15, when there will be a special service for women only. The subject of the address will be "The Beautiful Temple of God."

The Saturday Afternoon Instruction.

On Saturday afternoon Professor DuVernet took up the petition, "Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil." It was evident to him that the temptation and the evil came from the same source, since it was impossible for God to tempt any man to sin. While God allowed temptation He also offered freely the power by which it might be successfully resisted. We might be kept out of temptation, and also given strength to resist in temptation. God gives us daily this strength to be daily used in the Christian combat. By it we were to succeed, and not by human effort.

In concluding the series Rev. Mr. DuVernet suggested to his hearers that in order to keep alive this teaching, they should meditate each day of the week upon the successive petitions of the Lord's Prayer. They might discover a peculiar appropriateness in this. Sunday should naturally fill our minds with thoughts of "Our Father Which is in Heaven." On Monday, when re-taking part in the world's work, the predominant desire should be "Hallowed be Thy Name." On Tuesday we pass naturally on to pray that God's Kingdom may come, within ourselves, and the world about us. On Wednesday the special desire would present itself that God's will should be done "On Earth as it is in Heaven," promptly, cheerfully and whole heartedly. On Thursday, the day of the institution of the Holy Communion, as we meditate on the petition "Give us this Day our Daily Bread," our thoughts centre upon "the true Bread which cometh down from Heaven." Friday the day on which Redemption's work was accomplished, was fitly connected with the next petition "Forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us." On Saturday we conclude by considering God's restraining and delivering hand held out to us in all the temptations of life; and throughout all the petitions we draw confidence from the fact that God is able to do all these things, for His is "the kingdom, the the power and the glory forever and ever. Amen."

Edison is Right.

In a few years, says Mr. Edison, the world will be just like one big ear, it will be unsafe to speak in a house until one has examined the walls and furniture for concealed phonographs.

It also quite safe to assert that in a very short time the justly celebrated Diamond Dyes will be so universally used throughout the world, that steam-dyeing establishments will almost cease to exist, and families will do their own dyeing with Diamond Dyes, which are pure and unadulterated. If these dyeing establishments wish for a continuance of existence, they will have to discard the crude and dangerous mill dyes, and use the Diamond Dyes.

Hundreds of ladies in Canada, who a few years ago had their dyeing done in city and town dye shops now use the Diamond Dyes, as the work is done much better and at one tenth the cost of dye shops.

Diamond Dyes to the ladies are as great a boon as is the Telephone and Telegraph to the business man.

COBOURG'S SENSATION.

THE ATTEMPTED CRIME OF A JILTED LOVER.

He Throws a Woman and Her Escort in Front of a Train and Both Experience a Narrow Escape from an Awful Death.

COBOURG, Dec. 1.—To-night, on the arrival of No. 2 G.T.R. express from Montreal, what might have been the most sensational tragedy yet written in Canadian criminal annals nearly transpired at the Cobourg station. A young man named Andrew McGuire pushed a girl named Miss Tucker and a man named Turner, who was walking with the girl, between the moving train and the station platform, with the intention of killing them. They both escaped, however, with slight injuries. McGuire has been in love with Miss Tucker for some years past, but his advances were repulsed by the girl. This made McGuire wild with jealousy, and about five years ago, in a fit of fury at Miss Tucker's father, who forbade him coming to his house, McGuire shot and seriously wounded the old man. For this he served a term in the Kingston penitentiary. After his release he still persecuted Miss Tucker, whose life has become a burden to her from her fear of her savage admirer. To-night McGuire was again maddened at seeing the girl walking with Turner, and, it is supposed, determined to kill both. The police are looking for McGuire, but as yet no trace of him has been found. After the assault, which was witnessed by a large number of people who were standing by, McGuire made good his escape. Everyone who witnessed the act says that the escape of Miss Tucker and her escort from death was miraculous.

THE NEWS IN LONDON.

The Salvation Army Fund—Lady Rosebery's Funeral.

LONDON, Dec 2.—G. W. Smalley writes: "General" Booth's Social Salvation Fund amounted at last accounts to $300,000. This does not include $6000, which Lord Derby was erroneously and strangely said to have given. Had Lord Derby really given that or any other sum to "General" Booth I believe his fund would soon have reached a million. The head of the House of Stanley is the incarnation of cold good sense, a man entirely devoid of that curious capacity for unreasoning benevolence which now runs through the community like an epidemic. His approval would have been worth to "General" Booth far more than any gift, however large. Gifts keep flowing in. The particular sum supposed to have come from Lord Derby proves to be from Lord Airlie, a very different man.

But in these days of appeal to the masses it is doubtful, after all, how much of the support which "General" Booth receives is due to generous impulses and how much to the growing feeling that the democracy has to be conciliated. If this seem hard judgment, what means the appeal of the secretary to the fund for the relief of the widows and orphans of the crew of Her Majesty's ship Serpent? Jack's family is starving, while the public pours thousands into "General" Booth's coffers in aid of an untried scheme of philanthropy which many experts think fantastic. There are people so indiscreet as to ask what will become of the money and the scheme should "General" Booth die. His successor in the Salvation Army, will take charge, answers "General" Booth. Well, "General" Booth is a man with much power of organizing things and some business capacity; but there is no Apostolical Succession in the Salvation Army, or none as yet, and the next "General" of those motley forces may be a fool or a knave.

Seldom has any private funeral drawn out so many signs of general sympathy as that of the Countess of Roseberry on Tuesday. So great were the throngs in Berkeley-square, where Lord Roseberry's town residence stands, that all traffic was stopped, and a large force of police, mounted and foot, took charge. It was very much the same for long distances in the streets through which the procession passed, and all the way to the gates of Willesden Cemetery the sidewalks were filled with spectators. The secret of all these manifestations was simple enough. Lady Roseberry was known from one and of London to the other for her kindly interest in the less prosperous classes, for her charities and for her unremitting personal efforts in behalf of the poor. Not less remarkable was the gathering of people inside the house and at the cemetery. The Queen was represented by Sir Henry Ponsonby, the Prince and Princess of Wales by Sir Arthur Ellis, and the Duke of Cambridge by General Bateson. The Rothschild family to which Lady Rosebery belonged were all present. Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone, both among her most intimate friends, came together, and Mr. Gladstone went to the grave, against the remonstrance of those who thought it a risk to his health on a cold morning. The [illegible] of other friends is too long to complete, but included Count Herbert Bismarck, Lord Spencer, Sir William Harcourt, Mr. Henry White, Lord Stanhope, Professor Bryce and many other eminent names and many representatives of important bodies. Sir John Lubbock was present as chairman of the London County Council. There were flowers from the Queen and from hundreds of others. The Queen's wreath was inscribed: "A mark of sincere regard, from Victoria R. I." The hour for assembling at the house was 10. It was nearly 12 when the cemetery was reached, where the brief simple and dignified Jewish ceremonies were soon over. There are many Americans who will feel that in Lady Rosebery they have lost a friend and a friend of their country.

ATONED WITH HIS LIFE.

RELEASED FROM THE PENITENTIARY BUT TO DIE.

All William Rowland's Guilt Will Soon be in the Grave—A Chatham Murderer Who Finds in Repentance a Salve, a Comfort and a Cordial—He the Keys of Heaven Hath.

KINGSTON, Dec. 1.—In the bedroom at the Hotel Dieu lies an old man who has passed the three score years and ten allotted to man, and who has spent the evening of his life expiating an awful crime—the murder of his wife. He was only released last week. Death already had his hand upon William Rowlands and the prisoner knew it. The old man lay in his bed looking calm and peaceful and apparently resigned to meet the grim enemy advancing to claim him as his own.

The prisoner is now, whatever he may have formerly been, a gentle, kindly old man, who bears no stamp of wickedness on his pallid, weary face. Being asked for a short story of his life, he said: "I am 73 years old. I was born in Tipperary, Ireland. I lived at Chatham. I always tried to live well, and may God forgive me for the crime I committed, but I was driven to it. I had a good farm near Chatham. After my daughter got married to Pat Cosgrove my wife was always at me to divide up my fine farm. My two sons, Pat and Mike, were just as bad as she and never gave me a moment's peace at home. I know that my wife used to drug my food for me. I was in fear of my life at times. On Oct. 18, 1882, I came in from the barn at 4 p.m. I was nearly mad at the time. I said, 'I told you before not to try and drug me.' She laughed. I went upstairs and got the shotgun and came down and shot here stone dead. She fell without a word. I didn't feel sorry at the time, but since I have realized my terrible work. May God forgive me and have mercy on her soul. My sons are bad men and put my wife against me. I have been eight years in the penitentiary."

The dying man seems to be thoroughly repentant. He wound up his statement by saying:

"God bless you, sir. Whether you are a priest, or whether you write things for a newspaper, I hope you'll tell the public that poor William Rowlands, although a condemned murderer, is not the hard hearted ruffian that people think he is. I know I deserve my punishment, but God knows I've paid my debt, at least I know I've tried to by sorrow. I have been eight long years in the prison, and never a night has come, or never an hour—that I haven't asked God to pardon my few seconds of passion that robbed me of the woman I loved and courted 40 years ago, that took me from my children forever, and that put me here a disgraced man. I am sinking into my grave now, but please give the people my last few words, and tell them that I, William Rowlands, though justly punished by the law, had no murderous feelings in my heart and that I believe that my poor old girl will meet me with open arms in that great eternity where I am nearly due."

The old man's pathetic words and manner would have brought tears to the eyes of a harder hearted man than the reporter, when he held out his withered hand and said, in his quavering old voice, "Good bye, sir, good bye. You and I won't meet here again, but please God, wicked murderer as I am, we'll meet in Heaven."

Rowlands was tried by Judge Hagarty in Chatham in 1882, convicted and sentenced for life. He made no attempt to escape after the crime. He placed his dead wife on the bed and then asked neighbors to get an officer to arrest him.

He was brought from the penitentiary to the Hotel Dieu a day or two ago to die.

FATALITY AT LONDON.

Night Yardsman Harry Wooley Instantly Killed While Coupling Cars.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Another terrible accident occurred to-night in the C.P.R. yard here, the victim this time being Harry Wooley, aged about 19, employed as night yardsman. While coupling cars a short distance from the station he either slipped or was knocked down by the cars, run over and dragged for a considerable distance, being badly mangled about the hips and abdomen, and left arm broken above the elbow. He died a few minutes later.

Accident at a Funeral.

MERRITTON, Dec 1.—While returning from the funeral of the late Mr. Coy yesterday a horse driven by Postmaster W. H. Schooly backed into the canal. The animal was drowned, but Schooly and Miss Benson, the other occupant of the vehicle, were rescued by the bridge tender, but were almost exhausted.

Buried Under Falling Walls.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—The large establishment of the Campbell Manufacturing Company, cotton yarns, at Manayunk was damaged $300,000 by fire to-day. A wall fell upon a number of firemen. Charles Snyder was instantly killed and a number of others were injured. Five hundred hands escaped from the mill in safety.

Storms in the East.

HALIFAX, N.S., Dec. 1.—The incoming trains were delayed more or less by to-day's snowstorm. At French River, Pictou county, an embankment on the Intercolonia was swept away, and trains are unable to pass. An embankment has also fallen near Pictou, preventing trains from leaving or reaching that town. The tide is very high at Pictou, and a schooner was washed upon a wharf.

A Matricide Suicides.

Death From Poisoning.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 1.—Mrs. B. Bridges wife of Dr. Bridges, was found dead in bed due, it is said, to taking wrong medicine. An inquest is in progress, and some allege the death was caused by poisoning. A post mortem examination will be held.

STILL IN ABEYANCE.

THE IRISH LEADERSHIP NOT YET SETTLED.

Parnell Addresses the Nationalist Meeting and Violently Attacks Healey, Justin McCarthy and Other Former Allies—The Uncrowned King in a Passion.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The meeting of the Irish members of the House of Commons, called to consider what action the Nationalist party shall take in regard to the leadership of the party, took place at noon to-day. Mr. Parnell and his private secretary were the first to arrive. After the members had assembled Mr. Parnell took the chair. Telegrams from the delegates of the party in the United States and from Archbishop Croke were read. About 75 Irish members of the House were present. The meeting remained in session until 6 o'clock.

The proceedings were of the stormiest character. Parnell's supporters strove hard to secure another adjournment, urging that the meeting to decide the question of the leadership of the Irish party should be held in Dublin.

Mr. Sexton hotly protested against an adjournment. A majority of the party, he declared, desired to keep the leadership unsullied and unstained.

Parnell's Friends Outnumbered.

Sexton's remarks were frequently interrupted by tremendous cheering from Parnell's opponents, who comprised a majority of those present.

Mr. Redmond replied to Mr. Sexton. He made a passionate appeal to the members to pause before they depose from his rightful position as leader of the Irish nation, the statesman who by his unparalleled services had earned the gratitude of the Irish people. He declared that those who by their voice or vote induced a sacrifice of the man who had sacrificed so much for Ireland would have to account to the Irish people. Mr. Redmond, continuing, said that the facts of the divorce case were fully known when Parnell was re-elected leader of the Irish party. This assertion was greeted with cries of "No, no; Gladstone's letter was withheld." Mr. Redmond was unmoved by this interruption, and went on to say that, notwithstanding their previous action, taken with a full knowledge of Parnell's position, a section of the party at the bidding of the Liberals now wanted to sacrifice their leader and with him the national cause. Irishmen the world over would ask where was the consistency in such a course? The Irish tenants, said Mr. Redmond, would reprobate the action that the anti-Parnell section proposed to take, and those American friends whose bounty had sustained them and their cause for many years would demand a reckoning from Parnell's foes. That reckoning could not long be delayed, judging from the many expressions of sympathy and promises of continued support which Parnell was receiving from America. In conclusion he invited his hearers to give their votes for Ireland. He resumed his seat amid great cheering.

To Death, But Not Dishonor.

T. P. Gill, one of the delegates now in America, sent a despatch expressing his personal grief at the action that his conscience forced him to take toward a leader whom he loved and to defend whom he would give up his life. "I would gladly follow him to death," says Mr. Gill, "but I cannot follow him to what seems to me to be dishonor." He concluded with a request that the despatch be read to Mr. Parnell.

Loud cheers were given by both sections of the party when telegrams or letters were read endorsing or opposing the attitude of the respective sides. Telegrams were read from Messrs. Harrington, Pierce, Mahoney, Lalor and Leahy, all of whom supported Parnell.

Parnell Turns On His Allies.

Parnell addressed the meeting. He said in effect: The time has come when I must speak out against the opposition within our party, which has been created by Mr. Gladstone's letter. Those responsible for the division in the party appear to forget what is due to themselves and to their country and to me. The men whose ability has been the most conspicuously exercised against me—Messrs. Healy and Sexton—will have to bear their responsibility in all these proceedings. Mr. Healy has been trained in this warfare. Who trained him? Who saw his genius? Who telegrapheh to him in America to come back. Who gave him his first chance to enter public life and get him a seat in Parliament, prompting, rebuking and restraining him? That Mr. Healy is here to-day to destroy me is due to myself. But I am glad he is here even to destroy me, if he understands the meaning and effect of his proceedings. Mr. Healy reminds me of his services. He has not been slow to remind me of them at any time. I understand he attended the recent meeting in Dublin calling on me not to retire. [Cheers.] Who asked him to do so? Did I? [Cheers.] Who asked Mr. McCarthy to travel to Dublin and say he would be able to give information which would throw a different complexion on hidden events? Did I? [Cheers.] Where was Sexton at this same meeting? Where were you all?

Accused of Treachery.

Why did you encourage me to take my position on the bridge if they were going to act as traitors and hand me over to another commander-in-chief. [Cheers.] I did not ask them for the certificate of character given at the Dublin meeting. Our position is awkward, but the whole blame for the creation of this position does not rest with me—a leader. Killer Barry has been put up to stab me as he stabbed that old lion, Isaac Butt, in days gone by. I remember well that though Butt arraigned me I never, by word or deed, counselled attacks upon him. I allowed the old man to go down honored to his grave, rather than seek to step into the shoes of a politician who, however grave his faults, created a great movement, and has given me and many others power to participate therein. [Cheers.] What is now to be said about the request for my temporary retirement? Mr. Sexton at a recent meeting here told me I could resume the leadership, and that the leaders were with me. Ten minutes afterwards he astonished me by saying he believed I would reject the leadership. [Laughter and cheers.] I have been asked about the conference at Hawarden. I am told there that Gladstone's communication is not to be divulged to any of my colleagues, yet because I did not denounce his proposals at once I am accused of deceiving the party. Mr. Gladstone told me that none of the proposals were final. The chief proposal of all, the retention of 80 members in Westminster, was subject to revision. For me it was a question of drafting a bill. It was a question of weak judgment on the part of an English politician.

Gladstone a Garrulous Old Gentleman.

It was a question of dealing with a garrulous old gentleman who monopolized the conversation, and with whom, as everybody who knows him knows, it is difficult to get in a word edgeways. Before you vote for my deposition be sure you are getting value for it. On Saturday we were all agreed that we would not have this Gladstone bill. [Cries of "Hear, hear" and cheers.] Not a man here has said a word in favor of it. Are you sure you will be able to get anything better? If Healy or McCarthy or Sexton sees the way to get anything better for God's sake let them say it. I won't stand a moment in their way. On Saturday I made this proposal to Mr. McCarthy: Let Gladstone, Harcourt and Morley give him letters declaring that in the event of the return of the Liberals to power a Home Rule bill would be proposed by which the control of the constabulary would be vested in an Irish executive who would be responsible to an Irish parliament empowered to settle the land question. Mr. McCarthy went to Mr. Gladstone with these proposals, with my assurance that these concessions made I would retire from public life. Mr. Gladstone has replied that he will not hold any communication with me as the leader of the party.

Mr. McCarthy, interrupting: No, no!

Mr. Parnell: He is perfectly welcome

The same proposals were placed before Sir William Vernon Harcourt, who replies that under no circumstances will he give any promise whatever now or hereafter to any Irish party. Remember, Harcourt will be your leader when Gladstone dies.

Mr. Condon: Not our leader.

Mr. Parnell: It will not be Morley—you will not deny that. This great man Harcourt, whose chain you are going to put on your necks, has the reversion of the Liberal leadership. This same man has declared that his limits to Home Rule are in Mr. Chamberlain's scheme of local government. If Harcourt ever comes into power he will give you local government with plenty of coercion. [Cries of "Hear, hear."]

Not One to Be Trusted.

I know what Harcourt will do for you and what Gladstone and Morley will do. I know there isn't a single one of the lot to be trusted unless you trust yourselves.

Be to your own selves true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.

If I am to leave you to-night I should like to leave you in security. It is not an unfair thing for me to ask to see you within sight of the promised land, or that I should come with you, having come so far, until you are absolutely sure of Ireland and I can go no further."

Justin McCarthy's Rejoinder.

An enthusiastic outburst of cheering followed Parnell's remarks.

Mr. McCarthy spoke next. He explained how he went to Mr. Gladstone Saturday to reopen negotiations, although he was unwilling to undertake the mission, believing it would do no good. He thought the party ought to settle quarrels among themselves without reference to English statesmen. Mr. Gladstone told him he regretted the disorganization of the Irish party, but could not regard him as representing the party and therefore could not treat with him. He would offer no suggestion, nor would he sign any document or give any message to be conveyed to the party.

Mr. Parnell: I did not want any document, only your word if Mr. Gladstone assented.

Mr. McCarthy, continuing, said Mr. Gladstone informed him that he could not give any document with any certainty that it might not be printed by some of those concerned. He (McCarthy) also saw Harcourt, who did not say he would not make any promise of any kind to any Irish member, but simply said that in view of the disclosures made in the manifesto he would not give anybody verbally or in writing assurances which were to be brought to the notice of Parnell. As to the general question of Parnell's retiring, Mr. McCarthy said, Parnell's leading error had been his keeping private until now the Hawarden conversation.

Mr. Parnell: "I am perfectly willing to admit the blame, but I am glad I have told all now before the full mischief has been done."

The Motion for Retirement.

The motion for the retirement of Parnell was made by John Barry, member for South Wexford, who aided the late Isaac Butt in founding the Home Rule Confederation of Great Britain in 1872.

Joseph Nolan, member for North Louth, submitted an amendment to the effect that the question of the retirement of Parnell should be postponed until the members had personally ascertained the views of their constituents on the subject, the party then to meet in Dublin and decide the matter.

Parnell ruled out of order any reference to his conduct in the O'Shea case, and this brought him into frequent collision with the different speakers, especially Healy, with whom Parnell exchanged hot words. Parnell displayed great passion throughout.

At 11¼ p.m. the meeting adjourned until noon to-morrow.

The Tories claim six additional seats in parliament as a result of the split in the ranks of the Opposition on the Parnell question.

HAS SHE FOUNDERED?

An Anchor Line Steamship Overdue at Glasgow.

GLASGOW, Dec. 1.—Considerable uneasiness is felt over the non-arrival of the Anchor line steamship Ethiopia, Capt. Wilson, which left New York Nov. 16 for this port. The British steamer Prussian, from Boston Nov. 19, which arrived this morning, saw nothing of the missing vessel.

Starving in China.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Advices from Tien-Tsin by way of Vladivostok say that a vast portion of the populace has been rendered destitute by recent floods. The people have become desperate because of lack of food and shelter and threaten to massacre and plunder the European residents and march to Pekin to demand relief. Four Chinese warships and one French and one American man-of-war are at Pekin and have taken measures for the protection of the Europeans.

Frosts and Floods.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Severe frosts and snow are reported on the shores of the Mediterranean, something unknown for twenty years. Very severe snowstorms are reported in Spain, and the Pyrenees are impassable. The German rivers have fallen, but are full of dangerous drift ice. Eight persons have been drowned at Barmen. The damage at Eberfeld, Barmen and Posen is estimated at 3,000,000 marks (about $600,000).

The Petition Against Mr. Dryden Dismissed.

WHITBY, Dec. 1.—The election court held here to-day resulted in dismissal with costs of the petition against the return of Mr. John Dryden. Justices McLennan and Falconbridge presided. Hon. John, who was present at the close of the proceedings which only lasted three minutes and a half, was heartily congratulated by his friends.

The Potts Salt Company Assign.

DETROIT, Dec. 1.—The Potts Salt and Lumber Company made a voluntary assignment to-day to W. S. Waugh, one of the directors. The officers of the company are reticent concerning it. Mr. Lucking explains that the assignment was ordered last Friday by the directors, and is made to secure what is left of the assets of the company for the benefit of general creditors. Last January, according to the annual statement, there was over $850,000 on the right side of the ledger. A statement of present assets will exceed liabilities by a good figure. It is apparent, however, that the company must have run into debt heavily within 10 months. Some interesting developments are expected.

Failed for Half a Million.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Arthur & Ketchum, stock brokers, have assigned to Charles A. Demerritt. The liabilities are said to be $500,000. The firm suspended a year ago but resumed after making certain arrangements with creditors. Owing to poor business the arrangement could not be carried out.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—Winslow, Rand & Watson, wholesale dealers in teas, coffee and spices, have assigned. Liabilities and assets unknown.

Dropped Dead.

ALLANBURG, Dec. 1.—Thomas Higgins aged 63, an old resident of Allanburg dropped dead on the road near his residence about dark Sunday evening and was found by his neighbor, Merithew, the body frightening his horse. Deceased was a bachelor.

A Saw in a Roll of Butter.

MONTREAL, Dec. 1.—Yesterday the officers of the jail discovered a steel saw of about 6 inches in a roll of butter, which had been sent to a prisoner named Graham, who is now in jail for obtaining money under false pretences.

Brown-Sequard Elixir.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 1.—A physician here claims to have discovered that injections of the stimulant recently discovered by Dr. Brown-Sequard will cure tuberculosis.

If Your House is on Fire.

You put water on the burning timbers, not on the smoke. And if you have catarrh you should attack the disease in the blood, not in your nose. Remove the impure cause, and the local effect subsides. To do this, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which radically and permanently cures catarrh. It also strengthens the nerves. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

TURNBULL'S

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st October in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date, to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now; but they have come at last and open out beautifully. We have two ranges, plain and fancy backs, at $1.00 and $1.25, in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta; some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us, and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better, and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit.

Although early in the season our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing, which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on our counters. They are desirable goods, and worth remembering.

Opened out this week a job line of Dress Goods, 12½c. yd.; also a fresh lot of Flannelettes at 8c.

We claim to have the best line 5c. Grey Cotton in the country. All other Cottons proportionate value.

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

ST. ANDREW'S BANQUET.

The Thirty-First Anniversary Dinner.

A Jovial Gathering of the Clans—Edibles and Eloquence Enjoyed—Toasts, Song and Speeches.

The St. Andrew's Society gave their secular celebration of St. Andrew's Day by a banquet at their hall on Simcoe street, on Monday night, the second occasion in which the society's home has been used for such a purpose. There were about 70 persons seated around the festive board, including many guests of the society, and others, ranging from the mere youth to the octogenarian, upon whose frosty pow rested the snows of three score and twenty winters.

The hall was beautifully decorated, Mr. J. J. Turner being the artist, for the occasion, with flags, bunting, banners and blooming flowers. After the excellent dinner, prepared and served by Mr. Ed. Welsh, the toast list was entered upon.

In the absence of the Chaplan, Rev. E. F. Torrance, who was prevented by indisposition from being present, grace was said by Mr. Wm. Learmouth, a gentleman over eighty years of age.

Mr. G. H. Noble, president of the society, occupied the chair, supported on his right by Mr. William Learmouth, and on his left by Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P. The vice-chair was filled by Mr. R. M. Roy, 1st vice-president.

The Chairman proposed the first, of course, "The Queen," which was duly honored with the song, "God Save the Queen."

"The Governor-General and Houses of Parliament" was heartily honoured and responded to by Mr. STRATTON, who said he could as a Canadian cordially unite with Scotchmen in bearing tribute to important positions taken by men of that race in public and parliamentary matters throughout the world, and especially such men as our Lieut-Governor, the Premier of Ontario and the Premier of the Dominion. This was the fifteenth annual banquet of the Society he had attended in Peterborough, and it made him feel as if he were growing old when he saw the many gaps that death had made in the ranks of the Society. He referred feelingly to the death, since the last annual dinner, of Messrs. Cumming and Patterson. He thought that only Messrs. Cameron, late President, and Bard Telford, who were here to-night, were left of all those who were present at the first dinner he attended. He then referred in warm terms to the patriotism, loyalty and other stering qualities of the Scotch character and pointed out the great achievements accomplished by Scotsmen throughout the world, and the leading positions they had always attained to in church and state, letters and art. He expressed warmly his thanks for the privilege of being present, and for the honour conferred in the hearty reception of the toast.

The Vice-President, Mr. R. M. Roy, gave "The Army, Navy and Volunteers," which was heartily honoured, and followed by the song—"Rule Britannia."

LT.-COL. H. C. ROGERS in replying, after thanking the company for the hearty reception given the toast, said he was proud to claim kinship with the Scotch race through his distant ancestors. He spoke in high terms of the energy and thrift of the Scotch character, and the important part played by her sons in war and peace. He said that while England, Scotland and Ireland had each their patron saint, though Canadians had none, they could claim a combination of all these with St. Jean Baptiste thrown in. He had attended a St. Andrew's dinner in an adjoining building thirty years ago, and he saw very few present who were present then, but among those about him now he was pleased to see Mr. Charles Cameron and Mr. Bard Telford. Col. Rogers curiously referred to the army and navy and paid an eloquent tribute to the volunteers, who would he was sure be always at the post of duty if, unfortunately, their services should be required, as his experience of thirty years enabled him to testify to. He had, however, to complain that the volunteers had not received the encouragement they should have at the hands of the citizens, and he recommended the teaching of drill in the schools, and instilling a martial spirit, conjoined with physical improvement, from early years.

MAJOR BALL briefly responded with a humorous story.

QUARTER-MASTER STAPLETON also briefly responded.

ADJUTANT DENNISTOUN made a short but pithy reply.

Ex-President CHARLES CAMERON was received with warm cheers on rising to propose the next toast. He said while it was the duty of all loyal Scotchmen to honour the Queen and her armies, the defenders of our hearth and homes, it was on this night especially their duty to honour an anniversary dear to every loyal Scottish heart. After reciting Scott's apostrophe to Caledonia he gave,

"The Day and a' Wha Honour It." Song, "Scots Wha Hae Wi' Wallace Bled."

The Secretary sent the following greeting to St. Andrew's Societies in Toronto and Hamilton:—

PETERBOROUGH, Dec. 1st, 1890.

Your brither Scots of the Plate Granite City extend you their fraternal greetings. How's a wi' you the nicht?

Mr. John Peace, with harmonious inconsistency, sang a stirring war song, "The Scotch Grays," with great applause.

Mr. WM. TELFORD, bard of the Society, stated that the poem he was about to read was the thirty-first poem he had given at the annual gatherings of the Society. He would dedicate the present poem to the gray heads of the Society, and its title was, "Do Gray Hairs Lessen Love for Home?"

(The poem will be published to-morrow.)

The Second Vice-President, Dr. CARMICHAEL, in a few felicitous terms referring to the prominent part which Canadians, the Scotchmen of America, had taken in every part of the world, proposed the toast,

"The Land we Live in," which was splendidly honoured. Song, "The Maple Leaf."

Mr. R. M. DENNISTOUN, the Treasurer of the society, paid a most stirring and eloquent tribute to grand old Scotland, "the land we have left," and dilated the natural resources of Canada, "the land we live in," and foretold a glorious future. It was a compliment to the magnificent resources of Canada that the Americans wished to annex it. Mr. Dennistoun's speech was interrupted with cheers, which developed into an ovation at its close—a deserving tribute to his neat, eloquent and comprehensive little speech.

Mr. ALEX. GIBSON proposed the toast of "The Ladies," which was drunk with devoted enthusiasm.

Mr. WM. FRASER played a stirring medley of Scottish airs upon the accordeon.

Mr. R. R. HALL, in a gallant speech, bore heart-felt tribute to the noble, tender and lovable qualities of the gentler sex.

Mr. A. V. R. YOUNG, in a very neat speech, eloquently interlarded with humous and pathos, made a glowing eulogy of the virtues and angelic qualities of the angelic sex.

"The Mayor and Corporation" brought to his feet Mayor STEVENSON, who extolled the abilities and public spirit of the town council referred feelingly to the death of Mr. Wm. Cumming who came to town the same year as the mayor did. He dealt generally with the interests of Canada and the great part played by Scotchmen in her growth and progress.

"The Learned Professions" was responded to by DR. CALDWELL in a very neat little speech.

Song.—"Sing to me the Old Scotch Sange." Mr. George Smith.

Song—Mr. Peace, "As we were boys together."

Highland Fling—Mr. Smith.

"Our Guests" were responded to by Messrs T. Rutherford, A. Craig and Charles N. Brown, the latter with a humourous Irish reading.

"The Press" was responded to by representatives of the EXAMINER and Review.

Mr. STRATTON proposed "The President and members of St. Andrew's Society," which was acknowledged by Mr. DENNISTOUN, treasurer.

"Our Caterer" was duly honoured and responded to by Mr. ED. WELSH, who detailed in pathetic terms the explosive fate of the haggis.

The gathering dispersed after singing "God Save the Queen" and "Auld Lang Syne a la mode Ecossaise."

The Prairie Buffalo, now Almost Extinct.

The traveller, tourist and rancher who now wander over the boundless prairies of the Northwest, have continually before their eyes reminders of a noble and almost extinct animal—the Buffalo. Horns, skulls, and bones of all kinds present themselves at almost every step.

Man, the great colonizer, has been the ruthless destroyer of this grand monarch of the prairie; and to-day the buffalo is almost as rare an object, as would be the finding of an African Lion roaming over the prairies.

In the march of civilization, and the building up of town and villages on these vast prairies where once roamed the Buffalo; man the great civilizer and conqueror has not been able to deal with, or vanquish effectually, some of the dread foes whice continually menace, not only the farmer and rancher but the business man, and those of every other profession and occupation; we refer to sickness and disease. Disease in various forms is to-day found in these prairie towns, with Heaven's pure air and bright sky; as well as in the crowded cities of the East.

Nervousness, with all its attendant evils and troubles, is found in many homes, and is the cause of great anxiety and thought to many a husband and wife.

Men and women in the race of life, working hard and constantly to acquire riches in lands and cattle, are unconsciously, but surely, in many cases, bringing upon themselves nerve troubles, such as sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness, headaches and nervous prostration, that must end seriously, unless attended to in time.

The great remedy for the West, is the same as has restored to new life thousands of sufferers in the East; it is Paine's Celery Compound, the greatest nerve strengthener and builder ever offered to an enlightened people.

Paine's Celery Compound is now acknowledged by physicians as the remedy par excellence for all nervous complaints. For the dyspeptic, and all who are troubled with kidney or liver complaints, it stands at the head of every known preparation.

Purify your Blood

Importance of pure blood in the human system is generally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

A CHILD QUEEN.

The Ruler of Holland Only Ten Years of Age.

The death of the King of Holland makes a third child a European sovereign, the other two being the infant king of Spain and the boy king of Servia. Queen Wilhelmina is only ten years of age. Young as she is the question of her marriage has already been discussed. Her hand has already been promised in marriage to Prince William, the eldest son and heir of Duke Adolphus of Nassau, whose father becomes by reason of King William's death the Duke of Luxembourg.

QUEEN WILHELMINA OF HOLLAND.

William's death carried the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg to the elder branch of the house of Nassau, and would make it to all intents and purposes a military portion of the German Empire. The projected marriage of the Queen, however, would bring the Duchy back to Holland again, and be fully united with the throne of Holland in the children. Should the little Queen die before reaching a marriageable age the crown would pass to her aunt Sophie, Grand Duchess of Saxe-Weimar-Eisensch.

Emma, mother of the child queen and who was recently appointed Regent, has already issued a proclamation declaring Princess Wilhelmina Queen of the Netherlands. The Queen Regent says: May her throne find the solid support, fidelity and devotion of her people. I accept the regency during her minority, confiding in God, and praying that my task shall be so fulfilled as to assure the welfare of the country and the consolidation of the kingdom.

SHOCKING SUICIDE.

Becoming Despondent From Ill Health a Farmer Takes His Life.

WIARTON, Nov. 30.—The inhabitants of the Township of West Wawanosh, Bruce county, were greatly shocked on Friday morning when they learned of the sad suicide of Mr. George Staples, of the 6th concession. He had been in poor health for some time past and often became very despondent, and it is supposed that during one of these fits on Thursday night he committed the rash act. He placed the muzzle of the loaded gun in his mouth, and with the left hand pulled the trigger, the charge passing through his head, tearing away his right ear and killing him instantly. He was in good financial circumstances.

TRIPPED TO HIS DEATH.

A Young Man Killed While Hunting in Haliburton.

MINDEN, Nov. 30.—Saturday William R. Beatty, youngest son of Mr. Joseph Beatty, treasurer of the townships of Stanhope, Sherbourne, etc., was going through the woods, carrying his loaded rifle on his shoulder with the muzzle to the front, when he stumbled and fell. The rifle, pitching butt forward and the hammer striking a rock, discharged, the bullet entering his stomach and lodging in his hip. The plucky lad called for assistance and two men who were at work about 80 rods distant ran to the place, where they found the boy partly sitting with his head resting against the foot of a tree, when he told them what had happened. He was carried home and told his mother and sisters that death to him would be happiness, and was able to talk with them, remaining conscious up til two or three minutes prior to his death, which took place about 6 o'clock in the evening of the same day.

THE LYMPH OF LIFE.

Prof. Koch Supplied With Ample Funds to Continue His Inquiries.

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—In the Lower House of the Diet to-day, to the interpellation of Herr Graf as to what measures the government intended to take to promote the adoption of Prof. Koch's remedy, the Finance Minister said he had placed at the disposal of Prof. Koch sufficient funds to enable him to continue his inquiries and produce the lymph. Care has been taken to make the remedy perfectly accessible to the poor. In the course of time the preparation of the lymph would be intrusted to competent persons employed by the state. A private gentleman had given 1,000,000 marks ($210,000), the minister stated, to be used for the benefit of poor persons suffering from tuberculosis. He had requested Prof. Koch to make public only to a limited extent the composition of the lymph so as to render its imitation impossible. Touching the present preparation of the lymph, Dr. von Gossler said that Prof. Koch and Drs. Libbertz and Pfuhl were occupied solely in providing a supply. After arduous researches extending over a period of six weeks, it was found that the lymph could be supplied at a cost of 2½ marks per five grammes. An ordinary phial contains sufficient for 5000 inoculations, each costing five pfennigs (1½ cents). Regarding the question of placing the manufacture of the lymph under the exclusive control of the state, Dr. von Gossler thought that a feeling of satisfaction would be experienced throughout the world if Prussia should set her stamp upon the lymph, but a guarantee must be given against financial or subsidiary conditions. The government would eventually invite other nations to send representatives to study the use of the remedy in order that they might apply it in their own countries.

Dr. von Gossler's statement, indicating as it does an intended prolonged guarding of the secrets of the lymph, disappoints the numerous foreign medical men assembled here. Prof. Koch says if it were placed without reserve in the hands of all practitioners more deaths would result from its use than ever were caused by consumption.

A $4000 Haul

BAIE ST. PAUL, County of Charlevoix, Nov. 30.—Last night between 7 and 8 o'clock about $4000 was stolen during the absence of Mr. Guilmette, guardian of the Palace of Justice, who was out with his family for the evening. The door and safe of the registrar is said to have been opened by false keys. Up to the present hour there is no trace of the robbers.

A Pugilistic Parson.

HALIFAX, Nov. 30. On the Annapolis train yesterday Rev. Mr. Brown, temporarily in charge of the Episcopal Church at Middleton, unprovokedly assaulted G. H. King, a divinity student of Wolfville, because King sat on his hat. King's nose was broken, both eyes blackened and the floor was covered with blood from his wounds. Brown's conduct will be reported to the bishop.

Emin's Great Scheme.

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—Emin Pasha has written from Tabora, that he intends to make that place his central station and that he will have a garrison of 150 troops there. He also states that he will found four large commercial stations and several smaller ones on Lake Tanganyika and elsewhere. The cost of settlement will be covered by the ivory tribute to the empire.

Earthquake Shocks in Austria.

VIENNA, Nov. 30.—A series of shocks of earthquake was felt at Gaunerdorf, Lower Austria, yesterday. Some of the shocks were severe. Houses oscillated on their foundations, and the spires of the churches swung to and fro, causing the bells to clash. The inhabitants of the town were panic-stricken and fled to the open country for safety.

A Father Kills His Babe.

MOUNT FOREST, Nov. 30.—William Coutts has been committed for trial on a charge of murdering his babe by drowning. The child was found in a cistern about a week ago.

All Three Perished.

HALIFAX, Nov. 30.—Three men named Angus McDonald, Alex. McIsaacs and B. Walsh were drowned off Sandy Point yesterday by the upsetting of their sail-boat.

ONE OF THE THINGS
we are apt to grumble at
IN FRANCE,

THE providing of one's own soap at hotels! Permit me to remark that this is one of those things

They do manage better in France

than we do here. I am strongly of opinion that every one when travelling should carry his or her own soap as one takes one's own hair-brush or sponge. It is much more cleanly, and there can be no better providing in this respect for the hot sun and warm winds and dust of travel than a cake of which, under such circumstances, I have found very efficient in the prevention of sunburn and allied annoyances.

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its liberal and unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home Institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefiting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

An Active Company.

The Ontario Telephone Company is composed of hustlers. Last night they were granted permission by the town council to re-erect poles to replace those of the G. N. W. Telegraph Company on George street, and this morning bright and early the men were at work. The new poles will be placed as speedily as possible. The Ontario Telephone Company have now about one hundred instruments ready for operation, and subscribers are able to talk to each other, as there is some one in the central office almost constantly. But the line is not officially declared open for general use.

Over the Hill to the Poor House.

"Have you no home?" asked the police magistrate this morning of old Dennis Slattery, who has just completed a term for vagrancy in gaol.

"Oh yes, sir, we have a fine home up on the hill, a nice warm stone house."

"Well, I'll give you a six month's boarding ticket, and here's some change to buy you some tobacco."

"Long life to you," replied the aged mendicant, as the coins were poured into his trembling hand, "may the Lord bless you."

He was given his paper of committal and departed cheerfully for his home on the hill.

Disfigured, but Still In It.

Martin Welsh, an elderly resident of the North Ward, who semi-occasionally falls a victim to his love for strong drink, was last night picked up at the Grand Trunk station in a soporific stage of drunkenness. He looked as though he had been contesting the right of way with a locomotive. Blood was streaming from cuts and scrapes on his face received from frequent falls on the frozen ground, and this morning his countenance was plastered with dirt and dried gore. The prisoner owned up to the corn, and was fined $3 or 10 days. He tried to borrow the money from the police magistrate as the chief, but failing in this he opened his coat, unpinned an inside pocket, and drew forth a roll of bills, with one of which he procured his freedom.

Town Printing and Trips of Delegates Discussed.

Some Lively Passages Between Councillors—Streets to be Used by the Telephone Companies — George Street Granted to the Home Company—The Usual Batch of Communications and Accounts.

As the municipal elections approach there is greater activity amongst the town councillors—or at least a few of them. Last Monday night's meeting of the council was a lively one. The chief business appeared to be a concerted attack upon Mr. E. H. D. Hall, chairman of the Printing Committee and a member of the Manufactories Committee, by a couple of members of the council; but Mr. Hall emerged from the storm, in which, as a councillor remarked, there appeared to be more smoke than fire, unscathed. The audience seats were filled and the ratepayers present took an interest in the proceedings. The members of council present were, Mayor Stevenson, Messrs. Cahill, Davidson, Winch, E. H. D. Hall, A. Hall, Dawson, Moore, Rutherford, Langford, Kendry and Hartley.

The first order of business was the dealing with communications and accounts.

The appeals of Messrs. T. Cavanagh and R. T. Boswell were reported by the Town Clerk to have been referred back by the Court of Revision to the council.—Received.

Robt. McLean, Secretary of the Fire Underwriters Association, notified the council that telephone or telegraph wires strung on George street must be at high as the eaves of the buildings.—Received.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company notified the town council that in future they would cease payment of the annual amounts paid for damages on Bethune street, as the Chemong Railway line had been completed. —Referred to the Finance Committee.

A communication was read from the Mayor of Wingham, asking the council to pass a resolution with regard to liquor licenses, to the effect that the town receive all the times.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. J. J. McBain, grain merchant, asked the council to place a box drain alongside his warehouse on Aylmer street.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

A petition was read from Mr. A. Mercer and twenty-one other merchants on George street, objecting to the placing of poles on George street, on account of their unsightly appearance and danger from wires in case of fire.—Received.

A petition bearing 66 names was also presented praying permission for the Ontario Telephone Company to use the poles of the G.N.W. Telegraph Company for their wires, the poles to be made 60 feet high.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. LANGFORD, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

THE TOWN PRINTING.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall read the following report:—

To the Mayor and Town Council:

GENTLEMEN.—Your Printing Committee beg leave to report and recommend that the town printing for the balance of the year be divided among the offices as provided in the agreement of 1888.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

E. H. D. HALL, Chairman.

Mr. HALL, speaking to the report, moved that it be received but not adopted, because he did not concur in it. He went on to explain how the printing was divided. In 1888 a report of the Printing Committee was brought in recommending a division of the printing among the three offices, and in the Times portion was the printing of the by-laws. This agreement only bound the council of 1888, but it seemed that in 1889 the same arrangement was continued, and until the time of the Edison by-law, which by resolution of the council was directed to be published in the EXAMINER and Review. The idea of publishing the by-laws, and for which purpose the legislature passed the Act, was that they should be read by the largest number of ratepayers it was possible to reach, and as the Times had so small a circulation it was thought the by-law, which was an important one, would not be seen by many of the ratepayers, so it was published in the evening papers. When this was done the Times attacked the council and used hard words against some of the councillors, and did what he could to defeat the bylaw in underhand ways until he found it did not pay, and then he stopped. Mr. Hall then pointed that the Times had systematically endeavored to overcharge the town in nearly every bit of printing he did. For instance, for printing the Fire bylaw the Times charged for 7 pages and 100 copies (and the account was paid by the Finance Committee) $16.00. The contract price for it was $8. In contrast to this was the fire limit bylaw printed by the Review, 11 pages and 200 copies, for $11.00, and the Sanitary bylaw printed by the EXAMINER, 5 pages and 200 copies for $5.00. These were in pamphlet form. For advertising the Ontario Pump Co. and market bylaws the Times charged $74.16; he was allowed $30.23 by the Finance Committee, making his overcharge some $14.83. For the Brooks Company bylaw he charged $35.16, and received $13.60, and the proper contract price was about $20. If the Times had published the Edison bylaw it would have charged as much as it cost to advertise it in both the evening papers, and that for a very limited circulation. In fact, the Finance Committee had constantly to watch the Times' accounts. Mr. Hall concluded that a paper which had abused the town council, tried to rob the town, did all it could to defeat one of the best industries that Peterborough ever had, should not be encouraged by the town's representatives who were in the council to guard the town's interest.

Mr. RUTHERFORD moved the adoption of the report, and said that Mr. Hall had exceeded his authority as Chairman of the Printing Committee in giving printing rightly belonging to the Times by contract to other newspapers. Mr. Rutherford wanted to see British fair play meted out, and thought that in future the printing ought to be let by tender.

Mr. KENDRY seconded the motion and suggested that as the report was in his opinion a reflection against Mr. Hall, the latter should resign his position as Chairman of the Printing Committee.

Mr. HALL (Laughingly)—I'm a perfect Parnell, I won't resign.

Mr. MOORE said that it appeared to him that some of those gentlemen who had spoken were trimming their sails for the approaching election. As regarded Mr. Hall, charges has been made, but not a bit of proof offered in support of them. In the first place there was no printing contract, about which there was so much noise, and the whole trouble had arisen over a small notice which had been put in the evening papers, amounting to $4 or $5, which there was not time to get into the Times nor to call a special meeting for the purpose of ordering otherwise. As regards the printing of the bylaw, that was ordered by the Council. Mr. Rutherford and Mr. Kendry at this and a previous meeting had made furious attacks on Mr. E. H. D. Hall, when really he had done nothing more than do as he was instructed. It was also a notorious fact that the Times had abused the town council, and tried to throw cold water on the Edison Company.

Mr. RUTHERFORD replied briefly to the effect that it was admitted that Mr. Hall had given printing to the other evening papers which belonged to the Times. Mr. Rutherford also made himself solid with the morning paper by giving it a considerable puff.

Mr. CAHILL, in supporting the motion to adopt the report, said that in doing so he did not intend to cast any reflections upon Mr. Hall; but he would like to see the printing let by contract.

The report was then put to vote, and the motion to adopt carried.

ANOTHER WIND STORM.

Mr. E. H. D. HALL, of the Manufacturers Committee, reported verbally of the trip of himself and Councillor Davidson to Philadelphia and New York. They had been authorized by the whole council to make the trip for the purpose of enquiring regarding manufactories, and a certain amount was allowed for expenses. They had not, however, used up the whole amount. Their bill to the town was $38, minus the railway fares, while their own personal bills were $40. They did not charge the town the whole amount, though a councillor, who had evidently had some experience, had told him that they might as well do so, for, at any rate, they would have some cuts snarling and snapping at their heels, and some mean spirited individual to find fault with them.

Mr. RUTHERFORD promptly objected to these words being applied to any councillor and rose to a point of order.

Mr. HALL replied that he never said any such thing. If any of them liked to fit the cap on themselves they could.

Mr. KENDRY (excitedly)—Did you call any member of this council a cur?

Mr. HALL—No; I may think a lot, but I didn't say so. (Laughter.) Continuing, he said he was simply repeating a phrase some other man had used. He had, however, been hounded to death by councillors wanting to know what was the result of their trip. He could say that, in spite of all the slurs cast upon them, their trip would probably bear good results. He had some encouraging letters from a manufacturing firm which he proposed to lay before the council if they wished.

Mr. Langford and Mr. Cahill came to the defence of Mr. Hall and Mr. Davidson, showing that their trip had been authorized by a majority of the council. Mr. Hall particularly deserved great credit for the efforts he had made towards bringing manufactories here. Mr. Cahill did not think the council should be parsimonious in these matters, when it might be the means of bringing large industries to the town, as in the case of the Edison Company.

GETTING READY FOR THE ELECTIONS.

Mr. DAVIDSON presented a by-law to appoint Deputy-Returning Officers and fixing polling places for municipal and public school elections, as follows:—

No. One Ward—Mission School House, Joseph Lundy, Returning Officer.

No. Two Ward—North store in market building, Chas. Cameron, Returning Officer.

No. Three Ward—Rathbun Co.'s shop, Jno. Irwin, Returning Officer.

No. Four Ward—Wm. Lee's shop, Wm. Lee, Returning Officer.

AMENDING THE FIRE LIMITS.

Mr. A. HALL presented a by-law to amend the Fire Limit by-law in accordance with the previously adopted report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee. After some discussion an amendment to fix the dividing lot between lots 8 and 9, west of Aylmer street (half way between Aylmer and Bethune), from King to McDonel streets was passed, and the by-law passed with this change made.

Mr. LANGFORD presented a bylaw to establish the grade of a part of Water street, from Dalhousie to Wolfe street, which was passed.

On motion, the questions of assessment referred to the council by the Court of Revision, were referred back to the Court of Revision.

THE TELEPHONE MATTER.

The petition of the Ontario Telephone Co. for permission to use the poles of the G.N.W. Telegraph Co. on George street was then taken up.

On motion, Mr. A. L. DAVIS, a member of the company, was heard. He said that it was originally intended to run the wires over the tops of the buildings by means of racks but they had found this impossible, and now sought to use poles. The G.N.W. Telegraph Co. had agreed to allow them to use their poles. The Ontario Telephone Company would agree to re-erect poles of a height of 60 fees, and the lowest wires would not be within 30 feet of the ground, so that there would be no interference with the firemen. The Underwriter's Association had also promised not to raise any objections. As the stockholders of the company were all ratepayers of the town and had a deep interest in its welfare, they hoped the council would grant their request.

Mr. GEO. EDMISON was also heard. He urged the importance of prompt action, as delay meant serious loss to the company. The Ontario Company simply asked for a spirit of fair play. The poles they propose to place on George street would improve its appearance, and the company would not wish to do anything that would injure the town.

Mr. E. H. D. HALL said that as the petitions showed that a majority of the George street merchants were in favor of granting this privilege to the Ontario Telephone Co. the council ought not to raise any objection. He moved that it be granted.

Mr. A. HALL moved in amendment, that it be not granted, on the ground that the network of wires would hamper the firemen in their work. He did not speak in a spirit of factious opposition to the Ontario Company, but because it was not in the interests of the town. He had always opposed the placing of poles on George street. Mr. Hall said that a great many of those who signed the petition did not know what they had signed. He thought the company could easily run the wires up the back lanes to reach George street stores.

Mr. LANGFORD and Mr. DAWSON supported the petition, but Mr. MOORE supported Mr. A. Hall's line of argument.

Mr. EDMISON explained that the Ontario Company could not get in from back of George street because the Bell Company occupied the west side of Water street and the east side of Aylmer street, and they could not get in except by crossing the Bell Company's wires.

Mr. KENT, of the Bell Telephone Co., corrected a remark of Mr. Edmison by stating that the Bell Company some years ago applied for permission to go up George Street, but were refused.

Mr. CAHILL said that, while he felt he was doing wrong, he would vote for the resolution since a majority of the George street merchants wished it. The principle was wrong, but, no doubt, the ratepayers knew best what they wanted. In future, of course, there could be no objection raised to the Bell Telephone Company going up George street.

Mr. LANGFORD moved, seconded by Mr. RUTHERFORD,—That the Ontario Telephone Company be allowed to place new poles on George street in place of the poles belonging to the Great North-West Telegraph Company, said poles to be first-class in every respect and to be painted at least ten feet from the ground, and the cross-arms to be not more than four feet six inches from the centre of the pole, the total number of poles on George street, from Brock to Charlotte, not to exceed the number at present placed, the Street and Bridge Committee to have supervision of the erection of the poles.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. DAVIDSON, the taxes of the Y.M.C.A. were remitted, less school tax.

The council then adjourned.

The Mission Services at St. John's.

The Knowledge of Forgiveness of Sin.

Last evening the mission services at St. John's were continued. There was again a large congregation. The service, consisting of the first part of the Litany, was conducted by Rev. Mr. Davidson.

The Missioner preached from the words found in St. Luke's Gospel, vii, 45:—

And He said unto her, thy sins are forgiven.

Our blessed Lord when on earth in "great humility," forgave people their sins, and now, that he had ascended to Heaven, exalted to be a prince and a Saviour, would His power to forgive be lessened? The preacher then proceeded to show how a knowledge of forgiveness could be gained. Holy Scripture abounded with examples of it, showing that it was the privilege of the Christian to know that his sins were forgiven. Knowledge of forgiveness and acceptance was based on God's word. Feeling was a fallible test, and our doing good deeds was not a proof of acceptance, but the sure word of God had said that when with hearty repentance we turned to Christ our sins would be forgiven. We should, like the woman of the text, take Christ at his word and pass into peace. He that would not believe that he was forgiven till he felt it was subverting God's order, which was repentance faith and then the feeling of peace. The inward witness was the result, not the cause of faith. When we believed we had forgiveness and peace.

The services will be continued to-night at 8 o'clock, and concluded on Wednesday evening.

Dakota Wedding Bells.

From a Grand Forks, Dakota, newspaper is taken the following record of a social event, in which a well-known Peterborough gentleman had a hymeneal half interest—Mr. David Minorgan, a former Peterborough boy, who, a year ago, after an absence of eleven years, paid the town a visit. His many friends will offer their congratulations on the occasion which is thus recorded:—

The Methodist church was this afternoon the scene of a very brilliant wedding, the contracting parties being Miss Etta Augusta Minaker and Mr. David Minorgan, both of Grand Forks. The church was handsomely decorated with evergreens and flowers, and was thronged with the numerous friends of the bride and groom.

At two o'clock the wedding party passed down the aisle to the strains of the wedding march and were met at the altar by the Rev. McGregor, who performed the ceremony in a most impressive manner. The bride looked even more charming than the traditional one, wore a beautiful dress cream brilliantine and white satin, trimmed with swansdown and lace, and carried a handsome bouquet of cut flowers. The bridesmaid, Miss Arnold, of Rat Portage, Ontario, was attired in gros grain albatross, also trimmed with swansdown and lace.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Minorgan held a reception in the church where their numerous friends came to offer their congratulations and to bid them God-speed on their voyage through life.

Among the numerous presents to the bride were: Gold watch set with diamonds, from the groom; silver water set, from the bride's parents; dressing case from bridesmaid; silver card case, from the best man, Mr. Arnie Cannif; silver pickle dish, from Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Ridner; handsome mirror, from Mrs. J. Finnie, Mrs. Geo. Cruickshank and Mrs. John Bates; parlour lamp, from Mr. and Miss Adams, and a pair of rose jars from Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Hennessey and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. DeLaney.

Mr. and Mrs. Minorgan start at 6:30 this evening on an extended wedding trip through Canada, visiting Montreal, Toronto and other points of interest. They will be at home to friends on January 10th, at Seventh street north and International Avenue.

PARNELL'S RED HERRING.

HEALEY SAYS HE IS DRAWING IT OVER THE SCENT.

With a View of Postponing a Vote on the Question of the Leadership—A Stormy Scene at the Nationalist Meeting Yesterday.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Nothing was done at the morning session of the Nationalist party to-day, and an adjournment took place until after the debate on the second reading of the Land Purchase Bill.

A sharp controversy took place concerning the cable despatches which had been sent to the delegates in the United States for the purpose of influencing their action. Mr. Kenny admitted he had cabled his own views to the delegates.

Mr. O'Connor declared that the business had not been conducted fairly. He justified Parnell's action in issuing his manifesto and condemned misleading cable despatches that had been sent to the delegates in the United States.

Mr. Campbell described the proceedings of Parnell's opponents as infamous.

Mr. Parnell was appealed to to decide whether the expression used by Mr. Campbell was orderly. He replied the country would decide as to their proceedings.

Mr. Healy described the actions of Parnell's friends as obstructive. Parnell denounced this remark as insolent and impertinent. This statement was greeted with cheers of approval by Parnell's friends, which were answered with cheers of derision by his opponents.

A Postponed Resolution Rejected.

Joseph Nolan's amendment, that the question of the retirement of Parnell should be postponed until members had personally ascertained the views of their constituents on the subject, the party then to meet in Dublin and decide the matter, was rejected 44 to 35.

Mr O'Kelly declared that whatever might be the result of the meeting the question of Parnell's retirement would not be decided at Westminster. A decision ought not to be hurriedly reached. It would be best to give the country time to think. The power of the Liberal party to do anything for the furtherance of the Home Rule cause was limited by the House of Lords, which was always a barrier unless its members feared a revolution. But they would never see a revolution in England based upon Irish claims.

Arthur O'Connor advised Parnell to withdraw, as henceforth it would be impossible for him to be the leader of the party.

Mr. Jordan accused Parnell of sacrificing the cause of the nation to his insensate pride and culpable ambition.

In the course of the discussion Parnell attacked Barry and others for sending despatches to America trying to influence the delegates there.

Mr. Sexton said he became aware last week that a number of messages were being received from the delegates.

Parnell "Where are they?"

Sexton "They were from individual delegates to individual members."

John Redmond: Give the names.

Sexton: I received a telegram from T. P. O'Connor requesting me to give my views on the situation. I cabled informing him that a majority favored the retirement of Parnell as necessary both for the Home Rule cause and the security of evicted tenants. I further added that if the envoys saw a way to support the majority substantial unanimity would be secured.

Col. Nolan: Mr. Sexton ought now to withdraw his expression of opinion in that telegram for he made a mistake. It is such an important expression of opinion that probably the telegram from the delegates in America were founded thereon. [Cries of "hear, hear."] Mr. Sexton must now see that unanimity does not follow the delegates voting against Parnell. [Cries of "hear, hear"].

Mr. Leamy: Unquestionably the effect of these telegrams has been to create false impressions at home and abroad.

A Large-Sized Row.

Timothy Healy: What's all this discussion about? It seems another piece of pure obstruction.

Parnell: That is a most insolent, impertinent observation. [Cheers.] Yes, most insolent and impertinent.

Barry: I rise—

Parnell: Sit down, Mr. Barry.

Barry: But allow—

Parnell: I will not allow you, sir. Mr. Leamy is in possession of the floor.

Leamy: These telegrams to America certainly produced a false impression in implying that a majority of the leading men of the party were going in one direction.

Mr. Redmond: If any names were sent to the delegates in America all on each side ought to have been given. I hear that the delegates' cablegram was read by certain members of our party in an English club and was received with cheers. If Parnell is to be deposed, in God's name depose him without making it a matter of cheering in an English club. [Hear, hear.]

Timothy Healy said he regarded this line of debate as a red herring drawn across their path to delay them in coming to a decision on the main question of Parnell's retirement.

There were angry colloquys between Parnell and J. F. X. O'Brien and Parnell and Healy.

How The Vote Stood.

The following voted in the minority on Nolan's Amendment:

John P. Nolan.	Joseph Nolan.	Blane.
Byrne.	Corbet.	Clancy.
Campbell.	Dalton.	Fitzgerald.
Edward Harrington.	Hayden.	W Macdonald.
Mc[illegible]tem.	J. H. McCarthy.	Harris.
McKenna.	Macoosey.	Maguire.
John O'Connor.	O'Hanlon.	O'Kelly.
Parnell.	Richard Power.	Quinn.
John Redmond.	Wm. Redmond.	Shie.
Conway.	J. E. Kenny.	Leamy.

Carew, Gilhooley, P O'Brien, Leahy, Lalor, and Mahon were absent. No demonstration was made over the result of the division. Parnell declared himself more than satisfied, party will resume to-morrow the discussion of Barry's motion for the retirement of Parnell, Parnell's supporters are considering another amendment. Mr. Clancy will submit a resolution suggesting a compromise. It is reported he will propose Parnell retire temporarily from the leadership.

A Letter from Harcourt.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt has written a letter in which he confirms McCarthy's statement made at the Parnellite meeting last night relative to what took place between them at the time of McCarthy's recent visit to him. Sir William further says he did not regard Parnell's proposals as practical. He told McCarthy the condition of secrecy was indispensable—a document accepting the proposals could be of no value to Parnell or any one else unless its contents were made known. Sir William says he did not attach any importance to Parnell's pledge of inviolable secrecy. The Irish party and the Irish nation possessed a higher and more lasting security than any secret negotiations of individual pledges in the unquestionable fact that no party, no leaders, could ever propose or hope to carry any scheme for Home Rule which did not have the concurrence and support of the Irish nation as declared by its representatives in parliament. Sir William says the statements of Parnell relating to his (Sir William's) views and conduct are unworthy of notice and opposed to the truth.

Liberals Confer.

LONDON, Dec 2.—Arnold Morley, Sir George O Trevelyan, Campbell Bannerman, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Earl Granville and Shaw-Lefevre assembled at Gladstone's residence today and conferred for an hour with the ex-premiers.

The subject discussed was the retirement of the Liberal leader. It was decided to convoke a meeting of Liberal peers and members of the House of Commons to hear a statement by Mr. Gladstone.

The League Upholds Parnell.

DUBLIN, Dec. 2.—The regular meeting of the National League was held here to-day. The proceedings were stormy. The names of Sexton and Healy, when mentioned by the speakers, were greeted with groans and hisses. The chairman made a violent speech in favor of Parnell. A Protestant moved, and a Catholic priest seconded, a resolution calling upon Ireland to support Parnell. The resolution was carried with few dissenting votes.

A meeting of National League branches at Ballylanders to-day sent a despatch to Mr. Finucane declaring he must support Parnell or resign his seat in Parliament.

At Abbeyleix, Queen's County, the Board of Guardians resolved to support Parnell. The board declared that while rents were still too high the reduction that had been made was due to the efforts of Mr Parnell.

THE IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

Debate on the Second Reading of the Land Bill.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—In the House of Commons today Mr. Balfour moved that the Irish Land Purchase Bill pass its second reading.

Mr. Ellis moved an amendment declaring the bill was an unsafe measure as regarded the imperial exchequer, and was unjust to the occupiers of the land.

Mr. Gladstone said he found nothing in the changes made in the bill since the last session that was likely to render its character more satisfactory. There was removal of the 20 years' limit, with a proposal that the county ratepayers have power to vote, whether or not the county funds should become liable for sums borrowed in the purchase of land. Did Mr. Balfour recognize the probability that the ratepayers' vote might stop the purchase of lands in many districts? [Mr. Balfour here nodded assent.] He reminded the House that as peculiar circumstances prevented the presence of Irish members it would be a great mistake to pass a land bill that was opposed to their desires and convictions. The want of Irish authority went to the root of the whole matter and impelled every true friend of Ireland to oppose the bill.

Mr. Chamberlain asked Mr. Balfour if he had calculated the amount required under the bill and by what area it was limited. His estimate, he said, placed the total at less than £100,000,000. He advised Mr. Balfour to withdraw the concession removing the 20 years limit but to adhere to the ratepayers' plebiscite.

Mr. Balfour reported that he estimated the total amount required to complete the purchase at £95,000,000. The bill in providing for an advance of £33,000,000 would make a great impression and would greatly simplify the problem. He would reconsider the question of the twenty-years limit. The ratepayers plebiscite scheme, he considered, a valuable alteration to the measure. Referring to evictions which might arise from default of the tenants in buying the land Mr. Balfour denied that state would become evictors. That process he stated would be undertaken by the land commissioner acting in the interests of the local authorities.

the McLean Kemp Match.

TORONTO, Dec 3.—Hanlan says McLean will defeat Kemp on the Parramatta Monday Dec. 15, in their sculling race for the world's championship. Ned always had a high opinion of Stanbury's sanquickher even before he won his last race.

Fred Mossop, the genial proprietor of Head quarters, cannot see how Kemp can lose. He believes Stanbury was off when beaten and that McLean has sprung up too quickly.

"Yes, I think McLean will win, said Joe Rogers yesterday afternoon. "A good young colt is better than a good old one, and Kemp will be the older dog. The match is a genuine one," continued Joe, "as bitter factions are backing the two men. Should Peter lose he need not come to this country, because we want none but champion visitors. Of course, O'Connor would just as soon row Champion McLean as Champion Kemp, or any other world's champion for that matter."

Some California sportsmen are trying to arrange a battle between a Russian bear and the grizzly captured by Allen Kelley in the Rockies. The Russian animal was caught in the Ural Mountains and after being taught how to box and dance he chewed up his master. A short time ago a large cinnamon bear was placed in the pit at the Woodward Gardens, 'Frisco, and in a little while the Russian bear crushed his opponent's skull with a sledge-hammer blow.

Was the Wedding Legal?

KINGSTON, Dec. 2.—The case of Robb v. Robb, in which an attempt is made to disinherit the Indian daughter of W. G. Robb, was before the Chancery Court to day and judgment reserved. Robb married a Comax Indian in British Columbia according to the Pagan rites, paying $20 in 50 cent pieces and many blankets for his bride. The daughter surviving is sought as heiress to her grandfather's estate, but it is held that as the marriage was by consent and not in legal form, as prescribed by Canadian law, the maiden is illegitimate. The daughter is now a resident of New York State.

Not Select Enough for Guelph.

GUELPH, Dec. 2.—Two citizens of Toronto, known as Prof. Joseph Popp and Prof. Martin, have been trying to rent halls in the city for an exhibition of the manly art of self-defence, etc. The Chief of Police does not think the company bears a very enviable reputation, and so those who had about completed arrangements for renting the halls have concluded not to run any responsibility for a breach of the peace, and so the professors will have to seek new pastures.

Men of Weight in Convention.

BERLIN, Dec. 3.—A congress of fat men was held here to-day. Among the heavy weights were Herr Berg from Stralaw, a brewer, who is the champion, as he turned the scales at 800 pounds; Ferdinand Cohn, a beerkeeper from Augerwandt, who weighs 750 pounds, and Herr Hahers of Gerlitz, who has a record of 674 pounds.

Robert Farris of Chicago, and formerly president of Manitoba, is being sued by Matilda Bruns for $150,000 for libel and breach of promise of marriage. Davis has been in Chicago nine years and is worth a comfortable fortune.

The bank of Commerce at West Superior, Wisconsin, closed its doors yesterday and assigned. Its deposits since Wednesday had been reduced from $90,000 to $460,000. The bank could not secure needed outside aid. Among the deposits was $80,000 belonging to the city, secured.

LIVING WITH A DEAD MAN

WHOSE RELATIVES REFUSE TO BURY THE BODY.

Sitting Up With a Corpse for Thirteen Days and Awaiting the Spirit—One of the Most Remarkable Cases on Record.

HAMMONTON, N.J., Dec. 3.—Thirteen days have elapsed, and yet the remains of George W. Fay, the druggist, have not been buried. No one is permitted to view the body, but the relatives give out a fairy story about the cheeks being red, and the face presenting a life-like appearance. Unless interment is quickly made the State Board of Health will be called upon to take action.

WAITING FOR THE RETURN OF LIFE.

All information concerning the strange case was imparted by two brothers-in-law of the dead druggist, and all they would say was that the signs of death were not sufficient to convince Fay's sister's that life had really departed. The relatives positively refused to permit any one to view the body, and they were unwilling to impart any information as to its condition save the one stereotyped answer that decomposition had not set in, and that the cheeks and breast of the dead man had that same "lifelike, ruddy glow." They said that tests had been applied to ascertain whether a life spark remained, but they declined to say what the tests were, or who made them, or what the result.

HEALTH AUTHORITIES TO BE CALLED IN.

That Fay is really dead a great majority of the people of Hammonton are now thoroughly convinced, and there is talk of securing the intervention of the State Board of Health to insist upon the burial of the body, which no one is now permitted to see. When The Record reporter saw the body with Dr. Hodges on Tuesday last he raised one of the arms, and only a quick movement to the outer atmosphere prevented disastrous consequences to the reporter's physical well-being. The odor of death was there beyond question.

A Hammonton physician said yesterday that Fay is certainly dead, and that the keeping of the body is a menace to the health of not only the family but to the neighborhood, which is thickly populated.

The strange actions about the Fay homestead yesterday led to the belief that the body would be moved to the cemetery and buried late at night in order to circumvent the probable crowd and confusion of a public funeral.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Two or Three Mysterious Deaths—Fatal Accident.

TORONTO, Dec. 2.—Before the master-in-chambers yesterday the executors of the late William Gooderham moved for leave to pay money into court under the Trustee Relief Act. The executors have in their hands two bequests, one for $1000, which was to be paid to the Woman's Christian Boarding House, Duke-street, and one for $5000 to be paid to the Young Woman's Christian Association of Toronto. The lodging house has ceased to exist, and the Young Woman's Guild claim the $5000. An order was made allowing the applicants to pay the money into court, and the question as to who is entitled will have to be settled before the money will be paid out.

The body of a Scotchman named Gordon Laing lies at the City Morgue awaiting interment by friends or removal to the medical school. Laing came out from the Old Country not long ago, and after vainly attempting to secure employment as a bookkeeper became despondent and took to drinking. He boarded at No. 8 Terauley-street and on Monday night appeared there somewhat intoxicated. He lay down on a lounge and apparently slept all night. About 8 o'clock yesterday morning he was found unconscious, and shortly afterwards died. He had drunk two ounces of laudanum.

IMPORTANT INSURANCE CASE.

Before the Queen's Bench Divisional Court the action of Gilbranson against the Ancient Order of United Workmen was heard. The defendants appeal from the judgment of Chief Justice Armour awarding the plaintiffs $300 and costs. Some time ago Martin Gilbranson of Georgetown, a member of the defendant society, was killed on the N. & N.W. Railway, and a claim made on the society. The amount due was $300, but the solicitor of the society represented to the widow of the deceased that as there was suspicion as to the cause of the death of her husband, and the society never paid claims on death by suicide she had better compromise the claim. This she did, accepting half the sum and signing a release. Shortly after this the coroner's verdict was given, after careful enquiry into the cause of death, stating that the deceased was killed by a train. The widow then sued the defendants for $150, the amount of the claim not paid, setting up fraud and misrepresentation. At the trial a verdict was given in her favor, and it is from this that the defendants now appeal. Judgment was reserved.

Dr. J. Cavanden of Iona, ex-M.P.P. for West Elgin, did not hold on to the position of superintendent at the Mimico Insane Asylum very long. He was only appointed six months ago, and yesterday he sent his resignation to the Government. There were various rumors in circulation as to what brought about the doctor's resignation so soon after his appointment.

Mrs. Johanna O'Halloran, who settled with her husband Daniel in Little York in 1832, died yesterday morning at her son's residence, No. 23 Melinda-street, at the extreme ly ripe old age of 100. The O'Halloran family came from county Cork, Ireland, and until 1842 lived in a small wooden shanty on the then Lake shore.

St. Andrew's Society celebrated the natal day of their saint by a grand ball at the Pavilion last evening.

There was a pretty and fashionable wedding in Trinity Methodist Church last night, and the handsome edifice was crowded with the friends of the contracting parties. These were Miss Maggie E. B. Eaton, daughter of Mr. Timothy Eaton (T. Eaton & Co.) and Mr. Charles E. Burden of the R. Harris Company. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Thomas Cosford of London, assisted by Rev. Dr. Hugh Johnston, pastor of the church. Miss Eaton's bridal dress was of ivory white silk, the front of the dress draped with Brussels pointe lace, the bodice being ornamented with similar lace and pearls and ostrich feathers. She wore a tulle veil, with chaplet of orange blossoms.

At the adjourned enquiry into the death of Patrick Foley, who was found dead in his house on Sunday morning, Dr. McPhedran, who made the post-mortem examination, considered injuries to the abdomen the cause of death. The injuries were caused by violence, probably in the nature of a kick. A fall or blow from a fist would scarcely do so. The inquest was adjourned till Monday next.

THIS IS A BOLD ROBBER.

AND HE IS A WORTHY SUCCESSOR OF THE DEAD RUBE BURROWS.

Single-Handed He "Held Up" Three Trainmen on the Georgia Pacific Railroad, Stole the Contents of the Express Safe, Stopped the Train and Coolly Decamped With His Booty.

GREENVILLE, Miss., Dec. 2.—The mantle of Rube Burrows was not buried with him, but has evidently fallen on the shoulders of one who does not lack the same dauntless courage as possessed the dead desperado on the night when he, single-handed, held up the Louisville and Nashville train last spring at Flomaton and robbed the Southern Express Company of the contents of its safe. This daring act was reported last night at 9 o'clock on the Georgia Pacific Railroad, 22 miles east of this city, between Indianola and Heathman station, where one daring robber entered the express car of the same Southern Express Company, and at the point of a revolver compelled three men to hold up their hands and obey his commands.

The particulars of this bold train robbery are as follows: When west-bound train No. 52 had regained its usual speed after leaving Indianola, a man, about 5 feet 8 inches in height, with mask and cap on, entered the mail car and, covering Mail Messenger Harrington with a revolver, marched him into the express car, which was in charge of Messenger C. W. Westmoreland, and commanded both to hold up their hands. At the same time the robber thrust his hand into the pocket of the express messenger and took out the keys of the safe. With the keys came the messenger's watch, which was attached to the same chain. After taking the keys and watch he returned both to the messenger and told him to open the safe and hand out the money, which command was promptly obeyed.

He then looked into the safe to see if he had taken out all it contained, meanwhile holding his revolver on both men. When he had the express packages in his possession he said to the mail messenger: "I don't want what you have got, as I don't want to bother Uncle Sam." All this was accomplished in a few minutes.

By this time Baggagemaster W. M. McCutcheon entered the car and was commanded by the robber to pull the bell-rope and stop the train, which was also done promptly. He then commanded all the men to stand in a row while he deliberately walked backwards to the door of the car and down the steps with his revolver drawn on all three, and without saying a word walked off through the cotton fields towards the Indian bayou wagon road, which was only a few hundred yards away. All this was done before the train reached Heathman Station, which is only four miles from Indianola. The usual speed of the trains is about 20 miles an hour on this road. The safe contained only $850, all in small packages. Had he boarded the train after leaving Columbus he would have made a $9000 haul. The passengers were not aware of any robbery being committed until told by the conductor, who came forward to the express car to learn why the train was stopped. By this time the robber was out of sight.

Express Agent Braselton, at this place, has telegraphed to headquarters at Atlanta informing the company of the robbery, and no doubt prompt action will be taken to hunt down the robber. There was some talk of putting bloodhounds on the trail, but so far nothing has been done.

A man answering the description of the robber got on the train at a small station west of here this afternoon. Arriving at West Point the conductor informed Agent Evans of the robbery and pointed out the man who answered the description. The fellow at once took to his heels and endeavored to get away. Marshal Stacey and several others started out and captured him near the city limits.

The fellow had been joined by another and both were taken to jail. Considerable silver was found on the suspected robber. Both men are now in jail and will be held until the mail and express agents can be taken to West Point to identify them. The officers are confident that they have the right man.

ATONED HER ERROR WITH BLOOD

Discovered When Too Late That Her Husband Was a Forger.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Mrs. Martha Losee, 16 years old, a forger's bride, in a fit of jealousy, shot herself last evening while in the station of the suburban elevated railroad at 138th-street, between Willis and Alexander-avenues. She was carried to the Harlem hospital, where the bullet, which had passed through the breast and lodged near the shoulder blade, was extracted. The injury is considered fatal.

In the same ward in which the wounded girl is lying, the young rascal who was the cause of the tragic act is a patient. He is Charles Losee, her husband, an ex-convict, and was for a time the protege of Electrician Davis of Kemmler execution fame, who endeavored to make him an honest man. Losee, however, preferred to be a forger. When taken to the hospital she refused to give her name, but when informed by the surgeon that her injury was likely to prove fatal she said she was Martha Craw and that her widowed mother resided at No. 635 East 137th-street.

One of the nurses casually remarked to a patient named Charles Losee that a foolish young woman named Craw had shot herself. "My God!" remarked the young man, "she's my wife." This was the first clew to the wounded girl's identity. About the same time Mrs. Ella Craw, a widow living at No. 635 East 137th-street, in an excited state visited the 135th-street station of the Suburban Railroad. She was informed that a young woman dressed in black had shot herself there. "I knew she would do wrong some day," answered the woman, and, continuing, said: "My daughter married a professional forger, who is the cause of her ruin. I have been endeavoring to get a divorce for my daughter, but her death will end all." Miss Craw was married to Losee on July 10 last by Rev. Dr. Parker of East 13th-street.

DRY GOODS NEWS AT

TURNBULL'S

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st October in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date, to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now; but they have come at last and open out beautifully. We have two ranges, plain and fancy backs, at $1.00 and $1.25, in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta; some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us, and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better, and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit.

Although early in the season our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing, which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on our counters. They are desirable goods, and worth remembering.

Opened out this week a job line of Dress Goods, 12½c. yd.; also a fresh lot of Flannelettes at 8c.

We claim to have the best line 5c. Grey Cotton in the country. All other Cottons proportionate value.

THE DISPUTED TERRITORY.

A lengthy communication was read from Mr. E. B. Edwards, town solicitor, stating that in accordance with the request of the Chairman of the Board he had carefully investigated the question of school lands, and giving in detail the result of his researches, from which he thought it was fair to assume that the original reservation was intended at least as much for common school as for grammar school purposes. The subsequent action of the joint school board in not only asking for the grant to the board jointly, but in erecting the existing buildings thereon notwithstanding that the patent had not been issued, leading to the conclusion that the trustees of that time were also of that opinion. Mr. Edwards thought that this was a case in which, upon the presentation of all the facts, the government would deem it proper to take action and direct the issue of the patent in such a way as under the circumstances should seem just. In his opinion no power short of an act of parliament could now deprive the public school supporters of the land upon which the buildings stand or affect their right to hold it, without, at all events, compensating them for the value of the buildings; and if the Board of Education were now to be dissolved and the patent granted to the trustees representing the grammar school section, he had no doubt that it would be adjudged in a Court of Equity that they either hold it upon the trust of allowing the public school trustees to occupy and use the buildings, or that they should pay the public school trustees the value of the buildings.

The communication was received.

THOSE DEBENTURES.

Mr. DENNE enquired if the amount overdrawn by the Board from the bank had been paid by the town or were the Board paying interest on it.

Mr. DUMBLE said the town had the money for the school debentures and were keeping it.

Mr. STEVENSON said this was not the case. Mrs. Nicholls had placed the money to the credit of the town council and not of the Board. The council, however, had not issued the debentures as they should. But in any case the town would have to pay the interest.

Town-Treasurer C. MCGILL explained that the $35,000 had been handed over to the town by Mrs. Nicholls, in trust, but until a certain amount of debentures were issued the money could not be paid over to the Board. In the meanwhile the town was paying the interest on the money.

FINANCIAL.

Mr. Bradburn read the report of the Finance Committee, recommending payment of the following accounts: Metheral Bros, $88.95; Peterborough Light and Power Co., $3.20; H. S. McDonald, $11.18; J. Lacheur $8 00. The Committee did not recommend the payment of Lacheur's account of $8 for brooms, as all the other janitors supplied their own brooms.

The report was adopted.

ANOTHER SCHOOL ROOM.

Mr. Dumble read the following report of the Committee on Appointments, recommending that the salary of Mr. Ross be increased from $850 to $900 per annum.

They could not recommend any increase to Mr. Drope.

They recommended that the small school building, adjacent to the Central School building, be fitted up and furnished to accommodate an additional High School teacher, to be employed in order to meet the demand of the increased numbers now attending the Collegiate Institute, particularly as it is evident that the number in attendance will be greatly increased after the X'mas vacation.

The report was adopted.

THE TRUSTEES' COMPLIMENTS.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Dr. Boucher,—That this Board gratefully acknowledge the communication from the executors of the will of the late Mrs. Nicholls, notifying the Board that the deceased lady had, by her will, generously given $2 000 for the purpose of establishing a scholarship to be known as the Nicholls Scholarship; this Board accepts the gift on the terms suggested in the communication, and tenders to the executors an expression of their appreciation of the magnanimous act of the deceased lady, and orders that this resolution be inscribed in the minutes of this Board.—Carried,

MONEY FOR XMAS BOXES.

It was understood among the trustees that the secretary have power to pay the salaries of teachers at the close of the present term, instead of obliging them to wait until after the Xmas holidays, as they would if the rules of payment were enforced.

THE SCHOLARSHIPS.

Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mr. KENDRY, that the Nicholls' scholarships of $30 for the pupil obtaining the highest aggregate number of marks at the primary examinations, and of $30 to the pupil obtaining the highest aggregate of marks on the junior leaving examination, be offered for competition at the midsummer examinations.—Carried.

THE ELECTIONS.

Moved by Dr. Boucher, seconded by Mr. Deane,—That the elections for school trustees take place at the same time and places as required by statute, and that the clerk be instructed to publish the necessary notice.

A NEW TEACHER.

Moved by Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. Deane,—That inasmuch as the increased attendance at the Collegiate Institute demands the employment of another teacher, the Committee on Appointments are authorized to employ a suitable teacher at a salary not exceeding $900; and the Property Committee is hereby authorized to fit up and furnish properly the lower west room in the adjoining school building.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

To Bridge Rice Lake.

The Cobourg Post says:—On Wednesday last E. P. Hannaford, chief engineer of the Grand Trunk Railway visited Cobourg, and on Thursday went over the road from this place to Harwood. At the latter point he made careful examination of the present approaches to the old bridge formerly used by the Cobourg and Peterborough railway, and out as far as Tick Island. We are informed on good authority that the Grand Trunk people propose to make a crossing on Rice Lake at that point, and that work has already begun preparing plans and specifications for the same. It is rumoured that only a draw bridge will be put in, the balance to be a solid earth embankment, leading from either shore to a certain point on the lake. Just previous to Mr. Hannaford's departure for Montreal on Thursday evening, he stated that it was the intention of the company to go on with the work at the earliest convenient opportunity. If the above plan is carried out it will give Cobourg direct communication with Peterborough and other points to the north, and be equally beneficial to the large section of country through which it will pass. Let us hope that the work may go on.

"Away! Away! There is danger here!
A terrible phantom is bending near;
With no human look, with no human breath,
He stands beside thee—the haunter—Death!"

If there is one disease more than another that comes like the unbidden guest at a banquet, it is Catarrh. Insidiously it steals upon you, "with no human breath," it gradually, like the octopus, winds its coils about you and crushes you. But there is a medicine, called Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, that can tear you away from the monster, and turn the scythes' point of the reaper. The makers of this wonderful remedy offer, in good faith, a standing reward of $500 for an incurable case of Catarrh in the head.

Joe Hess' Liberality.

Joe Hess is eloquent and earnest in denouncing the use of strong drink and tobacco, but he has not a word to say against the use of tea, especially if it is bought at Hawley Bros'., who keep the finest brands in the market. Don't rest till you try them. Excellent coffees also for sale.

THERE must be some great merit in SLOCUM'S preparations. His OXYGENIZED EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL has taken the first place as a cure for consumption and kindred diseases. Every druggist sells it, and no householder should be without it. The remedy is reliable and invaluable. w47we

Interested People.

P Advertising a patent medicine in the ocular way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam Balsam for coughs and colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c, and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

What is a Day's Labour?

ONE day's work for a healthy liver is to secrete three and a half pounds of bile. If the bile secretion be deficient, constipation ensues; if profuse, billiousness and jaundice arise. THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

At the Opening of Congress Yesterday—The McKinley Tariff.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The difference between the two Governments touching the fur seal question in the Behring Sea is not yet adjusted, as will be seen by the correspondence which will soon be laid before Congress. It is sincerely hoped that before the opening of another sealing season some arrangement may be effected.

While it has not been thought best to renew formally the suggestion of an international conference looking to an agreement touching the full use of silver for coinage at a uniform rate, no favorable opportunity will be lost to promote a result which it is confidently believed would confer very large benefits upon the commerce of the world.

The passage of the act to amend certain sections of the "Revised Statutes relating to Lotteries" has been received with great and deserved popular favor. The Postoffice Department and the Department of Justice at once entered upon the enforcement of the law with sympathetic vigor, and already the public mails have been largely freed from the fraudulent and demoralizing appeals and literature emanating from the lottery companies.

The general trade and industrial conditions throughout the country during the year have shown a marked improvement. For many years prior to 1888 the merchandise balances of foreign trade had been largely in our favor, but during that year and the year following they turned against us. It is very gratifying to know that the last fiscal year again shows a balance in our favor of over sixty-eight million dollars. The general testimony is that labor is everywhere fully employed, and the reports for the last year show a smaller number of employes affected by strikes and lockouts than in any year since 1884.

The general tariff act has only partially gone into operation, some of its important provisions being limited to take effect at dates yet in the future. The general provisions of the law have been in force less than 60 days. Its permanent effects upon trade and prices still largely stand in conjecture. There is neither wisdom nor justice in the suggestion that the subject of tariff revision shall be again opened before this law has had a fair trial. The criticisms of the bill that have come to us from foreign sources may well be rejected for repugnancy. There is no disposition among any of our people to promote prohibitory or retaliatory legislation. I do not doubt that a largely increased foreign trade is accessible to us without bartering for it either our home market for such products as our own people can supply or the wages of our working people.

If the tariff act wisely and effectively opens the way to secure a large reciprocal trade in exchange for the free admission to our ports of certain products, I desire to repeat with added urgency the recommendations contained in my last annual message in relation to development of American steamship lines. The reciprocity clause of the tariff bill will be largely limited and its benefits retarded and diminished if provision is not contemporaneously made to encourage the establishment of first-class steam communication between our ports and the ports of such nations as may meet our overtures.

The House, after receiving the President's message, adjourned until to-morrow.

The Senate, when the reading of the message was finished at 4¼, adjourned till to-morrow.

The House Committee on appropriations to-day completed the bill providing for payment of pensions. The bill appropriates $130,000,785. Its details have already been published.

To Amend the McKinley Act.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Mr. Wike of Illinois introduced in the House to-day a preamble and resolution on the subject of the tariff. The preamble recites that it is manifest that the people of this country have at the recent election most emphatically repudiated the policy and principles of taxation and protection embraced in the McKinley law, and have by an overwhelming majority at such election unmistakably demanded lower taxes and cheaper necessaries of life. The resolution instructs the Committee on Ways and Means to report bills to repeal all increases in the tariff duties occasioned by that enactment and to place upon the free list wool, lumber, salt, coal, ores of all kinds, dyestuffs, tin plates, agricultural and manufacturing machinery binding twine and the materials out of which it is manufactured, bagging, cotton ties and other articles of raw material as the committee may deem of like importance to manufacturers or the people, such bills to provide carefully for carrying the reduction occasioned by putting such articles upon the free list into and through the various manufactures into which such materials may enter, to the end that the ultimate consumers and not the manufacturers alone may get the benefit of such reductions.

A Cowboy's Clothes.

I was standing talking to A gentleman here in Utopia one day who was just from the States, when a cowboy passed, going on a gallop through the village. He had on leggings, jacket, spurs and wide hat. "He is a cowboy, I suppose," remarked the man. "Yes," I replied. "Now, don't be feel big," he continued, "with all that rigging on!" "No, sir," I answered, "he does not. That is the only kind of a rig he can successfully run cattle in, and he is not aware that he is exciting any especial attention. Those strong leggings and jacket protect him from the thorns and brush through which he sometimes has to run at full speed to head off a wild steer. Those large spurs are to make his pony go quick when he goes to rope an animal. That wide-brimmed hat is to protect his face from the burning sun in this Southern climate. That cowboy belongs to the church, and next Sunday you may see him in the congregation, dressed up as neat as a pin, and likely teaching a class in the Sunday school.

Emin Pasha relates that in the forest of Msongwa is a large tribe of monkeys that understand the art of making fire. They go out at night to hunt fruit and light their way with torches. This fact clearly accounts for the man who car ries a torch in a political parade.

Sir Edwin Arnold has severed his connection with the London Daily Telegraph and is now on his way to London from Japan. It is his intention to visit America early in the new year.

To-day Stanley looks like a fine dashing English general, white-haired and with the warmth of tropical climes in his face—a general still in middle life—and good for a dozen more campaigns. His manners are grave—distinguished, and he has an air of command, which is not astonishing, for he is a born commander

The British Investor's Soliloquy.

'M a busted-up co ns mun ity, of wild-cat schemes the dupe,
Instead of being in the swim I find I'm in the soup.
My stocks and bonds and foreign loans are half of them N. G.,
Oh, was there ever such a most unlucky man as me!

The bears are on the rampage, but the Barings have gone under,
Oh, tell us how can such things be without our special wonder!
Oh Uraguay! Oh, you're a gay deceiver, that is plain!
I would I had my ducats in my pockets back again.

The Argentine Republic I'm afraid is all a fake,
(Where is the country anyhow?) I made a big mistake
When I planked the solid rhino down without a single groan,
On the pledge of heavy interest upon the latest loan.

The Patagonian 10 per cents.—the Micronesian mines—
The Punjaub and Beloochistan projected railroad lines,
The Grand United Oriental Exploitation Co.,
Go down in this wild flurry just like nine pins in a row.

There is just this consolation—that the capital we send
To every one-horse country that has schemes on which to spend,
Isn't really genuine money, for our great "gold basis" plan
Is the most elastic system that's been yet devised by man.

Why, we merely lend our credit, for our gold would not go round
To give our simple borrowers one farthing in the pound.
Our millions by the hundred which our foreign clients drain
Exist alone on paper—they are figments of the brain.

'Tis the cunning of the financiers by which a little gold
Is beaten thin and multiplies itself a thousand-fold—
One little grain of specie to a bushel of pure wind.
Thus the poor deluded borrower by usury is skinned.

And so we levy tribute from the peoples near and far,
Who never seem to realise what idiots they are,
To pay for credit-money loans each worker toils and delves,
But they never think of making credit-money for themselves.

No wonder that sometimes a smash at one fell swoop should take
The profits which have taken us full many years to make,
But on the whole we can't complain—our credit still remains,
We'll soon forget the present loss in counting future gains.

The Population of Peterborough is about 10,000, and we would say at least one half are troubled with some affection on the Throat and Lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

Self Application of Electricity

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES BY THE

DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments.

THE WORLD'S BEST.

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the QUANTITY current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the NERVOUS and MUSCULAR SYSTEMS.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment Co., C. H. DORENWEND, Electrician. 103 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada. eod w

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its issuing unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefiting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

Dragged behind a Runaway Horse.

Saturday evening last a thirteen year old son of Mr. Jas. Duffus, Otonabee, was thrown from a horse he was riding, and his foot catching in the stirrup he was dragged about 200 yards, when the horse bolted to side and the boy broke loose. He was picked up covered with mud, and, it is said, with his knee cap fractured. His escape from death was providential.

Almost a Dumb Bell.

At a meeting of the fire brigade last night a resolution was passed and ordered to be sent to the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the town council, complaining that the town bell in its present position was practically useless for alarm purposes. The firemen living or working close at hand claim that they cannot hear the bell, and in consequence many of them are fined for not appearing. During the day, when they are away from their homes, they depend almost entirely on the bell for intimation of a fire, and when this fails them they are put to the loss of fines for every time they do not appear. The firemen want the difficulty remedied.

LAKEFIELD IN FLAMES.

Destructive Fire in our Northern Suburb.

The Loss Estimated at About Ten Thousand Dollars—Four Pieces of Business Destroyed—The Fire Rages for Two Hours—Heroic Efforts of the Firemen Conquer the Flames.

Tuesday night, or rather Wednesday morning, about half past one o'clock a message was received at the Peterborough fire station asking for the assistance of the fire brigade in subduing a conflagration which had broken out in the village and threatened to sweep everything before it. Engineer English called up Chief Retherford, and while they were consulting upon ways and means of reaching Lakefield, another message came that the fire was under control and no assistance was required. Meanwhile was observable in the northern sky, and to all appearances there was a destructive fire in progress in Lakefield.

It seems that about one o'clock fire was discovered in Mr. W. J. Hendren's grocery store. The alarm was given and the fire brigade summoned, but as the building was a frame one and surrounded by structures of like composition, the flames spread and RAGED FOR TWO HOURS.

At the end of that time the fire was under control, and in a couple of hours more was completely extinguished. The firemen did not cease their labors till about daylight. They received hearty assistance from the citizens, all of whom lent a willing hand and helped to subdue the destructive element. The night was very calm, a boon which contributed in no small degree to the suppression of the fire.

The first building to burn was W. J. Hendren's grocery store. Very little if any of the contents were saved, though in most of the other cases considerable quantities of household goods and store stock were rescued. Then Mrs. Tanner's grocery store and residence next fell a victim to then Mr. R. G. Cotton's dwelling, Miss Ennis' millinery shop and Webster's bakery. The brick wall of R. Graham & Son's prevented the fire spreading southward, and the firemen headed off the fire on the north.

ESTIMATED LOSSES.

The losses are estimated about as follows: Mrs. Tanner will lose about $3000 on her grocery store and dwelling; W. J. Hendren, $1000 on his stock; R. G. Cotton, $2000 on his residence, and building occupied by W. Hendren; Miss Ennis, $500 on her stock; Wm. Webster, $500 on his stock; Mr. H. Stabler lost $1500 on the buildings occupied by Miss Ennis and Wm. Webster. The losses are more or less covered by insurance, though the amounts are not yet known.

The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective stove pipe. No accidents occurred.

"Fair Play."

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—This expression is very commonly used, but so seldom acted upon, that an illustration to the contrary would not be amiss. The ratepayers are aware that some years ago when many on George street were taken unawares, and by surprise, without warning, for violating a bylaw of whose existence perhaps none of them knew—as such bylaws are passed and rescinded so many times that it is difficult and a puzzle even for the town solicitor to decide—a bylaw had been passed proclaiming signs and sign boards as unsightly and dangerous. All of the prosecuted were fined. Now the question arises, Are those poles to be erected on George street more ornamental or less dangerous? That is where "fair play" comes in. Were the storekeepers prosecuted because they were single individuals? while here is an all powerful company ruling the council, giving the horse a different colour. Another question arises in my mind, viz: Is it legal for any member of the council being interested in such a case to be active in promoting the erection of the poles? Is this "fair play?"

Yours truly,

WM. LECH.

Organ Recital at Lakefield.

Tuesday night an organ recital was given in the Methodist church at Lakefield the proceeds of which were devoted to the new organ fund. There was a good attendance. The programme was supplied mainly from Peterborough, the solos of Mr. Ketchum and Mr. Crane, "The Old Turnkey" and "The Old Doorstep," respectively being particularly acceptable. Rev. Mr. Johnston occupied the chair. The programme was as follows:

Hymn.—"All Hail the Power of Jesus's Name."
Sacred Song ..... Mr Ketchum
Sacred Song ..... Miss Strickland
Vocal Solo ..... Mr Crane
Recitation—"The new Church Organ" ..... Miss [Buchanan
Vocal Solo—"The Old Turnkey" ... Mr Ketchum

The various numbers were interspersed by several well executed organ solos by Mr. Crane. The accompanists during the evening were Miss Londerville, of Keene, and Mr. Crane. After the programme refreshments were served. The entertainment was a success all round.

"Sam T. Jack's Creole Burlesque Company opened their week's engagement at the Academy last night to a crowded house. He Threatened Her Life.

A respectable young lady living in the vicinity of London street Monday morning received a letter from a young man threatening her life, which so frightened her that she went into an hysterical fit and is still under the doctor's care. It seems that the young people were closely acquainted, but for some reason or other the young lady was led to frown upon her late beau, and he some time ago sent a threatening letter to which he signed his name. Monday the young lady received another similar communication, this time an anonymous one, and her fears were so excited that she became ill. The young man, if he is guilty, should be taught a lesson. The offence is a serious one.

THE MISSION SERVICES.

The Rock of Refuge and Safety

Last Night but One of the Mission Services—A Good Congregation—An Excellent Discourse—Largely Attended After-Meeting—The Meeting for Women only—To-Night the Close of the Mission.

Tuesday evening there was a large congregation for the eleventh evening service of Rev. Professor DeVernet's Mission. The service for the occasion, the latter part of the Litany, was conducted by Rev. Mr. Davidson.

The preacher took for his text II Samuel xxii, 2:

"The Lord is my rock."

When we stood on a rock at the seashore with the wild waves dashing at its base, we felt a thrill of awe and pleasure at the might and stability of our footing and the safety of our position, because we stood upon an immovable foundation. The text showed the unchanging character of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the absolute safety and security of all who trusted Him for salvation. Jesus Christ was the same yesterday, to-day and forever, the same Jesus now that he was when on earth, the same now, though risen and glorified, with the same hatred for sin, and the same love for the sinner. His work, His atonement had the same efficacy—time had not changed the fact that he was wounded for our transgressions. He could yet give peace and rest to all who turn to Him. Christ and His atoning work were the rock that stands forever, and had withstood the assaults of persecution, scepticism, unshaken and unmoved, the same rock—

THE ROCK OF AGES.

It was pointed out that change affected everything else—our feeling changed. If we trusted to our feelings we were building on shifting sand—we had no footing of our own, and if we trusted in ourselves, could we watch the waves of adversity and danger with the same calmness as if our feet were upon the rock? Some had no fear or foreboding, because they were indifferent and careless. There was only one sure and certain trust. If we trusted to the foundation of our good intentions, the waters would sweep them away; if we trusted to our tears the waters would sweep them away; if we trusted to our feelings the waters would sweep them away. But if we stood upon the only rock of refuge, which was Christ, we would be eternally kept. We might tremble, but the rock would tremble not. There was no safety, no salvation, no hope, unless our feet were upon the rock. When we had returned to God with hearty repentance and true faith we could say that we were trusting in the tested Rock of Ages. If we were upon the rock the waves of worldly trouble and affliction might beat against us, but the rock was under our feet. The question was asked if the hearer had not felt the need of such a rock of refuge. The crying need of the day was stability of character—the power to say "no." We could only get stability by becoming a part of the divine nature that was changless and abiding—by waiting upon Jesus and drinking in His spirit. Daily go to Him, daily look to Him,

DAILY TRUST IN HIM,

He could keep to the uttermost. By taking Christ as their rock, they could take in the meaning of the hymn,

Rock of ages cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in thee—

and be doubly saved—from the guilt and the power of sin. Only those who had drifted far away from God upon the troubled sea of sin could know and feel the meaning of being upon the rock again. Christ was able to lift above the seas of trouble if we would only trust in Him and take Him as our rock; and whatever befel—riches might flee away or death bereave, we always, under every calamity, had Christ left. Christ could lift above den h and all its terrors. A young woman lay at the point of death and overhearing her friends remark, "she is sinking," said "No, I am not sinking; I am on the rock." If any present felt the need of such a refuge they were urged to seek it at once. Delay was dangerous; it is putting off that slays. A Christian physician urged a patient to consider the health of his soul. The reply was, "O doctor speak of that to-morrow." A moment after the physician was listening to the sounds of the patient's heart—something seemed suddenly to snap, and the poor man's "to-morrow" was an eternity without Christ.

The after meeting was largely attended. This evening the last of the series of mission services will be held at 8 o'clock. All are invited. Hymn books and seats provided.

The service for women only, held on Tuesday afternoon at 4.15 o'clock, was attended by a very large congregation of ladies—the church was crowded. The short service consisted largely of the singing of suitable hymns, Miss Davidson presiding at the organ. The address was of the highest character and was greatly appreciated by those who heard it, as containing many invaluable lessons.

A Startling Contradiction.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—There is an old adage that says "a prophet is not without honour save in his own country," and the saying is generally accepted as containing much truth. Indeed it is expanded into the generally accepted belief that true merit, whether it be that of an individual, or that of some medicinary preparation is much more likely to meet with popular approval at a distance than at home. Nasal Balm, acknowledged as being the greatest remedy for cold in the head and catarrh, ever offered the people of Canada, affords a striking instance of the fact that popular opinion, for once, at least, is wrong. From the outset its popularity in the home of its manufacture has been unbounded and constantly increasing. In evidence of this we offer testimonials from two Brockville gentlemen who are known throughout the Dominion.

D. Derbyshire, Esq., Mayor of Brockville, and for the past two years President of the Ontario Creamery Association, says:—"Your Nasal Balm is truly a wonderful remedy. I may say that I was afflicted with a distressing case of catarrh, accompanied by a number of its disagreeable symptoms. I had tried other remedies, but without avail, and well-nigh despaired of a cure, when I was induced to give Nasal Balm a trial. Its effects were wonderful, and the results arising from its use surprising. Briefly stated, it stops the droppings into the throat, sweetens the breath, relieves the headaches that follow catarrh, and in fact makes one feel altogether like a new man. No one who is suffering from catarrh in any of its stages should lose a moment in giving this remedy a trial."

James Smart, Esq., Brockville, Sheriff of the United Counties of Leeds and Grenville, says: "It would be impossible to speak too extravagantly of the wonderful curative properties of Nasal Balm. I suffered for upwards of a month from a severe cold in the head, which, despite the use of other remedies, was becoming worse, and developing into catarrh. I procured a bottle of Nasal Balm, and was relieved from the first application and thoroughly cured within twenty four hours. I cheerfully add my testimony to the value of Nasal Balm."

These are but two illustrations out of the hundreds of testimonials the proprietors of Nasal Balm have had from all parts of the Dominion, but they ought to convince the most skeptical. If your dealer does not keep Nasal Balm it will be sent on receipt of price—50 cents small size, and $1 large size bottle—by addressing FULFORD & Co., Brockville, Ont.

Sudden Illness of Mr. Hugh Davidson.

On Monday evening Mr. Hugh Davidson, who had about completed the auditing of the books of the Cherry Grove Cheese Factory, Smith, was suddenly seized with an intense pain in the head, shooting through from temple to temple. He was nearly prostrated with the pain, which was followed by extreme coldness of the feet and head, the latter so great that hot cloths applied became cold with alarming rapidity. Dr. Yelland was called to Mr. George Armstrong's residence, where Mr. Davidson remained, and under his treatment the unusual symptoms have abated. Mr. Davidson is able to return to his home again, and his numerous friends in the country will wish him a speedy recovery to his usual health.

News Nuggets.

—It is expected the skating rink will be open Saturday.

—The C.P.R. and G.T.R. trains were late to-day on account of delayed connections in the west.

—It is dangerous to neglect catarrh, for it leads to bronchitis and Consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh in all forms.

Do Gray Hairs Lessen Love for Hame?

(Written for the St. Andrew's Society, Peterborough, November 28th, 1890.)

This simple question I will put to-night,
To brither Scots whose hairs are grey and white,
Through all those years of worldly joy or care
Has your home-love been fading with your hairs?
If I can judge from what I hear and see,
From old Scots absent and those facing me,
I am convinced hame love is stronger now
Than when youth's locks hung curling o'er your brow.
Canadian Scots may ask me, Why and how Old grey haired Scots adore auld Scotia now?
Because there first you drew your infant breath—
Love for your birth-place grows in you till death.

The auld thatched cot where first you saw the light,
In fancy you behold its walls to-night;
The spot where first your tender form was dressed
And hame love's germ was planted in your breast.
You can't forget a mother's love for thee,
Nor the auld songs as you sat on her knee;
A father's smiles, amidst his toils and cares,
His plain, devout and life-endearing prayers;
The family circle, whether large or small,
Its mirthful glee—your memory still recall;
The blazing ingle and the cosy nook—
There you sat, earnest, pondering o'er your book;
The happy hours around the auld hearth stane
With loved ones you may never see again;
For hame and friends love early spread its roots
Within your hearts, through life to bear its fruits;
The school, the play-ground, laughter loud and long,
With favourite playmates, there you joined the throng;
Associates, friendship, though you did not know,
Home's love plant watered, ceasing it to grow;
The fields, the wild-flowers—Scotia's healthful air—
The braes, the burns—you speeled and waded there;
Your manhood joys still added fuel to flame,
Increasing your true, inborn love for hame.
And there you felt love's first and fatal dart,
One sweet Scotch lassie pierced your youthful heart—
Welding a link for time or death to break,
Dear you loved Scotia for that loved one's sake.
By birth and nature, youth's endearing ties,
Your love for Scotia still inordinate rise—
To-night its powers brighten your furrowed face
With beams of joy death only can erase.
Though your weak limbs may need a helping staff,
With Scots to-night you raise your boyish laugh.
Your once bright locks Time's hand has changed their hue,
But could not change that true hame love in you.

Stamped on your hearts supreme that love remains,
While Scottish blood courses your withering veins.
With you I feel—my hairs are are almost white,
My love for Scotia stronger is to-night.
Time changes hair, age makes it loose its hold,
Hame love-soul rooted fades not or grows old.
It lives and grows while Scots can draw a breath,
Extinguished only by the hand of death.

Three brither Scots, esteemed, beloved adored,
To-night death holds them from this festive board.
For this Society and land of their birth,
Three warmer hearts did never beat on earth,
Yes, one of them his hair was white as snow,
When hame was mentioned how his face did glow,
I talked with him three days before death came,
His soul seemed burning with his love for hame.

Scotch nights like this stire up love's glowing flame,
Bring to remembrance nights in oor auld hame,
The reeking haggis crowns the height of joys,
Come gray-haired Scots, go for it now like boys.

The annual tea meeting of the L.O.L. No. 178 was held here on Tuesday evening, Nov. 25th. Tea was served from 6 to 8 p.m. About 300 were present, and all seemed to have the determination to have a good time. After the tea was partaken of a concert was given. Mr. Alex. Hamilton, County Master, presided in the chair.

Prof. Crow and family rendered several pieces of music in excellent style.

Mr. Ewing addressed the audience in his usual very interesting way, and was appreciated by a very hearty applause.

Mr. Baste also favored them with a song.

Credit is due to the enterprising young ladies for the bountiful tea which was provided. The proceeds amounted to $53.

This very pleasant and interesting evening was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

The Cold Snap

And the Lessons it Teaches.

After lying low and pretending to be very considerate and shy, the winter, blizzard and all, has swept down upon us like a wolf on the fold, and everybody, whether he is wise or not, is compelled to face the situation. You are not now anxious to seek the shady corner of the piazza garbed in the lightest summer clothing. Even your fall flannels and light overcoat are a mockery, a delusion and a snare. Take a look through your wardrobe, and will you find that you want something that will resist the keen teeth of the wintry wind, that will keep in grippe at arm's length and leave the doctor without a job. The cold weather and snow makes a stir in the world, and you will want to be moving about, therefore, prepare yourself with clothing that will enable you to laugh the weather to scorn. And in order to secure this, just make a note of the fact that the very best place this side of the North Pole, is at the great Clothing Store of H. LeBrun & Co. If you want a suit of warm, soft, rich Underclothing at reasonable figures, go to LeBrun & Co. If you want a warm Suit, latest style, neatest cut, and finest fit, and for the least money, go to H. How proud, how happy, how self-satisfied a man is when he knows that he is well dressed, and warmly, quite indifferent whas way the wind blows! LeBrun & Co. keep nothing but the best goods, and they have decided to make a tremendous cut in prices from now till Christmas. Don't delay; delays are dangerous. If you want your suit for Christmas, see that you order it now. If you do not you might freeze to death, and then we would lose a good customer, the county a good citizen. A COMPROMISE.

THE IRISH LEADERSHIP STILL IN ABEYANCE.

Pending an Interview with Gladstone—The Envoys Abandon their American Tour and Will Sail for Home on Saturday.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The meeting of the Nationalists to-day was adjourned until noon to-morrow. It is probable a compromise between the opponents and supporters of Parnell will be effected.

During the proceedings Mr. Parnell announced that the Sergeant-at Arms of the House of Commons had granted the Irish members the use of the committee room until 7 o'clock.

Mr. Healy disputed that official's right to determine the length of their deliberations and requested that he be notified to that effect.

Mr. Parnell declared the message that Mr. Healy suggested to be sent to the Sergeant-at-Arms was impertinent.

Objection was raised to telegrams from individuals being received during the proceedings. During the discussion a telegram personal to Mr. Parnell was read.

Mr. Sexton said he would persist to the end in his opposition to Parnell, despite the ruffianly attacks that had been made upon him.

A despatch from Clonmel was read declaring that the tenants on the Smith-Barry estate were with Dillon and O'Brien in their opposition to Parnell.

A telegram from the Belfast branch of the National League was received and read. It declared that the members were to have no leader but Parnell. When this despatch was read Mr. Sexton, who represents the eastern division of Belfast, said if the opinion of Belfast Nationalists was contrary to his own he would resign his seat.

A Compromise Suggested.

Mr. Clancy said he had a proposal to make which he hoped would prove a solution of the difficulty in which the party found itself. Some conversation ensued which resulted in the adjournment until to-morrow, when it is expected a compromise will be arranged which will lead to entirely new developments.

Mr. Clancy's motion involves the temporary retirement of Mr. Parnell, subject to certain conditions being exacted from Mr. Gladstone in connection with his promised Home Rule scheme. Mr. Clancy's proposal has raised a high hope among the Nationalists that an unanimous settlement will be effected. Liberal circles, however, do not share this hope, the attitude and front of the Opposition regarding Parnell being resolute and unyielding.

The Scheme a Secret.

Those attending the Irish party meeting to-day pledged themselves not to divulge Clancy's compromise proposal, but it is believed the proposal is to ask Gladstone to give satisfactory assurance of introducing in his promised Home Rule scheme certain measures in regard to police and land.

Sexton and Healy met the proposal in a friendly spirit.

Parnell has decided to state explicitly whether he will retire from the leadership, but has asked a day in which to consider Clancy's proposal, which was cleverly designed in Parnell's interest, with the double object of gaining time and putting the Sexton party further wrong in the event of the almost certain refusal of Gladstone to give the required pledges.

Parnell Still Hopeful

Mr. Parnell is in the best of spirits and expresses with the greatest confidence the view that the present movement will finally result favorably to him. The feeling among his supporters is that his position is materially strengthened to-day, especially by assurances of support received from America and Ireland.

The municipal authorities of Boyle and Drogheda, the plan of campaign tenants of Cahirea and Mellin, and the Boyle branch of the National League have passed resolutions against Parnell. The municipal council of Bonmal, the Newry Nationalists, the poor law guardians of Louth and the Lismore branch of the National League have voted in favor of his remaining in the leadership. The Nationalists of Sligo are divided in their opinion. The Waterford poor law guardians have requested Richard Power, M.P. for Waterford City, to explain why he opposes the retention of Parnell.

AMERICAN TOUR ABANDONED.

Dillon and O'Brien Will Sail for Paris on Saturday Next.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—The American tour of the Irish parliamentary delegates has been abandoned. Dillon, O'Brien, Harrington and O'Connor leave for New York at once, and the two former intend to sail Saturday for Paris. The others go to Liverpool.

PARNELL TO MARRY HER.

Rumors that the Date for His Nuptials Has Been Set.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The Parnell case has given rise to such an amount of unpleasant gossip about other prominent people that it is reported that several proposed marriages will be hastened thereby, notably that of Lord Hartington and the Duchess of Manchester, whose intimacy has long been a matter of notoriety.

Mr. Parnell, it is said, has already appointed the wedding day about six months hence for himself and Mrs. O'Shea. Those who have met the pair say that they are passionately devoted to each other, and that Mrs. O'Shea's one ambition for years has been to become Mrs. Parnell; that, while she deplores the political effect of the exposure, she is more than compensated by the prospect of union to the man of her choice.

Mrs. O'Shea is about four years older than Parnell. It is said that she had evidence amply sufficient to have defeated the suit for divorce by proving, not her own innocence, but her husband's guilt, but that she desired nothing to stand in the way of gaining Parnell for a husband.

The Clergy Oppose Parnell.

DUBLIN, Dec. 3.—A meeting of the Catholic hierarchy at the residence of Archbishop Walsh here to-day resolved to issue a manifesto declaring the archbishops and bishops of Ireland consider Parnell is unfit to remain leader of the Irish party. The objections to Parnell are based mainly on moral grounds, but it is also the opinion of the hierarchy that his continuance in the leadership would inevitably cause disunion in the party.

The poor law guardians of Stokestown, Carrick and Boyle have withdrawn their confidence in Parnell.

The town council of Maryborough has adopted a resolution supporting Parnell.

The opinion of the Nationalists in County Cork is one in favor of Parnell is growing stronger. William Reynolds, who represents the eastern division of that county, and Matthew Kenny, representing the middle division, have been summoned by their constituents to resign their seats if they do not support Parnell.

The manifesto issued by the Catholic hierarchy declares that their judgment is not given on political grounds but solely on the revelations of the divorce court, after which they are unable to regard Parnell in other light than convicted of one of the gravest offences known to religion and society, which is aggravated in his case by almost every circumstance possible to give it scandalous prominence in guilt and shame. "Surely Catholic Ireland," the manifesto continues, "so eminently conspicuous for the virtue and purity of its social life, will not accept as a leader a man wholly dishonored and unworthy of Christian confidence. Further, we cannot avoid the conviction that continuance of Mr. Parnell's leadership will disorganize and range in hostile camps those hitherto united with the force of our country confronted with the prospect of a continuance so disastrous we see nothing but inevitable defeat at a general election and as the result of Home Rule indefinitely postponed, coercion perpetrated, the hands of the evictor strengthened, without the shadow of a hope of being reinstated."

Salisbury on the Situation.

WATERFORD, Dec. 3.—Lord Salisbury in a speech this evening said that while he praised the moral outburst against Parnell he regretted that the breaches of the 6th and 8th commandments committed by the Irish people had hitherto been allowed to pass without blame. Healy and Sexton, after supporting their leader, had turned and rent him. The Liberal leaders, Lord Salisbury said took no decided view regarding Parnell until they saw the effect which the revelations had on the religious portion of the community. He challenged Gladstone to give the facts concerning the Hawarden interview. A crisis, he declared, was inevitable sooner or later from the very nature of the alliance between Liberals and Home Rulers. Such a vague, dark policy would be impossible in the future.

Parnell Holds One Purse.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Edward Harrington, brother of Timothy Harrington, now in America, is Secretary of the National League. He has joined Parnell and has ordered the machinery of the League to be set in motion and is working it in the interest of Parnell. The league funds are securely locked up in the Paris bank. Not a penny can be drawn except by check signed by Parnell and indorsed by his colleagues of the League Executive, including Justin McCarthy. The control of these funds gives Parnell immense power over the Irish members, most of whom are dependent upon them for their salaries. Parnell knows how and where to apply the pressure. The question of utilizing the moneys now being collected in America has been discussed by the opponents of Parnell. It is proposed that they be used as a Parliamentary fund so long as regular supplies are withheld by the deadlock which he has created.

Withdrawing Subscriptions to the Cause.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—It is probably true that thousands of dollars in subscriptions made a few days ago have been withdrawn as the result of the Dillon-O'Brien anti-Parnell manifesto. The work of the delegates has been paralysed and will remain so until the fate of Parnell is settled. It is useless for them to make another move for the collection of money while the fight is on, and they will not do so. Should the wrangle in the Irish party in London be protracted the mission of the delegates will be effectually killed and they will all return home leaving the mission where it stands to-day.

Cork Council Support Parnell.

CORK, Dec. 3.—The Nationalist members of the Municipal Council of Cork have adopted by a vote of 21 to 9 a resolution expressing confidence in Parnell and urging him not to recognize any adverse action that may be taken by his opponents in the Irish party. The resolution was passed after a very hot and noisy debate, the minority making a very strong effort to prevent its adoption. The Catholic Bishop of Elphin calls upon Parnell to resign.

O'Shea Is Unabashed.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Capt. O'Shea will probably become a candidate for Parliament at the next general election in the Unionist interest.

HIS LAST PIPE ON EARTH.

An Old Man Burned to Death Near Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—John Archibald, father of Christopher Archibald, landlord of the Stanley Arms Hotel, beyond the Hull city limits, wandered from the hotel to a small untenanted cottage in which he used to live. Last evening the cottage was burned and searchers among the ruins found the old man's body burnt to a cinder, lying on the remains of a mattress. He had evidently lain down on a mattress that had been left there and it is thought likely he had lit his pipe to have a smoke, and so set fire to the bed.

Dropped Dead.

SARNIA, Dec. 3.—James McKnight, section hand on the Grand Trunk, while at work yesterday complained of feeling ill and started for home. He had hardly stepped inside the house when he dropped dead. He leaves a wife and family.

His Head Shaved by a Saw.

ESSEX CENTRE, Dec. 3.—William Patterson, employed at the stave mill here, got his arm caught between a belt and the pulley which drives one of the saws, and was drawn down upon the saw. One of the men noticed him in time to pull his head to one side, or it would have been severed from his body. The saw glanced along the left side of his head, shaving off part of the skull. His left arm was badly smashed. Patterson is 55 years of age, married, and has a small family.

Eloped to Toronto.

WOODSTOCK, Dec. 3.—John L. Brawn, tax collector of East Zorra, has skipped out with Mrs. Munro, who it appears was accompanied by her husband, Paul Munro of Strathallan. Mrs. Munro is not good-looking—and her worthless husband was a character the county will be glad to get rid of. Yet Brown took them both and when the trio were seen in Toronto on Friday they appeared to be heartily enjoying their vacation.

MANY PERSONS FROZEN TO DEATH IN RUSSIA.

Edmund Yates' Chronicle of Notables' Movements—The Missing Anchor Line Steamship Ethiopia Safe—A Noted Britisher Dead.

PARIS, Dec. 3.—The Customs Committee have adopted the following duties imposed on each 100 kilos: 15½ francs on live sheep, 5 francs on pigs, 25 francs on game and turtles, 20 francs on poultry, 32 francs on mutton, 25 francs on beef, 12 francs on pork, 16 francs on uncured ham, 20 francs on pork, butchers' meats, 20 to 14 francs on hams and bacon, 30 to 27 francs on salt beef, 20 to 15 francs on potted meat, 75 to 60 francs on potted fois gras, and 100 to 80 francs on extracts of meat.

Undermined by the Floods.

BERLIN, Dec. 3.—A large house at Warzrg has just fallen in, after having been undermined by the floods, and 7 people were taken from the ruins dead, while the others are fatally injured. The architect, a man named Schmidt who would not have the house, and who encouraged the others to stay where they were on the plea that his building could withstand any flood, is among those who are dead.

Intense Cold in Asiatic Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 3.—Advices from Orenburg, Eastern Russia, say the mercury suddenly fell from 3 degrees of warmth to 30 degrees of cold. Four caravans of horses, sheep and camels and 30 Kirghiz, who were riding across the steppes, were frozen to death.

This Woman Will Hang.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The trial of Mrs. Nellie Pearcey, on the charge of murdering Mrs. Hogg and her infant, ended to-day. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and the prisoner was sentenced to be hanged. Mrs. Pearcey was Mr. Hogg's mistress, and she killed Mrs. Hogg and her child because Mrs. Hogg had made a remark that she did not like.

To Relieve Distress.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Mr. Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, has ordered a man-of-war to convey ten loads of meat to relieve the distress which prevails among the inhabitants of Clare Island and Inishturk, arising from the failure of the potato crop.

Jack the Ripper in Switzerland.

BERNE, Dec. 3.—This city has been startled by a crime similar in many respects to those committed by "Jack the Ripper" in the Whitechapel district of London. As some men were passing through a forest in the vicinity of this city to-day they discovered the body of a young peasant girl who had been murdered and mutilated in a most shocking manner. There is no clue to the murderer.

The Ethiopia Arrives.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The overdue steamer Ethiopia of the Anchor line from New York Nov. 16 for Glasgow passed Torr Island this morning. Her shaft is broken.

Assistance has been sent to the steamer Ethiopia and she will be towed to the Clyde.

Lord Cottesloe Dead.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Lord Thomas Francis Fremoute Cottesloe is dead. He was twice secretary to the treasury and had also been Secretary of War and Chief Secretary for Ireland. He was 92 years old.

The Land Purchase Bill.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—In the House of Commons to-day the Irish Land Purchase Bill passed the second reading, 356 to 130. Parnell and his followers voted with the Government.

Selliverskoff's Murderer.

PARIS, Dec. 3.—A man who is supposed to be the Russian Pole, Padlawski, the suspected murderer of General Selliverskoff, has been arrested at Marseilles. He gives the name of Mathieu Bek. The police are holding him pending inquiries.

An Eminent Geographer Dead.

BERLIN, Dec. 3.—Heinrich Berghaus, the eminent geographer, is dead. He was born in 1797.

A Dinner Party at Windsor Castle—Count Herbert Bismarck.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The banquet which the Queen gave at Windsor in the celebration of the Royal wedding was the largest dinner party which has taken place in the Castle since the jubilee festivities. The banquet was not served in the oak room, where the Queen usually dines, but in the grand dining-room at the northeast corner of the Castle, which is at the end of a suite of drawing-rooms in white, red and green. The dining-room was superbly redecorated in cream and gold just before the Jubilee and it contains an exquisitely-carved sideboard of rosewood and the famous gold punch-bowl and ladle which King George purchased from Rundell & Budge for 10,000 Scots. The large windows of the room command a magnificent view, both north and east being embraced in it.

The Dean of Windsor is to conduct a memorial service in the Prince Consort's Mausoleum, at Frogmore, Sunday, Dec. 14. The service is to be attended by the Queen, the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh, and the Duke and Duchess of Connaught—all of whom will be Her Majesty's guests at Windsor Castle—and by other members of the Royal Family.

The absence of the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh from the Royal wedding at Berlin is generally attributed in court and diplomatic circles abroad to their dread of Emperor William's vaporing and turbulent speeches. Considering the near relationship which exists between the Emperor of Russia and the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh, it would have been in the highest degree distasteful and embarrassing to those personages to hear their flighty nephew publicly ranting, probably, at the military banquet, about the delight with which he would hail a combined assault by Germany and England upon the common foe.

A well-posted London correspondent tells us that the Prince of Wales is bent on reforming the lateness of Society's dinner hour, which for the future is to be fixed at 8. At present it is practically 9, which is simply preposterous, preventing playing, early rest and other pleasant and healthful enjoyment; but it RICH is to dine at 8, how about the royal eggs and bacon with the so-called 5 o'clock tea, of which rumor speaketh?

Mrs. Peel still lingers on, though her condition is a hopeless one, and Mr. Speaker is very much out of health—the result of anxiety as well as physical weakness. The Queen and the Prince of Wales send almost daily to make enquiries about Mrs. Peel. The Speaker discussed his resignation with the Prime Minister just before Parliament met, but Lord Salisbury would not accept it and begged him to recall it and take up work when Parliament met after Christmas, which he consented to do.

Lord Rosebery left London on Wednesday for Mentmore, where he will pass the winter. His children are with him; otherwise he is alone, and Lady Leconfield left him on Wednesday. It is probable that he will remain at Mentmore as long as the children will, but the little girls have been very delicate, and he may have to take them to a warmer climate. The whole of Lady Rosebery's fortune was in settlement on him for life, with remainder to the children.

A Kingston Penitentiary Convict Shot Dead Near Denver.

KINGSTON, Dec. 3.—Detective Pinkerton of Chicago telegraphs that one of the men shot recently near Denver while robbing a safe has been positively identified as James McGuire, alias Cap Roach of Windsor, who escaped from Kingston Penitentiary with Leslie Cork, the Toronto postoffice thief and highwayman, about two months ago. McGuire was serving a 5-year sentence for indecent assault, and was wanted at various places in the United States.

A BIG FACTORY BURNED,

AND SEVERAL FIREMEN KILLED AT DETROIT.

The Hiawatha Manufactory Destroyed—Loss Two Hundred Thousand Dollars—Fifteen Hundred Hands Thrown Out of Employment.

DETROIT, Dec. 3.—At 3 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the immense "Hiawatha" tobacco factory of Daniel Scotton & Co., at Fort and Campeau-streets. The flames spread with frightful rapidity, and in ¾ of an hour the whole of the building facing Campeau-street was on fire. The firemen pressed close to the Fort-street wall, when it suddenly collapsed, burying several of the firemen in the ruins. These were taken out:

ROBINSON, G., pipeman of Engine No. 6, killed instantly.

COTCHLIN, PATRICK, lieutenant of No. 3 company; horribly mangled, died at hospital at 4½.

At 3½ the flames spread to the northeast section and this was speedily enveloped and was also destroyed. About 4½ a partition wall on the third floor fell, burying several members of No. 10 company. The injured:

CULLEN, PETER, seriously injured; may die. Now in hospital.

COURTNEY, WILLIAM, badly bruised.

DELAY, JAMES, lieutenant of No. 10 company, injured by falling ladder.

The immense stock which the building contained was all consumed. There was little left but blackened walls of the once mammoth institution. The loss will exceed $200,000, insurance $100,000.

[The "Hiawatha" tobacco factory was established in 1886, and the building destroyed was erected by Daniel and Orien Scotton in 1875. The factory ranked among the largest in the United States, employing 1500 hands and using 2,000,000 lbs. of tobacco yearly.]

DIED WITH HIS BOOTS OFF.

Strange Death of a Wealthy Englishman in Simcoe County.

ALLANDALE, Dec. 3.—About noon yesterday a man named Naylor, who was boarding at Mrs. Sutherland's, was found dead in bed. The deceased was a partial stranger in these parts. He was working on the G.T.R. some time ago, but was discharged. He had been drinking hard of late. The deceased not getting up at noon, one of the household went to his room with a cup of beef tea, when he was discovered dead and in a position that indicated that he was putting on his boots before he died. He told some one that he had wealthy relatives in England and also that only a week ago $5000 was deposited in a bank in England for him, where he expected to go before Christmas.

WRECKED ON THE BAY OF FUNDY.

A Two-Masted Schooner Goes Down with all Hands.

HALIFAX, Dec. 3.—A fearful disaster occurred in the Bay of Fundy, off Harborville, Cornwallis, Monday, a two-top mast schooner being capsized and sinking with all hands. The vessel went down off shore and was witnessed by a large crowd. She sank 10 minutes after turning over. A large quantity of wreckage has washed ashore, but no bodies as yet. Scores of small vessels have been driven ashore at various points.

A French Brig Wrecked

ST. PIERRE, Miquelon, Dec. 3.—We have been having three days of terror—storm, tempest and hurricane. Saturday came in with a violent northeaster, accompanied by snow and frost. Four vessels parted their chains and came ashore, including the French brig Deux Sœurs, laden with 6000 quintals of codfish for Bordeaux. They are a total loss, but all the crews were saved.

Immense Damage in New Brunswick.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 3.—Many ports have been frozen in by the sudden cold snap, a month earlier than usual, and a great many vessels, produce-laden, will be icebound until a mild spell sets in. Three lobster factories were swept away near Cape Tormentine, loss $20,000. The dykes were broken and 600 tons of hay destroyed.

STANLEY IN HIS DEFENCE.

The Full Story of the Rear Guard Told by the Explorer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The Aldine Club gave a reception to Henry M. Stanley and wife this afternoon. The crush was unprecedented and the guests received the greetings extended by the wealth and fashion of Gotham.

This evening Mr. Stanley lectured at Chickering Hall. The lecture was entitled "The full story of the rear guard."

Referring to the rear guard Stanley said: "I have been accused of slandering the dead. It is worse to vilify the living." He described Barttelot's conduct and declared the rear column had been destroyed by the irresolution of its officers. There was nothing to excuse the rear column continuing at Yambuy, where they saw their men stricken down by plague. He heard that Barttelot was waiting to hear of war breaking out between Russia and England, when he would return. The other officers of the rear guard, Stanley asserted, should have entered protests against Barttelot's conduct, and if they could not have ousted him from the leadership by these means they could have bound him and sent him down the river as a madman. Stanley remarked, "Was Barttelot insane? I am afraid insanity must have overtaken the surviving officers or I must be insane myself. Their docile acquiescence to Barttelot was certainly astonishing." Stanley said he did not force the unpleasant incidents of the rear column upon the public, but friends of the dead men, in trying to vindicate them, hurled all sorts of false accusations against him, and he was compelled to defend himself. Certain people had called the expedition a land-grabbing scheme. He could afford to say of such men the words whispered in prayer on Calvary: "Father, forgive them; they know not what they do."

Lost His Reason.

OWEN SOUND, Dec. 3.—While the second section of Conductor R. Osborne's way freight was being brought up the grade at Caledon Mountain the engineer, Joseph O'Brien of West Toronto Junction, stopped the engine, got down and went into a farm house near the road. He was followed and found to have taken command of the premises, apparently believing himself to be the owner. The fireman took charge of the engine as far as Orangeville, where another engineer was got. The poor fellow was driver of the engine which struck and killed a woman near Peterboro, and the accident is believed to have preyed on his mind till it unbalanced his reason.

An Explorer's Death.

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 3.—John Wenman, one of the crew of the ship Enterprise, which went in search of the unfortunate expedition under Sir John Franklin, died yesterday.

A Curious Old Man Discovered Living Alone in a Small Hut.

TAPLEYTOWN, Dec. 3.—Two miles from this village is a rude hut, constructed of logs and branches on the outskirts of a dense wood. The hut is scarcely large enough to admit a human being, and the cold wind whistles through the chinks in the walls. With no bed upon which to rest his shrivelled form and with no stove to warm his often-benumbed limbs a wretched human being lives in this hut. His hair is three feet long and has not been combed for 14 years, and resembles a fleece of cotton wool. He is nearly 60 years of age. Some boys, out of curiosity, visited him and found him crouching over an old tin pan, in which he had prepared his meal, consisting of a coarse cake, composed of chopped peas and barley and a few roasted potatoes, obtained from benevolent persons. He has led this same life for 14 years.

It is a Mistake

To try to cure catarrh by using local applications. Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It is not a disease of the man's nose, but of the man. Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood reaches every part of the system expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

DRY GOODS NEWS AT

TURNBULL'S

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st October in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date, to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now; but they have come at last and open out beautifully. We have two ranges, plain and fancy backs, at $1.00 and $1.25, in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta; some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us, and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better, and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit.

Although early in the season our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing, which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on our counters. They are desirable goods, and worth remembering.

Opened out this week a job line of Dress Goods, 12½c. yd.; also a fresh lot of Flannelettes at 8c.

We claim to have the best line 5c. Grey Cotton in the country. All other Cottons proportionate value.

The East Durham Election Voided.

The "Typographical Error" Vacates the Seat—Mr. Campbell Retires.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 27.—The trial of the election petition of Mr. J. B. Collins against the return of Mr. George Campbell as member of the Local Legislature for East Durham was commenced this morning before Hon. Justices Macleilan and Falconbridge. Mr. Dalton McCarthy, Q. C., appeared for the petitioner, and Mr. A. B. Aylesworth, Q. C., and Mr. Preston for the respondent.

Mr. McCarthy, in opening the case, stated to the court that the first matter to be presented for consideration would be the scrutiny. The result of the polls as finally declared was to give the respondent a majority of 10. By an accident in the printing office 66 names were omitted from the voters' lists sent to the clerk of the peace for polling subdivisions 4 and 5 of the Township of Hope. The lists had been finally revised and settled by the county judge and printed. After they were printed the county judge, presuming they were correct, certified to the three copies, one of which he retained, one being sent to the clerk of the municipality and the remaining list going to the clerk of the peace. Two pages were by a mistake in binding left out of the copy sent to the clerk of the peace. Sixteen of the voters thus disfranchised attended at the poll, but as their names were not on the list furnished to the returning officer their votes were refused and they were given tendered ballots, which they marked and handed in. The petitioner now claims that these ballots should be counted, which he contended would give him a majority.

His Honor Judge Benson was the first witness called. He explained how the error came to be made in the lists. Edward Dodds, clerk of the municipality, then took the stand. He stated that he heard of the mistake in the voters' list about a week before the election. He was one of those whose names were omitted. The mistake was not generally known, but some of the ratepayers knew of it. On cross-examination by Mr. Aylesworth, witness stated that four of the omitted voters were non-resident in the constituency and ten entitled to vote elsewhere.

The sixteen tendered ballots were opened, and fourteen were found to be marked Collins, and two for Campbell. Mr. McCarthy then asked that these fourteen ballots be counted for the petitioner and that he should be given the seat. Mr. Aylesworth addressed the court at considerable length, contending that their Lordships had no power to add these disfranchised voters to the list any more than the county judge would have the same power on a re count. The statute said that the list furnished to the clerk of the peace was to govern the returning officer, and even if a new election were ordered there was no provision which would enable them to resort to any other list.

After counsel had argued the point, their Lordships stated that they were not prepared to decide the point at present, and adjourned the court till eight o'clock this evening, when they hoped to be able to give a decision. If the point of the case is decided against the petitioner the other branch of the case will be proceeded with on the charges of bribery and corruption, and it is said the case will last several days.

On resuming at 8 o'clock this evening his Lordship Hon. Justice Macdellan delivered judgment on the question of the tendered ballots. He was of opinion, he said, that the Legislature never intended that the voters' list should be final except as to the names appearing on the list, and that if a person who was entitled to vote tendered his ballot he had a right to have it counted, even though his name did not appear on the list. Therefore the tendered ballots in this case must be counted. With reference to the persons whose names were omitted from the list who did not offer to vote at all, His Lordship thought that the election should not be voided on that ground, because those persons had a perfect right to vote, and if they had marked tendered ballots these would eventually be counted. His Lordship, Hon. Justice Falconbridge, stated that he agreed in the main with the judgment delivered. He had felt some doubt as to the disfranchising of the voters who had not marked tendered ballots, but as the parties had come at great expense prepared to go into a scrutiny, he thought it better to concur on that point. This gave the petitioner majority of two. The scrutiny was then proceeded with, and after two votes cast for Collins had been struck off the list the parties suggested to their Lordships that as the result of a scrutiny was doubtful, and as a large number of voters had been left off the list, that they would consent to have the election voided, each party paying their own costs. No evidence was offered on either side as to the charges of bribery and corruption. Their Lordships gave judgment accordingly.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The Board of Directors held their monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. Early. The attendance was large and much enthusiasm was manifested over the encouraging, interesting and helpful reports from the Devotional, Reception, Invitation, Membership and Finance Committees, which were read by the chairmen of these committees; also from the "Rescue Brigade" and General Secretary, who gave a resume of the work for the past month, which has shown progress along the line. Our finances are very encouraging, and we are very grateful to our many friends for their kind and generous response, and are believing that many more will yet show their appreciation of our work by contributing as the Lord has prospered them. We praise God for what has been accomplished and are believing for the future.

We are grateful and rejoice at the hearty response to our appeal for the Y.M.C.A. Day, Nov. 9th. We sincerely thank the pastors for their appropriate sermons, and people for their generous offerings.

On behalf of our Association the Directors tender their sincere thanks to the following churches for the following amounts received, viz:—St. Paul's Presbyterian church, $25; Murray street Baptist church, $14 47; George street Methodist church, $32 84; Charlotte street church, $3; Mark street church, $1.35.

The shorthand class, under Mr. Jolly, is growing in members weekly.

The Junior Branch is very encouraging.

At the close of the meeting Mr. and Mrs Early entertained the Board in a right royal manner, which brought a very pleasant and profitable evening to a close.

The next "Members Reception" will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 12th. St. Andrew's church Y.P.S.C.E. will be the entertainer.

The evangelistic meetings at Auburn are very encouraging and good results are sure to follow. Christians, pray for us.

THE MISSION SERVICES.

"Ye Shall be my Witnesses."

A Large Congregation at the Closing Service of the Twelve Days' Mission—The Reverend Missioners Earnest Ministry—A Solemn Trust Faithfully Discharged.

There was a large congregation at St. John's on Wednesday night, to join in the last service and listen to the last address of the twelve days' mission, which has been so earnestly, devotedly and faithfully preached by Rev. Professor DuVernet. At the close of the abbreviated Evensong, Rev. Rector Davidson said that he wished to express the gratitude of the clergy to Almighty God, and to the congregation, through whose co-operation the mission just closed had brought so much of benefit and blessing. All must feel especially grateful under God that so many had been led to feel a greater abhorrence of sin, and a greater desire to serve and follow the Lord Jesus Christ.

The missioner selected for his text part of the eighth verse of the first chapter of the Acts of the Apostles (revised version):—

"YE SHALL BE MY WITNESSES."

The preacher said that Christ, before Pilot, had borne witness to the truth, as His whole life had been a witness to the truth—to God's hatred of sin and His love for the sinner. Christ knew that the truth to which He bore witness was not without Himself, and He could truly say, "I am the way, the truth and the light." Christ as the truth saw that He was bearing witness to the prophets, as He foresaw that He would need men after Him on earth to bear witness of Him. And he had spent the last three years of his life in instructing patiently—O how patiently!—a little band of followers, which had seen His life, His miracles, His death on the cross, His burial, His resurrection, and, though they had seen all this before His ascension, He promised them His Holy Spirit, the spirit of truth, that would testify of Him to the end of their lives, and enable them to testify to others of Him. It was to be learned from the text that the duty of personal testimony to Christ sprang out of a personal realization of His saving power. Our lives were moulded and influenced in every-day matters by the

of others, and it was thus in spiritual matters. The speaker went on to show by quotation and incident how great a factor our Christian experience, life and judicious words of admonition were in influencing the indifferent and the careless to seek Christ. The far-reaching and great effects of the woman of Samaria, the man of Gadera, were illustrated. The Saviour had told the latter to "go home," and the time had come when those who had been benefitted by this mission should go home and by their influence in the home circle bear testimony to the genuineness of the good they had received. The vast amount of good that might be accomplished by living Christ in the company of our fellows was eloquently insisted on. St. Andrew did probably the greatest work of his life when he went after his brother Peter and bare witness to his having found the Messiah the Saviour, and brought him to Christ. Personal testimony was above even miracles. St. Paul was not satisfied without the personal testimony of Ananias; the Centurion must have the testimony of Peter. All the Scriptures all through abounded in passages showing the importance of giving testimony to the Truth. But, few were called to make a life work of this

BEARING TESTIMONY TO THE TRUTH.

The Holy Scriptures taught us that every Christian in his or her own way and sphere should bear witness to the truth. To the end that we might make Christ known, had we been born of the Spirit that we might bear witness to the truth as expressed by St. Peter—"to show forth the excellence of Him who has called you out of darkness into His marvellous light." Every Christian congregation should be a centre of light radiating it in every direction—nay, every Christian member of every congregation should be a centre of light and influence for good. There were many waiting for some Christian to recommend Christ, and the speaker cited an instance of a young man simply being invited to church, with the result of his conversion to God, and he was now a shining light among Christian workers in a Western Ontario town. Christ has said—"Ye shall be my witnesses—I look to you who know and love the truth—ye shall be my witness." The speaker enquired what witness-bearing to the Christ meant? It meant that we

with our fellow men, renounce cheating in business, never seem to be what we are not. God did not recognize any distinction between our religious and secular life—our religion must be the rule of the every act of our life. If our hearts were full of the love of Christ, by the character of our lives we should be a witness. Our religion must be our life. God would accept nothing short of that. A Christian who did not, by his timely speaking for Christ, try to help and encourage others, was not a consistent Christian. Confession of Christ was made one of the conditions of salvation—"With the heart man believeth * * * and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation." The hearers were urged to stand up manfully for Christ, but they were at the same time to remember that bearing witness to Christ by a holy life and prudent word was very different from vain boasting of our righteousness and good works. The speaker enjoined his hearers to wait upon Christ and derive strength and spiritual grace, and from the abundance of the heart the mouth would speak. We should here fulfil our mission on earth

IF WE BEAR FAITHFUL WITNESS.

The missioner said he closed his labors, but the work would still go on, it was simply diverted into the regular channels of the means of grace the church provided, and he urged his hearers to attend the services regularly. He had striven to sow the seed; some may have fallen on rocky ground, some on the hard beaten pathway; thank God, some had fallen on good ground and would bring forth abundant fruit. Some had been convicted of sin and converted, and the spiritual life of many had been revived. Time would test the efficiency of the work done. In two months the Rector would write to him (the Missioner) and tell him the result of the past twelve days' mission, and then we would see what had been man's work and what had been God's work. Man's work would pass away, but God's work would endure forever. He urged His hearers to be on the Lord's side, and the Lord would be on their side. They were urged to live close to Christ, and thus strengthen the hands of the clergy, and fit themselves for the winter's work which lay before them. The preacher fervently prayed God's blessing upon them, and continued by for the assistance he had received, after God, from various sources. He wished to acknowledge the benefit of the labours of the clergy of St. John's in preparing the soil for the seed, and of others who had rendered him valued assistance—the young men—and he especially recognized the assistance of the newspapers, which spoke so kindly of his work and gave such good reports. There had been many in Canada, and even in England, praying for the success of the mission now brought to a close. There had been many influences at work, but, said the preacher, let us, to-night, gather up all the praise, glory and honour and lay it at the feet of Jesus Christ, and, through Him, present it to our Father in heaven. The preacher closed a most impressive and effective address with the benediction, which was followed by the doxology, sung with most hearty fervour. The closing hymn was "Stand up; stand up for Jesus."

Peterborough Weather Notes.

"When chill November's surly blast, made fields and forests bare," says Robby Burns in one of his finest poems, "man was made to mourn." No doubt we in Canada feel it fully fulfilled, as he did in his own enchanting Ayrshire, for whatever leaves were left from the crisp winds of October were soon laid in their wintry bed when the driving sleet and snow of the two first days of November came whizzing about their ears; and although the storm had abated on the 3rd, still the thermometer never rose above the freezing point during the whole day. Then again on the 22nd, we had a snow storm, and altogether in snow, hail and sleet, 11 days, to the depth of 3 inches. Then again, rain fell on 13 days to the depth of 3 inches and 41-100 of an inch, the heaviest storm being on the 17th, about 1 inch of water falling. So during the month we had downfalls on 24 days, leaving only 6 fair days. Still it has been fine weather for out-door workmen as engaged losing only about one day during that time. The frost has been something of a steady nature, as only 7 mornings during the whole month was it above the freezing point at sunrise, our severest being on the morning of the 25th, when it went down to only 8° above freezing, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 21° 15-30. The following were the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month, namely, south west, 7 days; south east, 5 days; north west, 14 days; north, 2 days; west, 1 day; and south 1 day. THOMAS TELLFORD.

Melinda Dyed, But Lived.

Dick Fordham drew up his dashing horse at his Lent girl's gate, and jumped down from his buggy and, opening the gate, walked towards the front door where he met Melinda's young brother, Tommy, who was eating a banana.

"Well, Tommy, how are you and all the others to-day?"

"Oh, we are very well, but sister Melinda dyed this afternoon in the back kitchen."

"What! died, Tommy?"

"Yes, Mr. Fordham, and mother is with her now, watching her."

Dick Fordham, pale and trembling, dashed unceremoniously towards the back kitchen at the rear of the house, and entered breathless.

"Oh Dick!" Melinda exclaimed, "are you ill? What has happened to you? Mother he is fainting!"

Dick took the seat nearest him, and after recovering his breath, endeavored to explain matters; after which Milinda's mother went off to look for her son Tommy, who, fortunately for himself, had retired to a hiding place in the barn.

Dick never before felt so happy, and at the same time so proud of Melida as he did while viewing the finishing of dyeing operation with Diamond Dyes. He said he often had heard of Diamond Dyes, but had never known much about their usefulness. Melinda gently hinted that if he ever commenced to keep house he should always remember that Diamond Dyes were necessary for the comfort of a wife.

Dick and Melinda are now married, and young Tommy, who regularly visits them, is often thanked by his brother-in-law for having frightened him by saying "Melinda Dyed."

Diamond Dyes are still the favourites in Mrs. Fordham's house, and she has proved to be a very jewel as a good and economical wife.

Purity of the blood is of the first importance of health, for impurities in the blood in some form or other is the condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

Spanish Jackets and How to Make Them at Home—Becoming and Cheap—Variations That May be Made—Faith Fenton's Philosophy.

No woman or girl of good taste will be content nowadays without one or more of the pretty light or bright-colored jackets of silk or wool to wear with different skirts, for, besides being universally becoming, they are one of the greatest conveniences imaginable. They are very economical as well, for by their use one may save wearing out a nice basque faster than the skirt which it matches, and also look nicely dressed when wearing a skirt that has outworn its own waist. They may be made so jaunty and becoming by the choice of pretty, bright tints and decorations, embroidery, braiding, laces, or ribbons that would hardly be used on ordinary dresses that they ought not to be omitted from the wardrobe. The pattern here given is appropriate for almost any soft, clinging fabric of silk or wool, and equally so for heavier goods if the gathers at the waist-line and cuffs are changed to flat plaits. The Toreador or Spanish fronts are particularly stylish and add a great deal to the dressy effect of the jacket, but, if preferred, they may be omitted; without them the pattern would be serviceable for an every-day blouse of wool or cotton goods, to wear with a plain, full skirt of the same. The fronts are often made of velvet or some material richer than the body of the jacket; then the collar, cuffs, and belt must match them. The jacket is sometimes worn with the frill tucked under the dress skirt, but unless to the possessor of a very slender form, it is not as becoming.

FIG. 2. DIAGRAM OF PATTERN.

The jacket here sketched (Fig 1) is all of one material—soft wool goods of pretty army blue, with coarse silk feather-stitching, and satin ribbons of a darker shade of blue for trimming. This combination harmonizes with almost any skirt that may be worn with it; a deep shade of old-rose would be handsome for those who cannot wear blue, or the reds that are now so fashionable would make up prettily. The pattern (Fig 2) is for a lady with bust measure of thirty-four inches, and is in six pieces. Each piece is of full shape except the back and collar; only half of those are given. To cut them, lay the straight edge at the back on a fold of the goods. The figures outside the lines denote the length of the accompanying edges of the pattern. To prevent mixing the figures, the width of the pieces is not marked in the diagram, but are as follows: Twelve inches straight across the front, even with the lower notch under the arm; eight and three-quarters across the back at the same place; fourteen and a half across the narrowest part of the sleeve, and seven from the curve [illegible] ally across the narrowest part of the jacket front. The notches show where corresponding parts should be joined; the five dots at the top and the bottom of the sleeve show where it is to be gathered; and the larger dots across No. 1 and No. 3 indicate the waist-line, underneath which a shirr is placed, to be drawn up and covered by a ribbon or belt. Allow two inches on each front edge for lap and hem, and turn in an inch and three-quarters of it. Allow inch-wide shoulder and under-arm seams, and quarter-inch seams everywhere else. Allow for a hem at the bottom, or not, according to the height of the person or the length of the frill desired.

As has been previously mentioned, by the substitution of plaits for gathers at the waist and wrists, the same pattern may be used for cloth jackets; or the sleeves and Spanish fronts may be combined with a plain, pointed basque pattern to shape a close-fitting jacket if preferred. Such garments are now stylishly finished by pinking the edges and working a running border of embroidery in silk or tinsel thread or cord just above the pinking. If worked with a shade of silk that is a pleasant [illegible] to the cloth, or with deep gold-colored [illegible] the border design is very pretty and effective; it would also be pretty for children's cloth or flannel dresses, or, in white silk or floss, for infant's flannels.

How to Sweep a Floor.

Watch how entirely devoid of common sense some people seem to be when sweeping. They dig the broom into the carpet, take a long, vigorous stroke, flirting the dust up into the air until the entire room is filled to suffocation, and the dust cannot but settle back onto the carpet again, instead of taking short strokes, holding the broom so that it will take the gathered dust along on the floor in front of it. A room properly swept or dusted will keep clean a long time. In dusting also there should be some method. Begin at one side of the room and take everything as you come to it, from the highest to the lowest, giving your duster frequent shakings out of a window; or you may first dust all the bric-a-brac, then the pictures, then the tables, etc., in all cases wash, rinse and hang your duster to dry as soon as you are through, so that it will be clean for next time. Cheese cloth is one of the very nicest materials for a duster; it is very soft, clinging and durable, and so cheap that there is no reason why each room should not have its own duster. Scrubbing-brushes should be kept with the bristles down and they will last twice as long; common sense will tell you if you stand them the other way the water will run down and soak into the back, loosening the bristles, whether they be glued or wired. Tooth brushes should be kept, with handles in a china mug, on the washstand, not shut up in a box.

THE PLEASURES OF MYSTERY.

The New York Sun's Woman About Town Explains.

"When I was a youngster," said a man to The Woman a few days ago, "my mother never used to let us know what kind of pudding we were going to get for dinner."

And there were a lot of youngsters in that family, too; youngsters in round-abouts and youngsters in petticoats, and life never lost its charm for them, because each day unfolded a mystery that touched life in its dearest aspect, the pudding for dinner. There was maternal wisdom for you! All day long there was something to speculate about, and to be vaguely glad over, as children can be, without quite remembering what it is that makes them glad. And it wasn't the pudding alone—though, to be sure, any healthy-stomached youngster can evolve an amount of optimism over a pudding in prospect that would put to the blush many grown persons with a fortune presentibus. It was the not knowing. Mystery was the finest and most potent flavor that went into the sauce, and the best of the pudding was in the anticipation. Why, they ate pudding all day long, these wisely mothered children, and when the pudding moment actually came they were in a state of uncertain and rapturous expectation that would glorify the most common-place batter that was ever beaten up out of eggs and sugar and flour, into such a pudding as the lips of children never touched before. And so there was something to live for and be glad over all day long, until the moment of realisation came, and after that it was bed time and then morning—and another pudding!

The woman wonders whether it wouldn't be worth while for other mothers to put some of this pudding-philosophy into the lives of their children—to plan some delightful mystery for each day, even if it consists in so simple a thing as the day's dessert. Because if we look back, you know, we remember how we relished these wonderful bits of mystery when we wore pinafores or jackets, and how half the flavor of the Christmas fun or the birthday treat was gone if some luckless wight chanced to find out about it. And really, we haven't quite lost our taste yet for surprises and mysteries, now that we are grown up, have we? only that we don't have time to stop and think about it. Life pushes us on so fast toward its certainties that we can't stay even to speculate on the delights of its uncertainties. But just think, for a moment what a zest would come back to life—"what fun it would be," as the children say—if we could wake up every morning you and I, and find it in our hearts to be glad that we do not know what kind of pudding there is to be for dinner!

His Rise in the World.

"Henry," she observed sadly, "you certainly have changed! What has come over you lately to make you so haughty?

"Miss Twilling," stiffly replied the young man, "while the pleasant relations which have heretofore existed between us will, I trust, remain unchanged, at the same time I find it necessary to maintain the proper amount of dignity in accordance with the more exalted position which I now hold in society. You are evidently not aware of the fact, but I have recently invested some of my capital in, and I am now wearing, a suit of genuine silk underwear."—Clothier and Furnisher.

ON SOAP,

IN RELATION TO THE COMPLEXION.

FROM AN ARTICLE BY

Dr. ANDREW WILSON, F.R.S.E.,

Lecturer on Physiology and Health under the "Combe Trust;" Editor of "Health."

"One important caution should be given, and that is concerning the use of soaps. I would strongly advise all who care for their skin to eschew the use of common soap, which simply roughens and injures the skin, and, if you will be advised by me, I would say never buy those artificially coloured and odoriferous abominations commonly sold under the name of 'Scented' or 'Fancy Soaps' which are the frequent causes of skin eruptions. If I am prepared to recommend any one soap to you, as a satisfactory and scientifically prepared article, I would certainly advise you to buy and use 'Pears' Soap.' Not merely from personal use can I recommend this soap, but I am well content to shelter myself under the names and authority of the late Sir Erasmus Wilson, F.R.S., President of the Royal College of Surgeons; of Doctor Stevenson Macadam, or of Professors Redwood and Attfield, the eminent analytical and chemical lecturers at the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain, who testify to its entire purity. Furthermore, I believe it to be very economical, for it contains no free water, and in this respect differs from all other soaps; hence a cake of 'Pears' is really all soap and not soap and water. I know cases of irritable skin which the whole tribe of much-vaunted 'Fancy Soaps' failed to allay, but which disappeared under the use of Pears' Soap, and for the nursery and for the delicate skin of infancy no better or more soothing soap can possibly be used. There can be no doubt that in respect of the care of children, attention to the skin is specially required. If common soaps are irritating to the skin of the adult, (as they unquestionably are), they are doubly and trebly injurious to the delicate skin of the infant and young child. I can vouch that the soap I am recommending is not merely a safe but an advantageous one. It does not irritate the skin; but, while serving as a detergent and cleanser, also acts as an emollient."

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

Rev. P. C. Parker, who has for over three years very acceptably and efficiently filled the position of pastor of the Baptist church here, has received a perfectly unanimous call on a congregational vote by ballot, to the pastorate of the First Avenue Baptist church, Toronto. The church attached to this pastorate is a fine building with a seating capacity of about 1,000. The invitation will create no surprise in the minds of those who know Rev. Mr. Parker's zealous and efficient discharge of his pastoral duties. This last call makes the third which Rev. Mr. Parker has received since he came to Peterborough.

Hendren, stock of groceries, $1,000 no insurance; Mrs. Adams store and dwelling, $2 000, insured for $800; R. G. Cotton, contents $500, no insurance; Miss Eonis, milliner, stock and household effects $900, no insurance; W. J. Webster, bakery and confectionery and household effects, $1,000; Henry Stabler, two stores, $2,500, insured for $800. All the buildings between Queen street and Strickland street, from R. Graham & Sons' to the Temperance hotel, were destroyed.

Dramatic.

The Ida Van Cortland Dramatic Company open a week's engagement at the opera house next Monday. The Hamilton Times of Dec. 1st says of the company:—This evening Ida Van Cortland, supported by Mr. Albert Tavernier and a splendid company, will open a season at the Grand in "A Shadowed Life." They need no introduction. Miss Van Cortland is a general favorite, and she always draws here. To-morrow night "Lucretia Borgia" will be the bill. The Brantford Expositor says:—"Ida Van Cortland scored another success last evening in the character of Lucretia Borgia. The play was put on the stage in a manner that reached magnificence in some scenes. In the last act a great deal of strength was manifested in the controversy between Miss Van Cortland and Mr. Butler. The stage setting was beautiful, the costumes elegant, being above the average of high-priced tragedies seen in this city." 1d

Gladstone vs. Parnell.

The commotion now disturbing the political horizon of England, Ireland and Scotland and Irish America, are of less vital importance to the rising generation of the young men of Peterborough than the fact that they have now within their reach (through the enterprise of the Toronto Mail) a high order of education, a university of knowledge, a grand reservoir of science, art and literature written by the foremost men of the age and the best scholarly minds of the world, in the revised and amended edition of the Ency. Britannica, containing 7,000 pages, 14,000 columns, and over 500,000 words, with the Daily Mail for one year, a 7c. per day. You are now paying nearly half this amount daily to your bookseller for the Daily Mail alone, 3c. Will you then be without the Ency. Britannica when you can get it and the Daily Mail sent to your address for 4c. more per day? Young man, if you are desirous of distinguishing yourself in any of the callings of life, whether in the pulpit, in the Senate, in business or at the bar (mind, I don't mean the whisky bar, for too many have unfortunately distinguished themselves at that, as well as extinguished every grand hope and bright prospect of life,) but at the bar that leads to the honorable position of the judicial ermine, secure for yourselves at once this most inestimable work. Fathers, a better 'Xmas gift you cannot give your sons. It is one that will not pass away and be forgotten, but when you have passed away it will stand before them as a souvenier of the deep interest you took in their education and welfare. It is your bounden duty to educate them; then do so while you have this grand chance. Don't send your boys out on the troubled ocean of life with minds corroded, perhaps, by vice and ignorance, without any compass to steer by, then the temptations of the world and their own vitiated propensities. Don't send them out without a Christian and sound literary education, directed to some business of life, if you do, like many others they may sink into the vortex of dissipation and crime, and bring your grey hairs in sorrow to the grave. Many have taken advantage of the chance and have ordered the paper and books; many more, from press of business, etc., have neglected to do so, and as my time here is limited I have arranged to call on the merchants, clergymen, professional men, and business men of Peterborough during this and next week, and hope to roll up a good long list of subscribers.

Wedding Bells.

Nuptials of Mr. Ernest Sherwood and Miss Lottie Pearse.

Though the clouds lowered grey and the blizzardous Borean blasts whistled mournfully through the trees and dashed the snow against the windows in angry gusts yesterday afternoon, many hearts beat happily in the handsome home of Mr. E. Pearse, County Treasurer.

At three o'clock a merry party had gathered there to witness the marriage of Miss Charlotte A. Pearse to Mr. A. E. Sherwood, of the firm of Sherwood Bros., commission merchants. The company was small but selected from the most intimate relatives and friends of the young couple primarily concerned. Standing beneath a beautiful floral bell, the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Davidson, assisted by the Rev. C. B. Kenrick. The fair bride was attended by Miss Edie Pearse and Miss Sherwood. The bride was dressed in white corded silk and wore the time honored veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white flowers in her hand. Miss Edie Pearse wore a dress of light yellow silk, and Miss Sherwood was attired in pink silk and net. Both bridesmaids carried bouquets.

After the solemn words were spoken which bound the two young people in Hymen's indissoluble tie, there were the usual cordial congratulations and the wedding breakfast, at which the warmest wishes for the future happiness of the young couple were pledged. The numerous, valuable and varied gifts to the bride presented a rich and beautiful appearance,—practical tokens of the regard of scores of friends, many of whom though unable to be present, finding expression for their heartfelt hopes in the presentation of bymeneal mementoes.

Followed by the hearty good will of the large number of people who were at the station to wish them God speed, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood left at six o'clock last evening for Chicago and other western points, where they will spend a brief honeymoon tour.

The Town's Lawsuit.

Preliminary Hearing of Leonard vs. Peterborough—The Wharf to be Built.

Preliminary argument in the case of Leonard vs. the town of Peterborough took place yesterday before the Chancellor at Osgoode Hall. Messrs. Watson and Leonard (of Dumble & Leonard), representing the plaintiff, and Mr. E. B. Edwards the town. The plaintiff applied for judgment to continue the injunction granted by Mr. Justice McMahon on Nov. 18th, preventing the corporation or its agents from continuing work upon the wharf at Wolfe street, so far as it interferes with the premises occupied, and claimed to be owned, by Mrs. Catherine Leonard. In this suit the corporation say that there is an original road allowance for Water street at the river's edge, and a bylaw has been passed to open it up. The plaintiff claims that the road allowance has been washed away by the river, and that the wharf builders are trespassing upon private property.

The case will be tried at the spring assizes. Judgment was given yesterday continuing the injunction, but with modifications agreed upon by the parties; and Mr. Edwards claims that the town has gained its point, as there is now no obstacle in the way of completing the wharf. Of course the questions of ownership of the land and damages for trespass are still in abeyance.

The judgment was as follows:

Injunction continued except in so far as it may be necessary to go upon the said lands for the purpose of filling in all crib work with stone and soil, such stone to be obtained elsewhere than from the land in question, and such soil not to be taken from the banks on the said land but from roadbed and in course of levelling same, such variation and exception to be without prejudice to the right of property if any in the plaintiff, and to the claim of the plaintiff for damages in respect to such act, as well as former trespasses, and without prejudice to the right of the defendants. Costs reserved till trial.

South Monaghan.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

RETURNED HOME.—Mr. David Baxter's party has returned home again from their second hunt after deer, and we are glad to announce that they killed three fine specimens. This is very enterprising indeed, and we are glad to have the opportunity of congratulating the party on their good luck.

DISAPPEARED.—The slight shift of snow is gone. Hope to see lots of it for Christmas.

MEETING.—A meeting in aid of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society was held in the church, Centreville, on December 3rd. A concert was given by the Sunday school.

Divine service is held here twice a day on Sundays. We hope to see more at the night meetings.

We extract the following from the Reporter: Mr. Samuel Smithson, one of South Monaghan's popular farmers, got his arm badly crushed in a sawing machine. The skin was badly torn and the flesh lacerated. Dr. Gray attended to the wounded limb, and although it is hoped that no permanent injury is sustained, it will be some months before he will have proper use of it.

We are sure the EXAMINER would be pleased to have a correspondent at Baillieboro. Let some one in the village who now reads this try and act as such.

An Ode of Thanks.

Respectfully addressed to Mr. P. H. Green, photographer, Hunter street, Peterborough, for taking and presenting to me two beautiful and highly finished cabinet pictures of myself in different shades. The simple reason prompting him to this generous act was his appreciation of my book of poems, of which he bought a copy from me a few weeks ago.

Sir, I must mount and spur my muse's flanks
And urge it on unto its utmost speed,
Till it brings forth deserved appropriate thanks
To you, for such a liberal, friendly deed.
I little thought my book had power to call
Forth praise or presents from my fellowmen;
My friend, your present, though it may seem small,
Inspires my thoughts and makes me grasp my pen.
You were a perfect stranger unto me,
Upon your face, sir, I did never look
Until that day when I first met with thee
Within your studio—there you bought my book.
What fired your zeal? It was not classic lore
Nor high toned language, gilded, bright, infant.
Poemes clothed in nature reached to your heart's core
And prompted you to that spontaneous act.

Acts such as yours I do appreciate;
'Tis not its value I so highly prize,
It's the source from whence it emanates,
Man's love for man it clearly verifies.
It tunes the keys of poetry in my brain,
It moves the mainspring of my active mind,
It almost makes me feel a little vain
To be so highly honored by mankind.
Your generous gift calls forth my gratitude,
Demands the highest tribute of my praise,
If I possessed poetic aptitude
To sound your kindness in high measured lays.

Your instrument's first-class and latest style,
By your skilled hands produces features true;
The human face when traced on your profile
Appears more lovely than the living do.
All your endeavors would be little worth,
If your true partner, Sun refused to shine,
When his bright rays shines brilliant from the north,
He stamps perfection on all work of thine.

Long may you live to gild your noble art,
Photoing the living while on earth they tread,
Some of your work may cheer a mourning heart,
Looking on loved one's slumbering with the dead.
Your expert hands and artist's knowledge vast,
You catch each shadow true to nature's plan—
Your style and finish cannot be surpassed,
By camera, brush, oil or the hands of man.

N.B.—Sir, one of them, my brither Scotchmen craves,
To hang beside John Elder in their hall,
When you and he and I sleep in our graves,
Those pictures will our memories recall.

THE ELECTIONS.

The election campaign for South Victoria is now going on lively. Meetings in the interest of both the candidates are being held every night. Mr. Fairbairn, the Conservative candidate, is not meeting with much encouragement in Emily, his great stronghold, whilst Mr. Loudesborough, the Reform candidate working for the interest of the farmers, is receiving more than the most sanguine expectations on his private canvass, and will no doubt be the people's choice on Dec. 18th.

Drowning Accident at Blairton.

The Campbellford Herald's correspondent in Blairton writes:—Joseph Revoy came here on Friday, 28th ult., bought 50 pounds of flour, and, with his son, a boy well up in his teens, took the ice on Crow Lake, bound for their home on the other side. Much of the ice was only that of one night's freezing. They managed to keep above until they were about one mile away and a few rods from the opposite shore, when Joseph, the father, broke through the ice in about 6 feet of water, where he struggled for half an hour until, as is supposed, he got chilled and exhausted and went down for the last time in the presence of his son, who during all this time had done his best by bringing wood, etc., from shore to try and save his father's life. The boy returned home and told his sad tale, when Mr. J. L. Aunger, his son, and Chas. Franks, took a punt, pike poles, etc., and made for the spot, and procured the body. The undertaking was a hard one, as for a few feet the boat had to be dragged, then it would plunge through the ice, when they would have to break ice ahead, and progress only by the inch, so to say. The party got benighted, which caused a general concern as to their welfare. Men and women with lanterns lined the shore, but all were safe in the boat. Poor Revoy was a quiet, honest and industrious man, and his sorrowing widow and children have the sympathy of all.

At the Foundations.

Work on the Edison Company's buildings is progressing rapidly. There are about a hundred men still employed about the works. The digging of the trenches is nearly completed. The derricks used by the Trent Valley Canal contractor for the locks at Buckhorn and Burleigh have been purchased by the Edison company and are being set up for the purpose of lifting the heavy foundation stones. The boiler has also been purchased for the heating of the cement.

A BAD FACE HUMOR

Covering the Face with Disfiguring, Painful Blotches, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About seven years ago I had a humor break out up on my face; it started in a small blotch and looked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and looked like a ringworm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best doctors in the city, and he could do me no good. No less than twelve of the best doctors have had a trial at my face, and all of them failed. I will not give you a list of their names, but will say that they were from Boston, New York, and Maine, also from England, France and Canada. I have been a hotel cook and steward for years. In the summer I cook at watering places; that is why I have had an opportunity of being among good doctors. They could not cure my face, and I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June I went to Moosehead Lake, Maine, to cook for the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be seen. At the lake I met a gentlemen from England. He told me to use your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and they would cure me at once. I did so. The result was in three weeks the sores on my face were healed up. I used it all the season. My face is now well and no fears to be seen. I have recommended it to a number, and in every case it has cured them. It would take a good deal of money to put me back where I was one year ago, providing I did not know what your CUTICURA would do. I shall recommend it as long as I live, and shall ever remain.

H. STEVENS, East Jackson, Me.

IRISH PRELATES SPEAK.

PARNELL IS ABANDONED BY THEM ON MERE MORAL GROUNDS.

He Cannot Be Tolerated Even as the Leader of a Section of the Irish Party.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The Nationalist members of the House of Commons met again to-day to further consider the question of Parnell's leadership. All the Irish members at present in London were in attendance. Parnell occupied the chair. One of the members read the manifesto issued yesterday by the Catholic hierarchy in Ireland declaring that Ireland cannot accept as a leader a man wholly dishonored, and that the continuance of his leadership would imperil the cause of Ireland. The reading of the manifesto was greeted with cheering by Mr. Parnell's opponents.

Mr. Clancy offered his amendment, which provided that in view of the difference of opinion between Gladstone and Parnell as to the accuracy of the latter's recollection of the suggestions made to him by Gladstone at Hawarden meeting a year ago, the party whips be instructed to obtain from Gladstone, Morley and Sir William Vernon-Harcourt, before any further consideration of the main question, information on the departure from the bill of 1886 made by Mr. Gladstone in his suggestions affecting the control of the Irish constabulary and the settlement of the land question.

A prolonged debate took place on the amendment.

The Dictator's Terms.

Parnell intimated that if the party took the responsibility off his shoulders and would insist upon the Liberal leaders promising to carry an acceptable Home Rule bill through the House of Commons in the face of all opposition he would retire from the leadership. He asked the meeting to accept Clancy's resolution, whereupon, he said, the alliance between the Nationalists and Liberals would be renewed.

Mr. Healy refused to submit to Parnell's stipulations. He declared they were even beyond the lines of the compromise suggested at yesterday's meeting.

Mr. Sexton declared the majority of the members were firmly determined to adhere to the main question, and would simply vote that Parnell must resign.

It was rumored this afternoon that a division had been taken by the Nationalist meeting on Clancy's amendment and that it had been rejected. Enquiry, proved there was no truth in the rumor.

A Committee to Wait on Gladstone.

The latest phase of the situation bids fair for an agreement, a committee having been appointed to wait upon Mr. Gladstone and endeavor to obtain from him the assurance desired by Mr. Parnell. The committee consists of Messrs. Parnell, Sexton, Healy, Justin McCarthy, John Redmond, Deasy, Powers and Leamy. Parnell will take no part in the negotiations with Mr. Gladstone.

Before the appointment of the committee Parnell asked the meeting for an informal show of hands on Clancy's amendment. This showed that only Barry and Chance continued to hold out against the amendment.

Besides Mr. Gladstone, the committee will also see Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. Morley and will endeavor to conclude the negotiations to-morrow.

Gladstone Will Confer.

The committee appointed by the Nationalist meeting has sent a letter to Mr. Gladstone, asking him to open negotiations for a future Home Rule bill. Mr. Gladstone expressed his willingness to interchange views with the committee, but reserved the right to choose the members with whom to negotiate.

Echoes From the Fray.

The Daily News says Salisbury is again angling for the Irish vote.

It appears the opponents of Parnell held a caucus before the Nationalist meeting to-day and decided not to accept the Clancy compromise, but to force matters to an issue.

United Ireland said this morning: "Mr Parnell must go. He will never again lead the Nationalist party."

United Ireland publishes a number of letters showing that Parnell has made fruitless efforts to prevent the publication of articles and cartoons hostile to him.

The Labor World, Michael Davitt's paper, in an article headed "No Compromise," today admitted that Parnell, in a desperate and defiant struggle, had carried with him a large volume of popular feeling in Ireland and the United States, but said that in every other respect he has failed. He has succeeded in attaching to himself only one-third of the Irish members of the House of Commons. The triumph of patriotism over Parnellism is certain. The paper denounced the Clancy amendment as a continuance of Parnell's obstructive tactics which the majority who have taken a stand against the fallen despot should sternly reject. The temporary retirement of Parnell will not avail.

President Evans of the Liverpool Reform Club, with whom Parnell stayed the evening after his interview with Gladstone at Hawarden, says Parnell conversed freely with him regarding the purport of the interview and was evidently much impressed with Gladstone's cordiality, and still more with the thoroughness of his proposals concerning Ireland, which Parnell said went further than the proposals of any great English statesman could be expected to go, and meant a most satisfactory solution of the Irish question.

DUBLIN, Dec. 4.—At the meeting of the Standing Committee of the Archbishops and Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church in Ireland this address was unanimously adopted and ordered to be communicated to the press for publication:

The Standing Committee has deemed it a duty to communicate by telegraph with their absent brethren of the episcopacy, and have received up to this writing the adhesion of the bishops, whose names, with their own, are signed to the following address:

"The Archbishops and Bishops of Ireland to the clergy and laity of their Bishoprics.

"Very reverends, reverend fathers and fellow countrymen.

"The Bishops of Ireland can no longer keep silent in the presence of the engrossing question which touches, not Ireland and England alone, but every spot where Irishmen have formed homes. The question is, Who in the future is to be the leader of the Irish people, or rather who is not to be their leader? Without hesitation or doubt, and in the plainest possible terms, we give it as our unanimous judgment that Charles [illegible] else is fitted to fill that highly responsible position, Mr. Parnell is decidedly not. As the pastors of a Catholic nation we do not [illegible] this, our judgment and solemn declara[illegible] solely on the [illegible] is founded on a [illegible] After the verdict of one of the [illegible] offences known to religious society. Aggravated, as it is in his case, by almost every circumstance that could possibly attach to it so as to give it scandalous pre-eminence in guilt and shame surely Catholic Ireland, so eminently conspicuous for the virtue and purity of its social life, will not accept as its leader a man thus dishonored and wholly unworthy of Christian confidence. And further, as Irishmen who are devoted to our country and eager for its elevation, and earnestly intent on securing for it the benefits of domestic legislation, we cannot but be impressed by the conviction that a continuance of Mr. Parnell as leader of even a section of the Irish party must have the effect of disorganizing our ranks and raging in the hostile camps the hitherto united forces of our country.

"Confronted with the prospect of contingencies so disastrous we see nothing but inevitable defeat at the approaching general election, and as a result Home Rule indefinitely postponed, coercion perpetrated, the hands of the evictors strengthened and the tenants already evicted left without a show of hope of being even restored to their homes.

Your devoted servants in Christ.

THE BRAND OF CAIN.

Major J. A. West of Georgia, Murdered by His Brother.

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 4.—One of the bloodiest tragedies in the history of the State was enacted near Brownsville, in this county, this morning. The murderer and the murdered man were brothers. The latter, Major J. A. West of Marietta, Ga., owns a large plantation, on which his younger brother, Hugh West, with his family, has resided for some years, the plantation being a partnership arrangement.

It is said a few days since Major West arrived from Georgia and went out to his plantation. No one supposed there was any trouble between the brothers till this morning, when a messenger came to Bolton, the nearest railroad point, bringing the news that Hugh West attacked his brother with a pistol, and after shooting him three times and when he had fallen to the ground and was struggling to get up shouted, "Lie still, sir," and running into the house, procured a shotgun and shot the top of his brother's head off, scattering his brains over the yard. He then coolly rode over to the residence of another brother, Dr. Sam West, and sent word to the officers that they would find him there.

It is said that the reason assigned for the killing was that his brother had defrauded him in a settlement and ordered him to vacate the premises; that it amounted to turning him and his family out of doors with nothing to live upon, and was more than he could bear.

An Engineer Killed.

MONTREAL, Dec. 4.—The switchman at the Grand Trunk station at Lachine this morning mistook the western express for the Lachine suburban train and switched it onto the wharf line. Before the mistake was discovered the engine of the express train had jumped the wharf into the river. The cars, with the exception of the baggage car, which is hanging half way between the top of the wharf and the water, remained on the track. Engineer Joseph Boise was killed. The escape of the passengers on the train was miraculous. There was a blinding snowstorm at the time of the accident, and to this fact is attributed the switchman's error in sending the train out on the wharf. The same cause prevented the engineer from discovering their whereabouts until too late to stop. The dead driver was a native of Scotland. He resided in this city, and leaves a wife and six children. Among the passengers were George A. Birge, Hamilton; Robert Acheson and Mrs. Acheson, Stratford; James Stoddart and Miss Stoddart, Toronto, and Mr. Leonard, Quebec.

Wreck on Chicago & Alton.

Fred Smith, a merchant of Pekin, Ill.
Judge J. K. Riffel, Kansas City.

Judge Riffel's head was torn from his body. Of five injured, W. B. Knight of Kansas City, who was severely scalded, will probably die. The wreck occurred at the crossing of the Wabash and Chicago & Alton roads. The Chicago & Alton train was standing at the depot on the crossing when the whistle of the Wabash train was heard. The engineer started his train and had got all across but the rear sleeper, when the Wabash engine crashed into it, cutting in two and plowing its way for some rods, finally burying itself in the ground. There were eight persons in the sleeper.

Fifteen Were Killed.

JOLIET, Ill., Dec. 4.—A blast furnace blew up here this afternoon, burying 15 men beneath the falling masonry and metal.

An unknown thief, provided with duplicate keys, has been robbing the letter drawers in the Hamilton Postoffice.

The Hamilton customs authorities made a large seizure of silks the other day which a merchant had packed in with a lot of inferior goods with a view to saving the duty.

Joseph B. Abbott, confidential clerk of the lumber firm of H. W. Saga & Co. of Albany, committed suicide last night by taking laudanum. He was about $50,000 short in his accounts. He had a salary of $3000 a year. Abbott was a widower aged 40, and leaves five children, the eldest a girl of 15.

Two Deer at One Shot

SOMERVILLE, Dec. 4.—Warren Schell was out hunting in the township of Anson, and while in the act of skinning a deer he heard a slight noise, and looking around, saw a buck and a doe standing side by side about eight rods distant. Dropping his knife and picking up his rifle, he took a quick aim and fired, and both deer dropped, the bullet having gone through the neck of one and the head of the other.

Annual Dinner of the Toronto Medical College.

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—The fourth annual banquet of the Toronto University Medical College took place last night at the Rossin House. The dinner, as usual, was on temperance principles. The chair was taken by Mr. C. A. Webster. On his right sat Hon. Edward Blake, Sir Daniel Wilson, Hon. J. M. Gibson and others. Hon. Edward Blake, the chancellor, made a happy and eloquent speech in reply to Toronto University. The University, he said, had produced goodly fruit, but it was to be compared not with the symmetrical Norway spruce but rather with the oak whose growth was not quite so symmetrical, whose limbs were knotted and knarled, and which was occasionally struck by calamity. Yet it was always vigorous, restoring vast losses, fighting sometimes covert, sometimes open, hostility, but growing deeper every day into the affections of the people of the province. Among its goodly limbs were the faculties of medicine and law. For a long time it lacked these limbs, but he now congratulated the province on their restoration. He hoped that the system of controlling the University by the people, through the Legislature, would always be maintained, and no effort to overthrow it would be successful.

Mr. Blake made an interesting comparison of the professions of law and medicine and paid a tribute to the noble character of the latter. In conclusion, remembering last year's dinner, he would ask the gentleman on his right, "Which way are you going home?" [Laughter.]

Speeches were also delivered by Sir Daniel Wilson, Mr. Gibson and others.

Sir Daniel Wilson referred briefly to the good results which he hoped would flow from the visit of Prof. Ramsay Wright to Germany. In speaking of the magnificent biological building just completed, he hoped that the foolish idea that state aid to colleges was misapplied would find no favor either with the Legislature or with the people.

Responded to by Mr. Gibson, who thought it an indignity to be called upon because he was not a member, although he had tried his best. [Laughter.] He recalled the time when he was a freshman in residence. The medicals formed half of the residence men and the late Dr. Elliott was mufti. Since then here had been many changes, but he was glad to see the medical faculty restored at last.

The Common Pleas Divisional Court yesday delivered judgment in the case of Reg. v. Stones quashing the conviction with costs to be paid by the informant. The defendant was convicted for running a toll-gate without paying fare. The conviction was quashed on the ground that the defendant's act was bona fide and was not therefore an offence for which he should be convicted.

Before the same court a motion was made for a rule absolute to quash the conviction in the case of Reg. v. Bird. Bird was convicted for supplying intoxicating liquor to a man already drunk contrary to the Liquor License Act. The court quashed the conviction on the grouud that the case did not come within the act, the defendant not having been proved to be a licensed tavern keeper.

Dr. W. J. McLaughlin, ex-M.P.P., Bowmanville, has been united in marriage to Miss Wilkinson, eldest daughter of Captain N. Wilkinson of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Prof. Gregg.

The funeral of the late Henry Hunter, the Crimean veteran, took place from his residence, 114 Adelaide-street west, yesterday afternoon. The Army and Navy Veterans, took charge of the arrangements. The pall-bearers were Sergt.-Major Fisher, Scots Greys; Sergt. Parr, 8th Hussars; Sergt. Curtis, 30th Cambridgeshire; Sergt. Freeman, Rifle Brigade 2d Batt.; James Leith, Scots Fusiliers Guards; P. Burley, 30th Cambridgeshire. They were all Crimean men and wore the medals they had won there and elsewhere.

No. 2 Perry-lane, off Bathurst-street, was the scene of a terrible rencontre last night. James McFarlane and Ellen McFarlane, who, some say, are man and wife and others brother and sister, were drinking nearly all day, the fun culminating in the evening in a fight. McFarlane, finding himself hard pressed by Ellen, first knocked her down with a chair and then belabored her with a piece of cordwood. When the woman's injuries were looked into at the Hospital it was found that her skull had been injured in two places and her right wrist broken. McFarlane is under arrest in St. Andrew's Market station.

The traffic earnings of the C.P.R. for the week ending Nov. 30 were $476,000; for the same week of last year $431,000. The earnings of the New Brunswick Railway are included in both years.

Business Troubles at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Dec. 4.—Russell, Seybold & Co., the big wholesale drygoods dealers, called a meeting of their creditors yesterday. Their liabilities are estimated at about $250,000, and their nominal assets at about $200,000. The creditors appointed a committee to investigate matters and report at a meeting to be called shortly. The principal credit is in Great Britain, the firm doing a big import trade. Russell, Seybold & Co. have been recognized as the largest Ottawa dry goods merchants for some time. Mr. Russell is well known as a large holder of timber limits and mineral lands, which, although of indefinite value, may prove to be of advantage to the creditors.

If Your House is on Fire.

You put water on the burning timbers, not on the smoke. And if you have catarrh you should attack the disease in the blood, not in your nose. Remove the impure cause, and the local effect subsides. To do this, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which radically and permanently cures catarrh. It also strengthens the nerves. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

DRY GOODS NEWS AT

TURNBULL'S

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st October in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date, to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now; but they have come at last and open out beautifully. We have two ranges, plain and fancy backs, at $1.00 and $1.25, in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta; some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us, and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better, and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit.

Although early in the season our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing, which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on our counters. They are desirable goods, and worth remembering.

Opened out this week a job line of Dress Goods, 12½c. yd.; also a fresh lot of Flannelettes at 8c.

We claim to have the best line 5c. Grey Cotton in the country. All other Cottons proportionate value.

YANKEE MANUFACTURING COMPETITION.

One of the objections urged by the restrictionist journals against Unrestricted Reciprocity, is that Canadian manufacturers would be swamped by American competition. This is a view which is not at all complimentary to the ingenuity and enterprise of Canadians. In other things Canadians not only hold their own but take the lead when brought into competition with their Yankee cousins, as shown by the prominent positions filled in all parts of the United States by Canadian men, and these positions have been achieved by sheer merit, in the face of the natural prejudice against foreigners, a prejudice so deeply seated and real that it has found expression on the statute books of the United States in the Alien Labour enactment. Is Canadian ability to be shut out from holding its own in the field of manufactures? It should not be so; our natural resources in extent and variety, are hardly excelled by any other country, and why our manufacturers, with equal access to the same market, cannot hold their own in competition with the Yankees, is a puzzle worthy of the attention of the man that lyrically supplies information to the horse marines. There are some live manufacturers that would not only not object to, but would welcome competition. Mr. E. G. Thomas, of the Thomas Organ Company, Woodstock, would like to see unrestricted reciprocity Respecting the effect upon his industry, he says:—

"I should welcome free entry to the United States market. True, we should lose a part of our eastern trade under reciprocity, but I am confident I could hold my own in the nearer markets. We ought not to be afraid of the prospect of having to seek customers in new districts; we are doing it every day, and if some eastern manufacturer, by reason of an advantage over me of less freight charges, succeeded in taking from me an eastern customer, the same advantage of freight rates would let me get from him one of his western customers. What is essential is that the goods should be as good and the manufacture of them carried on as cheaply as on the other side. If we get our material as cheaply—and why should we not, if the duty were off?—and if we got our labor as cheap—and we get it cheaper—what is to prevent us from holding our own?"

Mr. Richards, a soap manufacturer of Woodstock, and also a Conservative, says:—

"Let us get our raw material as cheaply as the United States manufacturers get it," he said, "and I don't think there will be much doubt of our holding our own. Reciprocity might hurt us for a time, but if it did the permanent improvement in our condition would repay us for the temporary disturbance and the increased labor it might entail on us. The United States manufacturer might come into Canada for a time with his goods; but why could we not manufacture as cheaply as they if we got our raw materials on the same untaxed basis? Compared with the size of our market, the facilities of the Canadian soap factories and their capacities are superior to those across the line. Messrs. A. Watts & Co., of Brantford, have shown how little they care for American competition and how well Canadian manufacturers can hold their own by establishing a branch factory in Buffalo."

But these gentlemen are not Red Parlour manufacturers, and are content with reasonable profit, if they can be unbound and freed from the tariff that has them tied hand and foot. There does not seem to be much force in the contention of the pap-fed press and the revenue patriots that Canadian manufactures cannot stand competition. There might be a little temporary disturbance, but after a while the enterprising Canuck would drop into the game and show his Yankee rival that he was not invincible in the industrial field.

An enormous amount of nonsense and falsehood has been published, says the Ottawa Free Press, by the champions of high taxation in regard to the great "development" of trade with China and Japan since the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway. What are the facts? The trade returns of 1889-90 show that Canada's trade with the countries mentioned is actually smaller than it was before the railway was built. In 1885 our aggregate trade with China and Japan—exports to and imports from—according to the official returns, was $2,523,369. In 1889-90 the aggregate was $2,161,816, or nearly half a million less. This is the grand result of those 'sacrifices," which the Tories say Canada made, to promote trade with the countries on the west side of the Pacific Ocean. And here is a table showing how our China and Japan trade has declined during the past three years:

	Exports to	Imports from
1888.....	132,448	2,128,707
1889.....	84,174	1,965 538
1890.....	61,751	2,100,065

The foregoing figures are worth more than a dozen Fosterian lectures on "new foreign markets." Our exports to China and Japan last year were less than half what they were three years ago.

In his report to Congress for the fiscal year 1889-90, Mr. Windom, United States Secretary of the Treasury, states that the value of the goods imported into the United States during last year was the largest in the history of the country, amounting to $789,310,409, compared with $745,131,652 in the preceding year. The high tariff does not prevent Brother Jonathan from purchasing and using foreign goods. Mr. Windom points out that the exports from the United States to Canada increased, while the imports from Canada declined. He also urges Congress to legislate against the carriage of freight from one point in the United States to another over Canadian railways.

SHOT BY A TRAIN ROBBER.

A Passenger Fatally Wounded While Fighting For His Money.

Tyler, Tex., Dec. 4.—A train robbery occurred between 9 and 10 o'clock last night on the Cotton Belt road between Big Sandy and Winona. The train was No. 28, a mixed passenger and freight and was bound south.

From Oscar Schmit of Milwaukee, Wis., one of the passengers, the following particulars were obtained: At Gilmer, a spare-faced man about five feet seven or eight inches, with a black mustach and eyes bought a ticket for Big Sandy. There he got off and bought a ticket for Tyler.

When the train started to pull out from the water tank between Big Sandy and Winona the coupling between the passenger coach and the cars in front either broke or was purposely removed and the train pulled out, leaving the coach behind.

There were several passengers in the coach, among them one colored woman. All the passengers except Mr. Schmit, Mr. J. R. Gerhardt and the man who committed the robbery, left the car and went out on the platform to discover what was the matter.

The first intimation the robber gave of his intention was the pulling of a big pistol, firing a shot into the top of the car and crying out, "Hands up, gentlemen!"

Mr. Schmit said: "I looked around to see what was the matter, thinking it was some drunken man, and found the pistol under my nose. The man with the pistol told me to shell out my money and I made haste to reach down in my pocket and gave him what silver I had, about $9 or $10. He then turned to Gerhardt, who was in the seat with me and asked him for his money, pointing the pistol at his breast. As he did so Gerhardt said, 'I have no money.' 'I know better, shell out,' said the robber. Gerhardt raised his hand to turn aside the pistol, when the robber fired, the ball entering Gerhardt's left side, just below the heart. Gerhardt then grappled with the robber, trying to get possession of the pistol, and fought him to the door of the car. During the scuffle the robber fired five times. Then, his pistol being empty, he turned and ran."

The trainmen say that as the engine was started, leaving the passenger coach behind, three men signalled them, but mistrusting that something was wrong they refused to stop. After the robbery the backed up and the coach was taken on again. Mr. Gerhardt, the wounded man, was brought to this city and placed in the railroad hospital. He cannot recover. He represents a sewing machine company and traveled from Marshall, Tex. His family reside in Paris, Tex.

The Diamond Dyes.

A Story in Rhyme.

Our houses two, together stood;
Her name was Black and mine was Wood.
The best of friends we used to be,
We dined together and took tea;
But now we never meet nor call,
Nor smile across the garden wall.
She is a dyer's wife. They made
No end of money by that trade.
My clothes to dye to Black I sent,
And such a lot of money spent,
Until a friend, more wise than I,
Said "You should use the Diamond Dye."
I acted on her kind advice,
And found it very cheap and nice.
I dyed my dress for ten cents, too,
A lovely and most charming blue,
And hung it out there in the sun,
And then our friendliness was done.
She called me stingy, horrid, mean,
I kept my temper calm, serene,
No money to her husband goes,
And every one admires my clothes.

Purify Your Blood

importance of the blood in condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

LURED BY WOMAN'S WILES.

A Business Man Made the Victim of a Confidence Game and Robbed of $15,000.

SCOTCH PLAINS, Pa., Dec. 3.—John Harrington, a prominent citizen and wealthy real estate broker, was frightfully beaten last night by his alleged wife and two accomplices who had been guests at his house for the past two weeks and whom Harrington had introduced as his brother-in-law from the west. Martha Halburt, a domestic, found Harrington lying insensible in his room early this morning. Dr. J. H. Fry was summoned, but there is little hope of his recovery.

The details of the brutal assault reveal an almost incredible story of woman's duplicity and man's blindness. Ten months ago Harrington's wife died, leaving her husband and two marriageable daughters. Last September the daughters left home. Recently Harrington locked up the house and went away. After a week's absence he returned with a handsome brunette of 24, whom he introduced as Mrs John Harrington. The daughters were horrified at their father's conduct, and were seldom seen thereafter. The bride was refined and accomplished, and moved at first in the best society. Harrington, who was over 60 years of age, was devotedly attached to his youthful wife. Who she was or where the marriage was solemnized was a profound secret.

TWO "BROTHERS" APPEAR.

Four weeks ago Harrington announced his intention of leaving here to make his home with his wife's people in the West, where they were realizing from fifty to seventy-five per cent on investments. He resigned several minor offices and opened negotiations to convert all his real estate into cash.

On the 13th inst. two strangers calling themselves Mrs. Harrington's brothers arrived. They claimed to be capitalists with large amounts of money invested in Chicago, Leadville and San Francisco. They were faultlessly attired and well supplied with money. They entertained royally and carried the place by storm.

Meanwhile Harrington disposed of his property, and it was decided to start yesterday. Shortly after midnight, after preparations had been completed, the party retired. Mr. and Mrs. Harrington occupied the front bedroom, Henry and George Bracefield, the "brothers," occupying the one adjoining.

COVERED BY A REVOLVER.

Mrs Harrington suggested to her husband the advisability of making her custodian of the money or letting her "brothers" take charge of it. This Harrington would not do until morning. While they were discussing the matter the folding doors separating the rooms opened and the "brothers" entered, covering him with a revolver, and demanded the money. Then Harrington realized he was the victim of a well-laid scheme to rob him and, if necessary, take his life. He had told them earlier in the evening he had all the cash on hand, which fortunately was not true. There was a large amount to be paid over in the morning. He had but $15,000 in the room. This he turned over to his accomplished wife and her "brothers." His story that the balance was in the hands of a friend was not accepted as true and the entire party set upon him and beat him in a terrible manner. They then disperared. There was $20,000 more he intended to take with him, but this was in the hands of Henry Turnbull, who was to pay it over in the morning.

Miss Halburt said she had long been suspicious of the "brothers" and thought all was not right. There was evidence of a desperate struggle having taken place in this room. A sandbag was found in the room. It is said that when Harrington left home he went to Chicago and either advertised for a wife or met her through an advertisement.

A MYSTERY OF PARIS.

A Woman Found Gagged and Robbed in a Railway Car.

PARIS, Dec. 3.—When the train from Nice arrived at Toulon this morning the officials of the railway station made a startling discovery which created a great deal of sensation among the passengers as well as those who were waiting at the depot for the trains to carry them to their destination. On going to the compartment set apart for ladies a woman of about 33 years of age, whose name was subsequently found to be Zoe Marquet, was discovered in an apparently unconscious state lying alone in the carriage, with her mouth gagged by means of a napkin, her hands tied together with a necktie and her feet fastened by a leather strap.

Restoratives were applied and she was eventually brought to consciousness. In reply to the questions of the authorities she declared that she was absolutely unable to give any explanation as to how she came to be in such a condition. She stated she left Monte Carlo by the midnight train for Marseilles, intending to rejoin her husband, who carried on the business of an apothecary in the neighborhood of Constantine. When she entered the train she had the sum of 7000 francs in her pocket. This money is now missing. She remembered reading letters and papers until the train reached Cannes, and after that she has no recollection of anything at all, and is unable to offer any explanation as to how she became unconscious.

The police authorities have taken the matter in hand, and have opened an inquiry with a view to discovering whether hypnotism had been practised on her and robbery committed during the time she was in a state of unconsciousness.

REPENTED AT LEIS.

One of the Montreal Abbotts Applies for a Divorce.

MONTREAL, Dec. 3.—Married in a hurry, separated five minutes after marriage and both anxious to have the ceremony annulled. Such is the experience of William Abbott and Ella Wilson Abbott, two young people who got married in this city in October, 1888, and have not lived together since. Mrs. Abbott, who brings suit for annulment of the marriage, was only 15 years of age when it took place. She now claims that she did not know her mind at the time and was under the legal control of her parents. She is a member of the "Penalty" company, and is now traveling through the south and west under the stage name of Miss Wilson. Young Abbott, who is in business in Montreal, is good-looking, of genial manners and the son of a well-known Canadian politician. The husband disappeared suddenly after his marriage

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

Petticoats.

The winter under-skirts are handsomer than usual. Very rich stuffs in plain and figured velvet, black, grey, and Indian red brocade, also silk and wool material are utilized. Black silk skirts lined with fancy striped flannel are full in the back, closely gored on the front and sides, and trimmed with three rows of heavy black lace about ten inches wide. These are both dressy and comfortable, and easily made at home. Soft, grey camel's-hair skirts are trimmed with tiny flounces of the same, brier-stitched with red heliotrope or golden brown silk. Very few starched white skirts are worn with autumn or winter evening toilets, their place being taken by dust-trained, petticoats of white American surah, frilled and lace-edged. There are besides skirts of silk and linen brocade, and moire antique, with linen back, which hang better than any starched skirt could possibly do, and these match the color of the gown, or are pure white, as taste and occasion suggest. These skirts are not expensive, considering the future expenditure they save, and being far more supple and clinging than a stiff, cold muslin skirt, are better suited both to the state of the weather, and the present style of dress.

There is no doubt about it the flounce is here.

Faith's Philosophy.

Faith Fenton was always cheerful. She had been a happy, laughing baby, and a joyous, merry school-girl. Her schoolmates called her "Cheerful Fenton," and then, after the fashion of schoolgirls, nicknamed her "Cherry." As wife and mother she was always blithe and sunny, notwithstanding the ordinary ills of babyhood, the disappointments of girlhood, and the graver sorrows of after-life had all been hers. But Faith never fretted over minor evils. If the bread was heavy, or the cake burned, or the children tore their clothes, or the dressmaker sent home an ill-fitting dress when new dresses were scarce, she quietly made the best of everything instead of making matters worse by worrying over them. And what, think you, was the philosophy of this bright, brave woman? It was such a homely philosophy, just a bit of doggerel, in fact, and yet if you will live up to it it helps one wonderfully over the little rough ways. It was simply this:

"For every evil under the sun,
There is a remedy or there's none.
If there be one, resolve to find it;
If there's none, why never mind it."

There is no need of enlarging upon this. Just try it and find out for yourself.

Our Lost.

There's a tender spot in the heart of almost every living person sacred to the memory of some loved one who has gone on before. It may have been father or mother, sister or brother, husband, wife or child, but the spot is there, and in the first bitter hours of our bereavement how very, very tender and sore it is. The slightest touch upon that spot, by word or thought, will cause inexpressible pain, and we think, as we feel the gnawing anguish at our hearts, the bitter, burning pain will never cease, and perhaps long and pray for death ourselves to end our sorrow and misery and reunite us with the loved one. But time passes on. The necessities of living occupy our thoughts, and gradually, at each recurring time the thought of our loss strikes us, the blow is less severe, the pain less sharp. We never cease to mourn, we never forget our dead, but we can think of them in a tender, loving, even hopeful light. We remember every good and lovable quality, and if they possessed others, we never think of them, and gradually we bring ourselves to think and believe they were perfect, and we cease mourning so bitterly, and only a sad, loving, tender recollection remains.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its issuing unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home Institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefitting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

The Modern George Washington.

Wm. Ringer a shoemaker, was brought before the police magistrate on a charge of being drunk. "I'm guilty, your Honor; I can't tell a lie, was the prisoner's plea, but he promised if discharged he would at once go to work and remain sober. The magistrate gave him a chance to keep his word, Rushing in the Tax Money.

The Tax Collector's office was crowded today, and the dollars were handed in over the desk by hundreds and thousands. Prudent ratepayers were hurrying to pay their taxes before the five per cent-addition comes into force. This was the last day of grace, and consequently there was a great rush. However there is a considerable amount of tax money outstanding.

Another False Alarm.

The Fire Brigade was called out on a fool's errand about half-past nine o'clock last night in answer to an alarm from Sheridan street. Some person saw a chimney burning and tore madly down the street to the fire ball. The firemen have been similarly victimized quite frequently of late. Of course it's wise to take every precaution in case of fire, but people ought to be careful in ringing an alarm to know that there is some cause for it.

Fire in Douro.

The residence of Mr. Matthew Scully, lot 15, 3rd concession, Douro, was burned to the ground Thursday forenoon between 11 and 12 o'clock. Mr. Scully was away from home, but his son Patrick and his wife were about the premises. The fire started from the chimney. A portion of the furniture was saved. The loss is estimated at about $1,000, partly covered by insurance. Mr. Scully will be heartily sympathized with in his loss.

Ourliana.

So far, the President and his champions are "in the soup." Three rinks played off last night, the Vice-President's side winning by 20 points. Skip Dennisteun defeated skip Davidson by 15 points to 11; skip Ray fairly snowed skip McGill under by a score of 20 to 7; and skip Boucher won a closely contested game from skip Bradburn by 11 to 8. The remaining six rinks play off to-night, when the President and his cohorts expect to redeem their colors.

St. Paul's Faithful Workers.

The annual meeting of the Mission Band of St. Paul's church was held in the lecture room Thursday evening. There was a good attendance. The president, Miss Martha Dickson, presided. After the opening exercises an interesting Bible reading was given by the members of the band. The secretary's report was read, which showed increased interest in the work. The Treasurer's report also compared favorably with last year. These reports were adopted. Mrs. Graham, of Lakefield, then gave a missionary address entitled "Our Trust," which was a lengthy and very excellent one. A hearty vote of thanks on behalf of the Band was tendered Mrs. Graham for her address. While the collection was taken up Miss Sophie Cameron sang a solo. After singing, the meeting was closed with prayer.

The Canadian Almanac.

THE EXAMINER has to thank—and very cordially too—Messrs. Copp Clark & Co. for their invaluable treasury of information, the Canadian Almanac. This veteran, yet still virile, publication is now issued for the 44th time. This year's almanac and "miscellaneous directory" contains full lists of the clergy of every denomination, of physicians, municipalities, educational institutions, societies of all kinds, also the tariff of customs and a complete list of post offices, astronomical, statistical and governmental information of a most practical kind. As a handy book of reference for the professional and business man or the man of leisure who desires access to an opened and developed mine of information relating to Canada and Canadian institutions the Canadian Almanac is simply indispensible. An excellent and comprehensive index adds to the value of this exceedingly valuable book. Toronto: Published by Copp Clark & Co. On sale at the Peterborough Bookstore.

Miss Van Cortland's Costumes.

Mme Bayly, of New York, has designed and made no less than fifty-seven robes for Miss Van Cortland within the past three years, and has just completed three handsome costumes for the actress, to be worn in the character of Lucretia Borgia. They are of the sixteenth century and are marvels of beauty and artistic coloring, which bespeak great praise for Madame Bayly's taste and skill. The costumes are authentic reproductions from original plates. The first robe is of red gold brocade, opening over an undergown of scarlet, embroidered with gold, full puffed sleeves, each puff held in place by jeweled serpents; the second costume a flowing robe of yellow silk, bordered with ermine, a soft line of lizard green opening over an undergown of green, embroidered with silver. Another robe of brocaded black velvet, edged with Russian fox, opening over an undergown of jet. Each costume is furnished with skullcap to match, with jewel crowns.

Miss Van Cortland and her dramatic company open a week's engagement here Monday night. For programme and prices see advt. 1d

Sudden Death in North Peterborough.

The death was recently announced of George Rome, at Ums, Glamorgan township, Peterborough county. A correspondent to a Lindsay paper says that the deceased just as he had started to work at a bee after dinner, sat down, saying he felt a fainting fit coming on, and put his hand over his face twice and went forward gently, but was prevented from falling by one of the men, who quietly laid him on his back. He gasped twice, but never recovered, although many efforts were made both in the field and in the house to restore him. He leaves a wife and nine children. Mr. Rome was a member of the council, a school trustee, and rendered good service for years as pathmaster. He was a resident of Ums for eleven years, and most of the buildings have had his hand in their erection. A good hope that the deceased was not unprepared for his death arises from the fact that at a meeting a couple of days before he said he had had a special warning to prepare for his end, and leading to the inference that his hopes were fixed on his Saviour.

Clegg's Fine Furniture Establishment.

Enlarged, Improved and Quite up to the Standard of the Best in the District.

Some time ago the EXAMINER referred to the new front which had been placed in Mr. A. Clegg's furniture store on George street, which gave him one of the most attractive show windows in town and enabled him to exhibit his fine furniture to advantage. The new front was but a small portion of the extensive improvements which have been made in the establishment during the fall, under the superintendence of Mr. Jas Graham, foreman for Mr. Thos. Bradburn. Mr. Clegg now lays claim to possessing the largest and most completely stocked furniture warerooms in town. By the addition of a 45-foot annex in the rear, the first two flats have been extended to a length of 100 feet, rescuing the whole depth of the block for George to Chambers streets in one uninterrupted stretch. This has been accomplished by tearing down the old workshop which formerly stood some distance behind the main building, and building an extension covering all the available space. This annex was built two stories high. There are thus two flats one hundred feet long by about twenty five wide, and two other flats next the roof (one of which is over Welsh's confectionery works) the size of the original premises, about 55 feet long. These four large warerooms are stocked with furniture of all kinds.

A workroom opens off the second flat, where the upholstering and repairing is done. This is all the work that is carried on in these premises, the manufactory being situated in Donell's planing mills, where Mr. Clegg has a staff of men employed making furniture. Unlike most of the dealers in town, Mr. Clegg makes up a large proportion of his furniture. Some of the finest goods are made up by himself, and men in the trade have frequently passed the remark that he gets the best finish on his goods of any maker between Montreal and London. In upholstering, too, Mr. Clegg aims to excel, and the fact that his parlor suites, ranging in price from $50 to $250, are constantly being sold in Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay, Campbellford and other towns and villages nearer town, as well as in Peterborough itself, is striking evidence of the excellence of his work. In fact fine parlor furniture has come to be recognized as his specialty. He always keeps a large stock on hand, some finished and some in linen covers only, as well as an immense quantity of more ordinary goods, such as tables, chairs, bedroom sets, hall racks, etc., etc. The warerooms, as has been stated, are filled to repletion with furniture of every quality and description. Mr. Clegg claims to have the largest and best stock in town, and with his enlarged facilities for display and storage expects to be able to still better please the public. He also undertakes the complete furnishing and decoration of a house, a department of the business in which his evident taste and skill make him highly successful.

The ground floor and the one immediately above are to be painted and papered as soon as the walls of the new portions become dry, and when this is done the long apartments, ornamented with rich and artistic furniture, will present a handsome appearance.

The EXAMINER is pleased to observe these evidences of Mr. Clegg's prosperity and enterprise. The tastily ornate show window is an indication of the fine display within.

It might also be mentioned that Mr. Clegg has an undertaking department in connection with the establishment, in which line also he is fully prepared to meet public requirements.

The Board of Trade.

A Committee Thinks the Trent Valley Canal will Become a Reality—The Railway and Postal Accommodations Of Peterborough Discussed by Representative Merchants—New Manufactories in Prospect.

The quarterly meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the council chamber last night. Among those present were Mr. W. H. Moldrum, President, in the chair, Mr. J. H. Barnham, Secretary, Messrs. H. S. McDonald, H. LeBrun, T. Kelly, H. Phelan, G. W. Ranney, C.E., R. Peplow, B. Shortly, R. G. Kingan, W. B. Ferguson, Mactarlane Wilson, W. H. Moore, T. A. Hay, D. W. Dumble, F. H. Dobbin, Wm. Manson, R. Fair and Robt. Innes.

After the minutes had been read this report was presented:—

REGARDING RAILWAY MATTERS.

To the Board of Trade, Peterborough:—

Your Railway Committee beg leave to report as follows:—

Your Committe is pleased to learn that an application is being made for a charter for a line of railway from Sault Ste Marie and passing through Peterborough to some point on Lake Ontario.

Your Committee in view of the fact that there are three trunk lines of railway from the west to the Sault, and only one (the C. P. R.) eastward from that point, are of opinion that it follows of necessity there must be, in the near future, additional communication eastward from the Sault, and the only question left is what points it will touch in reaching Lake Ontario, or the River St. Lawrence. The Board of Trade, your Committee believes, could exercise an influence in directing the course of such railway by way of Peterborough, the most important point on the line.

Your committee is also very hopeful that a favorable report will be made by the commissioners of the Trent Valley Canal at the next session of Parliament, and your committee would suggest that your Board make arrangements, by a deputation or otherwise, as decided best, to wait on the Government and urge that the works be undertaken without further delay, and that the section from Peterborough to Lakefield be the first put under contract. Your committee is of opinion that it is only a question of time when this public work will be undertaken, and that the coming Session would be the most opportune moment to make a demand on the Government for promotion of a work to which the Government, by the large expenditure it has already made, really stands committed.

Your committee is of opinion that the town council are entitled to the greatest credit for their energy and activity in an effort to secure new manufacturing establishments in our town, and are delighted that such efforts have been crowned, during this year, with such signal success, due largely, your committee believes, to the vigor and spirit shewn by the members of the Manufacturing Committee of the Council, with the action of which committee your Railway Committee is, in every respect, in complete harmony.

Your committee have learned that some of our manufacturing establishments have not, at present, as satisfactory service from the lines of railway on the siddings as is desirable, and your committee would recommend that your Board take such action as is thought best to obtain improved service from the roads; and would also suggest that your Board urge on the railways the necessity of placing gates across our leading streets to prevent accidents like that which recently happened and which will certainly be repeated if the streets are not better protected.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

ROBERT FAIR,
Chairman.

The report was received.

THE POSTAL SERVICE.

The President brought before the Board the question of the delivery of mails in Peterborough, particularly those from the west, and suggested that the attention of the Post-master-General be called to the unsatisfactory position we are placed in with regard to this matter. There has been no improvement in our situation within the past 20 years. The Toronto daily papers, for instance, are printed before five o'clock in the morning, but do not reach here until 11:30. He had no doubt if the matter was laid before the Postmaster-General he would take steps to give the town an early mail.

Some discussion followed, and Mr. Fair further suggested, and others concurred in the suggestion, that the lobby of the post office here might be kept open until ten o'clock at night and the night mails also kept open until ten o'clock for the public convenience.

No definite steps were, however, taken.

NEW INDUSTRIES IN PROSPECT.

Mr. MOORE, of the Manufacturers' Committee, said that at the last meeting of the Committee there had been no quorum, but they had talked over various matters, among them the probability of establishing a car works here. Mr. Hay had provided a plan of grounds suitable for such works. Mr. Moore regretted that he was on this Committee, as he was also on the Manufacturers' Committee, of the town council and as such could not speak as freely as he might. He could say however that the Committee of the Council had some new industries in prospect, with very good grounds for believing that they would locate here. Mr. Moore hoped that the Board would support the town council in these matters; their support was very important, as representing the general business views of the town. Mr. Moore's little speech was warmly applauded.

A discussion ensued regarding the further advertising of the town. It was known that the Edison works were attracted to Peterborough solely by our unexcelled facilities, and full advantage of these should be taken. The advertising that has been done already has had good effect, and it was suggested that the recommendation of the Council of the Board of Trade should be adopted, and the secretary instructed to send out a personal letter to the manufacturers in the United States and England, who would be likely to establish the industries which are a necessity in Canada, and for which there is a good market.

THE WATER POWER.

Mr. Ranney, C.E., was asked if his report upon the water power available between this and Lakefield was ready. Mr. Ranney said he did not quite understand what was expected of him, and the president replied that the Board wished a complete survey, estimate and plan of the available water power and sites between Lakefield and Peterborough. Mr. Ranney said he would report at a future meeting.

Mr. MOORE said it would be an immense addition to the facilities of the town if the C. P. R. could be induced to extend their spur line, and run up the side of the river to Lakefield.

The PRESIDENT said that it was only a matter of time when the C. P. R. would do this; the only difficulty in their way now, he understood, was the question of the right of way. If the present spur line was made a main line it would be objected to by manufacturers living along the route.

DISCUSSING THE RAILWAYS.

The previously received report of the Railway Committee was taken up clause by clause and discussed by the members of the Board, Mr. Dumble and others taking part.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Railway Committee for their admirable report.

Messrs. George A. Schofield, J. W. Taylor and Charles S. Stapleton were elected members of the Board of Trade.

Personal.

Mr. Hugh Davidson, his many friends will be pleased to learn, is much improved under Dr. Yelland's care, but he is not yet in condition to be removed to his home.

Sergt. J. Mellor, of "D" Company, 57th Batt., has returned from Toronto School of Infantry. He was successful in winning a second-class certificate.

The Cold Snap

And the Lesson It Teaches.

After lying low and pretending to be very considerate and shy, the winter, blizzard and all, has swept down upon us like a wolf on the fold, and everybody, whether he is wise or not, is compelled to face the situation. You are not now anxious to seek the shady corner of the piazza garbed in the lightest summer clothing. Even your fall flannels and light overcoat are a mockery, a delusion and a snare. Take a look through your wardrobe, and you will find that you want something that will resist the keen tooth of the wintry wind, that will keep la grippe at arm's length and leave the doctor without a job. The cold weather and mercury makes a stir in the world, and you will want to be moving about, therefore, prepare yourself with clothing that will enable you to laugh the weather to scorn. And in order to secure this, just make a note of the fact that the very best place this side of the North Pole, is at the great Clothing Store of H. LeBrun & Co. If you want a suit of warm, soft, rich Underclothing at reasonable figures, go to LeBrun & Co. If you want a warm Suit, latest style, neatest cut, and finest fit, and for the least money, go to H. LeBrun & Co. If you want a warm cosy overcoat, well made, warm as wealth and cheap as charity, you can get it at H. LeBrun & Co's. How proud, how happy, how self satisfied a man is when he knows that he is well dressed, and warmly, quite indifferent what way the wind blows! LeBrun & Co. keep nothing but the best goods, and they have decided to make a tremendous cut in prices from now till Christmas. Don't delay; delays are dangerous. If you want your suit for Christmas, see that you order it now. If you do not you might freeze to death, and then we would lose a good customer, the county a good citizen. Call and see LeBrun & Co's magnificent stock, fully complete, and the best of quality in every department; stylish gents' furnishing and genuine, thoroughbred Scotch and Canadian tweeds. Readymade clothing and overcoats for all who have been caught napping by the cold snap. 2d130-1w

Fancy Goods Opening.

Annual Display at the Fancy Goods Store of Mrs. E. E. Ross.

A love for beauty, wealth and variety is implanted in every person of taste and refinement, and in this respect it is admitted that the ladies—"the loves of Creation"—pretty well monopolize the field. Their keen appreciation of harmony in colour, uniqueness of design, and delight in delicacy of material and workmanship, render them specially fond of personal and domestic adornament. What household has not experienced the brightening effect of the touch of woman's tasteful hand? Little nick-nacks, articles of usefulness and ornamentation, add cheerfulness and variegate the otherwise sombre shades of drawing room and boudoir. It is, therefore, a matter of deep interest to the ladies to know where they can find these fancy goods, and indulge to a limited extent at least, in their ardent admiration of things beautiful. The annual Christmas opening of Mrs. E. E. Ross' fancy good store took place last night, and from seven o'clock until ten the gay little store was thronged with ladies, who inspected the large and complete stock, and made their selections for Christmas. A male mind utterly fails to grasp the subtle combinations of colours and material which were exhibited in rich profusion and variety, but a few of the most striking articles may be mentioned. Of course there was the usual display of embroideries, drapes and articles of wearing apparel. The latest novelty is Algerian cloth for chair scarfs and easel drapes. It makes up very prettily with appropriate trimmings. Pompadour plush is much used for covering pin cushions, etc., and Roman sheeting is the name of a new and handsome material for table covers. Celluloid work still holds its own in public favor. It is capable of exquisite combinations. The lines were hung with silks, plain, figured and Louis silks, in all colors and patterns. Two very pretty things were a tea cosy embellished with Roman embroidery, and a chair pad made of figured silk. Spider ornamentation is very fashionable this year. It appears mainly on drapes and scarfs. Useful little baskets were shown, adapted for holding thimbles, spools, clippings, etc., and—gum. A large variety of gentlemen's goods is also kept in stock, such as worked slippers, chamois tobacco pouches, gold and silver mounted cigar cases, match boxes, etc. Mrs. Ross can supply Christmas gifts suitable for every class of persons. Some beautiful dolls are shown for the little folks. Altogether the opening was a very successful one, displaying as it did the varied resources and rich profusion of the fancy goods kept in stock.

Dr. Bessey Coming.

Dr. W. E. Bessey, the celebrated Toronto specialist, will be at the Snowden House on Saturday, December 6th. He is meeting with great success in his monthly visits to Peterborough. Dr. Bessey practiced his profession in Montreal for over twenty years, and at one time was Medical Health Officer of that great Canadian city. Since 1885 Dr. Bessey has been engaged in special studies, turning his attention to the development of a painless cure of all rectal diseases, their influence on the general health, and the best method of treatment. He has succeeded, and he now presents to the world an entirely new treatment for all rectal diseases, even though the disease be hereditary. 3d127-1w

STILL HANGING FIRE.

PARNELL'S RETIREMENT NOT YET CONSUMATED.

A Committee of the Nationalist Party Interview Gladstone and He Gives Satisfactory Assurances that He will Advocate a Home Rule Measure.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Messrs. Healy, Redmond, Sexton and Leamy, who were entrusted with the negotiations with Mr. Gladstone, drove to the residence of the Liberal leader at 12½ to-day. Ten minutes before the arrival of the delegation Mr. Morley, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Earl Spencer and Earl Granville, who had been conferring with Mr. Gladstone, took their departure. The conference between the committee and Mr. Gladstone lasted an hour, and on its conclusion the delegates returned to the room in the House of Commons in which the proceedings of the Nationalists are being held.

Mr. Gladstone gave the Irish delegates a cordial reception. He acted throughout with the full approval of his colleagues He discussed the whole position of the Liberals, the present political situation and the probable effect of Parnell's retention of the Irish leadership on the Liberal party.

Arnold Morley was present at the conference and when it was over he remained in consultation with Mr. Gladstone. Subsequently he told reporters Mr. Gladstone did not intend to publish anything regarding the meeting. The delegates were also reluctant to give the particulars of the interview, which they regarded as strictly confidential.

It is doubtful whether Parnell will consider that Gladstone's reception of the delegates without the presence of Morley and Harcourt fulfils the conditions of the arrangements of the meeting.

The resolution relative to Mr. Parnell, which was adopted by the Catholic hierarchy of Ireland, will be read in all the Catholic churches and chapels in Ireland.

No Reference to Parnell.

It is claimed that Mr. Gladstone at the conference with the delegation suggested a modification on the Clancy resolution. He desired that no reference be made to the question of Parnell's leadership. He said Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. Morley had decided not to take part in the conference, and suggested that their names be omitted from the resolution.

The delegates explained Gladstone's proposals to the Nationalist meeting and an amicable discussion followed. Parnell was in the chair.

The Clancy resolution was rescinded by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Redmond then offered a resolution authorizing Messrs. Leamy, Redmond, Healy and Sexton to request a conference with Mr. Gladstone for the purpose of representing the views of the Irish party and requesting that an intimation be given them regarding intentions of Gladstone and his colleagues with respect to certain details connected with the land question and the Irish constabulary in the event of Home Rule being granted. Mr. Sexton seconded the motion, which was carried with only two opposing votes, Chance and Barry. The meeting then adjourned, and the deputation immediately sought Mr. Gladstone and imparted to him the new resolution.

Mr. Gladstone at once convoked an informal meeting of all his colleagues with whom he could communicate. Sir William Harcourt, Mr. Morley, Earl Granville, Lord Herschel Arnold, Morley and others responded. Soon after the conference met.

A Second Interview Unnecessary

Mr Gladstone intimated through the party whips that a second interview with the Irish deputation was unnecessary, their resolution and the written statement of the committee having put him in full possession of the facts. The Parnellite members postponed a further meeting until to-morrow.

At midnight no reply had been received from Mr. Gladstone but one is expected early to-morrow.

The following cablegram has been received from William O'Brien: "Have kept silence out of respect for deliberations of our colleagues, confidently relying on their mature judgment and that of the Irish people. Don't be misled by hasty or ill-informed American telegrams. All sober opinion here overwhelmingly with us. Not a single daily throughout the United States but agree with us that Gladestone's boundaries is unimpeachable, that disruption of Liberal alliance means destruction, and that if the Irish party come to a prompt decision the Irish cause will occupy a more impregnable position than ever.

Anti-Parnellites Satisfied

Messrs. Healy and Sexton, the anti Parnell members of the delegation, are satisfied with the result of the interview with Gladstone. The Liberal leader gave no definite promise regarding the points submitted, but he said sufficient in their opinion to justify the majority of the Irish party in considering his assurances satisfactory.

The Daily News asserts 44 Parnellite members of Parliament will resign their seats if Parnell retains the leadership.

Mr Gladstone, in an elec[illegible] writes that it is not the duty of the [illegible] party to hit Ireland on the left cheek because she has been hit on the right by the conduct of the leader whom she deposes.

The Chronicle publishes an interview with Cardinal Manning, in which he says his opinion is admirably expressed by the manifesto issued by the Irish hierarchy, which he believes will gain in influence, because it took due time to consider the question before issuing the manifesto. He agreed entirely with the views it expressed, both politically and orally, but Parnell's retirement should be made compulsory on those of moral grounds, politics being a secondary consideration

The Standard says the English people cannot longer regard the quarrel with indifference. It is amazed that Gladstone has consented to negotiate these questions.

Queen's College Men Indulge in a Mockery of Religion.

OXFORD, Dec. 5.—Queen's College was lately the scene of a serious outbreak among the under graduates. A party of 15 or 16 young men set out in masquerading costume, the leader being dressed as a bishop, with mitre and crosier and all the paraphernalia peculiar to that office. Among the others there was one nun, two colyten with censers and incense, while the balance wore surplices. All bore a sanctimonious and highly mock decorous look and semblance. They marched in procession an carried cups containing large doses of whiskey, and bishop trained while a number of biscuits concluded the dietary portion of the escapade, the whole being covered with a white cloth. The marauders went the rounds of the college, battering open doors and forcing their way into the bedrooms of the Freshmen. When they had dragged out a sufficient number of victims and gathered them together, shivering in their scant nightdress, the masqueraders proceeded to celebrate high mass, and forced their victims to go through the ceremony to its smallest detail, urging them thereto with cutting blows from switches or sticks. The victims were forced to drink quantities of the whiskey and gorge themselves with the biscuits.

The party then broke up, but five of the participators went to the room of a fellow student who had as yet not been disturbed, and dragged him out of bed, stripped his night-shirt from him, tore it into shreds, and then carried him into the court, where they tied him to a tree and left him stark naked until morning. The outraged man, acting on the advice of some of the more substantial college men, appealed to the authorities to redress the injuries and gave the names of the aggressors. The Dons, after hearing the case, decided that the charge of blasphemy was not proven, but the forcing their way into the men's rooms was pronounced to be a brutal outrage and punishments were dealt out accordingly.

The punishment dealt out was sending two men down for good; two more were rusticated and the others were gated for one or two terms. The majority in the college, however, declares against the informers and still more against those who counselled them to lay information before the faculty. The expelled men were conducted in triumph to the railway station and a vote of censure was passed by 70 out of the 105 under-graduates against those who had supported the victims in their complaint. The vote was accompanied by threats of vengeance.

The college has since been in a state of siege, the minority living in nightly fear of violence. On many nights an armed watch has been maintained and a display of pistols, swords, sticks and bludgeons made.

Another Train Robbery.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—Another daring railway robbery has been committed in the south of France, but the prepetrator was taken into custody before he could escape with his plunder. The thief made an attack with a knife on a passenger in one of the compartments of a coach, and after seizing his money and valuables jumped from the train. The victim gave an alarm. The train was stopped and the train hands and some of the passengers started in pursuit of the robber. He was captured and turned over to the police. The affair occurred on the Lyons railroad.

A King's Funeral.

THE HAGUE, Dec. 5.—The body of the late King of Holland was interred at Delft today with impressive ceremonies. The funeral cortege arrived at Delft at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The church where the burial service was held was crowded with a large congregation, including the Ministers of State and many officials and deputations. Dr. Koetsveld preached an affecting burial sermon. Just before the burial took place the Minister of Justice affixed seals to the King's coffin. It was then lowered to a vault in the church near the monument to William the Silent. The coffin was covered with flowers sent by the widowed Queen.

The Body of a Murdered Child Found Buried on a Farm.

CREIGHTON, Dec. 5.—The body of an infant was found on the farm of James Nash. The child was partly covered with leaves and snow and looked as though it had been murdered. The authorities were notified and an inquest held, a verdict being returned in accordance with the facts. Suspicion points towards a girl by the name of Walsh, who was delivered of a child about two weeks ago, and an information was sworn out against her for concealment of birth.

The "Poison Bill" Killed.

QUEBEC, Dec. 5.—The poison bill of the Hon. D. A. Ross has been killed in the Private Bills Committee. The bill was to compel chemists and druggists to put up all poisons in triangular-shaped bottles. This was shown to be not only impracticable, as several patent medicines and foods are thus put up, but that the bill's passage would not attain the object aimed at, as thousands of bottles constantly being sent out would get into ordinary circulation and thus their value as poison protectors would be lost.

Resulted Fatally.

GUELPH, Dec. 5.—George Scott, cattle dealer, died to-day from blood poisoning, which followed injuries he received by being kicked by a stallion a fortnight ago.

MURDERERS TO HANG.

THREE CANADIAN EXECUTIONS WITHIN A FORTNIGHT.

How the Niagara Falls Murderer Spends His Time—The Jury Who Found Blanchard Guilty Ask for His Reprieve—The Three Rivers Tragedy Yet a Mystery.

WELLAND, Dec. 5.—"I never saw a man with a better appetite," said Turnkey Gilchriese to-day to a reporter who dropped into the jailer's office to enquire how Arthur Hoyt Day, who is to be executed on the 19th, was bearing up under the sentence of death. "He eats everything set before him with a keen relish, and the bill of fare is not a meagre one."

"What is the bill of fare?"

"Well, it varies, but it is something like this:

Breakfast: Porridge, beefsteak or lamb chop, toast and coffee. Dinner: Roast beef, mashed potatoes, cabbage and other vegetables, with pie or pudding for dessert. Supper: Canned fruit, toast and tea.

"He begins to feel his position keenly," said Mr. Gilchriese, "and frequently has despondent turns, when the tears flow copiously, but at times he assumes a jaunty air and whistles some lively tune, as though trying to forget his approaching doom."

Unless Day is granted a respite or a commutation of his sentence he must suffer the penalty in 13 days. The gallows upon which he will be executed is the same one which was constructed in 1865 for Esterbee, but not used, the prisoner's sentence being commuted. It is constructed on the weight principle, the victim standing on the ground and, by the fall of a 350 pound weight, is jerked into the air. The anglun of death has a history, and it is the first one of the kind constructed in Canada. Shortly before the day set for the Esterbee execution Mr. Gilchriese saw an illustration of a gallows to be used in Elmira at an execution, and the simplicity of its construction, as well as the advantage of using a weight instead of the drop. A deputation of the County Council were sent to Elmira to examine it. When they returned they brought the gallows with them, and had one constructed on the same pattern. When Kane and Nail of Toronto and Hargway of Guelph were executed the gallows was borrowed, and the Toronto officials had one constructed on the same principle, and it was from the Toronto one the pattern was taken for the machine which sent Birchall into eternity.

Will be as Private as Possible

Sheriff Smith is receiving applications by the hundred for admission to the execution, and they come from over a wide extent of country, one application coming from Worcester, Mass., Buffalo, Rochester and Lockport furnishing a large number of applicants. The sheriff is very much opposed to giving any more publicity than barely necessary to his affair. "You can say," said he to a reporter, "that I am not issuing any invitations to the execution, nor shall I grant any passes outside of the officials, a few medical men and press representatives."

"Have you received any applications from people anxious to be executioner?" ventured the reporter

"Yes, I've had three already: two from Toronto and one from London, but of course I can't divulge their names, except Radcliffe, who did the job for Birchall."

"No, I can't tell you just where the gallows will be located, or what hour the execution will take place. It is a little too early yet to settle such details."

Wants to See His Daughter.

Day has talked quite freely with Dr Smith, the jail surgeon, and has several times shown him a photograph of his little girl and expressed a great desire to see her before he dies. When he learned that his request would be granted the jail yard he seemed to feel it keenly, and said he would like to have his remains interred at Rochester. He does not mention the name of his father, Mrs. Quigley, but often speaks of his mother

"I don't want my time of life extended," he said. "If I could see my mother and my little girl just once I would then be ready, even if it were to-morrow."

He wants to have a photograph taken for his little girl, and on day last week he gave Guard Spearing a ring to tell that he might have the process to pay the photographer. The ring was disposed of, and the picture was not taken some time before the day of execution.

Day is always pleased to see his spiritual adviser, Rev. Mr. McQuaig, but he does not appear to have a mind capable of grasping spiritual truths. "He is not a cunning man," said Mr. McQuaig. "It would be more proper to call him simple-minded than cunning. He takes an interest in Bible readings but it does not seem to make any impression on him, although there is no doubt but that in time he would fully realize his terrible position."

The petition asking for the commutation of Day's sentence has so far only received 45 signatures. It was left in the possession of some days, where some of the smart-aleck have amused themselves by writing facetious names thereon, with a sickly attempt to be funny

TO DIE DECEMBER 6.

Efforts to Secure a Commutation of Blanchard's Sentence.

PETERBOROUGH, Dec. 5.—Last night Mr Campbell sent a petition signed by the 12 jurors who gave the verdict against Blanchard to the Governor General asking him to reconsider his decision on the question of commutation. The jurors adage in the petition that when they found their verdict guilty [illegible] they would not [illegible] would be inflicted on account of the [illegible] but they would not be willful to murder, that they consider that Blanchard should not be hanged, and that if the hanging should take place it would be a public misfortune. It is understood that certain members of Parliament are exerting their influence with the Minister of Justice to have him reconsider the matter. In the meantime Blanchard is calmly and resignedly awaiting death. He was baptized last week, and received the sacraments of the Catholic church. He talks very composedly of his execution, and suggests that the reformatory boys should be present to learn a solemn lesson.

This One Acquitted.

Australia also is rich in species about 10,000 being now known.

Warring Sawbones—A Well-Known Musician Dead.

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—Dr. G. W. Strathy, the best authority on music in Canada, is dead. Deceased was for over 30 Professor of Music in Trinity University.

A motion has been granted to examine Dr. Scott in the slander suit of Campbell vs. Scott for $5000 damages. This is a fight between two doctors of the town of Seaforth who have never been very fast friends. Last June Dr. Campbell was called to attend one Ireland, a farmer living near Seaforth. Ireland and Scott, it is alleged, circulated many slanders regarding Dr. Campbell's treatment of Ireland, and going so far as to allege that he had killed him.

William Sinott, son of the late Patrick Sinott, formerly a hotelkeeper in this city, was shot dead through the heart in Chicago on Dec. 3. The fatality was the result of a gambling row. Who fired the fatal shot is a mystery, but John Sheridan, the bartender in Gilligan's saloon, in which the row occurred, has been placed under arrest. The body was brought to the city by the 8.20 express from Chicago last night.

The annual dinner of Trinity University Medical Society was held last evening at Webb's and proved an unusual success.

PREAKS CROWDED THE COURT.

They Listened to a Divorce Suit Against a "Black Art" Man.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—There was an assemblage in that part of the Supreme Court over which Judge Ingraham presided yesterday—Part II. of the Special Term—which, very likely, the casual observer would have pronounced quite commonplace. There were men and women there, a score or more of them, who looked like ordinary people dressed in common, every-day clothes. They were all dime museum people, however, freaks, performers and the like, and the only reason they appeared uninteresting was because they were not on exhibition.

The case was a divorce suit. If the patrons of the Bowery museums for the past few weeks have noticed animated conversations going on among the freaks at times when they should have been posing for public inspection, the reason could have been learned at yesterday's proceedings, for the case has been creating a great deal of excitement among the "professionals" for a long time.

Prof. Selig Schlam was the defendant He is mentioned on the yellow hand-bills as a "master of the black art," and is regarded with a great deal of respect by freaks generally because he does his act in a dress suit. Several years ago an east-side girl named Dora Richter became impressed by his elegance of manner and the marvelous things he did on the platform, and she spent 10 cents at the box-office at frequent intervals to see him. Her face became a familiar one among the spectators in his eyes, and they became acquainted and finally were married.

The young wife spent a great deal of her time at the various museums with her husband, at first because she was fascinated by the life into which she was introduced and afterwards because it came to her notice that the professor was bestowing a great deal of attention between performances upon various female freaks who sat on the platform with him. Then he went to Boston and Philadelphia to fill engagements and left her behind. Gradually they drifted apart, but the magician's wife learned a great deal of her husband's movements from the freaks with whom she had become acquainted. The bearded lady, the Indian princess and the glass-eater were great gossips, and Mrs. Schlam became very uneasy over things she heard.

The Circassian girl had gone to Boston and Philadelphia to fill simultaneous engagements with the professor of the black art. At first Mrs Schlam thought that perhaps the bearded lady and the Indian princess might be jealous of the Circassian girl, but when the professor returned to New York the Circassian girl came back too. Finally the young wife learned that the Circassian girl was known in private life, and she had doffed her wig and gorgeous costume, as Mrs. Schlam, and she went straight to Howe & Hummel and retained them to bring the suit which was tried yesterday.

Evidence in plenty was produced before Judge Ingraham, and he granted the divorce. Now the young wife will go back to the east side and become Dora Richter again, sorry that she ever became impressed with the glamor of a dime museum and the mysteries of a life among the freaks.

Cost a Leg and Mayhap a Life.

STRATFORD, Dec. 5.—J. P. Bannon of Elles, while engaged in killing pigs two or three weeks ago, accidentally stabbed himself in the leg below the knee. The accident was not thought to be serious at the time, but blood-poisoning set in and yesterday the limb was amputated. Bannon is still low and may die.

Marriage Under Difficulties.

DETROIT, Dec. 5.—Fred McGriffin, a 40-year-old clerk from Toronto, wanted to marry Mrs. Mary Smith of that city. There were some objections on the part of officious persons and so Mr. McGriffin brought the widow and her 7-year-old son to Detroit to-day and the couple were made one by the Rev Mr. Peters.

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st October in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date, to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now; but they have come at last and open out beautifully. We have two ranges, plain and fancy backs, at $1.00 and $1.25, in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta; some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us, and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better, and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit.

Although early in the season our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing, which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on our counters. They are desirable goods, and worth remembering.

Opened out this week a job line of Dress Goods, 12½c. yd.; also a fresh lot of Flannelettes at 8c.

We claim to have the best line 5c. Grey Cotton in the country. All other Cottons proportionate value.

"If it be well to wash the skin—and we never heard the proposition questioned—it is well also that we should be familiar with the means by which that purpose may be most efficiently attained.

"We once knew a beautiful woman, with a nice complexion, who had never washed her face with soap all her life through; her means of polishing were a smear of grease or cold cream; then a wipe, and then a lick with rose water. Of course we did not care to look too closely after such an avowal, but we pitied her, for soap is the food of the skin.—

Soap is to the skin what Wine is to the stomach,

SOUTH VICTORIA.

Where are the Equal Righters who were so numerous during the Ontario general elections? Why haven't they turned up in South Victoria? The writ for an election has been issued, the nomination is to take on Thursday, December 11th, and the polling on December 18th. And yet we hear nothing of a candidate to carry the banner of Equal Rights. Has the zealous, if not always discreet, missionary work of the Warder "panned out" below expectations? Has the Warder printed Roman Catholic with a small r and a small c so long in vain? Or has the Equal Rights' cry served its purpose in the vigorous but vain attempt to make "Mowat go," and thus lost whatever usefulness it ever possessed? Or would it be a bad stroke of policy to embarrass the Dominion Government party by bringing out an Equal Rights candidate? The Dominion Government committed all the political sin that originated the Equal Rights movement. The Dominion Government refused to disallow the Jesuit Estates Act. The Equal Rights Association on June 12th, 1889, was founded on the non-disallowance of the "Jesuit Estates Act, and had no more to do with Ontario politics than with the man in the moon. Yet we saw a clique of Tory wire-pullers turning the movement on Mr. Mowat as a means of defeating him. This was denied, but what do now find? Where now is Dalton McCarthy, the head and front, mouth piece and prophet of the movement? He came down, like a wolf on the fold, on West Peterborough last spring, predicting the ruin of the country unless the Separate School Law was swept off the Statute book. Now where is Dalton McCarthy? Why, isn't he showing his colours in South Victoria? For the simple reason, it seems, that his Tory allies must not be embarrassed. It was all very well to "go for" Mowat, who hadn't even the ghost of nothing to do with the Jesuit Estates Act; but we must deal gently with Sir John Macdonald, who had the power of disallowance in his hands, and who not only did not disallow the bill but with insulting flippancy dubbed the thirteen men who voted for disallowance, the "devil's dozen." Last year there were a few honest Equal Righters, but the vast majority were playing Sir John's game to make "Mowat go." The game was transparent enough then; but it is a million times plainer now.

THE Red Parlor politicians, the pap fed press, and the high taxationist statesmen profess to regard the McKinley bill, which practically excludes Canadian produce of soil, forest and factory from the United States, as a blessing in disguise. It will, they assert, develop the latent enterprise of Canadians and cause them to seek new markets and open out new avenues of trade. Accepting—for the sake of being good-natured—this as correct, why would not unrestricted reciprocity tend to develop the ingenuity, competitive spirit and enterprise of Canadian manufacturers? Why should not the argument apply in the latter case as well as the former?

Wonderful Words! Beautiful Words!

When Professor Morse returned from Europe to America in 1844, he proceeded at once to Washington to induce the House of Representatives to grant an appropriation of $30,000 for the completion of a telegraph line between Washington and Baltimore. The matter was then referred to the Senate for final action, and on the last night of the session it was passed. Morse was informed of the result of the vote by Miss Ellsworth who had greatly assisted him by her influence. The line was completed, and Miss Ellsworth had Morse's promise that she would have the privilege of sending the first message. Morse had business in New York, and had just money enough left to pay his expenses there and back. On his return he at once sent for Miss Ellsworth and after ascertaining that the line was in order he asked her what message he would send for her; she immediately replied:—"What Hath God Wrought!" Words that ought to be written in characters of living light.

Since that time the great telegraphic system has been a boon, and a source of priceless value to mankind. Paine' Celery Compound came to the rescue of the sick and perishing at a time when it was greatly needed. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M.D., LL.D., gave to the world and to its suffering ones, a remedy for the stay of disease and death, which it never had before. It held out to the weak, nervous and sleepless victim the beautiful motto "Use and find Life;" and those who had faith and used it, were restored to their friends and made whole in mind and body.

Since its introduction thousands in all lands have been restored to health and strength, to sing its praises and recommend it to others.

Sufferers, from whatever form of nervous diseases you may suffer, use Paine's Celery Compound; it possesses to-day the same healing powers, as in the days of its great originator. It will cleanse and thoroughly invigorate the whole system, and give a tone and vim to the body which will enable you to sleep well and live happy.

Wedding at Haliburton.

A felicitous event was celebrated on Thursday Nov. 28th, at 6 a. m., at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Stewart, "Newnham," Haliburton, when Mr. Antoine Mathieu, cashier in the French department of the Bank of England, London, joined the benedicts, and took for his future partner Miss Constance Stewart, second daughter of Mr. C. R. Stewart. The wedding took place in the drawing room at "Newnham," and was performed by the Rev. P. J. McGuire, of Bracebridge. The ceremony was quietly performed, only the friends of the bride and groom being present. The bride was prettily dressed in a neutral travelling tint, with beaver hat and feathers to match; the bridesmaids were her sister Arabella, and neice Genevieve Galbraith, aged two years. Both bridesmaids were dressed in pale blue satin, covered with fish net. The bridegroom was supported by one of his best friends, Mr. Briggs, who had invited him to Canada a few months ago. The happy couple were made the recipients of many very handsome presents. They left by the early train on their way to New York and other American cities, where they intend spending their honeymoon.—Post.

CUT HIS OWN TONGUE OUT.

Strange Self-Mutilation of an Apparently Sane Unknown Man.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 6.—A strange case of self-mutilation came to light to-day, in which a man who is not suspected of insanity cut his tongue out with a razor.

The act was committed on Sunday morning in a boarding house on Broadway, where the stranger, who gave the name of Wilson, but refused to give his initials, took a room three weeks ago. During his stay he lived on bread and water, although he was known to have had plenty of money. On Sunday, for the first time since his arrival, he rang his bell, and the landlady, in responding, found on the outside of his door a newspaper on the margin of which had been scribbled: "Send for a surgeon to stop the bleeding." On the room being entered the lodger was found bending over a wash basin with blood pouring from his mouth. He was perfectly calm and was attempting to stop the hemorrhage with a wet handkerchief. A bloody razor lay on the bed and spots of blood were on the carpet.

A doctor was called and the man's injuries were dressed. He stood the painful ordeal with wonderful nerve, for while the flesh quivered under the surgeon's needle the man himself gave no indication of suffering. The severed portion of the tongue had been thrown away by the man, whose every act showed the utmost deliberation. He had shaved himself cleanly, taken a bath, carefully dressed himself with the exception of his coat, and then evidently seized his tongue, pushed the razor into his mouth as far as it would go and with a quick slash cut off the offending member.

The accomplishment of the deed seems to have been the man's sole aim, as he carried out the surgeon's directions for treatment to the letter. Calling upon the surgeon next day, the latter endeavored to gain the mysterious man's confidence, but he only gave a shrug of the shoulders, and on a little tablet which he brought with him asked for his bill, which he paid. He then returned to the lodging house and endeavored to call the landlady to accept money for the trouble he had put her to by his singular act. He then bade her good-bye and she heard nothing of him until this morning, when she received an envelope containing a money order for $25 from Yuma, which must have come from him. She describes him as a scholarly, polished man of dark complexion, medium height, of exquisite politeness and in her opinion he was a priest. He held no intercourse with any one, and seemed simply to have come to this city to carry out his singular scheme of self-mutilation. He had expensive baggage with him. But no clue of any kind can be found which will indicate who he was or why he cut his tongue out.

Drowned While Skating.

DALRYMPLE, Dec. 5.—Nelson Plews and George Fox, aged 18, were skating on Mud Lake and dropped into two holes about 16 feet apart. Plews can swim, but Fox could not. They struggled to keep up for fully five minutes, breaking ice and falling back again. They both had mitts on and the mitts would slip. At last Plews managed to pull off his mitts and get one foot up and caught the heel of his skate on the ice and threw himself out. He then skated ashore and got a pole and went back to rescue his companion, but the poor fellow went down before assistance arrived.

Purify Your Blood

importance of the blood in a given condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

Sketching an Elephant with Flame—A Geological Discovery Which may have a Great Effect on the Application of Electricity—News and Notes.

A writer tells of a very entertaining experiment which he once saw performed in public. His description of it shows that it is simple enough for any boy or girl to successfully undertake it.

The lecturer held up a sheet of paper to which he touched the still glowing wick of a candle just blown out. Instantly the paper began to smolder, and it smoldered up and down in a narrow line until it had written "Canada Forever," which was the very last thing one would expect it to do.

AN ELEPHANT SKETCHED WITH FLAME.

"It is easy enough to prepare such papers," said the lecturer. "Take some saltpeter, a common salt known sometimes as niter, sometimes as nitrate of potash sometimes as potassic nitrate—all meaning the same thing—and dissolve it in water till the water will take up no more. In fact, make what is known as a saturated solution of it. Then with a wooden point—such as a match end—use this solution as an ink, and draw the pattern on such unsized paper as you see. Any paper will do, but the unsized paper will not show the mark when the liquid dries, which it very soon will do. But if there is no mark, how are you to know where to start from? Make a pencil mark at the spot. When you are ready apply to the mark a glowing stick like this. You will see the burning spread right and left until the ends meet, and you have a result like that!"

And out dropped an elephant.

An Electric Rock.

L. A. Dixon, of Sodus, N. Y., has just discovered a wonderful ore called "electric rock," which contains a hidden force that puzzles and astonishes all who see it, and expert electricians in particular. The rock is of a dark slate color, and is somewhat lighter in weight than sandstone. It is composed of iron, aluminum, calcium and other minerals, and particles of gold are also found sometimes. Mr. Dixon says that it will generate unlimited power and give any desired amount of incandescent light. For illuminating business places and residences it would be considerably cheaper than kerosene—in fact, after a building had been wired and the batteries prepared the cost would be merely nominal and the light would be equal if not superior to that produced by manufactured electricity. The making of a battery is very simple. The rock, in the quantity and for whatever purpose desired, is placed in jars containing a solution, the chief ingredients of which are salt and water. The circuit is then completed and the battery is ready for active business and the inventor claims that one charge of 400 pounds of rock will last and produce of light or power for at least one year before losing its force, and that it is perfectly harmless, making insulation entirely unnecessary. In Mr. Dixon's office a nine pound piece of the rock has been ringing a bell for nearly a year. A piece weighing half a pound was placed in a pint tumbler and the wires attached to a call bell which it caused to ring as loud as an alarm clock. The test was made in the presence of several gentlemen, who pronounced it a wonderful discovery.

Simple Water Tests.

TEST FOR LIME—Into a glass of water put two drops of oxalic acid and blow upon it. If it gets milky, lime is present.

TEST FOR HARD OR SOFT WATER.—Dissolve a small quantity of good soap in alcohol. Let a few drops fall into a glass of water. If it turns milky, it is hard: if not it is soft.

TESTS FOR IRON.—1. Boil a little nut-gal and add to the water. If it turns gray or lake, black iron is present. 2. Dissolve a little prussiate of potash, and, if iron is present, it will turn blue.

TEST FOR ACID.—Take a piece of litmus paper. If it turns red, there must be acid. If it precipitates on adding lime water, it is carbonic acid. If a blue sugar paper is turned red, it is a mineral acid.

TEST FOR CARBONIC ACID.—Take equal parts of water and clear lime water. If combined or free carbonic acid is present, a precipitate is seen, to which if a few drops of muriatic acid be added, an effervescence commences.

TEST FOR MAGNESIA.—Boil the water to a twentieth part of its weight, and then drop a few grains of neutral carbonate of ammonia into a glass of it, and a few drops of phosphate of soda. If magnesia be present it will fall to the bottom.

TEST FOR EARTHY MATTERS OR ALKALI.—Take litmus paper dipped in vinegar, and if on immersion, the paper returns to its true shade, the water does not contain earthy matter or alkali. If a few drops of syrup be added to a water containing an earthy matter, it will turn green.

Electricity as a Detective.

Electricity is now employed for keeping a record of the movements of the watchmen in public buildings and hotels, and this it does with rentless certainty. The watchman reports himself by an arrangement connected with a watchman's clock or otherwise, at any specified time, and his whereabouts at any particular hour of the night is made known at the office. An adaption of this system is also made in hospitals for the purpose of preventing surreptitious snooping on the part of nurses. Time indicators are placed in the wards, and once every hour the nurses are required to report to the doctor over the electric wire.

How do you pronounce a word spelled portiere? We get it all sorts of ways—porteer, porchair, porcheer and portiar. It's going the rounds now, as was did some years ago. In Boston, it was vaws; in Philadelphia, vars, and everywhere else, where they didn't care a cuss, they struck it vaes. We often wonder how these affectations arise. Portiere is a French word, and there is nothing about it which should confuse one; but take notice, among the retailers particularly, and you will find in a day's trip of the trade that views vary, all the way from porcheer to portiar. The best rules of orthoepy give the pronunciation portear, with the last syllable taking the "a" as in the word fat, and not the al as in fair. The best authorities, including Worcester, Walker and Johnson, pronounce vase with the sound pot as harsh as "s," nor soft as "z,"

The Hermit Jailed.

HAMILTON, Dec. 4.—Constable Springsteed of Stoney Creek brought an interesting prisoner into the city this morning. The man in custody was none other than the long-haired recluse, who has been living in the woods of Saltfleet for some time. He is about 60 years old. He has about two feet of matted grey hair and a long beard growing thickly on his face. His only shelter in the woods was composed of the trunks of trees put together like an inverted V and a lot of brushwood thrown over. He was clad in clothing that he had begged from time to time. When taken before the Magistrate he admitted that he depended for his living upon what he could get by begging. He talked little about himself, but was quite willing to sing and dance. He has lived in the wilds for many years. The Magistrate sent him to jail for five months.

They Want to Come In.

HALIFAX, Dec. 4.—A petition will be shortly forwarded to the Imperial Government from the people of the west coast of Newfoundland, asking for annexation to Canada. The petitioners say that they are geographically united to the Dominion, from which they are only 40 miles distant, while they are separated from the main colony of Newfoundland by a wilderness 500 miles wide. They further say that they now receive no protection against French aggression, while they are taxed to the last cent.

Cleveland League Baseballists' Officers to Engage Players After the War.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 4.—The annual meeting of the Cleveland League Baseball Club was held in Treasurer Howe's office here yesterday. The most important business before the meeting was the election of officers. Frank De H. Robinson was re-elected president, George Howe treasurer and Davis Hawley secretary. Last season's board of directors was also re-elected. No action was taken in the matter of securing a team for next season, as it has been decided by the league people not to engage any players until after the baseball war shall have been definitely settled in all the cities comprising the circuit.

Murderer Day Will Be Hanged.

OTTAWA, Dec. 4.—It is understood that the Minister of Justice will not interfere with the sentence of death under which Day now lies at Welland Jail for the murder of his wife.

The Dead.

Charles Marvin, the author, is dead.

M. Legrand Villers, governor of the Bank of France at Paris, died yesterday.

The Right Hon. Sir Barnes Peacock is dead. He was 80 years old. He was sworn a Privy Councillor in 1870.

The Rev. Samuel Carter Brown, D.D., aged 73, died in Boston, Tuesday. He was three times elected to the quadrennial sessions of the General Conference, and represented in 1876 the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States at the General Conference held in Canada.

A cable despatch from Berlin brings the intelligence of the death, at the age of 85 years of Heinrich Berghaus, the eminent German geographer. He was born at Cleves, in Prussia, and

"Away! Away! There is danger here!
A terrible phantom is bending near;
With no human look, with no human breath,
He stands beside thee—the haunter—Death!"

If there is one disease more than another that comes like the unbidden guest at a banquet, it is Catarrh. Insidiously it steals upon you, "with no human breath," it gradually, like the octopus, winds its coils about you and crushes you. But there is a medicine, called Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, that can tear you away from the monster, and turn the scythes' point of the reaper. The makers of this wonderful remedy offer, in good faith, a standing reward of $500 for an incurable case of Catarrh in the head.

Special cash prizes given away almost every day during competition which closes February 1st, 1891.

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

Anniversary Services.

The public are requested to remember that the anniversary services of the George Street Methodist church will be held on Sunday next. Rev. Leroy Hooker, pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist church, Toronto, will preach morning and evening. Special collections for the Trust Fund at both services.

First Assembly of the Season.

The village hall, Ashburnham, was the scene of a gay gathering last night. An assembly was given by the young bachelors of Peterborough, at which over fifty couples were present. "On with the dance, let joy be unconfined," was the watchword, and all went merry as a marriage bell till an early hour in the morning.

Birchall Neckties.

Some unscrupulous business men will make capital out of anything. A Napanee haberdasher is actually advertising the "Birchall tie" and a "great drop" in prices too. There is no excuse for such heartlessness as that, because hawley bros.' teas are the best in the country, and their coffees are ditto and their glassware ditto.

Skating at the Rink.

The skating season was opened last night and the inauguration ceremonies consisted of the lively movement of a hundred bright steel runners skimming over the virgin ice to the inspiriting music of the band. The ice was in first-class condition, and the young people who enjoy the healthy, happy sport were overjoyed at the commencement of the season once more. It is the intention of the managers to have the band at the rink each Friday evening during the winter.

Chimney Fire.

Chimney fires are now in season and if the public would bear in mind the following clause of a town by-law fires and fire-alarms would not be of such frequent occurrence:—

"That the occupant of every house within the said town shall cause every chimney and flue in his or her house, in which a fire is commonly made or kept, to be properly swept at least twice, between the first days of October and April in every year; and, in case of chimneys in daily use in manufactories, once in every eight weeks throughout the year."

A Severe Fall.

Friday evening Tom Savigny, a young man employed at Mr. John Armstrong's provision store, Water street, met with a severe accident. A trap door was being cut through the floor in the store behind the shop, and in the darkness last night young Savigny, forgetting the fact for the moment, fell through to the floor below. In his fall his head struck the edge of the board in the new cutting, and his nose and lip were badly cut, the nose was complete y severed from the lip just under the nostrils. Several stitches were put in the wound. Savigny was picked up unconscious. No bones were broken, but he will be confined to the house for some weeks.

Going to Stratford.

Mr. Robt. Wilson, brother of Mr. Macfarlane Wilson, of China Hall, leaves Monday for Stratford, where he will enter into a similar business with his brother, Mr. Davis Wilson, who some years ago was also connected with China Hall. The EXAMINER wishes the young men success. They both thoroughly understand the glassware and crockery business, and being energetic, pushing and industrious, will no doubt succeed as they expect and deserve. Mr. Robt. Wilson will be greatly missed amongst the young people in town. He was well liked and has many warm friends who, while regretting his departure, will heartily wish him prosperity.

The President Potted.

An oyster stood by the boiling pot,
And gazed at it for a minute;
Then he turned away and heaved a sigh,
And murmured "I'm not in it."

The Vice-President of the curling club is in the position of the lucky oyster, and the President is "in the soup" for sure. His curling coterics have been defeated by the Vice-President's chosen champions so far by 22 points. There is still a rink to play off but it can scarcely be expected that that great majority will be effectively reduced. Two rinks played night. Skip J. B. Pontland (P.) defeated skip W. H Budden (V.P.) by 15 to 13, and skip T. Rutherford (P.) was beaten by skip T. P. Attrill (V.P.) by 17 to 12—giving the Vice-President 2 ahead all round for the night.

Particular as to Her Recreation

John Kench, the Irish comedian, and one of the principal fun makers with "The Hustler," was sitting on a window sill in the corridor of a hotel one morning last winter taking a lung full of fresh air, when a colored chambermaid approached him with a cheery "Good mo'nin', sah."

"Say, Tildy," John called after her, "wouldn't you like to go to the theatre to-night?"

"What kind o' theatre yo' all got down dah?" asked Tildy, plying her duster vigorously.

"Oh, any kind you want. Do you like a minstrel show?"

"Minstrel show! Wha's dem white men come out wif black stuff on dis faces and make out dat's cullud? No, indeed! Dem's frauds. I don't like frauds."

"Well, er—a burlesque show?"

"A what?"

"A burlesque—a variety show?"

"What? Wha's dem erdacious things show de selves in tights? Well, I guess not! I was brung up dif'ent."

"Well, what kind of a theatre do you like?"

"Now, I tell you, man," said Tildy, dropping her duster and walking towards the comed an, with her arms akimbo, "I tell you when dat Ida Van Cortland company brings dar shew to town, wid sich plays as Cilia Borgia, mah parents got to chain me to de flo'."—Chicago Times.

A Meeting of Men Only.

A small male audience, but in the end a pleased one, greeted the Circle Burlesque Company at the opera house last night. Those who climbed the stairs in the expectation of seeing or hearing some things taboo'd in respectable performances were disappointed, for whatever the programme originally was, the one presented Tuesday night did not in the slightest degree transgress the bounds of decency. The "lewd" lithographs with which the town was embla zoned, were the most objectionable feature in connection with the performance. Chief Rossel before the curtain rung up read the "riot act" (i.e., the law regarding public exhibitions) to the manager, and watched the entertainment to prevent anything immoral. The stage company comprised about twenty negroes and Creoles. Some of the women were passably good looking. They first gave a minstrel perf rmance, then an op ra burlesque, and concluded with specialties. Their singing was good, especially in the chorus, their rendering of the touching negro melodies being very sweet and full. In the burlesque everything was conducted decorously. The costumes were no more conspicuous than may be seen in any opera, and there was no ballet dressing or dancing. The company includes some fair low comedians and dancers, and a "rattling" banjo player. Perhaps the best specialty was the Zouave musket drill by Heath and his wife. The company carries a mid-rab escenery of its own and introduces some taking novelties. Altogether, whatever may have been the nature of their performances elsewhere, in Peterborough it was an unobjectionable and really good vaudeville.

Smoke and Fire.

Narrow Escape from a Disastrous Conflagration—Damage Estimated at $500.

About half past nine o'clock last night smoke was observed oozing from the cellar windows under Matthews' pork packing store on George street. The alarm was rung and the brigade turned out promptly. The windows were broken in and the doors were forced open, but some difficulty was experienced in locating the fire. The store was filled with a dense cloud of smoke which proceeded from the cellar. Assistant-chief Craig took command until the arrival of Chief Rutherford, and after the firemen once got to work they made short work of the fire.

The cellar under Matthews' store is occupied by Mr. Macfarlane Wilson, of China Hall, as a storehouse for surplus stock, and he is the chief and almost the only sufferer. The fire evidently started at the base of the chimney, the soot being ignited from sparks from the pipes which entered above, and burning through the zinc sheet which covered the opening made for cleaning the chimney. Boxes and barrels filled with crockery and glassware were piled against the wall, and these taking fire were completely destroyed. A large quantity of the brittle material was also necessarily broken by the firemen in extinguishing the blaze. Altogether Mr. Wilson estimates his loss at $500. But slight damage was done to the building, the joists and ceiling of the cellar being only charred.

The dense smoke was caused principally by the damp straw packing in the boxes and barrels. The fire could not have been burning more than an hour as Mr. Robert Wilson closed up the cellar at half past eight and everything was safe then.

The public will not be slow to appreciate the services of the fire brigade in this instance. The fire was fortunately discovered in good time, but had it gained much headway the whole valuable block would have suffered. Mr. Wilson's immense stock of glassware, etc., in the other cellar or upstairs was not injured.

St. Paul's Faithful Workers.

Seventh Annual Report of the Faithful Worker's Mission Band of St. Paul's Church.

To-night, as we are called upon to review the work of the past year, we feel that, while much has been accomplished, much that might have been done has been left undone. Our meetings, which have been held regularly the last Thursday evening of each month, have been fairly attended. The number on the roll is 31; the average attendance, 17. This shows a slight decrease in membership, compared with last year, consequently our funds are proportionately lower. How are we to account for this falling off? It has been remarked that in many places where Endeavour Societies have been organized the Mission Band attendance has decreased; but we trust that this is not to be the case with us. Is there any good reason why we should not be members of both?

A new feature of our meetings this year was the introduction of the "Question Drawer"; by this means much missionary information may be gained, and by asking a question ever one may contribute something to the interest of the meeting. Letters are also read from the Leaflet, eighteen members subscribing for it this year, while seven of the Junior Band subscribe to the Children's Record.

During the year two entertainments have been given—an organ recital in February and a social in November, both of which proved successful.

In September we had the pleasure of hearing a most impressive address by Rev. N. H. Russell, who has since gone out to India.

Our Band was represented at the annual meeting of the W. F. M. S. by Miss Smythe, and Miss Paterson was our delegate to the Presbyterial Annual Meeting held in Port Hope. Full and interesting reports were brought back from both meetings.

The contributions of the Mission Band to the box of clothing sent to the North-West were this year valued at $14.

The members and some friends of the Band found great pleasure last month in being able to present a certificate of life membership to Miss Cameron, who, since its organization, has been a faithful worker in the Band.

The Juvenile Band, under Miss Tucker's care, has been doing good work during the year. The meetings, which have been held regularly the first Saturday of each month (July and August excepted), have been well attended, the membership being forty-six, and the average attendance twenty-one. Great interest has been shown by the members, the programme for each meeting being filled in by themselves. One very successful entertainment was given. In future it is proposed to have the members elect their own secretary and treasurer, and, altogether, the prospects for next year look very bright. We have to record the death, last month, of one of the most faithful little workers of this Band.

In conclusion let us again urge more of the young women of the congregation to join us in this work. How is it that, in a congregation composed so largely of young people, we have, comparatively, such a small membership? It must be because we fail to realize a personal responsibility, as well as the privilege of being able to do something to help send the Gospel to the one half of the human race which, as yet, has not even heard its sound.

Rural Politics.

DOURO, Dec. 6.—Reliable advices inform us that there will be a pretty lively contest in this township at the approaching elections of township representatives. However, the receveship will go, without contest, to the veteran representative of Douro in the County council, Mr. John Moloney. For eighteen consecutive years he has filled the reeve's chair, and for two or three terms before that the position of deputy-reeve or councillor.

The contest for councillors in the several wards will be as follows, in each the first named candidate being the present representative:—

No. 1 WARD.—Mr. Edward Foley and Mr Wm. Abbott.

No. 2 WARD.—Mr. J. M. Walsh and Mr. Wm. O'Connor.

No. 3 WARD.—Mr. Robert Allen and Mr. Jas. McCuggart, ex-deputy-reeve.

No. 4 WARD.—So far as known at present there does not seem to be any opposition to the present incumbent, Mr. Wm. Garbut, deputy-reeve.

Selwyn.

New Years' Festival and Entertainment.

A festival and entertainment in aid of the building fund of the Baptist Church at Selwyn will be held on New Years day next. Tea will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock p.m., after which the intellectual portion of the entertainment will be given. Addresses will be delivered by Rev. Messrs. Fairman, Houck, Barker and Smith. A good programme of vocal music, consisting of solos and duets, will also be presented, and the Chemong brass band will lend its sweet music to the occasion. Admission, 25 cents; children 15 cents.

SINGING SCHOOL.—A meeting was held in the Temperance Hall on Wednesday evening to organize a singing school. It was decided to engage Mr. Ketchum, of Peterborough, again, under whose tuition the class made such good progress last winter. There is every prospect that there will be a good large class.—Chronicle.

Personal.

The family of Mr. John Armstrong, McDonel street, has removed to Montreal.

The EXAMINER mentions with regret that there is no improvement in the condition of Mr. Wm. Darling, License Inspector of East Peterborough. On the contrary, there is less room to hope for the possibility of a favorable termination of his illness.

We very much regret to have to state that the condition of Mr. Hugh Davidson, of Smith, whose illness was me tioned in these columns a few days ago, yesterday took a turn for the worse. Dr. Nolland, his physician, called Dr. Carmichael and Dr. Caldwell in consultation, but the result of the conference was not encouraging. There is very faint hope of Mr. Davidson's recovery. There is hemorrhage from the blood vessels of the brain and a very sluggish heart action. Mr. Davidson has not been removed from Mr. George Armstrong's, where he was taken after his attack.

CHEESE FACTORY MEETING.—The patrons of the above named cheese factory made a final winding-up of its business for the season on Friday, Nov. 28th. There was a full attendance of the patrons, and all seemed very well satisfied with the season's business.

The cheese made was of first-class quality throughout, and commanded the best price paid all through the season, which speaks well for the maker, Mr. James Ryan. The salesman, Mr. Thomas Blears, M.PP., made a short speech, at the close of which he was unanimously chosen salesman for next year.

The following is a brief summary of the work done during the past year:

The total number of pounds of milk received at the factory during the season was 1,909,327 lbs., from which was made 171,845 lbs of cheese, at an average of 16/685 lbs. to make one pound of cheese.

The total amount of money received was $16,559 54, an average per standard of $26.14.

At the close of the meeting the cheese maker, Mr. James Ryan, and the secretary-treasurer, received a vote of thanks from the patrons, for which they take this opportunity of returning their sincere thanks, and hope they will continue to merit their respect and esteem.—Star.

Town and Suburban Property

Within the past few days I have received instructions from OVERLOADED owners to sell their surplus properties at once, and to do that means to sell at low prices, which I now have authority to do.

The man who is now occupying a very comfortable house at a low rent would consult his own interest by asking himself, How long will these low or cheap rents continue? If always, then remain as you are; but if your good judgment tells you that Edison having applied his electric magnetism to the town means that it is destined to make rapid strides and become a great city in the near future, when your present neglect to provide a home for yourself much under value will be rewarded by having to pay double the rent you are now paying. All this loss and trouble can be easily avoided by calling at my office without delay and selecting a House and Lot, a vacant Building Lot, or any other kind of property you may desire at low prices and on most reasonable terms of payment

Covering the Face with Disfiguring, Painful Blotches, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About seven years ago I had a humor break out up on my face; it started in a small blotch and looked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and looked like a ringworm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best doctors in the city, and he could do me no good. No less than twelve of the best doctors have had a trial at my face, and all of them failed. I will not give you a list of their names, but will say that they were from Boston, New York, and Maine, also from England, France and Canada. I have been a hot-1 spark and aground for years. In the summer I coak at watering places; that is why I have had an opportunity of being among good doctors. They could not cure my face, and I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June I went to Moosehead Lake, Maine, to cook for 25 men. My face was so bad I did not like to be seen. At the lake I met a gentleman from England. He told me to use your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and they would cure me at once. I did so. The result was in three weeks the sores on my face were healed up. I used it all the season. My face is now well and no scars to be seen. I have recommended it to a number, and in every case it has cured them. It would take a good deal of money to put me back where I was two years ago, providing I did not know what your CUTICURA would do. I shall recommend it as long as I live, and shall ever remain,

Our New Era Truss.

For many years we have made a special study of rupture, after we saw what people had to suffer that came to us seeking relief, having tried many of the highly advertised Trusses, not only without relief, but actually made worse by wearing Trusses totally unsuited to their case. It was to meet such cases that we invented our New Era Truss, and it has been a grand success, in both mild and the severest cases. We warrant every Truss. Everyone ruptured should see it.

PARNELL'S RULE-OR-RUIN POLICY BEARING BITTER FRUIT.

The Party Divided and the Anti-Parnellites Reorganize and Elect Mr. Justin McCarthy as Chairman—Gladstone's Letter to the Meeting.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—At 1 o'clock to-day the Irish members of the House of Commons who are considering the advisability of retiring Mr. Parnell from the leadership of the Nationalist party reassembled in the committee room of the House of Commons, which has been set apart for their use.

The first business transacted was the reading of Gladstone's letter. Gladstone remains firm in his determination to in no way recognize Parnell as the leader of the Nationalists, and his position is emphasized by his letter, in which he offers to conduct negotiations with a new Irish leader on a footing of confidence equal to that which he once accorded to Parnell. The reading of the letter was greeted with cheers by the section of the party opposing Parnell and with ironical cries by his supporters. A stormy debate followed.

Messrs. Barry, Sexton and Healy made a determined attempt to bring about a final settlement of the question. They insisted that there be an immediate division of the members on the main question before the meeting, namely, the retirement of Parnell from the leadership of the party. Finally Sexton gave Mr. Parnell his ultimatum, that if a decision of this question was delayed by the chairman (Mr. Parnell) after 6 o'clock this evening, the majority of the representatives of the party would hold a meeting of their own and depose him from office. A scene of great excitement followed. At 6½ o'clock a recess was taken for half an hour.

At 8½ o'clock the members reassembled. A strongly-worded letter from Archbishop Walsh was read, demanding Mr. Parnell's removal. The reading of the letter produced a marked effect.

John O'Connor moved the adoption of a resolution declaring that Mr. Gladstone's letter was not satisfactory, and that Ireland required assurances regarding the constabulary and land questions. The motion was seconded by Mr. Kenny.

Mr. Abraham then made a motion that Mr. Parnell vacate the chairmanship. Mr. Parnell refused to allow the motion to be put whereupon Mr. McCarthy, followed by 44 other members, left the room.

Parnell Strikes McCarthy.

An exciting scene arose when Parnell refused to put Abraham's motion. As a written resolution was being handed in by Justin McCarthy, Mr. Parnell leaned across the table, struck Mr. McCarthy's hand, seized the resolution and tore it into pieces. Justin Huntly McCarthy, son of Justin McCarthy, arose from his seat and denounced Parnell as the insulter of his father and an enemy to his country. He declared that he had hitherto acted with Mr. Parnell, but henceforth he would repudiate him.

The defection of the younger McCarthy has raised the total number of anti-Parnellite members to 45.

The opponents of Parnell who withdrew held a meeting in a conference-room and elected Justin McCarthy chairman. When Mr. McCarthy had assumed the chair the meeting considered the following resolution:

"We, members of the Irish Parliamentary party solemnly renew our adhesion to the principle in devotion to which we have never wavered, that the Irish party is and always must remain, independent of all other parties.

"Further, we declare that we will never entertain any proposal for a settlement of the Home Rule question except such as satisfies the aspirations of the Irish party and the Irish people."

The resolution, which was proposed by Timothy Healy and seconded by Mr. Sexton, was unanimously adopted. The result was immediately communicated to Mr. Gladstone. Upon learning what had been done Mr. Gladstone exclaimed: "Thank God, Home Rule is saved."

After the withdrawal of Mr. McCarthy and the other anti-Parnell members the supporters of Mr. Parnell adopted resolutions expressing regret at Mr. Gladstone's refusal to state his views on the questions submitted to him and then ratified the re-election of Mr. Parnell as chairman. The McCarthy party are now preparing a manifesto to the Irish people.

Parnell Receives a Home Thrust.

The climax of the wrangle between the Nationalist members to-day was reached when Parnell, taunting his opponents with what he termed a cowardly surrender to a vain glorious and weak-kneed old Englishman cried angrily: "Who is master of Ireland, Gladstone or myself?" Instantly Timothy Healy's voice was heard above the chorus of angry protests shouting: "You had better ask who is mistress of Ireland." The blood surged into Parnell's face, and he shook his fist threateningly at Healy as he retorted passionately: "Sir, you are a dirty blackguard and a cowardly little scoundrel, to insult a lady in the presence of Irish gentlemen." When the mass party started to withdraw, for Mr. Parnell had refused as chairman to put the question on the motion for [illegible] from the leadership, there was a tumult. Bitter epithets were exchanged. Each faction warned the other that the verdict of the people of Ireland at the polls would overwhelm traitors with ignominy.

Parnell Eulogized by Nolan.

After McCarthy and his followers withdrew Col. Nolan in a speech to those remaining with Parnell said whatever Parnell's position was in the next two or three years he would be ranked with O'Connell as the greatest Irishman of the last three centuries. [Cheers.]

Parnell said: "The deserters, knowing we were going to Ireland to-morrow, clamored for a decision because they dreaded the lightning of public opinion in Ireland. Gentlemen, we have won to-day. [Loud cheers.] Although our ranks are reduced I hold this chair still. [Cheers.] Although many comrades have left us, Ireland has power to fill their places. I little know our gallant country if I am mistaken in the opinion that when she gets an opportunity she will freely exercise the power." Parnell further said that the deserters stood in the contemptible position of men who, having pledged themselves to be true to their party, their leader and their country, have been false to all. [Loud cheers.]

John O'Connor said he pitied Irish members who were obliged to accept the leadership of a coward who dared to insult a woman. He defended Mr. Parnell's action in divulging what passed at the Hawarden meeting. Such a course he said, was [illegible]

Mr. Abraham followed Mr. O'Kelly. He pointed out the danger of a Liberal defeat at a general election in case their action [illegible] Mr. Gladstone to retire. As Parnell refused to resign they would be acting in respect to themselves if they longer delayed bringing matters to an issue, the chairman having ignominiously treated and torn Mr. McCarthy's resolution.

Mr. Parnell: "That is untrue."

Mr. Abraham declined to enter into an altercation, but repeated that it would be shameful to allow the minority to continue shameful to allow the minority to continue making the party a laughing stock. Parnell and his adherents desired to appeal to Cæsar, but his side was quite willing to abide by the decision of the Irish people. He proposed an amendment that Parnell's chairmanship be terminated.

Mr. Nolan protested that Mr. Abraham was out of order and a squabble ensued, the opponents of Parnell taunting him with allowing the introduction of Clancy's amendment against the wishes of the party. Finally Parnell decided that Mr. Abraham was out of order, whereupon Healy shouted "Bravo, bravo!"

"Mr. Healy," said Mr. Parnell, "I won't stand very much more from you. The amendment is only admissable as a substantive motion."

Mr. Arthur O'Connor, in a quiet speech, protested against the obstructive tactics of the minority, which he said would indefinitely delay the decision that the majority had a right to record.

Mr. Parnell: "Mr. O'Connor knows it is not an amendment."

Mr. O'Connor: "Very well, if it cannot be put here it must be elsewhere."

The Clergy Speak Out.

A letter from the Archbishops and Bishops was read in all the Catholic churches in Ireland after the celebration of the masses today.

At St. Colman's Cathedral, Queenstown, after the letter had been read, Rev. Father Fisk addressed the congregation. He declared that it was no longer possible for Parnell to remain at the head of the Irish party. He had disgraced, dishonored and degraded himself by his own acts and could not lead the smallest section of the Irish people. In refusing to recognize the authority of the bishops Parnell was doing incalculable mischief to the Irish cause and was performing the work of the enemy and was rendering the people disunited and distracted.

The Mayor of Cork, after hearing of the secession of the McCarthy party last evening, sent the following telegram to John O'Connor:

"Ireland won't allow England to select her leader. This right belongs to Ireland. The Irish won't stand Gladstone's dictation."

At the Catholic church in Mitchelstown the officiating priest, after reading the declarations of the hierarchy, warned the supporters of Parnell throughout his district not to defy their spiritual superiors.

Another Meeting To-day.

Mr. McCarthy has addressed a circular to all the Irish members of Parliament, including Parnell, calling a meeting of the party for 2 o'clock to-morrow. The first business to come before the meeting will be the election by ballot of a consultation committee of eight members.

Many of the majority party are in a dilemma, their quarterly checks for £50 each for parliamentary services just becoming due. It is probable that the money with which to pay them will be advanced from the fund subscribed at last night's meeting for the establishment of a new paper.

The party are discussing the advisability of Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien returning by way of France, where a convention could be held at which the advice of the envoys could be obtained before their arrest.

Messrs. Gilhooly, P. O'Brien, Carew and Mahon are still classed with the doubtfuls. The strength, therefore, of the McCarthyites is 50 and of the Parnellites 20.

A New Nationalist Organ.

The conference of the McCarthy party was prolonged until after midnight last night. Mr. McCarthy presided throughout the session. A committee consisting of Messrs. Murphy, Barry, Morrogh, Healy, Sexton and Power was appointed to draft a prospectus for a limited company to establish a daily newspaper in Ireland to be devoted to the interests of the Nationalist party. Harry Webb, the treasurer of the new company, opened a list and the members present subscribed £1,250. It is probable that United Ireland will become a daily publication. The nominal capital of the company proposed is £100,000, of which £50,000 will be paid up. The majority party are keenly alive to the disadvantage of the leading Nationalist papers siding with Parnell and the whole of the machinery of the National League being under his control. They are hopeful, however, that the bishops and priests will assist them to obtain a popular verdict.

An Immediate Irish Campaign.

Both sides are preparing for an immediate campaign in Ireland. Messrs. Sexton, John Redmond, O'Kelly and others who were present at the closing scene when the majority seceded from the parliamentary caucus deny that some of the members of the caucus stood upon tables and threatened to fight. On the contrary it is stated the members who seceded left the room without any disorder and almost in silence, no offensive epithets being exchanged.

Parnell has told his friends that he will go to Ireland forthwith and constitute a National party. He speaks confidently of carrying the country with him at the general election.

The Irish parliamentary fund amounting to £30,000 remains under control of Mr. Parnell with the exception of £1,300, which is in the hands of the treasurer.

Mr. McCarthy, in denying that there was a scene of disorder when he and his associates left the Irish caucus, said: "On the contrary, when I returned to the room for my coat, which I had left behind me, Mr. Parnell's followers took the opportunity to shake hands cordially with me and all expressed regret at the split in the party." Mr. McCarthy added: "My prayers and all my efforts are for unity. For Ireland's sake we must be united."

IN PHŒNIX PARK.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin Bitterly Attacks the Healyites.

DUBLIN, Dec. 7.—A meeting of Nationalists was held in Phœnix Park to-day. The attendance was only moderate, owing to the bitterly cold weather. The Lord Mayor, who presided, moved a resolution that Mr Parnell was alone fitted to lead the nation. He condemned the Healyites, whose independence and integrity, he said, had been sapped by English wire-pullers. He called on Mr. Parnell under no circumstances to abandon his position. Mr. Gladstone, he said, was still humbugging Ireland. When Sexton, Healy, Dillon and O'Brien—[illegible] sences of his great political colleagues, and branding that colleague as a "Saxon fraud," did Mr. Parnell much harm, even though the denials of Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Morley would not bear close scrutiny, and many of Mr. Parnell's friends professed to read between their lines confirmation of Mr. Parnell's chief contention. The member for Cork began the week's conflict last Monday under grave disadvantages. A majority of his colleagues were bent on his deposition. But all through the week these gentlemen have been much too cock-sure. They did not reckon upon Mr. Parnell's wonderful skill in shaping dilatory tactics. The conclave of his henchmen on Sunday, which sent that good but weak man, Mr. Justin McCarthy, on a fool's errand to Mr. Gladstone, and Mr. Gladstone's and Sir William Harcourt's refusal to negotiate, enabled Mr. Parnell to turn the whole course of the week's debate from the immediate and proper object of the meeting to the wide question of the attitude of the English leaders toward Home Rule. Mr. Nolan's amendment to refer the whole subject for Irish opinion at Dublin, and Mr. Parnell's declaration that he was himself not the representative of the Irish members, but of the Irish Nation, proved a successful endeavor to rouse sympathy across the Channel, and notwithstanding the sweeping condemnation of the bishops has met with daily increasing responses. Among those Nationalists in Ireland who are not wholly guided by the voice of the hierarchy Mr. Parnell is stronger to-day than a month ago. Stray phrases which he has dropped during the fierce conflicts of the past week indicate Mr. Parnell's intention, if necessary, to appeal to Ireland over the heads of the Irish members. His back is against the wall, he is fighting to the death, and he may yet stump Ireland against his accusers.

Parnell's Fitness to Command.

Another evidence of Mr. Parnell's skill in managing men was the tact with which he extracted from his opponents the terms of their cable despatches to the Irish delegation in America, in order to show how his enemies had tried to nobble Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien on their side of the struggle. The way, too, in which he staved off the reading of the detailed message from the American delegates, although the document was already in the newspapers, afforded fresh evidence of the weight of Mr. Parnell's authority. Till these events happened few Englishmen were aware of the strength of Mr. Parnell's character and his fitness to command the most unruly elements that have afflicted Parliament for half a generation. His crowning success as a tactician came when his chances seemed for the moment desperate by reason of the bishops' manifesto. The first impression produced by that document was most serious to Mr. Parnell's prospects. But Mr. Parnell understood better than the English public that it came too late. It would have possessed real value had it appeared before the Rotunda meeting, or even before the Irish members had re-elected him their chairman at Westminster. Coming on top of Mr. Gladstone's letter it is now looked upon by many as a supplementary proclamation, delivered in the name of morality, for a political object and to rid themselves of a Protestant King Stork. The production of the Hierarchic thunderbolt was a factor of immense importance in the hands of Mr. Parnell's enemies. Yet the effect of this apparently fatal blow was dexterously avoided by Mr. Parnell by trailing another red herring across the debate in the shape of a compromise, so-called, which placed his accusers on the one hand and the English official Liberals on the other hand upon the horns of a dilemma, while he sought to win whatever else might happen.

In their admiration for Mr. Parnell's brilliant fighting throughout this absorbing drama, and the skill with which he has made many believe that he was exposing a trick of Mr. Gladstone to palm off a piece of fraudulent Home Rule, some have forgotten and others have forgiven Mr. Parnell's unscrupulous methods and his colossal impudence and his insolence toward Mr. Gladstone, apart from the purity question, which Mr. Parnell artfully concealed, but which is, after all, the question.

The Holy Old Man.

Though Mr. Gladstone made a huge tactical mistake in seeing the Irishmen at all yesterday to discuss Home Rule till Mr. Parnell had retired, his recent action has done him the reverse of harm in the country. Instead of the Grand Old Man. Many households now regard him as the Holy Old Man. His table is covered with telegrams and congratulations from every part of England and Scotland; some from Unionists who had deserted him, others from admirers who delighted at his escape from the snare into which Mr. Parnell intended to entrap him. For it is obvious to everybody that Mr. Parnell's acquiescence at Hawarden was only assumed with the object of securing further and complete terms when the Liberals should produce their next Home Rule measure. The toils of the snarer now stand revealed; and the Liberal leaders can spare the wrecking of their cabinet if they remember to profit by the lessons and revelations of the last few days.

An Election Before Easter.

Another aspect of the present political situation should not escape attention. The paralysis of the Opposition and the success with which the Government are pushing forward their program for the present session are evidently encouraging the hope among the ministerial wirepullers that the outcome of the recent crisis will result in such a condition of chaos among the factions who compose the Opposition that the day will not be far off when Lord Salisbury may appeal to the constituencies. Much will, of course, depend upon yesterday's negotiations and their result upon the Irish party, but whispers are in the air that we may witness a general election as early as next Easter. This is by no means improbable, unless there be some miraculous cohesion, which seems almost impossible after the violent catadysm of the last few days.

Dropped Dead on a Train.

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—William Wolverton, an engineer on the Grand Trunk Railway, dropped dead on Saturday afternoon on the arrival of his train.

It is a Mistake

To try to cure catarrh by using local applications. Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It is not a disease of the man's nose, but of the man. Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood reaches every part of the system expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

PARNELL AS A FIGHTER.

His Retention of the Leadership Still Overshadowing all Other Topics.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—W. Smalley in his weekly letter says: One would have to search far back into English Parliamentary history to find an event which caused so much interest and so much political excitement as the present division of the Irish party. This is the only topic that has been discussed for two or ten days. Lord Salisbury's speech, the parliamentary program, General Booth's social panacea, Professor Koch's discoveries, the conflict between the English and Portuguese in South Africa, Mrs. Pearcey's murder trial and even the possibilities of an early general election, as a consequence of the present crisis, have been forgotten, or little thought of, in view of the all-absorbing question: Will Mr. Parnell remain leader of the Irish party? The English people have watched the strife in committee-room No. 15 day by day with increasing interest and, it must be confessed, with increasing admiration of Mr. Parnell's skill and courage in handling one of the most unmanageable bodies of men that ever served under a political chief. He has had the exceptional advantage of presiding over the court that sought to judge him, and has had no scruples about conducting the whole proceeding with a distinct bias to his own advantage. His manœuvres to delay coming to a conclusion and to avoid a direct hostile vote would secure admiration almost anywhere.

Parnell's Wonderful Skill.

When first driven to the wall by Mr. Gladstone's ultimatum, Mr. Parnell seemed so have a losing case. In the eyes of many his manifesto, revealing as it did the confi-

DRY GOODS NEWS AT

TURNBULL'S

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st October in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date, to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now; but they have come at last and open out beautifully. We have two ranges, plain and fancy backs, at $1.00 and $1.25, in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta; some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us, and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better, and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit.

Although early in the season our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing, which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on our counters. They are desirable goods, and worth remembering.

Opened out this week a job line of Dress Goods, 12½c. yd.; also a fresh lot of Flanelettes at 8c.

We claim to have the best line 8c. Grey Cotton in the country. All other Cottons proportionate value.

NOW OR NEVER.

The report of the Railway Committee of the Board of Trade at its quarterly meeting, was suggestively a valuable document Though it could record very little practical progress, it showed a determination not to suffer great projects to lie dormant, as one of them, at least, the Trent Valley—canal is now doing. The report very properly pointed out the importance of this great traffic link between the northwest and the sea, but it hardly expressed the whole truth when it stated that the Dominion Government was committed to its construction "by the large expenditure it has already made." The Government is even more directly committed to the work. In June 1882 Hon. (Sir) Charles Tupper, then Minister of Railways and Canals, visited this district and officially went over the route of the canal, and on the word of a Minister of the Crown, on behalf of the Government, pledged the Government to the construction of the canal. But the progress since that time has been of a nature, to throw grave doubt on the bona fides of the Government, and other circumstances have not tended to allay the suspicion that the canal was being practically devoted to the manufacture of political capital. Having served the purpose well in this respect, the clamor for the real construction of the canal began to make the Government uneasy, and the Commission as to the advisability of the construction of a work, which the Government had pledged itself to build, was issued. We all know how leisurely the Commission has prosecuted its investigation, and it is to be earnestly hoped that the Railway Committee of the Board of Trade is justified in using this language:

"Your committee is also very hopeful that a favourable report will be made by the commissioners of the Trent Valley Canal at the next session of Parliament."

The committee is of the opinion that it is only a "question of time" when this great work will be undertaken, but unless they bring some embarrassing pressure to bear before the next general elections they will more probably find that its being undertaken will be a question of eternity. We cannot be put off any longer with promises. We have Sir Charles Tupper's promise that the canal will be constructed, and what steps have been taken to effectuate that pledge? Comparatively none, except the staving-off step of the Commission. We had the promise of the sitting member on the night of his election that we should have one thousand men working on the Peterborough-Lakefield section before the summer was gone. But this promise evaporated into thin air with the election excitement. The Board of Trade—the people of Peterborough, the people of this district—may rest assured that, if they do not get a substantial appropriation before the coming elections, the prospect of work being begun on the canal will be lost in the haze of the dim future—the winds of heaven that will rustle the grass on our grand-children's graves will find never a Trent Valley Canal barge sail to fill. Now or never, is the spirit in which to work for an appropriation for the beginning of work on the Trent Valley Canal.

In his speech at Napierville, Que., the other day, Mr. Chapleau declared that the passage of the McKinley Bill was a "calamity" for Canada, and asked the electors to support an advocate of unrestricted reciprocity. Will some of those Tory patriots by occupation, asks the Free Press, kindly go after the Secretary of State with a club? He has been giving his party completely away. He admits that those unspeakable Yankees have the power to injure Canada's trade by tariff legislation, and wants reciprocity in agricultural products, a policy which Mr. Colby and the Ontario Tories say would prove utterly ruinous to Canadian farmers. Is Mr. Chapleau an annexationist in disguise? He certainly prefers to invest his wealth in the United States rather than in Canada.

"How the members of the Federal Ministry love one another," exclaims the Ottawa Free Press. "What beautiful harmony exists in their ranks. A prominent Conservative testified in court in Montreal Thursday that he had been dismissed from his employment by Sir Hector Langevin for taking part in a demonstration in honour of Mr. Chapleau." There seems to be no limit to the vagaries of Macdonaldism—we have Rykertism, McGreevyism, and now Sir Hector brings terrorism to bear upon one of his compatriots and cabinet chums.

North Smith Cheese Factory.

Interesting Report of the Season's Operations Annual Oyster Supper and Entertainment.

The are indications that the cheese-making operations in this county for the past year are far in excess of those of the previous year, showing that this already large and important industry is making a yearly growth of a most encouraging character. The North Smith Cheese Factory shares very creditably in this increase. At the annual meeting held at the factory on Oct 25th, for the settlement of accounts, the Secretary, Mr. M. E. Sanderson, made the following interesting report of the season's operations:

THE ENTERTAINMENT.

After the settling up of accounts—the feast of finance and the flow of cash—there followed the feast of bivalves and bucolic dainties, followed in turn by the feast of reason and the flow of soul. A large number of patrons and their friends sat down to a most enjoyable oyster supper, and to this succeeded the musical and literary entertainment. OVERPOWERED BY MISFORTUNE.

A Roxborough Manufacturer Hangs Himself in the Left of His House.

MAXWELL, Dec. 7.—Mr. Alexander Lalonde, proprietor of the sawmill in the 10th concession of Roxborough, was discovered Saturday afternoon suspended from a beam in the upper story of his house, dead. His six-year-old child, who was the first to see him, sounded the alarm and his body was removed by his brother and a neighbor named Hemond. It appears that the deceased, who was an honest, upright man, had been greatly depressed by financial reverses and it is thought his troubles had affected his reason. A few years ago he erected a sawmill on his farm and cut a good deal of lumber for the market and for customers, who sent their own logs to the mill to be converted into lumber. While the building was in course of erection part of the roof was blown off during a storm and struck Lalonde on the head. His injuries were so great that his life was thought to be in danger. Last winter he had his hand very badly lacerated and the accident kept him idle for months. About two years ago he lost his wife. Business troubles, the loss of his wife and the injuries received depressed him, so that for weeks it was seen that he was not in his right mind.

KILLED WHILE PLAYING DOCTOR.

A Little Girl Fatally Poisons Her Infant Brother.

AMHERSTBURG, Dec. 7.—Two children of William England, Dalhousie-street, a boy about 3 years of age and a girl about 5—were playing upstairs in a room where their grandfather, Jesse Churchill, had slept at night and had left a bottle of liniment, which he used for his shoulder. They got hold of it, and in their play the little girl gave her brother a large dose of it. Two doctors worked with him for several hours, but could not save the lad's life.

Why Pennsylvania was Settled.

Penn refused to pull his hat off
Before the King, and therefore cut off
Another country to light pat on,
Where he might worship with his hat on.

The above lines tell us very briefly and concisely why Pennsylvania was settled. Penn was a good and just man; he prospered exceedingly, and his followers as well. Some years ago, Diamond Dyes were introduced into Canada, and were received with a degree of caution and hesitation, in keeping with a discerning people. They were tested and severely tried; they were weighed in the scale of public opinion, and were not found wanting in any particular. Diamond Dyes have become the favorites, the joy, and the delight of the ladies, owing to their never failing powers. They do an endless variety of work, and with such excellent results, that ensures complete knocking out of all competitors that may take the field.

Purify your blood in order that good health may be enjoyed. The condition is scarcely known, yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

Town and Suburban Property

With in the past few days I have received instructions from OVERLOADED owners to sell their surplus properties at once, and to do that means to sell at low prices, which I now have an hourly to do.

The man who is now occupying a very comfortable house at a low rent would consult his own interest by acting himself. How long will these low or cheap rents continue? It always, then remains as you are; but if your good judgment tells you that Edison having applied his electric magnetism to the town means that it is destined to make rapid strides and become a great city in the near future, when your present neglect to provide a home for yourself much under value will be rewarded by having to pay double the rent you are now paying. All this loss and trouble can be easily avoided by calling at my office without delay and selecting a House and Lot, a vacant Building Lot, or any other kind of property you may desire at low prices and on most reasonable terms of payment.

TIMELY INFORMATION OF VALUE TO CANADIAN AGRICULTURISTS.

A Convenient Cow Stable and How to Build It—Two Good Breeds of Swine Illustrated—Notes and Pointers from all Sources.

The following is a description of a convenient cow-stable, method of fastening, etc. First the barn is built on rising ground with ample drainage, requiring no floor to keep one's feet dry, being built on a low concrete wall sixteen inches thick and twelve inches high above the surface. It has a balloon frame, with self-supporting roof, and eighteen-feet posts; joists eight and three-fourths feet above the floor. The outside is covered with matched drop-siding; the inside ceiled up with flooring, backed with tarred paper. The floor overhead is of matched pine flooring; the roof of the best quality of shingles. The stables are each ten feet four inches wide, as is also the alley and manger room. Back five feet from the manger a trench, eight inches deep and sixteen inches wide, was dug, and a trench-box, made of two-inch plank with eight-inch sides, was put into this trench, and bedded in cement mortar, making it absolutely water-tight. A plank fourteen inches in width was spiked to the inner edge of the trench-box, for the hind feet of the cows; the fore feet are on the earth. This shuts out all undercurrents of air, frost and odors.

The stalls are made double, to hold two cows each. The stable is spaced off into places six feet two inches wide, and two planks set upright, as seen in Fig. and nailed to the joist overhead, and toe-nailed to blocks set in the ground, having first been charged with hot gas-tar. A blaceboard fourteen to sixteen inches is set up and toed first to the heel-plank, and clinched to the uprights. A little more than three and a-half feet from the floor (according to the size of the cows) a neckpiece is fastened on with large wood screws, this keeping the cows out of the manger. Between each of these uprights a letter A is fastened. This keeps the two cows standing side by side apart when eating from the manger. When not eating they often step back, as they can, the length of the slack of their chains—twelve inches—and can "peacefully lick" each other's faces, but not cross horns. Twenty inches above the floor a hole is bored through the inner upright, and the end of these neck-halter chains slipped through, one hole answering for a chain from each side. The chain is what is known as a four-O, and has a swivel at the "split," so that it will not kink. This chain gives the cows much freedom of movement, allows them to comfortably lie with their heads upon their sides and often allay the irritation of an itching hide. If the end bar of the chain is put through two and rings they never unfasten. The cows are quickly tied or untied. A nail is driven into the neck-piece at H, and when the cow is loosened the chain is hung over this, and when the same cow is to be tied up the chain is dropped over the neck and fastened without bother. With this style of stable the care of cows seemed reduced to the minimum. The wide walk behind the cows allows ample room for the wheelbarrow. The temperature was never below 45°, and, the stable being amply ventilated, as well as lighted, the cows remained there at one time for over one hundred days, and without any discomfort that I could discern, and during all this time not a cow was once off her feed.

Tamworth Swine.

English breeders have for some years past been giving increased attention to the Tamworth breed, in the belief that this variety of pigs is unequaled for the production of lean meat. While the Tamworth hogs produce good saleable bacon, other pure breeds, taking them collectively, produce too much fat for majority of consumers. As the Tamworth has been adopted by some of our breeders with good results, we here present the picture of the boar, Norman's Pride, farrowed Jan 7, 1888, which was owned by Mr. John Bell, of L'Amaroux, Ont. Norman's Pride was sired by Newcastle Hero 889, dam Newcastle Heroine 1355. This boar shows the characteristic merits of the Tamworths, being deep sided and long bodied without any of the frame coarseness or looseness that is usually associated with these qualities in other pigs. The head and jowl is light, the legs strong, while in every part there is a solidity of make that is surprising and gives wonderful results on the scales. He is covered with a luxuriant growth of nut-brown hair. Being active and vigorous his use has proven him to be a superior sire. Mr. Bell says the Tamworths are easy keepers.

More Thorough Farming.

A good deal of the responsibility for the depression in agricultural prosperity probably rests upon farmers themselves. And the reason is that there is not sufficient thoroughness by improved methods. Low as prices have been, farmers in Ontario who have had the capital and skill to diversify their products, so that they would not all fail at once, have been able to make some of them pay. As they have found some parts of their business profitable, these have been extended and the less profitable portions have been left to those who could not or would not take the trouble needed to make the required changes. It is a well known fact that certain lines of produce have paid here, yet plenty of farmers went right along every year in the old ruts. What the best farmers have done is just what sagacious men in other branches of business are always doing. Merchants and manufacturers study both the market and their natural advantages for supplying. If anything does not pay they drop it as soon as they can and go to producing or dealing in that which does pay. One of the obstacles which interferes with most farmers pursuing this same policy is too much and too poor land, too poor a class of stock and too little capital to work with. On this point an exchange says the farmer who cultivates more acres than he can make the best use of is not improving the opportunities he has. If year after year he puts his field in crops that can be grown with least labor, because his land is not rich enough for other crops, what wonder is it if he does not get even days' wages for the labor that has to be done? If he milks cows that under his management do not yield 150 pounds of butter per year, and makes even that of poor quality, it is not the fault of low prices that his doing business does not pay. If prices of dairy products are advanced, so also will be the cost of feeding his cows, and he will be no better off than before. It is just as impossible to make a condition of markets where the enterprising farmer who keeps good cows and makes the best class of butter shall not have an advantage, as it would be to make a poor quality of windfall fruit sell equally high with that of the best varieties, carefully handpicked and put up in tasteful packages. What is needed to make farmers more generally successful is that they learn and practice better methods. Most farmers would do better if they had less land to work, provided they applied to the remainder as much labor, capital and skill as they now give to a larger area, and to grow on this only the choicest marketable productions. In growing the best of everything the farmer lifts himself above the competition that now oppresses him. It is often said in the professions that there is room at the top, and this maxim holds good in farming as it does in nearly every employment.—London Free Press.

There is always a cash market for good young mules. They are no more trouble to handle than horses, and are rather less liable to disease and accident than the latter.

As a rule, sell an animal when it is ready for market; after that the cost of the food will be very likely to offset any advance in price. Besides, the price may not advance.

It is just as bad policy to give poor food to good stock as to give good food to poor stock. Both should be good, the food and the stock; then there may be some profit in the combination.

Wheat bran is not rich in fat-forming elements, but is especially valuable for promoting growth of muscle. Also, when liberally fed will increase the flow of milk, but will not give a desirable butter color.

A colt should never be broken. In this relation the phrase "to break" should become obsolete. We should never have to break the colt any more than the boy. Both should be taught "from their youth up."

Disposition is a quality to be considered with all farm animals. In the dairy, in particular, the quiet, gentle cow is worth more than a fractious one. The latter is not only troublesome to handle, but is a disturbing element among the others.

It is not good management to feed fall pigs valuable grain through the winter, and then let them shift for themselves through the summer. If you have not made arrangement for good pasturage next summer, better sell the pigs now and save the grain.

The profit in "finishing off" an animal for market is that thus a better price may be obtained for the whole. There is less gain for the food consumed toward the close than at any other period. Unless assured that a better price will result, better not try too long for the extra pounds.

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

Self Application of Electricity

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES

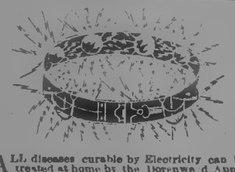
BY THE

DORENWEND

ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments,

THE WORLD'S BEST.



ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete Body Battery. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the NERVOUS and MUSCULAR SYSTEMS.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap article, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. The Dorenwend Electric Belt and Attachment Co., C. H. DORENWEND, Electrician. 103 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada. eod w

The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The property of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its issuing unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefiting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

A Painful Accident.

Mrs. Mercier, an old lady living on Lake street, Ashburnham, while on her way over town Saturday afternoon about four o'clock, met with a rather serious accident. At the intersection of Hunter and Water streets she was knocked down by a horse which was being driven by a couple of drunken men, and trampled on. She was picked up unconscious and carried into the Croft House, where she was revived. Her face and body was badly bruised. The mantle which she wore was also torn and rendered valueless. Mrs. Mercier is under the care of Dr. Yelland.

GEORGE STREET CHURCH.

Anniversary Services of the Methodist Congregation.

Excellent Sermons by Rev. Le Roy Hooker—Changes During the Year—"Christ the Fulfilment of the Desires of All Nations"—The Anniversary Proceeding to be Continued To-night.

The year which has just rolled by has been a most prosperous one in the history of the George Street Methodist Church. Since last December some important changes have taken place. A new pastor has taken charge of the spiritual welfare of the large congregation, and the choir has undergone a complete and beneficial reconstruction. Under Mr. L. Seward's directorship a fine body of singers has been brought together, and the musical portions of the services made a prominent and attractive feature. Rev. Mr. Locke, too, though here only a few months, is getting in touch with his flock, and by his earnestness and Christian zeal inducing a spiritual revival in the church, whose material prosperity is advanced by an able executive board. The George Street Methodists have, therefore, good cause to commemorate their anniversary with emphasis and joyfulness.

Sunday saw the turning of another leaf in the church's annals, and the occasion was marked by special sermons by Rev. LeRoy Hooker, of the Metropolitan church, Toronto—a divine of provincial reputation as an eloquent preacher and a profound thinker. These attributes were made apparent in his two learned, instructive and powerful discourses on Sunday. His advanced train of thought, his logical reasoning, apt illustrations, and forcible presentation of the gave to the large congregations which listened to him deep pleasure and spiritual elevation.

The music also, was most attractive. The large and well trained choir gave specially prepared anthems, grand selections intelligently rendered, both morning and evening. At the evening service Mrs. W. Daly sang the beautiful solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." She never sang more sweetly than on this occasion.

The anniversary proceedings will be continued to-night, when a congregational reunion takes place in the lecture room. As the pastor announced, the customary tea-meeting and concert will be dispensed with, and the church members and friends were asked to contribute the money which they would expect to spend on the tea-meeting by means of the collection plate. At the gathering to-night a good programme will be provided and refreshments served. There will be no collection nor subscription taken; the occasion is intended to be a congregational assembly for the improvement of acquaintance between pastor and people and among themselves, so that all may be better able in the future to work in harmony for the moral and material advancement of the church.

The EXAMINER has space only for very brief epitomes of Rev. Mr. Hooker's sermons.

MORNING SERMON.

In the morning Rev. Mr. Hooker's subject was prayer. He divided his topic into two parts, first defining the bounds of prayer, and then dealt with prayer as it pertained to the mind, the soul and the body. In the last named connection the preacher made reference to the doctrine of Divine healing and Christian Science. While he would not deny that in some instances the recovery of sick persons could only be accounted for by the interposition of Providence, still the preacher held it would be absurd to say that it was only our lack of faith that induced sickness. Nor could it be claimed that divine healing was able to cure all diseases until it was able to overcome the infirmities of old age—for deaths from old age, so called, were always the result of disease. When God promises mankind his daily bread, He does not mean that He will send it down to us from the clouds already baked, sliced and buttered. We must make use of the means he has placed in our hands to get the bread. So it was with sickness. We must use the remedies at hand and add faith and prayer for their efficacy. If scriptural passages regarding faith were to be literally adopted, advocates of divine healing should test their faith by this passage: "If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed ye would say unto that mountain, be moved, and be cast into the sea, and it would be done, etc." Then the preacher dealt with the chief argument of Christian Scientists—the anointing with oil. He pointed out that the anointing with oil was a common practice in that country, and formed a part of the medical treatment as much as giving prescriptions is to day; and the laying on of hands by the Elders, and their united prayer, was for the efficacy of the method adopted for cure. The preacher did not believe it was ever intended by the Almighty that prayer should supersede the practice of medicine.

EVENING SERMON.

At the evening service the text was found in Haggai ii, 6 and 7:

"For thus saith the God of Hosts, yet once it is a little while and I will make the heavens and the earth and the sea and the dry land.

"And I shall make all nations and the desire of all nations shall come: and I will fill this house with glory, saith the Lord of Hosts."

This, said the preacher, was an instance of Messianic prophecy delivered in the time of the building of the second temple about 500 years before the appearance of the Messiah in the world. The Messianic connection of the prophecy was proven by the fact that Jesus Christ personally stood and taught in the temple. The prophecy was divided into two parts, the first indicating the coming of the Messiah and the second his fulfilment of the desires of all nations. For instance, the instincts and desires of a man were prophetic of their own fulfilment. An example of this was found in the eye, the ear and other organs of the body. The eye was constructed to receive light, and the ear sound; and somehow and sometime the gratification of the desire for their belongings would come to these organs. And so it was with mental, moral and physical desires. As to the first part of the prophecy, the coming of the Messiah was an historical fact upon which it would not be necessary to dwell; it would be the preacher's theme to point out and illustrate the truth of the second part of the prophecy, that Christ Jesus came into the world to meet, to satisfy and reward all the noble aspirations that belong to universal man. Take first the universal desire for religion, which among the most benighted nations found expression in the idea of a personal deity, and led to the most cruel self-inflicted torture. All these religious instincts in man pointed marvellously towards the truth. Although sadly baffled in their effort, they reached out the idea of a personal deity, and led to the after an incarnate deity and a life after death religion. All these desires were fulfilled in time. Jesus Christ meets the religious instinct of the people of the world. Then witness the search of philosophers after the fundamental principles of truth. Plato perhaps came the nearest to the truth of any, when he realized that there was some great invisible power behind the plan of nature. But Jesus Christ is the of the world; in Him stands revealed that Infinite Person in whose thought, first of all, all things were conceived. Again, see the universal efforts and desire of man to regain his lost position. The ancient ruins of prehistoric times, and the great pyramids were evidences of the advanced knowledge of those early ages, and show that God did not place man upon earth a savage or half beast. Every word of the Divine record is corroborated by recent antiquarian researches, that God created man in a highly perfect state, but he fell morally and then began to decline intellectually, and this declension was not effectually arrested until the Son of God appeared; and the whole record is that God is leading man back to that throne by regenerating his moral powers. Furthermore, the universal desire and effort to regulate human society was given its only safe impulse and guide by Jesus Christ. What wonder, then, that these desires and efforts of men were hindered and baffled, and distorted and cursed until they came back to the ideal God intended them to be! Jesus Christ has come to wake up the forgotten divinity and make us once more at home with God.

The Man with the Long Face.

A Grand Christmas Tree Festival.

The Hope of the Holiday Pleasure Seekers.

The festive event of the season will, without doubt, be the grand Christmas Tree festival to be held under the auspices of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral in Bradburn's Opera House on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 29th, 30th and 31st. The ladies are trying their utmost (and we know by past experience what they are capable of, when they put their minds to it) to make it an unprecedented success that will be worthy the liberal patronage of the general public it will no doubt receive. On the first evening (Dec. 29th) the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral will give one of their characteristically excellent musical entertainments and on Tuesday evening, Dec. 30th, the pupils of the convent Congregation du Notre Dame will present a delightful programme of vocal and instrumental music. The ladies of the congregation would be pleased to receive any articles that the general public may wish to donate towards the adornment of the Christmas Tree, and these articles may be left at the Parsonage. Fuller particulars will be furnished hereafter.

Yesterday a very encouraging amendment took place in the condition of Mr. Hugh Davidson, Smith, and hopes are now entertained of his recovery.

Around the World.

The forthcoming globe-girdling trip of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, now advertised, is rather a costly pleasure, a round trip ticket costing $500. But almost as pleasant a journey, and one which would perhaps give more information to some than the actual journey can be made at a merely nominal expense by reading Lydia Leavitt's charming book, "Around the World." The enterprising author made the formidable journey alone, and it was not to her, evidently, a dolce far niente holiday tour. She must have kept her eyes open, and keenly observed the myriad sights to be seen, for she gives a very faithful, delightful record of them, as will be found by a perusal of her book. This book is not a warmed over replica of guide books and Captain Cook's voyages, but an originally written record of shrewd observations, shrewdly expressed. The book is beautifully printed and bound, and well worthy of a place in any drawing room. The authoress, Lydia Leavitt, is now in town, and will give our citizens an opportunity of becoming possessors of "Around the World" for the very modest consideration of $1.25.

Uncle Sam's (Aboriginal Sinners.

Gen. Miles, who has command of the force which is to keep the Indians in order, regards the situation as very serious. He thinks there are in the North-West 30 000 Indians affected by the Messiah delusion. Of these 6,000 are fighting men, but only about 4,000 would go out on the warpath. That number of Indians, he says, can make an immense amount of trouble. Only 400 were concerned in the Minnesota massacre, yet they killed in a short time 500 settlers. The Government have plenty of infantry, but their main dependence will be on the mounted men, of whom they have only about 2 000 available. He attributes the disturbance to insufficient food supplies, religious delusion, and the innate deposition of the savage to go to war.

A Prominent Doctor Accused of Murder!

A gentleman recently made a startling accusation in the presence of the writer. Said he, I firmly believe that Dr. ——, intentionally or unintentionally, killed my wife. He pronounced her complaint—Consumption—incurable. She accepted the verdict, and—died. Yet since then I have heard of at least a dozen cases, quite as far advanced as hers, that have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Her life might have been saved, for Consumption is not incurable." Of course it is not. The "Discovery" will remove every trace of it, if taken in time and used faithfully. Consumption is a disease of the blood—a scrofulous affection—and the "Discovery" strikes at the root of the evil. For all cases of weak lungs, spitting of blood, severe lingering coughs and kindred ailments, it is a sovereign remedy.

Moral Instruction in Schools.

On the question of ethical instruction in schools the Christian Union says that education cannot be given, nor even the common life of the school maintained, without moral instruction. The conscience, the love, the reverence must be trained and educated in order to preserve the harmony and solidarity of the community, and that it is not possible to teach any in no than two or three of the most primary branches of instruction, such as the alphabet, writing and arithmetic, without teaching morals. The problem of teaching without giving ethical instruction is not unlike the problem presented to Shylock when he was asked to cut off his pound of flesh without shedding one drop of Christian blood.

DIED.

DAVIDSON.—In Peterborough, on Saturday, December 6th, 1890, Maggie, wife of Mr. George Davidson, Dalhousie street, aged 30 years and 9 months.

SOLDIER CONVICTS REVOLT

AND MURDER A NUMBER OF THEIR GUARD.

The Murderers Pursued and Shot Down—Terrible Ravages of Cholera in India—A Gourkha Regiment Almost Wiped Out.

EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 7.—The bull fights this afternoon at Juarez, Mexico, were viewed by an immense crowd. They were brutal and fierce in every respect and one horse ridden by a fighter was horned three times, ripping the left foreleg almost from the body. The bulls were vicious and kept the crowd at a fever of excitement during the afternoon. The last bull was sabred and dragged from the arena dead.

While the soldiers were absent from the post attending the fight the convict soldiers revolted at the barracks, killing the sergeant of the guards, a corporal and a private. The murderers, 18 in number, broke from the barracks and escaped to the mountains. They were followed by the soldiers, three overtaken and shot to death and four captured and returned to the post. They are ordered to be shot at sunrise to morrow.

STANLEY'S STYLE.

Sample Word Pictures and Gesture Illustrations.

During the course of the lecture the following were caught verbatim by the shorthand reporter and by the artist:

In speaking of the cannibalism of the natives, Mr. Stanley said: "They are addicted to cannibalism, but it must not be supposed that they feed on their own relatives or tribe. Nor must it be imagined that they make raids for the purpose of obtaining these luxuries. Tribes are too far apart to render it easy of accomplishment, but if a neighboring community ten or twelve miles off should advance against the village there might possibly be an accident and thus a body may be secured for a social feast. I once witnessed preparations for a cannibal dinner. One day, when nearly opposite a village, I fired a shot to give warning of the approach of our flotilla to an Arab chief, and to indicate that it was of a friendly character. But it happened to frighten a party of natives who were about to prepare a victim for the pot. We landed and saw stretched out the body of a woman whose throat had been cut. Several black pots were around with materials for starting fires and banians, for dessert. The body was that of a sick woman who had been left that morning in an Arab's abandoned encampment."

"I ONCE WITNESSED PREPARATIONS FOR A CANNIBAL DINNER."

"HAD THE SAVAGES GENERALLY BEEN AS ARTFUL AS THE PYGMIES, WE SHOULD HAVE ALL BEEN LOST, but fortunately they were thoughtless themselves, although cruel enough to work any mischief upon us. Our scouts frequently came across newly formed pygmy camps, and after awhile they learned the art of stalking the vicious little creatures. The first one we thus got hold of was a plump little queen of a pygmy tribe. Around her neck were several polished iron collars with long projecting horns at the end and down her breast hung curiously-made native chains. Around her arms were several rings, and her ankles were protected by several scores of rings.

"Around her was a breech-cloth. She must have been about 18 years old, but she was as well developed as a woman of 25 or 30. Her face was broad and round, the lips full and the large limpid eyes were like those of a young gazelle. After a while she became an intelligent cook and a trustworthy servant and she always bore herself modestly. In October, 1888, the scouts suddenly pounced upon a colony of dwarfs and succeeded in capturing a full grown adult and his wife or sister. Before the pair could recover their faculties they were brought into the centre of our camp, where there were hundreds of great, burly men, among them several tall Soudanese, ranging from six feet to six feet four. I observed that the top of the pigmy man reached to about the waist of these big fellows." Then Mr. Stanley described in humorous language how the pygmy repaid the kindness of his captors by assuring them by means of sign language that there was an abundance of food two days off; that the river they were in search of was only four days off. After giving a wonderful pen picture of Emin Pasha's rescue, Mr. Stanley concluded as follows:

"SO ENDS THE SERIO-COMIC STORY of Emin's re-appearance on the verge of civilization after fourteen years on the Nile. But all is well that ends well; and if I have succeeded in pleasing you with my rapid sketch there is nothing wanting to complete my satisfaction."

He—"Give me just one kiss and I shall never ask you for another." She—"Under those conditions I must refuse it."

She—"It was very risque, Jack, dear, was it not?" He—"Very." She—"I wonder why they called it a light opera?" He—"Probably on account of the weight of the costume."

ALL DISORDERS caused by a bilious state of the system can be cured by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. No pain, griping or discomfort attending their use. Try them. dw

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

THE ANTI-PARNELLITES CHEERED ON ENTERING THE HOUSE.

The Parliament to Adjourn Until the Second of January McCarthy to Endeavor to Secure the Cancellation of the Envoys' Sentence

LONDON, Dec. 8.—The anti-Parnellite members of the House of Commons made an early appearance in the House to-day. Forty-one of them entered the Chamber in a body and took the principal places on the first four benches below the gangway, with a view to prevent the Parnellites from occupying their usual seats. Col. Nolan and John Deasy entered later and contrived to secure seats. Mr. Parnell's seat had also been reserved, he having at an earlier hour affixed a ticket to it. Mr. Healy arrived later than his colleagues. When he entered he took Mr. Parnell's seat, but McCarthy warned him to vacate it. The party appeared to be in excellent spirits. They cheered loudly when Mr. Deasy, the anti-Parnellite whip, advanced to the Speaker's chair, and moved the issue of a new writ for an election in North Kilkenny to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Edward Marum. The writ was issued.

Mr. McCarthy, amid the cheering of his supporters, gave notice that on the reassembling of the House he would call attention to the circumstances in connection with the recent arrest and prosecution of Messrs Dillon and O'Brien, and would move a resolution in relation to the case.

William Henry Smith, the Government leader, announced that when the House went into committee on the Land Purchase Bill he would move an adjournment of the House until Jan. 9.

Mr. Balfour moved the second reading of the Land Department (Ireland) Bill.

Mr. Healy moved to adjourn the debate, on the ground that the Government was treating the House with contempt in not explaining the provisions of the bill.

Subsequently Mr. Healy withdrew his motion to adjourn and substituted an amendment calling for the rejection of the Land Department bill.

This was defeated and the bill passed its second reading, 91 to 199.

Mr. Parnell entered the House just before the division. He took a seat next to Mr. McCarthy and voted, as did all the Irish members of both sections, present against the bill.

Mr. Smith announced that when the House reassembled on Jan. 22, the Private Procedure and Tithes bills would be first taken up.

Mr. Balfour's Irish Relief bill, which asked an appropriation of £5000 to enable him to supply seed potatoes to distressed families, passed its third reading.

A GOLD PANIC IN NEW YORK.

Offering Sterling Rates for Commercial Bills, With No Takers.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The Commercial Advertiser says: "Commercial houses and other brokers were busy to-day trying to sell bills of exchange in London. Millions of dollars in bills were offered and so anxious were the drawers to obtain the money that they offered sterling rates for commercial bills down to 4.78. This is more than 11 cents below the gold value of the sovereign, but at this rate no sales of bills could be made.

"Bankers' bills of the highest class sold at $4.82, which leaves a profit of 1 cent on the pound sterling on importations of gold, even though no weight coins should be paid out to shippers by the Bank of England. That institution must now release its gold or suspend specie payments, for nothing can now prevent a return flow of gold to this side. It is estimated bankers here are likely to draw at least $30,000,000 from the British capital before the movement ends.

"Kuhn, Loeb & Co. to-day ordered $500,000 in gold from London, and other houses have given notice that they will require gold for shipment on Wednesday's steamers from the other side."

LONDON, Dec. 8.—The Times, in its financial article, says: "London, Paris and Berlin ought to afford all possible assistance to New York. The present mischief is spreading. The immediate cause of the trouble may be traced to the curtailment of accommodating through the Barings' collapse, which caused a great many other firms also to stop accommodation. In the case of America the stoppage of these facilities is particularly unfortunate in view of her large cotton crop. We believe the Bank of England could spare a million and a half in case of necessity."

FROM THE ORIENT.

The Latest Budget of News from China and Japan.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—Chinese advices give meagre details of the blowing up on Nov. 20th of the government powder mills at Taiping Foo, but reports agree that 500 lives were lost and all the houses in the vicinity wrecked. Fifty persons work in the mills and of their remains only two limbs were found. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

One half of the city of Pachow in the Province of Anhuei, is reported destroyed by fire originating from another powder explosion.

Japanese advices state that an agreement has been arrived at between the Japanese and the Hawaiian Governments regarding Japanese emigration to Hawaii, by which the passage of each emigrant, $65, is defrayed by the Hawaiian Government.

Several firms at Hachioji, in the Japan silk district, have failed for nearly $100,000 and a serious panic has ensued.

A boat containing the captain and 14 men of the crew of the Japanese training ship Mongu capsized off the coast of Japan recently and all were drowned but two.

The influenza has appeared at Tokio. The disease is fast disappearing.

On Nov. 9 a train overturned at Okayan, killing and wounding 28 persons.

It is stated that Clarence Greathouse, United States Consul General to Japan, has resigned in order to accept the appointment of Prime Minister of the Corean Government.

A Big Property Purchase.

ST JOHN, N.B., Dec. 8.—To-day one of the most important property purchases that has ever taken place in this province was completed by C. M. Bostwick & Co. taking over all the property belonging to the estate of W. J. Davidson, amounting to about 70,000 acres, and paying therefor $100,000 in cash.

TORONTO TOPICS.

TORONTO, Dec. 8.—Before the master in chambers at Osgoode Hall yesterday an application was made for interim alimony in the action of Taylor v. Taylor. On Feb. 4 of present year, Rev. J. E. Lanceley married Mary Eleanor Black and Arthur Gerrard Taylor, an ex-hotelkeeper, both of this city. Taylor took his wife home and they lived together as husband and wife till August last, when the defendant, it is alleged, refused to support her. Taylor, in his statement of defence, says that when he was married he was so intoxicated as to be entirely deprived of his reason.

Mrs. Taylor is a daughter of "Mother" Black, who lives at Chestnut and Louisa streets. The master made an order for $3 per week interim alimony, to be paid from the issue of the writ till trial.

A motion was also made for interim alimony in the action of Connolly v. Connolly. The plaintiff was a school teacher living at Whitby, and was married to the defendant, John Connolly, a farmer of the township of Peel, in September, 1888. One child was born, which the wife is now supporting. The manner in which the defendant used his wife and the language used towards her by him, as shown by the papers put in, stamp him (to use the words of one of the counsel) as a human brute. The master reserved judgment.

The petition against the return of Nicholas Awrey as member of the Assembly for South Wentworth will be dismissed on Thursday next, the petitioner having failed to prosecute the matter by delivering particulars of the allegations charged in the petition, as ordered.

The Ontario Prison Committee, consisting of J. W. Langmuir (chairman), Hon. Charles Drury, Hon. T. W. Anglin and Dr. Rosebrugh, met yesterday afternoon in the Parliament Buildings. Mrs. Code, assistant-superintendent of the Mercer Reformatory, and Robert Laird, bursar of the same institution, were examined. The latter favored a better classification of inmates, in which the personal history of each would be a factor. He recommended stricter discipline, also a number of structural changes in the institution. The Mercer he considered to be doing a good work. He knew of certain cases of reformation himself which amply justified its continued existence.

Mr. W. M. F. Round, corresponding secretary of the Prison Association of New York and superintendent of Burnham Industrial Farm for Boys in that state, gave general evidence on prison management, favoring indeterminate sentences and the abolition of county jails and substitution therefor of workhouses of a reformatory character.

President John I. Davidson, of the Board of Trade, Hon. A. S. Hardy and a party of 25 business men left last night for an inspection of the Sudbury nickel mines.

Somewhat of a scene was created among the cattle exporters of the city yesterday by the receipt of a cablegram from Liverpool stating that disease had broken out among the cargo of Canadian cattle just arrived on the Corean. Subsequent despatches went to show that it was not pleuro-pneumonia, as had been previously suspected in Liverpool.

According to the report of the medical experts submitted yesterday none of the four candidates for the vacant health office are fit for the position. The city is just where it started two months ago in the matter of securing a competent health officer.

Ald. McDougall last night submitted a scheme to the City Council dividing the city into four wards, greatly reducing the number of aldermen and standing committee, and providing for the payment of the members thereof.

Thomas Tait, general superintendent of the Ontario and Atlantic division of the C.P.R., is to be married to-morrow to Miss Cockburn, daughter of G.R.R. Cockburn, M.P. Last night the officers and men of the division tendered Mr. Tait a complimentary supper and gave him a handsome solid silver tea service.

Ranchmen and Indians.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—General Miles to-day received a letter from Buffalo Gaps, dated Dec. 6, which says that on Friday last 13 Sioux at the entrance to the Bad lands tried to capture three cowboys and the ranchmen near the bad lands are sending women and children into forts.

A telegram from the same place dated to-day:

"Ranchmen and Indians have a slight skirmish. The situation is becoming serious, for the settlers are unarmed. Can you supply 50 good rifles and ammunition so that settlers can defend themselves."

Gen. Miles will leave the scene of Indian trouble to-morrow.

GUTHRIE, O.T., Dec. 8.—Couriers arrived here to-day with news of a threatened uprising among the Blanket or uncivilized Indians just west of the Oklahoma border. These tribes are the Cheyennes, Araphoes and Comanches. Governor Steel at once asked the Legislature to enable the citizens of Oklahoma to organize militia companies. The uneasiness among the Indians was occasioned by a Sioux runner from the Dakotas, who organized a ghost dance. These dances are now being carried on to an alarming extent among the tribes east of the city. The Messiah craze has also but subsided.

Telegraphic Tape.

Over 300 spinners, creelers and piecers in the Clark thread mill at Kearney, N.J., struck yesterday. The strike will cause a total stoppage of work in the mills, throwing 900 hands out of work. The alleged cause of the strike is the superintendent's despotism.

James A Henderson, Q.C., LL.D., of Kingston, died in that city last evening of Bright's disease and about the same time his 90-year-old grandson, Walter C. A. Walkem, eldest son of R. T. Walkem, Q.C., passed away. Dr. Henderson had been ailing for two years with the disease. He was an eminent lawyer, and for many years occupied the position of master in chancery and was regarded as a jurist of acumen, fairness and good judgment. He was also chancellor of the diocese of Ontario. Dr. Henderson was Supreme Grand Master A. F. & A. M., Past Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada and Supreme Grand Master of the Knights Templar of Canada. Seven daughters, all married save one, and one son survive him. Mr. Walkem was a cadet in the Royal Military College, and gave promise of great usefulness, when attacked with brain fever and carried off after a lingering illness.

Ottawa Notes.

OTTAWA, Dec. 8.—Hon. J. S. Robinson, ex-Lieut.-Governor of Ontario, Dr. McMichael, Q.C., and Col G. T. Denison of Toronto are in the city in connection with North-west Central Railway business.

It is understood that Hon. Michael Adams will be the Government candidate to oppose Hon. Peter Mitchell in Northumberland at the next Dominion election.

PARNELL FOR IRELAND.

THE FIGHTING LEADER WILL STUMP THE GREEN ISLE.

He Will Meet the Citizens of Dublin, Cork, Longford, etc.—Michael Davitt on the Situation—The League Fund That Was Deposited in Paris—Crisp Gossip.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Mr. Parnell goes to Ireland to-morrow. He will deliver a political address in Leinster Hall, Dublin, on Wednesday and Thursday and afterwards proceed to Cork, Longford and Granard.

Mr. Parnell will be accompanied by the most active of his followers. Before his departure for Ireland he will issue a manifesto to the people of Ireland. It will be signed by all his supporters, including Mr. Carew, who has heretofore been regarded as doubtful in his allegiance.

The Healy Gaelic Athletic Association has adopted a resolution requesting Mr. Healy to abandon his present position and support Mr. Parnell.

Mr. Parnell will send a mission to the United States to place before the American people his side of the controversy that has arisen in the Nationalist party.

The McCarthyites have warned Sir John Pope Hennessy, that they will oppose him if he stands as a Parnellite candidate for the seat in the House of Commons for North Kilkenny made vacant by the death of Mr Marum.

Thomas Power O'Connor is mentioned as likely to be editor of the new daily paper which the anti-Parnellites propose to establish in Dublin.

Mr. Davitt, in a speech at Stratford to-day, said that, while it could not be denied that recent events had seriously endangered the cause of Ireland, he was glad to be able to say that during the controversy little had been said on either side of which Ireland need be ashamed. He was confident that both sides would remain true to the principle of national self-government, and he did not believe either Mr. Gladstone or the British democracy would go back on Ireland now.

Mr. Davitt will go to Ireland to assist in the campaign of the anti-Parnell party. In an interview he said that since he resigned the trusteeship of the league fund he had been uncertain as to what disposition was made of the fund. The sum of £32,000 was deposited with Munroe & Co. in Paris, and he believed that since the death of Mr. Egan this money had lain in the names of Parnell and McCarthy. But it was never intended, he said, that Mr. Parnell should have the sole control of the fund.

Mr. Gilhooly and O'Gorman Mahon have formally joined the anti-Parnell party.

Mr. Parnell has sent a despatch to Milwaukee, Wis., declining an offer of $15,000 for 100 lectures.

William O'Brien sent a cable despatch to Parnell to-day appealing to him to suggest some way by which Ireland might be saved from destruction. Parnell replied: "It is now too late to rescue the seceders from their false position. I shall be glad to consult you on your arrival in Europe."

The subscriptions to the fund for the establishment in Dublin of a new daily paper devoted to the interests of the anti-Parnellites' section of the Nationalist party have reached many thousands of pounds.

The Tipperary town commissioners have adopted a resolution declaring they have lost confidence in Parnell.

It is said Mr. Chance, M.P. for Kilkenny South and opponent of Mr. Parnell, will resign his seat, as he is unable to longer devote time to parliamentary duty.

A committee to further the maintenance of Parnell in the leadership is being formed in Dublin.

DUBLIN, Dec. 8.—The North City Board of Electors has passed resolutions supporting Parnell.

THE SITUATION IS DELICATE.

The Irish Envoys Quietly Resting on Their Oars in New York.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The members of the Irish Parliamentary party, Messrs. Dillon, O'Brien, Sullivan, Gill and O'Connor, were in consultation all the morning on the advisability of making a stint as to the position of themselves on the Parnell question. Finally Mr. O'Brien dictated the following:

"The situation is one of extreme delicacy and may involve consequences affecting the whole course of Irish affairs during our generation. Under these circumstances we must ask our friends to believe that it is under deep responsibility we continue to maintain an attitude of complete reserve. Having still a strong hope that the Irish people may be spared the calamity of internal dissensions, and being persuaded that we will be staid in that direction by avoiding all unnecessary publicity, we are all in complete accord as to our action and we must beg the public to take no notice of ridiculous rumors to the contrary."

The party has no plans formed yet as to their future movements.

Mr. O'Brien to-day received the following cablegram:

CORK, Dec. 8.—Influential committees in both the city and county are being formed to sustain the cause. Party fever is rapidly passing over and common sense is asserting itself. The city and county of Cork will do their whole duty.

FITZGERALD,
High Sheriff and Chairman.

The despatch was interpreted by Mr. O'Brien to signify that Parnell's own constituency was going for McCarthy and against Parnell.

Winnipeg Jots.

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 8.—Andrew Strange was elected president of the North-west Commercial Travelers' Association, C. McIntyre vice-president, and nearly all the old officials re-elected.

Col Bolson of Manitoba Penitentiary is gradually sinking and it is not expected he will last over Christmas.

At to-day's call board 67c was bid for two cars No. 2 wheat, Brandon freight.

A report reached here that two Icelandic fishermen were drowned the other day in Lake Winnipeg near Gurdstone Point. No particulars are to hand.

The weather is very mild and like Indian summer. People are going around without overcoats.

Sumner Goes Free.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Perrin H. Sumner, charged with forging a will purporting to have signed by J. H. Edgar, a wealthy Englishman, was to-day discharged from custody owing to damaging revelations made regarding one of his accusers. Sumner some time agoident fied Smith, the Yonkers suicide, as Edgar, but afterwards denied that the dead man was Edgar.

Kilrain and the Koon.

PROVIDENCE, Dec. 8.—The Gladstone club of this city has offered $4000 to George Godfrey, the colored heavyweight pugilist, and Jake Kilrain to meet in the square ring in a scientific encounter.

The Cattlemen of Montreal Also Anxious.

MONTREAL, Dec. 8.—Canadian cattle shippers are seriously exercised over the deliberations of the committee appointed by the Imperial Board of Agriculture to consider the advisability of restricting the Canadian cattle trade on account of the slaughter of cattle in crossing the ocean and the danger of infectious disease.

The losses this year have been heavy and English agriculturists and humanitarians from selfish and humane motives are making the most of them to influence the Government to restrict the trade.

Mr. W. H. Smith, Deputy Minister of Marine, was in Montreal to-day conferring with the steamship companies and shippers, and an agreement was come to that the Government should co-operate to represent the case fairly to the English authorities.

A meeting of live stock exporters was held this afternoon and a deputation was appointed to proceed to Ottawa to develop a line of action which will prevent the Canadian cattle trade from being wiped out. The shippers are confident that the season's losses are due to the exceptionally heavy weather experienced and not to carelessness or imperfections in the construction of ships.

STANLEY DEFENDS OLD ENGLAND.

Lessons of His Disclosures in Connection With Emin's Rescue.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Henry M. Stanley has cabled a long letter to The Times in defence of England from foreign slurs arising from the disclosures in connection with the Emin Relief Expedition. He says he believes the conduct of the men who have been exposed was entirely unusual and exceptional among Englishmen engaged in African explorations. No nation, he declares, has surpassed the English in the tone, temper and principle of its dealing with negroes. Many English explorers, from the revered master Livingstone to his comrades of the advance guard, united in a singular degree gentleness and valor.

"If for myself," says Stanley, "I claim not exceptional fineness of nature, but beginning life as a rough, ill-educated, impatient man, I have found my schooling in these very African experiences which are said to be detrimental to European character, I have learned that self-control is more indispensable than gunpowder in order to rule and keep one's life among Africans. It is needful resolutely to regard and treat them as children."

In conclusion, Stanley says he hopes the revelations which Major Barttelot forced him to make will not be with some good results. He desires that such conduct as Jameson's shall be impossible anywhere on the face of the earth.

"It is only by showing ourselves superior to savages," he says, "that we can attain that control that is necessary to their welfare, even more than to ours."

An Unlikely Story.

LISBON, Dec. 8.—The Governor of Mozambique reports that agents of the British South African Company induced Mataafa's men to revolt and lower the Portuguese flag at Massikess. The revolters imprisoned a French engineer and three Portuguese.

Some Paris Criminals.

PARIS, Dec. 8.—The police searched the house of M. Raynaud, the absconding director of the Banque d'Etat, to-day and found a number of important documents concealed in the chimney.

The manager of an anarchist paper, Pere Peinard, has been sentenced to two years imprisonment for inciting to arson.

THE NIHILIST MURDER.

Due to Vengeance for General Seliverskoff's Energetic Prosecution of Nihilists.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 8.—The murder of General Seliverskoff is universally regarded here as being intended to avenge the execution of Mme. Gunzbars, a Russian subject and a Jewish lady of culture and refinement, who was arrested by the police of Paris as implicated in the manufacture of Nihilist bombs. She was extradicted, and after a secret trial hanged at Fort St. Peter, opposite the Winter Palace, in the dead of night.

Four accomplices, students and army officers, were transported, and no representative of the press was allowed to attend the trial, sentence or execution. The apprehension of Mme. Gunzbars by the French police was considered to be mainly the work of General Seliverskoff, who, since his dismissal from the detective office in St. Petersburg, has been directing the operations of the Russian secret police in France.

General Seliverskoff bequeathed 3,000,000 francs for charitable purposes.

PERFIDY BROKE HIS HEART.

Missing Millionaire Campbell Had Lost Half a Million in a Chicago Concern.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—The day after Thanksgiving Benjamin H. Campbell, a millionaire, disappeared and has not been heard of since. Yesterday the Chicago Safe and Lock Company assigned and it was discovered that Mr. Campbell had sunk nearly $500,000 in the enterprise. He paid its losses out of his pocket and it is feared this drove him to suicide.

H. B. Gibson, the late manager of the company, made some serious charges to-day against the former manager, C. M. Briscoe, stating that the latter had so manipulated the affairs of the company as to result in a profit of not less than $50,000 to himself and the consequent loss of that amount to the company.

Mr. Gibson said:

"When Briscoe's mismanagement was first discovered it was like a shaft of lightning from a clear sky to Mr. Campbell, but it was all kept quiet. Briscoe had had full swing. If he wanted $20,000 he would simply tell Mr. Campbell, and the latter would make out a check. He trusted him absolutely and when he discovered the real facts it broke his heart. This went on until Mr. Campbell had put over $500,000 into the concern. The company was capitalized at $200,000, so it owed Mr. Campbell about $300,000 when the crash came."

Mr. Gibson says Mr. Campbell suffered untold humiliation because of the situation of affairs, but, being proud and high spirited, he pocketed the losses and did not have Briscoe arrested.

At the offices of the company it was said Briscoe would probably be prosecuted.

The Rutgers and Williams Colleges have entered their football teams.

An interesting game is expected between a Canadian team and a picked team of English members of the Athletic Club according to Rugby Union rules.

Hardman of the 2d Battalion Grenadier Guards, stationed at Bermuda, took suddenly ill of enteric fever on the 28th at noon, dying two days later. On the same day three more of the Guards were placed in the hospital with the same disease. While swimming the other day one of the Guards struck his head on a hard substance and broke his neck.

If Your House is on Fire.

You put water on the burning timbers, not on the smoke. And if you have catarrh you should attack the disease in the blood, not in your nose. Remove the impure cause, and the local effect subsides. To do this, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which radically and permanently cures catarrh. It also strengthens the nerves. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

DRY GOODS NEWS AT

TURNBULL'S

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st October in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date, to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now; but they have come at last and open out beautifully. We have two ranges, plain and fancy backs, at $1.00 and $1.25, in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta; some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us, and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better, and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit.

Although early in the season our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing, which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on our counters. They are desirable goods, and worth remembering.

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

Cobourg Bonusing Again.

Under the above heading we publish below an extract from the Bobcaygeon Independent respecting the extension of a line of railway from Cobourg to connect with the C.P.R. at Havelock, merely to show the state of feeling on the subject at Bobcaygeon. The Independent says:—

"There are few towns in Ontario which are prettier or more picturesque than the little town of Cobourg. Its situation on the lake is delightful, its surroundings are charming, and every year many of the citizens of the adjoining Republic choose Cobourg as the scene of their summer holiday. But the growth of the town has been slow, the increase in its population has been slight, and the property holders in the town have been for many years in a condition of chronic discontent at the absence of any increase in the value of their property. They have, at different periods, made spasmodic efforts to raise the value artificially, but those efforts have resulted in nothing beyond adding considerably to the debt of the town. The property-holders appear to be just now suffering from another spasm, and it bids fair to be attended with the same result—an addition to the debt of the town. Cobourg, in former periods, spent considerable sums of money in railway scheming—it now has in hand another railway scheme wilder and more unreasonable than any of the former ones, which it proposes to initiate by a bonus, which means that the citizens will borrow a sum of thirty thousand dollars, give it to a proposed railway, and leave the payment of the money borrowed as a mortgage on the industry and property of their children.

The railway proposed is to run from Cobourg to some point on the C. P. R. at Havelock or Central Ontario Junction, and the farmers of the territory will be required to bonus the railway. The question naturally arises—who will be benefitted? That question it is difficult to answer. If Cobourg had no railway, and if no railways traversed the territory in question, there would be good and sufficient reasons for railway construction in the locality, but Cobourg has excellent railway accommodation, and the territory is already traversed by two railway lines. It is not easy to find reasons for Cobourg again going into the railway bonus business. The first effect of such a railway as that proposed would be to cut off from Cobourg such back country trade as it now enjoys, for the projected line would haul the farmers' produce past the doors of the estimable citizens of Northumberland and carry it straight to Toronto or Montreal. Cobourg and Grafton would be left out in the cold. But difficult as it is to find any reasons for Cobourg loading itself with a bonus mortgage, it is still more difficult to find any decisive advantage to the farmers of the county. It is quite clear that the farmers will obtain no higher prices for their produce than they do now, but they will be out of pocket by the amount they pay the railway for freight. At present they haul their produce to the frontier with their own teams,—and what they now save in their own haulage they will have to pay, and probably considerably more, in the shape of freight rates to keep the local railway alive.

There could be no better illustration of the effect of railway scheming upon towns than the case of the town of Port Hope. Will the enterprising citizens of Port Hope contend that their town received any compensative benefit for the large sums of money spent by Port Hope in railway extensions through the back country? Will the town of Cobourg receive thirty thousand dollars worth of benefit by building a railway to Havelock? The latter place may be benefitted, for there are the C. P.R. railway sheds, and engine houses, and the C.P.R. company will continue their policy of building up that place on their own main line.

This system of bonusing railways was generally supposed to have been brought to a close. It has been found to work injuriously, and places must unjust taxes on farmers and others who are but little able to bear them. This Cobourg scheme is just one of the cases in point, where innocent and unreflective men are imposed upon by cunning and designing promoters.

It may be said that these matters exclusively concern those interested, but such a contention is erroneous, for they concern the whole community, inasmuch as railways in Ontario are largely assisted by Provincial subsidies. Cobourg and Havelock already have abundant railway accommodation, and so has the territory between those places. For the Province to give money to build another railway in that territory would be unjust to the people, and against such a grant the people should vigorously protest. The Government of the province should be spoken to very plainly on the subject, and such projects as these camily but decisively refused aid or encouragement.

The First Doctors,

The title of Doctor was invented in the twelfth century, at the first establishment of the Universities. The first person on whom it was conferred was Irnerius, a learned Professor of Law at the University of Bologne.

William Gordanio was the first person upon whom the title of Doctor of Medicine was bestowed. He received it from the College of Asti in 1839.

Since that time, it has ever been the great aim of all true and honest physicians to relieve pain and suffering.

It is really wonderful when we contemplate the almost miraculous strides that have been made, not only in the treatment of diseases, but in the science of Surgery as well.

Our physicians of to-day are highly educated men and with few exceptions are just and honorable. It has been asserted by some that their great life object is money, and that the weal of their patients is only a secondary consideration. This we know from extended experience to be false and libellous; would to Heaven that men in other professions were as honorable, noble and tender-hearted.

Physicians, however, like some other mortals, are liable to err; they are not infallible, and at times adhere too rigidly to old doctrines, formulas and remedies, which to-day are obsolete and worthless. Physicians too often govern themselves by the opinions of old medical authorities, for the treatment of certain diseases, when common sense and good judgment should be their light and guide.

This is especially the case in the treatment of many forms of nervous diseases, which are now so prevalent amongst our Canadian people.

Overwork of brain and body, sleeplessness, unrest, dizziness, headache, languor or worry, have brought on dreaded and dangerous nerve disorders, and in the cure of these our doctors are working, many of them in vain.

That they are working honestly in the majority of cases with the light they have, we will not deny; but alas! they work in the dark, and must in nine cases out of ten allow the poor sufferer to go down to the grave.

Other physicians who do not rely upon useless, antiquated drugs and medicines, are calling to their aid that scientific and wonderful preparation, Paine's Celery Compound; and through its use in their practice, are meeting with grand success.

Hundreds of physicians on this Continent are daily prescribing it for Chronic cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion, as well as for Liver and Kidney troubles.

A word to all who suffer from any of the many serious diseases, or who are suffering from imperfect circulation of the blood should be sufficient. If any physician does not recommend you Paine's Celery Compound, have the will and the courage to procure it yourself. It is nature's true remedy and has been the great restorer of thousands of poor helpless sufferers in our Dominion. It has never yet failed in its great work of building up broken-down nervous organisms, and giving strength, vigor and new life to the whole body.

LYNCHED BY COWBOYS.

He Had Organized a Gang and Was Doing a Wholesale Business.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 8.—Information has just been received here that Andrew L. Baugh, formerly a resident of this county, but for three years a fugitive from justice, was recently hanged by cowboys on the frontier of the State of Texas.

The people all around Lawrenceville for weeks lost one after another of their cattle, and everyone believed and charged Baugh as being the thief who stole them. It was this thieving business that caused his sudden taking off.

Mr. Truman Smith, a prominent citizen of this county, has a son just from Texas, and this young man, who is perfectly reliable, says that the cowboys caught Baugh and two other men with some of their cattle carrying them to Mexico. And as the cowboys came upon the party driving their stolen cattle Baugh's crowd made a break for escape.

Two of them succeeded in getting away, but Baugh was shot by one of the party and the wound disabled him from getting away. They caught him, and without a moment's time for preparation and without any ceremony, hanged him on the spot, and left him hanging.

He, with his comrades in cattle-stealing, were in the business for profit, and when they had stolen a respectable number they would carry them to Mexico to sell. Mr. Smith says the cowboys were told by the hanged thief that his name was Andrew P. Baugh. Baugh was once a prominent and respected citizen of Gwinett, and gained the distinction of captain in the Confederate army. He was said to be a brave man and a fearless soldier.

A CONVICT'S GRATITUDE.

He Leaves $30,000 To a Fellow-Prisoner As a Reward For His Kindness.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 8.—Walter Williams, a convict recently released from Stillwater, the Minnesota State Prison, has just fallen heir to $30,000 in a most romantic manner.

Six years ago Williams became engaged to Miss Mathilde Kittieson of Winona county, and two days before the day set for the wedding borrowed $50 of her and ran away. She had him arrested, but repented and married him in jail. He was released, but was later sent to Stillwater for forgery. At the prison he met Edgar Wilson, a life convict, the son of wealthy parents. Wilson and Williams became firm friends. The latter was employed in the cook room and often smuggled good food to Wilson. Williams was released on a pardon and Wilson died in prison, leaving Williams all his property, valued at $30,000, in remembrance of his kindness.

STABBED TO DEATH AT SEA.

Captain Lyall Meets a Bloody Death on the Buckingham.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The British ship Buckingham, from Dundee, arrived here today after a stormy passage. Capt. Lyall was stabbed to death on the second day at sea by the cook, a Lascar named Bhaghwan Dhass, whom the captain reprimanded for neglect of duty. The cook was brought here in irons. Captain Lyall's wife, to whom he was married in New York on his last voyage, was on the ship. The crew is a mixed one, and Acting Captain Christie had great trouble to keep them under control. To-day one of the seamen attempted to stab the boatswain's mate. He was placed in irons.

The Merriest Girl That's Out.

"Bonnie sweet Bessie the maid of Dundee," was, no doubt, the kind of a girl to ask, "What are the wild waves saying?" or to put "a little faded flower" in your button hole, she was so full of vivacity, and beaming with robust health. Every girl in the land can be just as full of life, just as well, and just as merry as she, since Dr. Pierce has placed his "Favorite Prescription" within the reach of all. Young girls in their teens, passing the age of puberty, find it a great aid. Delicate, pale and sickly girls will find this a wonderful invigorator and a sure corrective for all derangements and weaknesses incident to females.

The Population of Peterborough is about 10,000, and we would say at least one half are troubled with some affection on the Throat and Lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a Bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. Trial size free. Large Bottle 50c. and $1. Sold by all druggists. dw importance of right the blood in condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditted and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

Town and Suburban Property

Within the past few days I have received instructions from OVERLOADED owners to sell their surplus properties at once, and to do that means to sell at low prices, which I now have authority to do.

The man who is now occupying a very comfortable house at a low rent would consult his own interest by asking himself, How long will these low or cheap rents continue? It always, then remain as you are; but if your good judgment tells you that Edison having applied his electric magnetism to the town means that it is destined to make rapid strides and become a great city in the near future, when your present neglect to provide a home for yourself much under value will be rewarded by having to pay double the rent you are now paying. All this loss and trouble can be easily avoided by calling at my office without delay and selecting a House and Lot, a vacant Building Lot, or any other kind of property you may desire at low prices and on most reasonable terms of payment.

SPECTACLES AND EYEGLASSES.

Some of Extravagant Uses to Which They Have Been Put.

When Alessandro di Spina, of Florence, invented spectacles he could never have anticipated that they would be used as marks of social position and intellectual superiority by some of the most civilized nations of the earth. Yet, strange as it may appear, they have been put to this extravagant use.

In Spain, during the seventeenth century, the wearing of spectacles by both sexes was a mark of social eminence. Although they were not necessary, many kept them on while eating or attending public functions, such as theaters, concerts and bull fights, so that the wearers might command respect from those of the lower orders with whom they might be compelled to come in contact. A story is told of a young monk who, having accomplished some difficult task, was promised by the prior any favor which it was in his power to grant. He gravely replied that he had long yearned to be permitted to wear spectacles. This request evidently gratified his superior, who, with an air of satisfied pride, said to the young monk, "Hermano, ponga las ojalas" ("Brother put on spectacles"). The concession filled the recipient with such joy that he forthwith fell on his knees, and kissing the hand of the prior, earnestly expressed his gratitude for so great an honor. There is another story which shows how highly the right to wear these ornaments was esteemed. It is said that when the Viceroy of Naples, the Marquis d'Astorgas was having his bust sculptured in marble he was most careful to have his best and largest spectacle put in, as he thought it could not be a good likeness if these necessary appendages of nobility were omitted.

In this century, the size of the spectacles was also a matter of important consideration just as carriages and menservants are nowadays. As a man's fortune increased, so did the size of his spectacles. And the Countess d'Aulnoy assures us that as men rose in political and social rank, the spectacles, too, rose higher and higher on their noses. She also states, from personal observation, that some of these worn by the grandees were as large as her head, and that for this reason these great personages obtained the sobriquet of ocales. These glasses were for the most part made in Venice, until the Venetians, out of revenge, played a trick on the Spaniards. The Marquis de Cueva, with two other nobles, had undertaken to set the arsenal of Venice on fire by means of burning glasses and thus render up the city to the King of Spain. To be revenged for this attempt on their city, the Venetians caused a large number of these huge spectacles or ocales to be made of burning glass, and had them set in frames of an explosive material so that when the sun's rays beat upon them they would heat to explosion, and thus blind their wearers. It is said that the explosion actually occured, but with no more disastrous consequence than the burning of the eyebrows, eyelashes and hair of the wearers, a circumstance which made the Spaniards very irate with the Venetians, causing them to withdraw their custom for ocales from them forever.

It would seem that the English caught this quaint and ridiculous custom from Spain, but, not to appear slavishly imitative, they adopted the eyeglass, that vain decoration of a man's face which Coleridge described as "a piece of glass stuck in a fop's eye to show that he was a coxcomb." How many men wear this curious ornament for affectation, it were useless to speculate; but it is known that in the greatest majority of cases it is worn to give the wearer a supercilious air which he in his inordinate vanity mistakes for a dignified one, and without which he would be unnoticeable among the thousands of commonplace beings with whom we daily come in contract. For a time this single piece of glass was much in vogue, but it has by degrees given place to the eyesight ornament—to pince-nez. The only eyegear which is most affected by actors, or men who wish to attract attention to their puny individuality.

In Germany the habit of wearing spectacles first began in affectation, consequent, it may reasonably be presumed, on the intercourse which existed between that country and Spain under Charles V. By degrees this affectation, following the theory of natural evolution, became a necessity, and now it is almost an obligatory badge of scholarship among all those who aspire to the distinction of being considered a savant in Germany. Mark Twain wittily observes that if he had the monopoly of the sale of spectacles in that country he would be monetarily rendered happy, inasmuch as the revenue he would derive from it would supply all his wants.

In former days the rims of spectacles were made of bone and tortoise shell, but this clumsy framework has given place to gold, nickel and steel, so that a pair of spectacles can now be had which weighs less than half an ounce. Still, the tortoise-shell frame, with long handles of the same substance, is most in fashion for "ladies' glasses," for with them insolent gazers may be more easily "snubbed," and unpleasant acquaintances, by an ostentatious appearance of near-sightedness, be conveniently "cut." It is a strange fact that those who have real need of spectacles are slowest to wear them, though by their timely use a wasting eyesight may be preserved or rested, and a pleasant old age secured to him who otherwise would have a gloomy one.—American Notes and Queries.

Fancy Pelargoniums.

The varieties of this section are much weaker growers than the large flowered kinds, and should not be cut in so close. If cut back to the hard, ripe wood they sometimes fail to break. After heading down treat the plants in a way advised for the large flowered sorts, being particularly careful that too much water does not reach the roots either before the new growth appears or afterward. The fancy pelargoniums are more likely to suffer from any excess in this direction than the stronger growing kinds.

ONE OF THE THINGS

we are apt to grumble at

IN FRANCE,

THE providing of one's own soap at hotels! Permit me to remark that this is one of those things than we do here. I am strongly of opinion that every one when travelling should carry his or her own soap as one takes one's own hair-brush or sponge. It is much more cleanly, and there can be no better providing in this respect for the hot sun and warm winds and dust of travel than a cake of which, under such circumstances, I have found very efficient in the prevention of sunburn and allied annoyances.

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its issuing unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home Institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefiting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, as do are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

Napanee Wants Him.

The Napanee Beaver says:—At a meeting of the Official Board of the Eastern Methodist church, held on Friday last, a resolution moved by D. S. Warner, seconded by J. Bowerman, extending a call to Rev. S. J. Shorey, of Peterborough, to become the pastor of the church, was unanimously adopted. We know that Mr. Shorey is one of the ablest and most eloquent preachers in connection with the Methodist church in Canada, and the church has been exceedingly fortunate in their selection. We hope he may accept.

Telephone Matters.

At a meeting of the Street and Bridge Committee the other night a resolution was passed requesting the Bell Telephone Company to lower their wires at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, and remove the pole in front of the "Sun" office on Water street. The wires crossing George street on Simcoe are to be lowered so that the highest wire shall not be over forty feet from the ground. This is so allow the Ontario Company's wires to pass overhead. The pole on Water street is ordered to be removed, because it leans over the street.

Septennial Benevolent Society.

Peterborough Lodge, No. 12, of this order, was instituted by Organizer R. Bowker in the Oddfellows' Hall, last night, when the following were elected and installed as its first officers:

PAST PRESIDENT—Thos. J. Mann.
PRESIDENT—S. Roadhouse.
VICE-PRESIDENT—S. A. Bailey.
SECRETARY—Thos. Rammenson.
TREASURER—W. M. Savigny.
CHAPLAIN—J. Crowe.

MEDICAL EXAMINER—Dr. Yelland.

Though the Lodge starts with few in number they are of the right metal to build up the membership, particularly, so says Organizer Bowker, when the plans and objects of the society are discussed, for it pays its living members $15 during sickness, and at the end of seven years $1000.

The Late James Stratton.

Sadly Sudden Death of the Collector of Customs—Brief Sketch of His Life—The Funeral on Thursday.

The community was greatly shocked this morning to hear of the sudden death of Mr. James Stratton, Collector of Customs, especially several who had seen the deceased gentleman taking a stroll on the streets the evening before. His death was very sudden. During the last evening he spent with his family, he was in usual health and spirits. Shortly after eleven o'clock he was attacked with severe orphalic vomiting, accompanied by intense pain in the head. A physician was at once summoned by telephone, but in the meantime Mr. Stratton had lapsed into unconsciousness and was beyond human help, dying peacefully about half an hour after the attack. Such a termination of the illness which he had suffered from for a year was not unexpected, the state of his health having made advisable a temporary abandonment of his official duties, under leave of absence. The deceased gentleman, who was very widely known in the county and district through his prominent connection with public affairs for nearly a quarter of a century, was born in the county of Armagh, Ireland, on May 22, 1831, but his paternal ancestors were originally of Cornwall, England, and his mother was a native of Scotland. Mr. Stratton received his education principally in the Public schools of his native country, and in the county of Durham, Upper Canada, to which he came from Ireland at the age of fifteen years. At 18 years of age he began teaching in a Public school in the township of Clarke, West Durham county. After residing a time in Millbrook Mr. Stratton removed to Peterborough in 1860, residing in Ashburnham, where he taught school for a number of years, regularly contributing articles to the EXAMINER newspaper, which he afterwards purchased, and which he conducted with marked vigor and ability for thirteen years, making it a strong and outspoken advocate of Reform principles, and so commending himself to the confidence of the Liberals that in 1874 he was chosen as the candidate of the Reform party to contest West Peterborough, against the late Dr. O'Sullivan. In spite of the fact that the riding usually gave very large Conservative majorities, Mr. Stratton only failed of election by a small minority. Dr. O'Sullivan was unseated for violation of the Election laws by an agent, but for personal and business reasons Mr. Stratton was not again a candidate. As already stated, he was prominently connected with public affairs. For about ten years he was Inspector of Public Schools in the county and for about twenty years Inspector of the town Public Schools. Mr. Stratton was a man of firm principle and unbending adhesion to his conscientious convictions. In both his newspaper and in his life, he was a strong advocate of every moral and social reform. He was in his days of activity a leader in the temperance movement, a lifelong total abstainer, and an earnest advocate by pen, voice and practice of the application of the most stringent repressive measures to the liquor traffic. Mr. Stratton was a member of the Baptist church, and in active sympathy with the advancement of its interests, and indeed with the progress of every good and moral cause. The deserving poor and the needy ever found in him a friend, and the whole energies of his life were ranged on the side of justice and right, morality and religion.

In 1876 Mr. Stratton accepted the appointment of Collector of Customs for Peterborough from the Mackenzie administration, a position which he held till the time of his death.

In 1851, November 6th, Mr. Stratton was united in marriage to Rosanna Armstrong, daughter of William Armstrong, Esq., of Cavan township, and sister of the Hon. W. J. Armstrong, late Commissioner of Public Works and now sheriff of New Westminster, British Columbia. To this marriage were born nine children of whom eight are still living—J. K. Stratton, M. P. P. and publisher of the EXAMINER; W. A. Stratton, barrister; Albert H. Stratton, all of Peterborough; Dr. Edwy Stratton, of Orting, Washington Territory, and four daughters.

The funeral takes place from the family residence, 118 Gilmour street, on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

Obituary.

The Late Mrs. Robt. Cochrane.

The intelligence received on Saturday of the death of Mrs. Robert Cochrane, of Kansas City, will be painful news to the lady's many friends, which she formed during her residence in Peterborough, town and county. Her last illness was inflammation of the kidneys. Mrs. Cochrane, who was the daughter of the late James Fife, Asphodel, was well known in town, where she resided for about ten years. She left Peterborough to go to Guelph about twenty-four years ago, and about ten years ago went to Kansas. While resident in Peterborough Mrs. Cochrane was a highly respected and devoted member of St. Paul's church. She leaves behind her a husband and family of several children, all grown to adult age, and all resident of Kansas City.

W. C. T. U. Items.

A regular meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held on Monday afternoon, at which arrangements were made for Xmas work.

There will be a "Pound Social" on the 19th inst. in connection with the Band of Hope, which will take the place of the usual Xmas tree. The usual order of giving is reversed, and the children, instead of receiving, are taught to give. Each child will bring a pound of something useful, and all thus given will be afterwards divided among the poor. All friends of the cause are invited to send their pounds, or still better, to bring them.

The approaching municipal elections were discussed, and the general feeling is that the majority of women voters in this town do not appreciate their privileges and responsibilities. It is the duty of every woman who has a vote to use it in making the laws which govern her, and to put into power the men who will do their utmost to protect her home.

A number of the ladies came to the meeting from the funeral of a W.C.T.U. woman, Mrs. Geo. Davidson, who came to this town from Campbellford a short time ago, and immediately joined the Union.

The following resolution was adopted: Resolved, that we place on record an expression of our deep regret at the death of our white ribbon sister, Mrs Geo. Davidson, who, although known to us but a short time, had endeared herself to us by her truly Christian character and her interest in the cause we have at heart. We sympathize with the bereaved husband and children in this their greatest loss, but rejoice in the knowledge that she is at rest in her Father's house, from where she will go out no more forever.

A copy of this resolution will be sent to Mr. Davidson.

Bonusing Railways.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—On Monday next the taxpayers of the township of Percy will vote upon a by-law granting $25,000 to a proposed railway from Cobourg to Havelock. Your excellent journal has a large and influential circulation in this district, and I ask you for space to say a few words of warning on the subject.

The bonus is $25,000, but it will take $50,000 to pay principal and interest. The taxpayers can figure it out for themselves, and they will see I am correct. That fifty thousand dollars will be a mortgage on the farms in the township, and will be a heavy drag, not only on the farmers but on the farmers' children.

The farmers will gain nothing by thus imposing on themselves heavy taxation and a lasting mortgage. It will not add a cent to the price of their farm produce, nor will save them expense. They now haul their produce to Cobourg, Grafton, Campbellford, Hastings, or other points, and they haul it with their own teams and do business in the places where they go to market, but if the proposed line is built the farmers' produce will go to a way station and the farmer will have to pay more in freight than it now costs him for team haulage, and the produce and grain will go straight and direct to Toronto or Montreal, and Cobourg, Grafton, Campbellford and Hastings will be left out in the cold.

The territory between Cobourg and Havelock is already thoroughly well supplied with railways, and it is not right that private railway schemes should delude the farmers into granting bonuses for railway projects that can be of no advantage to anybody but the promoters.

I therefore ask the ratepayers of Percy to turn out on Monday and vote against this attempt to delude them into granting a bonus mortgage on their farms, and handing down to their children a tax upon their industry.

Truly yours,
J. B.

County Court.

Opening of the December Session—Judge Weller on the Grand Jury—The Docket for Trial.

The December session of the County Court opened at one o'clock this afternoon, before His Honor, Judge Weller. The docket of cases, which has already been published in the EXAMINER, comprises five jury, one non-jury, and two criminal cases.

THE BAR.

Members of the bar present were John English, Napanee; R. E. Wood, C.C.A., D. W. Dumble, E. B. Edwards, C. W. Sawers, W. H. Moore, E. B. Stone, G. M. Roger, R. R. Hall.

THE GRAND JURY.

The Grand Jury was sworn in as follows:

H. B. MERRICK, Foreman.

Valentine Best,	Alex. Knox,
Jas S Christie,	Robt. Knox,
F. Adams,	Thos. Kingsboro, sr.,
J. L. Hughes,	Wm. Lumsden,
A. Dawson,	Wm. Martin,
F. Foote,	Jas. Matchett,
P. Gillespie,	Robt. Orde,
Jos. T. Greene,	M. O'Brien,
George Howson,	M. O'Keefe.
Chas. Wynn,

JUDGE'S CHARGE.

His Honor in charging the Grand Jury referred to the two cases which they would be called upon to investigate. The first, Queen vs. Gilmac, was a case of seduction under the Charlton Act—the first case of the kind ever tried in this county. His Honor informed the Jury as to their duties in this matter, and then passed on to the second case, one of burglary, in which the prisoner was accused of burglarizing the premises of Henry Patterson, jeweller, Lakefield. He further told the jury that they would be expected to visit the gaol, and concluded with some references to the Grand Jury system. It was not likely that any of the Grand Jurors then present would be called upon within the next two years to serve again in this capacity, but the probability was that before that time the Grand Jury system would be abolished. The Minister of Justice had announced his intention of codifying and altering the criminal law for the purpose of dealing with criminal cases without the assistance of a Grand Jury. The Grand Jury system was, however, and it would be a serious matter to interfere with it. There had never been any demonstration in favor of its abolition through the press as yet, but in recent years observations to this end have been made by prominent men, while others are of different opinion; but all are agreed that the Grand Jury system should not be abolished until some other adequate system is adopted in its place. Some objections to it are that it has served its purpose, that the men who compose the Grand Juries are never men accustomed to cross-examining and getting the true facts of the case; then only one side of the question was placed before the Grand Jury, and that is the side against the accused; further, it was a secret tribunal, which was contrary to the genius of this age, when everything should be conducted openly. This latter objection might be obviated by allowing the accused to come before the Jury and get a hearing. There was also other questions which the Minister of Justice had laid before the judicial lights of the country, and his (Judge Weller's) opinion was that there will be as many for the detention of the services of the Grand Jury as will be against it. His Honor did not ask the jury to come to a conclusion in this important matter; they had not time to investigate. However, if they had any opinion to offer on the subject they had the opportunity to do so through their representative in Parliament. He did not ask for any expression in their presentment.

AN OLD ESTABLISHED ONE,

The Grand Jury then retired.

THE FIRST CASE.

The first case taken up was that of Hulett vs. Reynolds, the trial of an interpleader issue. It was in progress as the EXAMINER goes to press.

The Ida Van Cortland Company

Opens Its Season to a Good House With a Capitally Presented Play.

There was a good house last night to greet the Van Cortland Company in the initial play of the season, and the audience was thoroughly satisfied and delighted with the fine performance given. "A Shadowed Life" was well put on; the acting was capital, and the dressing of the ladies beautiful. The entire cast was quite up to the mark. Ida Van Cortland, in the role of "Stella," the unwedded and forsaken wife, made a very strong presentation. Her acting in the intensely emotional passages the role demands, was worthy of all praise, the expression (if such a term is admissable), of her suppressed passion was full of very effective dramatic skill and power. She was well supported. "Ralph" was well taken by Mr. W. J. Butler. Albert Tavernier in fidelity to the character he assumed, was never out of "Town." John V. Melton made a typical, stern and heartless father. Annie Kerr personated the kittenish "Ella" with great success. Olive Wode took with excellent effect the disagreeable character of "Cora." Dollie Bardel as "Miss Prim," the antique New Jersey virgin, was life itself. The whole play was well presented. The company is a good one, far better than the majority of the high-priced ones. It is a great privilege to the play going public of Peterborough to have the opportunity of receiving at such low rates the benefit of an excellent dramatic organization as the Ida Van Cortland Company. The play to-night will be the great drama, "Lucretia Borgia." The dresses will be exceedingly fine, and the play has been received in the cities with the highest favour.

Lucretia Borgia.

The Van Cortland company will have a strong play here on Tuesday evening, namely, when Lucretia Borgia will be placed on the boards. An exchange says:—"Ida Van Cortland scored another success last evening in the character of Lucretia Borgia. The play was put on the stage in a manner that reached magnificence in some scenes. In the last act a great deal of strength was manifested in the controversy between Miss Van Cortland and Mr. Butler. The stage setting was beautiful, the costumes elegant, being above the average of high-priced tragedies seen in this city." The Van Cortland company will occupy the boards all next week. For programme and prices see ad's in another colum. 1d

EXPLOSIONS AND WRECKS PLAY HAVOC IN CHINA.

Many Christians Massacred by Order of the Heathen Deities—French Jealousy of Prof. Koch Nihilism Rampant Among High Ecclesiastic Parties in Russia

St. Petersburg, Dec. 9.—The woman now on trial here for connection with Nihilist conspiracies is the niece of Percy Councillor Illinsky, editor of The Holy Synod. Her name is Olga Lyanowsky. The police found in her room a list containing the names and residences of many Nihilists who have long been sought for by the authorities. The discovery of the list will undoubtedly lead to a series of arrests. Several high ecclesiastical officials are involved and startling developments are expected.

THE BRIDE AND GROOM SLAIN.

While en Route from the Church After the Wedding Ceremony.

Paris, Dec. 9. To day at Clermont-Ferrand a wedding procession was on its way from the church where the ceremony had been performed when suddenly two shots were heard and bride and bridegroom fell lifeless. The assassin escaped undetected, but it is supposed he was a rival suitor of the bride.

THEY CONSULTED THE DEITY.

And at Once Proceeded to Massacre All the Christians.

San Francisco, Dec. 9. Advices from Chung King, China, state the troubles at Ta Chu Hsien are from the massacre of Chinese Christians at Loong Tuy Tsin by members of the Loo Boy Soo Society during a celebration in honor of the society's patron deity. After the celebration had lasted several days the brotherhood consulted their gods as to whether it would be safe to plunder the Christians. The reply being in the affirmative the brotherhood made a raid on a number of well-to-do Christian families and carried off a lot of booty. A few days later they made a fresh attack and massacred over 20 persons, 9 bodies being found in the streets and several more are known to have been cut in pieces and thrown into the river. The mission buildings and many others were burned and the corpses thrown into the flames. On the following day the brotherhood proceeded to another market town and made an assault on the Christians there. The latter fled, but one of them was killed.

French Jealousy.

Paris, Dec. 9. In a lecture on the Koch treatment to-day Dr. Beaunetz stated that several persons who had been inoculated with the lymph had grown worse after the first injections and that in the cases of others no appearance of improvement was shown. He had therefore decided to abandon the use of the method in his practice in Beaujon hospital until he considered Prof. Koch had not made sufficient experiments upon animals before applying the lymph to the cure of human ailments and declared his intention of himself further pursuing the experiments.

Think They Have It.

Paris, Dec. 9. An analysis of Koch's lymph has been made here. It shows that the remedy is composed of the ptomaines of tuberculine bacilli, which is a poison as violent as the venom of a serpent, cyanure of gold and glycerine. The glycerine preserves the ptomaines and the gold gives the liquid its brownish color.

Fierce Fighting in the Carolines.

Madrid, Dec. 9.—News has been received that the Spanish expedition against the rebels in the Carolines Islands took the fortified position of Ketani on the Island of Ponape during the attack one Spanish officer and 25 soldiers were killed and four officers and 47 men wounded. The natives had two guns. The Spaniards burned all the villages in the Ketani district.

More Gold for America.

London, Dec. 10. The Times says in its financial article to-day another million pounds in gold will soon be sent to New York. It repeats that Paris, Berlin and in a minor degree Amsterdam ought to recognize their responsibility in this matter. It urges the Berlin bankers to send contributions of gold to America and points out that such action is called for as much in the interests of German investors as to prevent the difficulties in New York becoming overwhelming.

London, Dec. 9. At Tipton to-day six children were crossing the los when it suddenly gave way and all six were drowned.

He has held the position of license inspector for the past 26 years, and has for seven years held the position of license inspector.

Washington McLean formerly of Cincinnati but more recently of Washington, died last night shortly before 10 o'clock at his residence in Jackson place, Washington, aged 54. He was connected with The Cincinnati Enquirer as proprietor and manager during its early history prior to the war and had associated with him in the management of that paper his brother S. B. W. McLean. Mr. McLean's connection with The Enquirer ceased a few months years ago at which time his son, John R. McLean, assumed active charge.

MANGLED HUMANITY.

A GOVERNMENT STEAMER BLOWN UP WITH POWDER.

Man Killed and Several Others Fatally Injured By a Gunpowder Explosion The Origin of the Disaster Wrapped in Mystery.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 9. When the Government steamer Napoleon was off Cheboque Point, on the Yarmouth coast, to-day, the powder magazine exploded with tremendous force. The powerful vessel was shook from stem to stern. Part of her deck was blown up and her side badly damaged, and all her crew were prostrated. When the officers had recovered from their momentary shock they found that one of the crew had been killed and many others badly injured.

Captain Guilford steamed into Yarmouth Sound, 2 miles distant, and landed the wounded men at the Marine Hospital stationed on Bunker's Island. Doctors were summoned from Yarmouth and everything possible was done to relieve the sufferings of the wounded men, some of whom are frightfully burned about the hands and head.

The powder was stowed in the stern of the vessel. Her deck was thrown up, a big hole stove in her side and the forecastle blown into matchwood. The ship, which is engaged it supplying lighthouses and gulf and coast cable stations, was en route for Briar Island to place a new buoy at Log Whistle station. The cause of the explosion is a mystery.

NORTH PERTH ELECTION.

On Account of Extensive Treating the Election is Voided

Stratford, Dec. 9. The trial of the protest against the election of Dr. A. E. Ahrens, M.P.P. for North Perth opened yesterday afternoon before Justices Osler and Falconbridge. Considerable evidence was taken, developing an extraordinary amount of betting on result of the contest, but nothing was elicited that would indicate an organized corruption of voters. This afternoon counsel for the respondent, John Idington, Q.C., obtained leave to withdraw for consultation and on his return to court said in view of the evidence offered regarding treating he thought there might be sufficient proved to invalidate the election and therefore, while doubtful on the point the respondent and his friends thought he to consent to vacate the election rather than enter a lengthy contest, with probable appeal to a higher court. Mr. Meredith for the petitioner, said that although there were quite a number of isolated cases of corruption he would admit there was no evidence of large expenditure of money for that purpose in the constituency, under the circumstances he would not press for costs. Justice McLennan then gave judgment voiding the election, and in doing so stated he condemned the betting practices indulged in during the contest.

Montreal, Dec. 9. At Rockland to-day Mrs. Hannah Bowman, being indignant at the presence of Deputy Martin for killing cats, invited to get upon the roof of negroes and go to Abrahams' store, murder the clerks and fire the building. The people, both white and black, formed an organization and sawing Lemon to a tree.

"Billy-on-Time's" Death.

Relatives or Personal Friends Exempt.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 9.—John McLean operates a mill in Saginaw. William G. Wilson asked him for work for Richard Tigeland of Toronto. McLean promised him $2 per day, and Tigeland took the job. Action was begun against McLean for violation of the alien labor law. Judge Brown of the United States court to-day found no cause of action against him. Wilson, he said, did the importing and persons who secure employment for relatives or persons friends are exempt from the law.

To Deal With Australia.

Berlin, Dec. 9.—A German export society for the promotion of commerce with Australia was formed here yesterday. It will open the Australian markets to German products as an offset to the injury caused to German industry by the passage of the McKinley bill in the United States. The project comprised the foundation of a German Australia bank, with its headquarters in Sydney, New South Wales and Berlin. All the German bourses and chambers of commerce have agreed to the bank portion of the scheme, in spite of the depression in the money market.

Found Dead in Her Bedroom.

St. Catharines, Dec. 9.—On returning to breakfast at 7 a.m. this morning, James Doyle found his mother, Mrs. Peter Doyle lying dead in her bedroom. She was lying on the floor face downwards. She had evidently been seized with an apoplectic fit and fallen out of bed.

FOR THE GREEN ISLE.

PARNELL TAKES HIS DEPARTURE AMIDST MUCH ENTHUSIASM.

He Delivers a Short Address in Which He Promises to Place Ireland in the Position for Which God Intended Her—Not the Slightest Probability of His Retiring.

London, Dec. 9.—Mr. Parnell started for Dublin this evening. A large crowd of Irishmen, residents of this city, assembled at the railway station and cheered him wildly. Mr. Parnell entered a car and from a window addressed his countrymen. He said:

"I am overjoyed to see that you have honored me in such large numbers. The demonstration will help me in this fight which I have undertaken. Over 16 years ago the Irishmen of England gave me the first assistance in framing for my country the path which she has pursued from that day to this. I have never forgotten your help, never forgotten that to you exiles of Erin was due the credit of the first godspeed in the new struggle. You will have no cause to regret that you stood by me in those days; you will be with me to the end, and together we will win for our country what God determined she should get."

A number of the McCarthy wing of the Irish parliamentary party were on the same train occupying seats in the rear cars.

Mr. Parnell has been invited to visit Mitchelstown during his tour in Ireland. He has been assured that 20,000 persons will assemble there to welcome him.

The Parnellites will oppose the candidacy of Blumenfeld. Prior to his nomination by the anti-Parnellites sir John sent a telegram to Parnell saying: "As an Irish Catholic I cannot oppose the wishes of the Irish Catholic bishops."

Notes of the Conflict

Mr. Gladstone has written a letter regarding the crisis in the Irish Nationalist party in which he says that there appears no question affecting himself, but only an unexplained contradiction between the Parnell of 1890 and the Parnell of all former dates since the Hawarden interview.

Justin McCarthy, the anti-Parnellite leader, has expressed the hope that the division between the two sections of the Nationalist party will be gradually bridged.

The Belfast News, which has hitherto supported Parnell, now urges his retirement.

Parnell is said to be already selecting successors for those who have deserted him.

Messrs. Barry, West, Mooreough and Dickson have unsuccessfully appealed to Mr. Chance £300, and Messrs. Maurice and Healy £2000 the new fund to be devoted to the interests of the McCarthy party.

The Daily News says: should McCarthy in the resolution he intends to present to the House of Commons censure the Government for its prosecution of Dillon and O'Brien, every Liberal would cordially support him. It is important, says the News, to impress upon Irishmen the fact that every vote given for Parnell or his adherents is a vote given for Balfour and coercion.

The Downpatrick Branch of the National League has adopted a resolution repudiating Parnell.

Bishop Woodlock has strongly pronounced against Parnell.

Mr. Parnell has nominated Barry O'Brien, the author, to oppose Sir John Pope Hennessy.

Tickets for Parnell's rotunda meeting are selling freely in Dublin.

The manifesto of the anti-Parnell section of the Nationalist party will appear to-morrow morning. It is reported Justin Huntly McCarthy will resign his seat in Parliament, and offer himself for re-election.

Archbishop Croke has written a long letter in support of the candidacy of Sir John Pope Hennessy for member of parliament for North Kilkenny.

The Realyites have decided to abstain from delivering speeches at any English meetings during the coming recess of parliament.

The Republique Francaise holds that Gladstone ought to have accepted the proposals made by Parnell's supporters, by this means saving the county of Parnell and preventing the disruption of the Irish party.

THE CORRESPONDENCE.

Which Passed Between the Envoys in America and Parnell.

New York, Dec. 9.—Misleading versions of the cablegrams which have just passed between Mr. Parnell and Mr. O'Brien regarding negotiations for the reunion of the Irish party having been published Mr. O'Brien has given to the press the whole correspondence, as follows:

CODE'S TO PARNELL:

New York, Dec. 7. Mrs. Parnell, M. P., House of Commons, London. Confidential: I shrink with horror from taking sides against you in a struggle which opens such a disgusting prospect of ruin and disgrace to our cause. Throughout the unhappy business I have abstained from saying one word personally offensive to you and have read with deepest pain and disgust some of the personal attacks made on you and now before Ireland is irretrievably committed to a ruinous conflict I appeal to you as a leader I have for 10 years followed, to follow and as a friend for whom I still feel a warm affection can you not see some way by which, while safeguarding your own reputation, the country may be saved from the destruction which threatens it? Signed, WILLIAM O'BRIEN.

PARNELL TO O'BRIEN.

London, Dec. 8.—Special to Herald, New York: Had you wired prior to Saturday some suggestion from me might have succeeded. It is now too late for me to rescue the seceders from false position. Shall, however, be very glad to see and consult you on arrival in Europe. Signed, PARNELL.

Mr. O'Brien forwarded the following to day:

New York, Dec. 9. To Parnell, House of Commons, London. Regret to find misleading version of my confidential cablegram published in press. Your reply shows total misunderstanding of my message. Only wish to consult by regard for your past services and to still existing personal affection, and send with the knowledge of my messages here in the earnest hope that you might even now consent with the will of the majority of the party, whose election of chairman we have endorsed, find a way by which the country might be saved from a ruinous conflict. The tone of your reply leaves little ground for hope, but having regard to the horrible consequences to the country of a prolonged internecine struggle I am still anxious to have an interview, and shall start Saturday for France on my way to Ireland. Am communicating this to the press. Signed, WILLIAM O'BRIEN.

Late this afternoon Mr. Dillon sent the following cablegram to Justin McCarthy:

New York, Dec. 9.—To Justin McCarthy, House of Commons, London. O'Brien sails Saturday. Anxious to consult you and colleagues. Will you and colleagues be present to-day? Will cable grams with Parnell. Signed, DILLON.

The party have decided to send Mr. Gill as a companion to Mr. O'Brien. The remainder of the party will remain here at present, but will be in constant communication with their colleagues.

Parnell to Be Feted.

Cork, Dec. 9. At a meeting of the Nationalists here to-day preliminary arrangements were made for giving Parnell a hearty reception on his visit to this city. One feature of his welcome will be a grand torchlight procession. The mayor of Cork presided at to-day's meeting.

The committee that has been formed to promote the interests of the anti-Parnell section also held a meeting, at which the high sheriff presided. A host of new adhesions were announced.

A Plucky Octogenarian.

London, Dec. 9.—The O'Gorman Mahon, Member of Parliament for Carlow county, who introduced Mr. Parnell to Miss O'Shea, recently expressed a desire to challenge Mr. Parnell to fight a duel, and he would have undoubtedly sought to have brought about a meeting with him had not his doctor prevented him. His physician based his argument against a duel on The O'Gorman Mahon's age, he being 67 years old, and the condition of his health.

LEATH IN THE BLAST.

Several People Killed by a Cyclone Which Fa Waste a Large Section.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 9.—To-day, near Monroe, Walton county, a small but vigorous cyclone cleared a space several miles long and about one hundred yards wide, blowing down houses and killing several people. Mr. Jack Henderson, a well-known farmer, and his wife were buried beneath the ruins of their home. Henderson was instantly killed, but his wife was not badly hurt. Their baby was carried 300 yards, and was injured so badly that she died in two hours. A family of negroes named Jackson were buried in their cabin, and two were killed in the house. Seven negroes were sitting about a fireplace in another house; the house was blown down, but all escaped unhurt.

OTTAWA, Dec. 9.—The Supreme Court rendered judgment to-day in the case of Morin, who is under sentence of death for the murder in Montmagny of his partner, Rev. Chief Justice Ritchie, Judges Strong and Judge Fournier held that the trial was illegal, but three other members of the court decided otherwise, and as a majority judgment was necessary to secure a new trial the case of error was quashed. Morin will be hanged on the 19th inst.

THE SERVIA IN A GALE.

The Cunard Liner's Voyage to England a Tempestuous One.

Queenstown, Dec. 10.—The Servia arrived to-day at 4½ in the afternoon from New York. During the voyage she experienced terrible weather, which culminated in a fearful southwest gale. On Sunday she shipped a tidal wave, which smashed one of the life boats amidship on the starboard sides to atoms, and broke in twain the davits, which were two heavy iron bars. Six of the crew were knocked down and swept along the deck, receiving such injuries as to necessitate the removal of three of them to the hospital. One of them had an arm broken, while a second suffered internal abdominal injuries. On Tuesday the Servia made only 303 miles.

A TRAGEDY OF THE SEA.

The Captain Crushed to Death, a Man's Legs Cut off and the Cook's Head Severed from His Body.

Philadelphia, Dec. 10.—The Atlantic Transport Line steamer Maryland, which put into the Breakwater on Saturday in such a delapidated condition from encountering a hurricane on Dec. 1, came up the river yesterday.

During the terrible storm the captain, boatswain and second cook were killed, the first officer's leg and the carpenter's arm broken. The Maryland's forward decks have been entirely swept away by heavy seas. The bridge, wheel house boats, chart room, with all the nautical instruments, were also swept overboard.

There are about 200 head of dead cattle lying on the deck, from which a terrible stench arises. The remainder of the poor animals show evidences of the fearful tossing and battering to which they were subjected and even dropping dead from the want of shelter and proper care, while the vessel was on its way up the Delaware. Hundreds were thrown overboard by the crew before they entered the bay.

THE FIRST MATE'S STORY.

A reporter boarded the steamer below Newcastle, and First Officer Lloyd, when questioned about his terrible experience, related the following story:

"We left Baltimore on Thanksgiving Day for London with a full cargo and 535 head of cattle. The weather was continuously bad and on Dec. 1 we encountered a hurricane. Captain Luckhurst and myself were standing on the bridge during the storm and when the heavy sea that did so much damage swept over the vessel Captain Luckhurst and were holding on to the stanchions.

"Boatswain Joseph Dagnall was in the wheel house. The sea came over the forward decks, and I think the captain must have been in the act of changing hands when he was swept away with the bridge. I myself was knocked down and rendered insensible. I afterwards found the captain's body jammed against the bridge. His back had probably been broken. There was also a large cut in the back of his head.

"The sea after sweeping over the bridge struck the front of the iron wheel house and demolished it. Boatswain Dangall, who was at the wheel, had both his legs severed from his body.

"The second cook, George Tyler, was the next victim. As he was coming out of the pantry a piece of the wheel house cut his head completely off. It was found two days later underneath a pile of wreckage. The carpenter, who was lashing one of the boats had his arm broken by the same sea.

HUNDREDS OF DEAD CATTLE.

"The bellowing of the cattle was terrible and an investigation afterwards showed that 350 out of the 535 had been killed.

"The storm lasted four hours and when I had recovered consciousness and tried to rise I found that my legs had been broken. With all the pain, however, my first thoughts were for the safety of those remaining on board. I at once, with the assistance of one of the crew, went for the charts and instruments and found that all had been carried away with the chart room.

"The terrible truth at once dawned upon me. We were in the middle of the Atlantic at the mercy of the waves, without compass and charts. The wheel was at once rigged up and by a thorough knowledge of the course we had previously taken I succeeded in getting the ship safely into port."

Captain Luckhurst was the most skilful captain in the company's service and was shortly to command the new steamer Memphis, now on the stocks at Belfast. Captain Luckhurst's eldest son, who is third officer of the steamer Missouri, is due here to-day.

DENOUNCED AT THE ALTAR.

A Married Adventurer All But Weds a Wealthy Country Belle.

Middletown, O., Dec. 9.—Miss Nellie Hopkins, 17 years old and a belle of Potsdam, Miama county, is handsome and accomplished and the possessor in her own name of $50,000, has just had a thrilling experience. Two months ago a prepossessing stranger, a land speculator, he said, arrived at the village. He soon met Miss Hopkins, and the attraction seemed mutual, and the two were constantly together. Their engagement was announced and the day set for a speedy marriage. The stranger was known as Morgan Collier, and said he was from Cleveland, and would take his bride to live at the Park Hotel in that city. He claimed to be rich and Miss Hopkins was happy.

The wedding was arranged for last Thursday in the village hotel. With the guest assembled, the bride-to-be dressed, and the minister ready, a man who had been about town a day or two stepped into the room and denounced Collier as a married man named Hinson, with a family. The utmost confusion ensued, the bride that was not to be fainted, and in the excitement the groom disappeared.

A HEAVY PUNISHMENT.

A Manitoulin Desperado Sentenced to Ten Years' Imprisonment.

Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 9.—Samuel Murray, having elected to be tried summarily for assaulting with an ax Deputy Sheriff Carney and Constable McCoy on the Manitoulin Island, when they went to execute a writ of possession of the premises in which Murray lived, was tried and convicted before His Honor Judge Johnston and sentenced to 10 years in the provincial penitentiary for so assaulting McCoy, who had two ribs broken, and two years for the assault on Carney the latter to run concurrently with the first. The prisoner was not defended. Being asked if he wanted counsel, he remarked that he had no faith in lawyers.

The Loss Heavy.

Owenee, Dec. 9.—At 2 o'clock this morning fire broke out at Mr. Joseph Brown's, four miles northeast of here. The barns with contents, consisting of the whole of this year's crops, two threshing machines and all the farming implements, were destroyed. Loss $5000, insurance on barns $300. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

A PORT ARTHUR TRAGEDY.

Sudden Death of a Young Girl—The Stomach Sent to Toronto.

Port Arthur, Dec. 9.—Maggie Gehl, a domestic employed at the residence of Fred Jones, and who was to be married in a few days to Fred Gehl, prospector, her cousin, entered the house of Mrs. McKinnon, an acquaintance, and proceeded to loosen her shoes. While she was thus engaged Mrs. McKinnon's attention was attracted to froth issuing from the girl's mouth, and immediately sent for a doctor. After a brief struggle the girl threw up her hands and fell to the floor. A couple of doctors were almost immediately afterwards present, but could do nothing, as life was extinct. The coroner was notified and a jury was empanelled. The jury requested that the stomach be sent to Toronto for analysis which has been done.

DRY GOODS NEWS AT TURNBULL'S

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st October in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date, to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now; but they have come at last and open out beautifully. We have two ranges, plain and fancy backs, at $1.00 and $1.25, in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta; some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us, and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better, and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that TURNBULL'S is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit.

Although early in the season our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing, which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on our counters. They are desirable goods, and worth remembering.

Opened out this week a job line of Dress Goods, 12½c. yd.; also a fresh lot of Flannelettes at 8c.

We claim to have the best line 5c. Grey Cotton in the country. All other Cottons proportionate value.

Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1890

SIR CHARLES TUPPER, in a letter to the London Daily Graphic, draws attention to the fact that Sir Edward Bulwer Lytton, afterward Lord Lytton, when Colonial Secretary in 1858 predicted the construction in Canada of a trans-continental railway within the period of the lives of members who were listening to him. Lord Lytton said: "More "rational if less exciting hopes than those "(concerning the discovery of gold) of im- "portance to the colony (of British Colum- "bia) rest upon its resources, which I have "described, upon the influence of its magnifi- "cent situation, and on the ripening grandeur "of British North America. I do believe "the day will come, and that many now "present will live to see it, when a portion, "at least, of the lands on the other side of "the Rocky Mountains, being brought into "colonization and guarded by free institu- "tions, a perfect line of railway communi- "cation will unite the Pacific with the At- "lantic." Some who were comparatively old at that time, Mr. Gladstone, for in- stance, then fifty years of age, have lived to see this prediction of Lord Bulwer's more than fulfilled.

THE Marquis of Lorne is certainly a faithful friend and advocate of Canada, and especially of the Canadian North-West. He has published a couple of bright, interesting letters in the London Daily Graphic con- cerning the life and prosperity of farmers in Manitoba and the Territories, and his de- scriptions are faithful and contain much of the local color and feeling. Lord Lorne tells of a canny Scotchwoman, a crofter's wife, recently settled in Manitoba, who, on being urged to tell the disadvantages of her new home, said: "I have not the English, but I wad say the milk is too rich for the childer." Her husband added: "The dust is so bad that I have to wash twice a week." The Marquis draws attention to the fact that blizzards and cyclones are not as numerous or so violent in the Canadian North-West as in Minnesota, Dakota, and other north-west- ern states of the Union. He might have gone further and said that owing to well as- certained meteorological causes, the Canadian North West is, and will remain, almost free from these disastrous storms. The climate of Manitoba, Assiniboia, Saskatchewan and Alberta is, and will always be, more equable than that of the states immediately south of the frontier.

Manitoba Crop Reports.

The November report on crops and live stock in Manitoba says that the past har- vesting season has been the most unfavor- able in the history of the Province. The spring was backward and the harvest late, and rain delayed the cutting of the grain. Frosts were reported at various points on the 5th, 9th, 17th, 20th and 22nd of August. The last frost was the only one that did considerable injury. The rain reduced the yield and destroyed the color of the wheat. The average yield throughout the Province is estimated thus: Wheat, 20.1 bushels; oats, 41.3 bushels; barley, 32.1 bushels; po- tatoes, 235 bushels. The estimated aggre- gate yield is: Wheat, 14,665,789 bushels; oats, 9,513,433 bushels; barley, 2,069,415 bushels; potatoes, 2,540,820 bushels. These estimates are, for wheat barley and potatoes nearly double the product of 1889, and for oats nearly three times the product of 1889, which was an exceptionally bad year. The potato crop is highly satisfactory. The yield of mangolds, turnips and carrots, in fact of all field roots, has been large. Hay was very abundant, but not of good quality. As in Ontario, the season was an excellent one for dairying; the rains bringing abun- dance of water and keeping the pastures in fine condition. There was a great scarcity of farm hands for the harvest and wages ruled high.

Monthly reception for young men on Fri- day evening. The Y.P.S.C.E.; of St. Andrews, will give a choice programme of music, assisted by the band. Refreshments at the close. All young men welcome.

The Y. M. C. A. band and a few others were entertained at the house of our Presi- dent, Mr. Early, on Monday evening. Music, songs, games, etc., filled in the even- ing. All present felt the cordiality of the welcome of our hosts. After we had done justice to the good things provided by our kind friends a standing vote of thanks was tendered to Mr and Mrs. Early for their kindness of heart in asking us to their home and for their great hospitality, to which Mr. Early made a feeling reply. Short addresses were then given by Messrs. F. G. Saunders, John Miller, A. Hamilton, R. Russell, A. Burch, and the general secretary, all bearing testimony to the esteem we hold Mr. Early, and for the work God has called us to in our town. After music and song we left, all realizing it was good to be there; and what a good time we Christians have together, and more determined than ever to lift up the banner of the Lord Jesus among young men.

A Daughter Reaches Home to Find Her Mother Vexed and Excited!

"This is really too bad, Julia! It is vexing, and quite serious enough to test the patience of a saint!"

"Mother dear, you looked vexed this morning; what has happened to cause this?"

"Come with me to the kitchen, Julia, where you can see what I am grieving over. Here is my ruined work, and in truth it is a monument to my own foolishness."

"Why mother, you have been dyeing! Are not the colors perfectly horrible, surely you have not been using Diamond Dyes, have you mother?"

"No Julia, I have not. Mrs. Cannington who called last week spoke to me about these dyes, and said she was going to try them, not that she expected much from them, but would do it to gratify her brother's wish, as he had been offered great inducements to rid himself of Diamond Dyes and sell only these —— dyes in his store."

And how did you obtain these dyes, mother? Our storekeepers in town sell only Diamond Dyes."

"I know it, Julia. Your father was called upon to mend some harness for the travelling agent who sells these —— dyes, and was induced to take a few packages as part pay- ment for the work done. I hope Mrs. Can- nington's brother has not ordered any of these dyes for his store; they are sure to ruin his trade. You had better run over to Mr. Wilmot after dinner and let him know what deceptive trash these dyes are."

"Bless me, mother, here is my lovely wool fascinator and your expensive opera shawl, both completely spoiled."

"I am certainly to blame, Julia, and very much regret the loss; still we have bought some experience, which will guide us in the future. Never! never! will I buy any other than Diamond Dyes after this; they give such lovely colors, and are so easy to use, and no possibility of failure. It is no wonder they are so popular everywhere.

Pure Blood

Your blood is naturally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of dis- ease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more con- clusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, cures all the eruptions, boils, pimples, blotches, and other manifestations of impure blood, relieves that tired feeling, and builds up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full infor- mation and statements of cures sent free.

Town and Suburban Property

Within the past few days I have received instructions from OVER-LOADED owners to sell their sur- plus properties at once, and to do that means to sell at low prices, which I now have authority to do.

The man who is now occupying a very comfortable house at a low rent would consult his own inter- est by asking himself, How long will these low or cheap rents con- tinue? If always, then remain as you are; but if your good judg- ment tells you that Edison having applied his electric magnetism to the town means that it is destined to make rapid strides and become a great city in the near future, when your present neglect to pro- vide a home for yourself much under value will be rewarded by having to pay double the rent you are now paying. All this loss and trouble can be easily avoided by calling at my office without delay and selecting a House and Lot, a vacant Building Lot, or any other kind of property you may desire at low prices and on most reasonable terms of payment.

THE COLUMBIAN TOWER.

THE TRUE NATURE OF THE CHICAGO EXPOSITION.

Some Facts and Figures About the Great Tower—The Salaries of the Officers and the Acreage of the Building and Grounds.

Below is a cut of the Columbus Tower. It will be completed in 1893, and will be 1,500 feet high by 450 feet at the base, constructed of steel and iron and supported by 16 great arched legs. The architecture is of modern Renaissance style and was designed by Messrs. Kinkel and Polk, of Chicago. It will require over 7,000 tons of steel and 6,000 tons of iron. Its estimated cost is $2,000,000. In the centre will be a large dome 200 feet wide and 200 feet high. The seats calculated for concert and theatrical purposes, with a seating capacity of 25,000 people. The walls and canopy will be richly decorated in oriental style. Eighteen elevators, with a capacity of 50 people each, will make twelve trips an hour. Only two elevators will run a distance of 1,250 feet. Many will take advantage of the trip. Here money will secure passage for at least a short journey in the direction which all would like to travel. At the landing will be a large restaurant, where the travelers can rest and lunch before returning to earth again. At the apex will be a great globe of 33 feet in diameter, provided with 16 powerful electric lights which will be observable 50 miles distant. Admission fee will be 25 cents; 50 cents to 400 feet and $1 to top. When completed it will be 500 feet higher than the Eiffel Tower in Paris, and the greatest architectural construction erected in the history of man. It will be the pride of the American Continent and one of the most attractive features of the great Exposition.

The Columbian Exposition can now be said to be fairly under way. Many of the States and nations have already organized plans to secure the largest possible exhibits.

Here will be achieved in peace a conquest, more potent in its influence, more beneficial and far-reaching in its results, than all the victories gained in the history of wars. The occasion is opportune and will be a mighty factor in bringing about that feeling of universal brotherhood, which in time will result in "the Parliament of man, the federation of the world." It properly is an international institution, in which all should participate. Its coming will be an intellectual banquet, from which all will depart to their distant homes feeling it was good for them to have been there. All national strife and sectional lines should for the while at least vanish, and that littleness of soul give place to the more generous disposition of human interest in human kind.

Speaking of expenses and salaries, figures at best are dry, but to answer questions that come to headquarters from every point of the compass, it may be said that the salary list of the Board of Directors reaches about $40,000 per annum. Of this President Gage gets $5,000, Vice-President Bryan, $12,000. Secretary Butterworth, $10,000. The National Commission's salary list reaches $300,000 per annum.

THE COLUMBIAN TOWER.

Of this sum the Director-General gets $15,000; President Higinbotham, Secretary, $10,000; Vice-Chairman, Ashton, $10,000. The remainder goes for sundry expenses.

It is now estimated by the Committee, judging from the Centennial and Paris Exposition, that it will require eleven main buildings to accommodate the exhibits of the twelve departments of the Exposition covering areas as follows:

Departments.	Acres.
A—Agricultural Hall	15
B—Horticultural Hall	8
C—Live Stock	100
D—Fisheries	2
E—Mineral Palace	5
F—Machinery Hall	30
G—Transportation	30
H—Electrical Palace (besides open space)	4
J—Manufacturers' Palace	30
K—Fine Art Gallery	5
L and M—One Building	5
Total	201

Buildings for United States Government, Foreign and State Governments, private and special exhibits are not included in the above estimate.

The "Centennial Buildings" at Philadelphia, in 1876, covered 60 acres and accommodated 30,000 exhibitors. They were open 159 days, had 9,910,966 admissions, averaging 62,327 daily attendance. "Paris Exposition Buildings" of 1878 covered 75½ acres, accommodated 16,000 exhibitors, were open 183 days, had 32,354,111 admissions, averaging 181,170 daily attendance.

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

ENTERTAINING CHEMICAL EXPERIMENTS EASILY PERFORMED.

Simple Combinations by which Are Produced Beautiful Transparent Crystals—A Remarkable Substance—Pharaoh's Serpent.

We often see in chemists' shops large glass jars, the insides of which are covered with beautiful transparent white crystals, which are formed over a red powder placed at the bottom of the vase. These crystals are the result of a combination of cyanogen and iodine. Nothing is easier than the preparation of iodine of cyanogen, a very volatile body, which possesses a strong tendency to assume a definite crystalline form. We pound in a mortar a mixture of fifty grams of cyanide of mercury and 100 grams of iodine; under the action of the pestle the powder, which was at first a brownish color, assumes a shade of bright vermillion red. The cyanogen combines with the iodine, and transforms itself into fumes with great rapidity. If the powder is placed at the bottom of a stoppered glass jar the fumes of the iodine of cyanogen immediately condense, thereby producing beautiful crystals, which often attain considerable size.

Cyanogen forms with sulphur a remarkable substance—sulpho-cyanogen. One of its combinations, well known owing to its singular properties, is sulpho cyanide of mercury, with which small combustible cones are made and generally designated by the title of Pharaoh's serpents. For making these some sulpho-cyanide of potassium is poured into a solution of nitrate acid on mercury, which forms a precipitate of sulpho-cyanide of mercury. This is a white, combustible powder, which, after passing through a filter, should be transformed into a stiff pulp by means of water containing a solution of gum. The pulp is afterward mixed with a small quantity of nitrate of potash and fashioned into cones or cylinders of about an inch and a quarter in length, which should be thoroughly dried.

An egg thus obtained can be hatched by the simple application of a match and gives rise to the phenomenon. The sulpho-cyanide rapidly expands, the cylinder increases in length, and changes to a yellowish substance, which dilates and extends to a length of some twenty inches. It has the appearance of a genuine serpent, which has just started into existence and stretches out in coils, endeavoring to escape from its prison. During the decomposition of the sulpho-cyanide of mercury quantities of sulphurous acid are thrown off, and it is to be regretted that Pharaoh's serpent should prove his appearance by such a disagreeable suffocating odor.

The Fox Terrier.

Few dogs excel the fox terrier in sagacity. He will execute any task to which his size renders him capable of performing. He will learn tricks with the poodle, fetch and carry with the Newfoundland, take to water as readily, but not remain in so long, hunt with the spaniel or fox hound, and fight with a dog ten times his size and weight "till all's blue," and kill more vermin on the farm annually than any pack of mongrels. If in his puppyhood he is put to the udder of a milch ewe a few times, he will ever after become the guardian of the flock.

Longevity of the Horse.

A saddle-horse kept in a livery stable in New York attained the age of forty-five years. A team of truck horses were daily worked in New York, one of which was forty-two, and the other forty-three. An Irish gentleman at Scoova owns a gray pony forty-five years old. A road horse at Nyack, N. Y., thirty-five years of age, showed a three-minute gait. Horses live to a goodly age when properly cared for. Twenty-five years is about the average limit of equine life.

These are the remedies with which Dame Nature has supplied Canada for the cure of colds, coughs, croup, whooping coughs, bronchitis and loss of voice. Wilson's Wild Cherry is sold by all druggists. dw

So to prove this and convince you of its merit any druggist will give you a sample bottle free. Large size 50c. and $1. dw

The new business of the SUN LIFE was the largest ever secured in the Company's history and was equalled by but one Canadian life company. The surplus accumulated during the THREE years of the current quinquennium far exceeds the amount earned during any previous FIVE years, and the profits to Policy-holders cannot fail to be highly satisfactory. The prosperity of the Sun Life is no doubt largely due to its issuing unconditional policies and paying its claims promptly. Canadians should also remember that by patronizing a Home institution, which invests all its funds in the Dominion, they are benefiting themselves by reducing the rate of interest here, and are helping to build up our own cities rather than those of foreign states.

In Burleigh township there live a man and his wife who, though not in the most favorable circumstances for bringing up a family, have yet made a fair start in the way of increasing the population. Mr. A. G. With the new year will begin the publication of a new series of the original journal under the title, Canadian Electrical News and Steam Engine Journal. Mr. Mortimer's friends will be glad to hear of his success in the journalistic world.

Artistic Enterprise.

The publishers of the Toronto Weekly News have issued a beautiful "Souvenir album of Canadian statesmen." A beautifully bound album, with an exceedingly fine, illuminated title cover; contains finely executed portraits,—speaking likenesses of the prominent public men of the country, including Lord Stanley of Preston and the chief public men in Dominion politics and of the several Provinces. It is not only a valuable political portrait gallery but also a beautiful work of art and a great credit to the enterprise of the News Printing Company.

Where to Place Your Patronage.

It is always a matter of paramount interest to householders to know where they can get the best bargains. That is why they search the papers for advertisements. Some merchants make a specialty of a few lines; others give their patrons the best all-round values. This is the case with the new firm of Stapleton & Elcombe, successors to Rush Bros. They took possession of a large stock, which they filled and completed by the addition of new goods, until to day their stock is unexcelled between Toronto and Montreal. And they give their customers the benefit of an all-round cut in prices, as low as it is possible to go and live. What more can the populace require in proof of the bona fide bargains which await them. In groceries—fine Xmas goods and staple groceries—and wines and liquors, they offer bargains which cannot be beaten. They do not indulge in any loud bombast, but aim to give their patrons the full worth of their money every time. Being a new firm, composed of young men experienced in the business and alive to the demands of the day, the public should award them at least a fair share of patronage, especially as the people will find it to their advantage to deal with Stapleton & Elcombe. This is no idle statement. Call on them and price their goods before you buy elsewhere, and if Stapleton & Elcombe cannot satisfy you—well, no one can. dw

At the Opera House.

Another large audience attended the performance of Miss Ida Van Cortland and her dramatic company last night in the Opera house. The dramatized version of "Lucretia Borgia," a story of "love, poison, intrigue and death," as the cold-blooded bill of the play calmly announced, was presented with a strength and finish one could hardly expect to see in such a low-priced performance. Miss Van Cortland is, however, a prime favorite with Peterborough audiences, and the wonder is that the hall is not crowded to overflowing every night—as was the case in Hamilton last week. The costumes last night were rich and beautiful, suited to the worldly grandeur of the characters represented, and the acting fully up to the mark, at least in the principal parts. But the company was rather hampered in a performance which depends largely on scenic effects for success, by the lack of scenery. The roles were well sustained throughout. Miss Van Cortland as the terrible Lucretia Borgia, swayed by varied feelings of love and revenge, which in the end accomplished her destruction as well as that of her son, was of course the centre of attraction. Mr. W. J. Butler as Genarro, the unidentified heir, in the final fatal scene rose to the situation and carried out his part grandly. Mr. Tavernier, too, the implacable Duke of Ferrara, and J. V. Melton in the role of Gubetta, the Duchess' diabolical confidant, sustained their characters splendidly. The minor parts were also well taken; indeed, the performance was meritorious throughout, and pleased the audience. To-night a double bill will be presented, comprising the sparkling drama, "The Factory Girl," and the comedy, "The Little Rebel."

County Court,

The Criminal Cases on—Hannah Huffman Has Skipped—The Burglars Arraigned Grand Jury's Presentment — Other cases.

The Grand Jury yesterday afternoon returned true bills for burglary against Edward Barrett, Edward Melvern, and Geo. Bennett, three young men recently confined in Central Prison for a crime for which they were arrested at Napanee. They are charged with burglary and larceny. The prisoners, who are young, strong-looking men, have been brought down from Toronto and were tried this afternoon. They were arraigned just before the adjournment. Bennett is charged with breaking into and burglarizing the premises of Henry Patterson, Lakefield; Melvern, with the larceny of a watch from Robt. K. Wilson, of Lakefield, and Barrett of the larceny of a watch from Mr. Patterson. Bennett pleaded guilty and said he wished to exonerate the other men. He met them afterwards, he said, and they had no connection with the burglary. The others pleaded not guilty to the crimes of which they were accused.

At the trial this afternoon, County Crown Attorney prosecuting, Bennett went into the box and swore that he and two other men (not the prisoners) committed the burglary. Bennett recounted in detail the particulars of the crime. He afterwards met Barrett and Melvern at Smith's Falls, and sold them their watches. The two prisoners were also allowed to speak in their own defence, corroborating Bennett's story.

Mr. Patterson, on the contrary, swore to having seen Melvern in Lakefield the day before or the day after the burglary.

The jury went out to deliberate at three o'clock.

THE GIRL GONE.

The case against John Gilman, charged with the seduction of Hannah Huffman, has been adjourned to the next court. The Grand Jury could not deal with the matter in the in the absence of the girl herself. She has left town without the knowledge of the the County Crown Attorney, and is believed to be in Port Hope. The cause of the girl's sudden flight is not known. The only reason assigned is that she went away to hide her shame. Steps were taken last week to settle the case, but it was not withdrawn from the courts, and the defence claimed they have used no influence over the girl. The case stands over till the next court.

An appeal case was disposed of by His Honor. Jas. Charlton was the appellant, and Geo. Baptie the respondent. Last June Charlton was convicted by Police Magistrate Edmison of having killed a dog belonging to Baptie; this conviction was quashed, with costs.

The case of Payne vs Davidson has been settled. In Burley vs. Broomfield, judgment by consent was entered for plaintiff on the third count of $25, with full county court costs.

GRAND JURY'S PRESENTMENT.

This morning the Grand Jury made their presentment as follows:

To His Honor Judge Weller:

We, the Grand Jurors of our Sovereign Lady the Queen, beg to make the following presentments.

We have in accordance with the usual custom visited and examined the gaol premises and have found everything in good condition and the persons confined therein well cared for.

We have to regret that persons of unsound mind are still confined in our gaols, and would urge that they be removed as soon as possible to a place better suited for their accommodation and treatment, where they can receive that individual attention their cases may require.

We would also suggest that some steps should be taken to induce the County Council to make some provision for the establishing of a home of some kind, other than the gaol, for vagrants now confined therein.

H. B. MERRICK, Foreman.

His Honor replied briefly and discharged the Grand Jury.

CASES TRIED.

HULETT VS. REYNOLDS.—An interpleader issue to try the right to certain goods sold by the sheriff under an execution at the suit of P. W. Reynolds, Norwood, against Samuel C. Hulett, of Belmont, which were claimed by Mrs. Rachel Hulett to be hers under a demise under her husband's will. Judgment in favour of plaintiff for all goods. John English, Napanee, solicitor for plaintiff, Mr. Dumble, counsel; Sawers & Stone for defendant.

PLANT VS. STEWART.—Both parties live in Norwood. Plaintiff sues to recover $118, for furnaces, which defendant claimed were never ordered. John Burnham for plaintiff; Sawers & Stone for defendant. Judgment not given when EXAMINER went to press.

HAYES VS. HAYES came up next. This is an action brought by Jas. Hayes, of Shibcreen, against his nephew "Ben" Hayes, for rent for use and occupation of a farm, the west half of lot 14, con. 11, Otonabee. The defence was that the land belonged to defendant, which the plaintiff held in trust for, as being purchased originally with partnership money belonging to the plaintiff and the defendant's father, and that the farm was always considered defendant's farm, and that plaintiff put defendant on farm in fulfilment of the trust. Hatton & Wood for plaintiff; Dumble & Leonard for defendant.

There remains only one non-jury case, Beat vs. Crandall, to be tried.

Royal Templars' Tribute to the Late James Stratton.

At the regular meeting of Peterborough Council No. 97, Royal Templars of Temperance, the following resolution was unanimously adopted, and the secretary was instructed to forward a copy of it to Mrs. James Stratton.

"Moved by Dr. Fife, and seconded by J. A. Prentice, that this Council has learned with deep regret of the death of Mr. James Stratton, who was a charter member and the first presiding officer of the Council. By his death the cause of temperance has lost one of its staunchest and ablest supporters, one who was always true to his principles, and ready to do his part to advance the interests of the cause. While he was a man who was active in all good works, he recognized that intemperance was one of the greatest evils of the age, and was ever to the front in combatting it. He was looked upon by temperance workers as one of their best and most trusted leaders—one with whom truth and right were of more importance than expediency—and we therefore desire to place on record our high appreciation of his services to the cause and our deep sense of loss in his sudden demise. At the same time our deceased brother was in all respects a good citizen, and was a man in whom the good qualities of manhood were highly developed. The passing away of such a man we deplore as a loss to the community and to the world, and while expressing our regret, we especially desire to convey to the family of our deceased brother, who knew and loved him best and will feel his loss the most, our deepest and sincerest sympathy in their bereavement. We take comfort, as no doubt they do, in the knowledge that he has now passed into the Supreme Council above, into the presence of the God he served on earth, where we, if faithful, may meet him again."

Otonabee Oddfellows "At Home."

A Pleasant and Successful Society Event.

"At Homes" appear to be the popular form of celebration amongst fraternal societies this winter. Already two or three have been held, and more are to follow. So successful are these society events that each seems to outdo its predecessors; but all were very pleasant affairs, and reflected credit upon the different orders under whose auspices they were held. Otonabee lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., commemorated the eighth anniversary of its resuscitation by an "At Home" in its handsome and commodious lodge rooms Tuesday night. It fully realized all the happy anticipations which were formed, and placed another brilliant success to the credit of the Otonabee lodge, whose entertainments are always among the most choice, and attain the most gratifying results. Tuesday evening's "At Home" was no exception to the rule. It was semi-private in character for the Oddfellows and their friends, but a large and representative gathering assembled to partake of the Oddfellows hospitality. Every preparation had been made for the entertainment of the 300 guests who were expected, and who were nearly all present. On the floor below the Oddfellows' Hall dressing rooms for the ladies and gentlemen were provided, (Ellison & Dixon's law office and Miss Williams' dressmaking rooms being converted to the use of the visitors), and on entering the premises above the guests were welcomed by a reception committee. The spacious lodge room was supplied with a number of small tables, around which the people meted themselves and indulged in games while a choice programme was being rendered. In the large ante-room refreshment tables were spread and kept in operation during the evening. In the dining room proper about ten o'clock the music of Batcher's Orchestra rose "with its voluptuous swell," and to its rythmical pulsations scores of feet tripped lightly over the polished floor until an early hour—in the morning.

All things considered, the Oddfellows' "At Home" was a delightful success. The programme rendered was brief but most suitable to an "At Home." Dr. Bell, Past Grand Master of the Ontario Oddfellows, acted in the capacity of chairman so far as a chairman was necessary, and in an open-ly address referred to the origin and growth of the lodge he represented. The numbers were brought on at easy intervals and were all first-class. The orchestra gave a couple of selections, solos were rendered by Miss Vair and Mrs. W. Daly, and instrumental (piano) duets by the Misses Loch and Miss Sherwood and Miss Gray. The well known ability of these several performers are a sufficient assurance that the programme made up in quality what is lacked in length.

From ten to eleven o'clock the refreshment room was in fully patronized, where Messrs. Hooper and Long provided a tasty lunch. After this hour the majority of the guests departed for home, but a number of the young people remained for an hour or more longer.

The officers and committee of Otonabee Lodge, who arranged the "At Home," are to be congratulated upon their success. It is understood other similar entertainments are to be given this winter. The many friends of the Oddfellows will hope such may be the case.

Maple Leaf Cheese Factory.

An Encouraging Annual Statement—The Second Year's Great Success.

The second annual meeting of the Maple Leaf cheese factory, Duro, was held on Thursday last, Dec. 4th, when the best of harmony prevailed between the patrons and manufacturer, Mr. D. Pilkey, and also the salesman and treasurer, Mr. John Moloney, Duro's popular reeve. The business has been very satisfactory, as the following figures will show: Total amount of milk delivered to the factory was 884 856 lbs., or about 295 standards, from which was made 81,453 lbs. of cheese, being an average of 10.86 lbs. of milk to one pound of cheese, realizing $7 624 76, making an average of a little over 9½ cents per pound, or $25 84 per standard. After deducting the manufacturing leaves $20.54 per standard paid the patrons. The most milk received in one month was July, 209,816 lbs., and the most from one patron during the season was 34,096 lbs., (Mr. John Moloney) and the average from the 59 patrons was 14.996 lbs., or five standards each.

The progress of this factory may be best shown by a comparison with the results of last year. In 1889 the total amount of milk delivered was 513 415 lbs.; this year this amount grew to 884,856 lbs., an increase of 371,441 lbs., or an increase of about 60 per cent. This increase is equivalent to about 124 standards. In 1889 the cash receipts were $4,677.64, and in 1890 $7,624.76, an increase of $2,947.12.

A BAD FACE HUMOR

Covering the Face with Disgusting, Painful Blotches, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About seven years ago I had a shower break out upon my face; it spread in a small blotch and looked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and formed into a ringworm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best doctors in the city, and he could do me no good. No less than two of the best doctors have had a trial at my face, and all in vain failed. I will say to you that all the remedies get will say that they were from Boston, New York and Maine, also from England, France and Canada. I have been a hard cook and in a warm for years. In the summer I cook at watering places; that is why I have had an opportunity of being among good doctors. They could not cure my face as I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June I went to Moosehead Lake, Maine, to cook for the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be seen. At the lake I met a gentleman from England. He told me to use your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and they would cure me at once. I did so. The result was in three weeks the sores on my face were healed up. I used it all the season. My face is now well and no care to be seen. I have recommended it to a number, and in every case it has proved them. It would save a good deal of money if patent medicines where I was a year ago; prove dog I did not know what your CUTICURA would do. I shall recommend it as long as I live, and as I never refuse.

The Masonic Temple in Chicago

(From the Graphic.)

The laying of the corner stone of the Masonic Fraternity Temple in Chicago, Nov. 6th, 1890, marks the most notable event in operative Masonry since the achievements of ancient days. The new edifice will not only be the largest Masonic Temple in the world, but the most massive and capacious structure erected for permanent occupancy. It will cover a ground space of 170 feet on State street and 114 feet on Randolph, and will consist of twenty stories, rising 275 feet above the street grade, and forming the architectural marvel of the 19th century. The ceremony of laying the corner stone of this colossal monument was conducted with fitting dignity and grandeur. Arrayed in the regalia of the various commanderies and grand lodges, nearly 5,000 Masons and a much vaster concourse of interested spectators witnessed the impressive ceremony.

An event of such significance naturally awakens fresh interest in this ancient order, which embraces in its bond of brotherhood kings and commoners, statesmen and artizans, soldiers, scholars and divines of every civilized people. Thousands who have not been initiated into its sacred mysteries regard it with mingled feelings of awe, suspicion and curiosity. The popular notion with respect to the order associates it with startling ceremonies, terrible oaths and ordeals, a close acquaintance with a red hot poker and an incandescent gridiron, and frightful penalties to intruders.

As defined by itself, Masonry is "a beautiful system of morality, veiled in allegory, and illustrated by symbols." It lives and instructs in emblems and symbols. Every implement employed by the physical art of Masonry is pregnant with symbolic meaning. Our common humanity is illustrated by the level, uprightness of conduct by the plummet, moderation of indulgence by the compass—while the gavel, the trowel and the ladder have each their lesson, which is inculcated and expounded by the Masonic lodge.

Masonry claims to be the oldest institution in existence, tracing its origin from a period when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. Tradition asserts that it flourished before the Deluge, and the legendary history of Solomon's Temple is interwoven with every part of the system, which gives it greater antiquity than any other existing civic association.

Though fable and imagination have traced back the origin of Freemasonry to the old Roman Empire, the Pharaohs, or even the times of the Tower of Babel, and the Ark of Noah, the Masonic craft in reality sprang into being in the Middle Ages. The church architecture of the Masonic Guilds of Germany bears witness to its early achievements, and the period of the Reformation marks its most rapid development. The epithet "free" was applied to the craft of Masons in consequence of their being exempted from the laws which regulated common laborers. Men skilled in the hewing and setting of stone were naturally prized in an eminently church-building age. Their vocation involved travelling from city to city, and camping beside the great cathedrals on which they were employed. To promote the social intercourse and prosperity of the craft, as well as to test the accredited fellowship, a system of secret symbols was devised in which every "free and accepted" Mason was was initiated, and this operative form of medieval Masonry is believed to have been typical of the institution which passes under the same name today.

Modern Freemasonry, however, is of English origin and dates from the seventeenth century. Although the order was proscribed by act of parliament at the instigation of a Romish cardinal during the minority of Henry VI, the latter on coming of age himself countenanced the Masons and joined the fraternity, and Henry VII became their Grand Master in England. Charles II, William III, George IV, the Duke of Wellington, the present Prince of Wales, the late Emperor of the French, and scores of kings, princes and dukes have allied themselves with the ancient order, and in many instances received the highest honours that the fraternity can confer.

Mutinous Mexican Soldiers Pursued and Shot Down.

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 9. The mutinous convict soldiers who made a bold dash for liberty at Juarez, Mex., were recaptured with difficulty. There were 70 in the mutiny. They first shot down and killed the sergeant and one of the guards on duty. One of the mutineers was found wounded by the guard. The eight who escaped from the barracks took to the mountains, but soon separated four remaining together, two turning toward the point where the Mexican Central crosses the hills to the south and two striking up river and the American line. A large force of policemen, custom guards and citizens, some mounted and some on foot, started in pursuit. Those who pursued the two southbound mutineers overtook them and they surrendered. The couple who went north made faster time and were not overtaken until they were close to the American line.

The four who struck westerly for the mountains showed fight when overtaken, and a desperate battle ensued. One of the pursuing horsemen was shot through the arm and one of his companions when he suddenly and unexpectedly ran upon the four desperate mutineers. They fired at him from close range, two on each side. He was armed only with six-shooters, but he killed two and wounded one. The fourth mutineer ran, and as the horseman started in pursuit the wounded man behind him was taking deliberate aim to run just as another of the pursuers came up and shot the wounded soldier dead. The fourth mutineer then surrendered and all were returned to the prison, where they will be held until court martialled. All of the mutineers will doubtless be shot as soon as a court martial can pass upon their case.

PARNELL AT CORK.

ANOTHER BITTER ATTACK ON GLADSTONE'S POLICY.

He Refers to the Old Man Eloquent as the Grand Old Spider.—The United Ireland Promises Retaken by Parnell.—O'Brien Interviewed.

DUBLIN, Dec. 11.—When the train with Parnell reached Mallow Station to-day a majority of the assembled crowd hooted and jeered, only a few cheers being raised for Parnell. At Cork an immense crowd had gathered and the arrival of the train was the signal for an extraordinary outburst of enthusiasm.

A deputation from Limerick met Parnell at Limerick Junction and invited him to visit that city. This he promised to do at an early date.

MORE MANIFESTOS.

A Couple of Additional Documents See the Light.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The Liberal Unionist Association has issued a long manifesto which concludes as follows: Parnell and the Parnellites have always been an untrustworthy body upon whose pledges no reliance could be placed, and whose parliamentary antecedents made them unfit and unsafe allies for any great party. Recent events must have forced this consideration upon the minds of many Home Rulers. No distinction can be made between Parnell and his adherents and the majority of his party who seek to depose him. The latter condoned his delinquencies and accepted his policy, and now make sacrifice of him as a means of extorting fresh terms from their allies. The mistake the British Home Rulers made was in allowing themselves to be convinced that either the methods or the objects of the Irish revolutionaries had changed. Neither the Parnellite faction nor the seceders will ever accept Home Rule without a mental reservation for absolute separation and complete Irish independence. Any scheme for Home Rule based upon other Irish declarations is, and always has been, illusory.

Another from the Envoys.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The Irish envoys have issued another manifesto defining their position and accentuating their opposition to Parnell. It is signed by all the envoys except Harrington.

STORMED WITH A CROWBAR.

Parnell Again Captures The United Ireland Office and Assumes Charge.

DUBLIN, Dec. 11.—The struggle for the possession of United Ireland assumed a new phase this morning and again Parnell is in possession of the offices of the company. When the opponents of Parnell, who succeeded last night in forcing an entrance to the office and destroying all the leaders that had been prepared by Mr. Leamy, took their departure they left a guard in possession, with orders to resist any attempt of Parnell or his friends to enter the building. This morning Parnell proceeded to the office, and with the assistance of a crowd of his supporters he forced open the doors and took possession. The police witnessed the affair but did not interfere. After he had succeeded in recapturing the office Parnell went to a window and addressed the crowd outside.

Keyhole Communication.

To guard against any further attempt on the part of Parnell's opponents to recapture the office no one was allowed to enter and the doors were closely bolted and barred. Mr. Parnell was accompanied by the staff of editors appointed yesterday, to whom the office was secured against intruders. All conversation with outsiders was carried on through a keyhole. When Parnell made the assault upon the office this morning he was armed with a crowbar, which he used in forcing the front door.

In the afternoon Parnell started for Cork. A large crowd was at the Kingsbridge Depot and he was loudly cheered.

PARNELL'S DUBLIN SPEECH.

He Characterizes Gladstone as "the Grand Old Spider."

DUBLIN, Dec. 11. In his speech at the Rotunda here last night Parnell said: I would only too willingly, as a man whose heart delights to compromise, who is anxious to meet his enemies and the objections of the anxious, and present my smitten cheek to the smiter, if by so doing I could prevent the other cheek from being smitten. I was anxious to assuage this trial, to give Ireland breathing time, to postpone the terrible issue. Why was I refused the opportunity? Why did Gladstone, nine days after, allow the Leinster meeting to take place before hinting that my retention was dangerous? Had he but whispered that my retirement was necessary I should have hastened to consult my comrades and rescue them from the position in which they placed themselves by the Leinster resolution. He proceeded to refer ironically to Gladstone's talk of resigning. He reminded his hearers that Gladstone in 1886 carried the whole weight of Home Rule single-handed against every opposition. We were amazed, he said, at his strength and courage. His lieutenants feel convinced us that he was the man to settle the great Irish question. We come before you on that platform, but in coming we did not surrender our independence. (Loud cheers.) It is because of this that this great statesman and unrivalled leader of his own people asks you to surrender your independence and depose your leader.

No Surrender.

We are here to-day to say to Mr. Gladstone: "We respect you in your position; we acknowledge your immortality and the strength and power exhibited by you in so many and great battlefields, but we decline to fuse with you. We decline to surrender to you the independence which has produced in you the mind in which you are to-day and which, please God, will continue till it has produced the fruition of our hopes. [Cheers.] There is one distinction between the Grand Old Man—for he is a grand old man—and his colleagues. It is the distinction between the tail wagging the head and vice versa—[laughter]—and the message Ireland sends back to the Grand Old Man is: Resume your place as leader of your party, back up your legitimate authority and when you have put yourself in the position of an independent leader, such as ours is, then and not till then will we allow our leader to treat with you upon equal terms, which alone can assure a lasting, a possible and permanent result." [Cheers.]

Parnell made a sarcastic reference to the promise of English money to Irish Parnell papers, and declared that when they measured the depth of the purposes of Lord Salisbury and Prof. Stuart they would be in a position to estimate the magnitude of the issues. Parnell said movement against him is a moment of hypocrisy by a man whose Home Rule is skin deep, but whose hatred for Ireland is not skin deep. The features of the movement are aberration of judgment and invincible ignorance.

The Grand Old Spider.

Referring to the offers of office to Irish members made by "the Grand Old Spider," in good faith and with the singleness of purpose so characteristic of the spider and the fly, the speaker declared the present crisis was a feather in the balance compared with the intensity and intolerable character of the situation which would result should a single Irish member forget his pledge. That pledge, not to accept office from the English government, is your character; hold fast to it. (Cheers.) That is the ground on which I stand to-night, and on which you must stand if we are to succeed. We stand at the parting of the ways. It is an issue meaning life or death to the constitutional movement. You cannot, if you would, avoid the issue forced upon you. I have not promised you absolute success, but I repeat, with all the force and energy my poor words can give that Ireland can win on no other line, and if our constitutional movement is broken, unfastened, discredited and forgotten England will be face to face with that impressible force which to-night gives me vitality and power.

The remainder of Parnell's unusually vigorous speech was devoted to the land and eviction questions, and was a repetition of his former opinions. He then delivered a 20-minute speech at the overflow meeting in the Concert Hall and followed this with an address from the balcony to an immense crowd outside.

At the conclusion of his speech Parnell proceeded to the National Club, escorted by a large torchlight procession headed by bands of music and cheered by the throngs which lined the route. Here from a window he made another speech, which closed a memorable day. The only discordant incident of the ovation to Parnell emanated from a compact group of students near the Bank of Ireland, who sang "God Save the Queen" as Parnell passed, for which performance they were chaffed by the crowd.

PARNELL AT CORK.

The Uncrowned Sovereign Makes Another Speech.

CORK, Dec. 11.—Parnell's reception here today was similar to that accorded him in Dublin, being most enthusiastic. An address from the National League was presented to him in the Chamber of Commerce where a tremendous crowd had gathered to greet him.

After a volley of cheers Mr. Parnell replied to the address. He said: I come among you confident, and with a proud heart in the belief that while Cork and Parnell are united Ireland is united. I am proud of Cork which has given a verdict for me without waiting to hear my side of the case. With such men I need not fear the loss of Gladstone's trumpery bill, which would allow the police to baton us, the landlords to desecrate the bounty as heretofore, and would give Ireland nothing which Irishmen could not get for themselves without the bill. It is not for such a measure that Cork retains the proud title of of Rebel. He declared that never in Gladstone's parliament days had he dismissed the idea for an instant that Ireland and Gladstone might yet again be in conflict.

He said no more absurd panic ever spread throughout a compact army than the fable that there is any danger to the cause of Home Rule, because you are true to your leader. I could not look you in the face if I did not speak these words. Fire from Heaven should scorch me if I were so untrue to a country and a people that have loved me. [Cheers.] You would justly ban me as disgraced and disgraceful. But I am not so, I can hold up my head and face to the world and present a stout, brave front to every reviler so long as I know that you trust me. [Cries of "We do."] I am powerful and happy and our enemies are disgraced and confounded. Loud cheers and cries of, "You will win." "We will fight for you.")

I shall go forth to battle sharing your strength and confidence and we shall gain an overwhelming, glorious victory." [Loud and prolonged cheering followed.]

PARNELL AND THE PEOPLE.

Parnell Appears to Be Winning Supporters in Every Direction.

DUBLIN, Dec. 11.—The large and enthusiastic meeting held in the rotunda last night and the speech then made by Parnell has already had the effect of influencing public opinion in favor of Parnell throughout Ireland, and the number of his adherents is growing rapidly. His supporters in Limerick are making preparations for a great popular display in his honor upon his arrival there. Mr. Leamy has sent a private despatch to a friend in London stating that Mr. Parnell is winning all along the line.

Rev. Abraham Browrigg, D.D., Roman Catholic Bishop of Osorry, in which diocese is situated the town of Kilkenny, has advised the voters therein that in the coming election for member of the House of Commons to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Marum to cast their ballots according to the dictates of their consciences. The fight there will be a good test of the Irish opinion, and the supporters of Parnell are desirous of putting forward the strongest possible candidate.

The Parnellites have withdrawn the nomination of Barry O'Brien, the author, and have finally selected John Kelly to contest the seat with Sir John Heanessy, the nominee of the McCarthy faction.

At a demonstration at Waterford yesterday Timothy Healy was burned in effigy mid cheers for Parnell.

The train which is conveying Mr. Gladstone from London to Hawarden was met at Retford by a vast concourse of people. Mr. Gladstone appeared on the rear platform of the last car, which was the signal for loud and prolonged cheering. He then addressed the crowd.

The freedom of the city of Edinburgh, which was recently presented to Parnell, has been withdrawn. To-day at a meeting of the municipal council Parnell's name was erased from the roll of burgesses.

O'Brien Interviewed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—William O'Brien was interviewed to-day regarding the seizure of United Ireland by Parnell and said he had cabled instructions to its editor shortly before the seizure not to insert articles offensive to Parnell. He also informed him that if the party decided favorable to Parnell to hand over the paper to any authorized agent of Parnell, but not to otherwise do so. Mr. O'Brien continued: "The shares which stand nominally in Mr. Parnell's name are less than half the share capital of The United Ireland Company. Mr. Parnell is not, and has not been for nearly five years past, a director of the company. I have myself borne wholly, throughout all these years, all pecuniary or criminal responsibility. No directors of the company accompanied Parnell, and those who forcibly took possession of The United Ireland office with him had no shadow of legal authority for their proceedings. I spent the best years of my life in founding United Ireland. For ten years it has often, almost single-handed, borne the brunt of three consecutive coercion acts. Words cannot tell how mournful it is to me to think that after weathering so many years of continuous life and death struggle with Dublin Castle the paper should in my absence and while my hands were tied experience such treatment at the hands of the leader I all but worshipped."

Timothy Harrington to-night said his relations to his late colleagues were of the most cordial nature still. But he failed to see the force of the reasoning of the opposition to Parnell. The Irish people would flout the idea of throwing overboard their leader for any such cause as for the indefinite, vague promise by Gladstone of Home Rule.

William O'Brien and T. P. Gill sail for Rotterdam Saturday. From Rotterdam they go to Paris to meet Parnell.

Gladstone in Staffordshire.

WORKSOP, Dec. 11.—Mr. Gladstone addressed an audience of 5000 persons here. He counselled his hearers not to abandon Ireland on account of anything that had happened to an individual. The determination of the Liberals was irrevocable. They could not undertake effectually to support the cause of Home Rule at the next election in connection with one particular name. He pointed out the importance of continuing the struggle for Ireland, declaring that legislation for England could not be obtained until the country had got rid of the Home Rule question.

In Cork and Limerick.

CORK, Dec. 11.—At a meeting here to-night, at which the high sheriff presided, a Parliamentary committee was appointed to oppose Parnell. The chairman said he hoped the division in the party would be brief and announced that 21 Nationalist members of the Cork municipal council were opposed to Parnell remaining at the head of the party.

A meeting of the municipal council of Kilkenny was held to-day, at which a resolution was adopted rescinding the vote of confidence in Parnell recently adopted. An amendment was submitted to the meeting that an adjournment be taken until next week to allow of discussion on a resolution signifying their adherence to the McCarthy faction. This amendment was not seconded and consequently no action was taken.

Will Provide the Sinews.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The Parnellites have again changed their candidate for Parliament for Kilkenny. At the request of Mr. Parnell Mr. Kelly has retired in favor of Vincent Scully, a wealthy Tipperary land owner. Mr. Scully has for years been a member of the National League, and he recently promised to give one-tenth of his income to that organization until an Irish Parliament meets in Dublin. He has issued an address to the electors in which he says he had refused to enter parliament in quieter times, but he now believes his duty calls upon him to offer himself as a candidate.

Mr. Parnell has ordered that all persons shall be treated fairly in the columns of United Ireland and that abuse shall be abstained from.

THE ONTARIO ALLIANCE.

ANNUAL MEETING AT TORONTO YESTERDAY.

Election of Officers—The Scott Act Discussed—The Local Option Law Reported to be Working Well.

TORONTO, Dec. 12.—The annual convention of the Ontario Alliance began yesterday morning in Richmond Hall. The chair was taken by Mr. W. H. Howland, president, and there were about 60 delegates in attendance, including Senator Vidal of Sarnia, president of the Dominion Alliance.

The report of the Executive Committee, presented by Mr. J. J. Maclaren and adopted, expressed satisfaction with the progress of local option legislation and hoped that in 1891 the liquor traffic would be outlawed in a large part of the province. Already the local option bylaw has been carried in the township of Lanark and in the village of Wellington. Voting is now taking place in East Luther. Other places have the work in different stages of progress, and interest in the movement is rapidly growing. While working steadily for prohibition the Dominion Alliance is always ready to cooperate in every effort for the reduction of the evils of intemperance, and therefore is thankful for the advance legislation made at the last session of the Legislature.

In view of the fact that a general election will probably be held before the next meeting the convention was requested to formulate a plan of action that would be acceptable to all parts of the province so that prohibitionists might be returned from a majority of Ontario constituencies. The report in conclusion suggested further amendments which were later on embodied in the report of the Committee on Legislation.

In the afternoon President Howland delivered his address. He declared that the idea that the defeat of the Scott Act meant the triumph of the anti-prohibitionists was unfounded, for the principles of the alliance were steadily gaining ground. In Dominion politics they had not made much progress. There was still a strong representation of temperance men in Parliament, but the defeat of the Scott Act had hindered them. In Ontario the recent amendments to the license law providing for local option prohibition were found to be more valuable than the Scott Act. The chief advantage of the new law was that it was not enforced by special officers, but in the same way as the ordinary law of the land. As soon as it was realized that prohibition could be obtained by one final vote the local option movement would receive the support of many who had previously held aloof. Prohibition must be carried by the people, and it was, therefore, time to leave off dealing with the Legislature and work more among the people. The money of brewers and distillers was finding its way into great financial bodies and used to "square" personally any one who was opposed to the business. This power was working into politics and defeating the freedom of the people. He concluded a stirring address by urging the convention to rally in the old spirit around the old cause and carry the local option measure in every part of the province. [Loud applause.]

The report of the Committee on Local Option was presented by Rev. J. E. Howell and adopted. It recommended a general agitation throughout the municipalities of the province with a view to securing the advantage of the local option provisions of the license law, that a convention be summoned in each county to secure concerted action and that an address be issued explanatory of the leading features of the new local option law.

Mr. W. H. Orr presented the report of the Committee on Legislation. Among other clauses carried were recommendations that the Ontario Government be petitioned to prohibit the sale of liquor to persons actually under 21 years of age; to prohibit treating by adopting the Nova Scotia system of licensing; to compel all houses of public entertainment to be licensed; to close all taverns and liquor shops on statutory holidays, and on days set apart for voting on the local option bylaw just as on municipal election days. The report further proposed that the Legislature be petitioned to give the voters in a subdivision the power by petition to prevent the renewal of a license. It was amended by adding, as a rider, that every licensee be requested to have a majority petition of the electors of the polling subdivision every year.

A resolution was carried thanking the Ontario Government "for its readiness in initiating and the Legislature for its readiness in enacting the changes in the license laws made at the last session." In moving the resolution, Senator Vidal said that, at the same time, the legislation forbidding the sale of liquor on steamboats was a failure.

Dr. MacLaren presented the report of the Committee on Electoral Actions. It held that, as national prohibition can only be effectively secured through wise legislation firmly enforced, it was the duty of every prohibitionist to do all in their power to secure the nomination and election of such representatives irrespective of party who would support legislation; that these principles should be pushed to the front at every municipal election; that an effort be made to elect prohibitionists for the four vacant seats in the Legislature; that it be a recommendation to the Executive Committee to keep its eye on the division lists during the next session of the House of Commons and protect those members who support temperance measures.

There was some warm discussion over the report.

R. F. Noble was disgusted with partyism. He had left the Conservative fold and voted for two Grits, but both had been unseated for bribery and corruption, so that his last condition was worse than the first. [Laughter.]

A Voice: "Was either of them a temperance man?"

Mr. Noble: "Yes." [Laughter.]

The report was adopted.

On motion of Mr. F. S. Spence a resolution of sympathy with the temperance people of Charlottetown, (P.E.I.), in their coming struggle for upholding the Scott Act in that city, was passed.

Having nothing else to do this remark by the chairman initiated a lengthy discussion:

These officers were elected:
President—W. H. Howland.
Vice-President—Rev. A. M. Phillips.
Secretary—F. S. Spence.
Treasurer—R. J. Fleming.

It is a Mistake

To try to cure catarrh by using local applications. Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It is not a disease of the man's nose, but of the man. Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood reaches every part of the system expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

DIVINE HEALING MISSION.

Dr. and Mrs. Dowie in the Baptist Church.

Large Audiences Attend the Opening Meetings—Some Interesting Things for the Future—Dr. Dowie on Divine Healing—Requests for Prayer.

The much-vexed question of divine healing will receive attention within the next ten days, by means of the mission which has been undertaken by Rev. Mr. Dowie and wife, the acknowledged exponents of the doctrine of salvation of the spirit, soul and body. Dr. and Mrs. Dowie came to America a couple of years ago from Melbourne, Australia, where Dr. Dowie had charge of a large tabernacle. They have been conducting divine healing missions in San Francisco, Chicago, Toronto and other cities with remarkable results, and the mission in Peterborough promises to be quite as successful as any. At yesterday's introductory meeting the Baptist church was filled, the largest audience being present in the evening. The mission will extend over next week and close on Monday the 22nd. Dr. and Mrs. Dowie are staying at the residence of Mr. Smart, Bethune street.

A preliminary meeting was held at half-past three Thursday afternoon, when Dr. and Mrs. Dowie introduced themselves to the people. Dr. Dowie is of the vigorous, blunt style of speaker, and has a voice of great strength. He is about 45 years of age. Mrs. Dowie is also apparently a strong-minded woman. They both made short addresses at the afternoon meeting, Dr. Dowie stating in divine healing. He said that from childhood he had been sickly, and after 17 years was reduced to a miserable skeleton by dyspepsia. He gave up doctors, prayed to the Lord in faith, and the disease left him and never returned; he was to-day strong and healthy. Mrs. Dowie related some marvellous cures she had witnessed of cancer and other diseases.

At the evening meeting, after the singing of a hymn, Mrs. Dowie read from the Scriptures in Psalm 67 and Acts 3, remarking that the next chapter showed that the man upon whom the miracle of divine healing was performed was 40 years of age.

Next they went into prayer—prayer for God's grace upon the mission; when also they laid before the Lord the petitions for prayer which they had received. There were two from Kansas state and one from Peterborough. Dr. Dowie announced that those who desired prayer for their infirmities would write their requests and lay them on the desk. These petitions must be signed by the person requiring prayer, as a guarantee of good faith only. Names were never mentioned in their prayers. He said that during the last mission in Toronto they had received about one thousand petitions for prayer and many very blessed answers. For instance, one lady got up at the Monday night meeting and testified that her child had been cured of fever by Divine healing. She had called the doctors to see the child, but the fever grew worse; then she gave up medicine and applied to the Lord in faith, and asked Dr. Dowie to at a certain time. The lady stated that at once the fever left her little one and the child began to get well, though the doctors had said the fever would last from 14 to 21 days. Dr. Dowie asked his audience to kneel during prayer, as that was the proper way to approach God. About half of those present, however, simply bowed their heads.

It was announced that to-night Dr. and Mrs. Dowie would relate how and why they entered into the work. The meeting will open at 7.30 and close at 9.30. It was, however, at the afternoon meetings when they did the most work in Divine healing. They would speak from the 8th chapter of Matthew and expound the doctrine of Divine healing. It was then they expected to receive the sick and afflicted. They would not in every case lay the hands upon all who asked; they must first be satisfied that the person is ready to receive the gift.

In speaking of the collections, Dr. Dowie said they trusted to free-will offerings for means to carry on this work. For the past 12 years he had entirely trusted in the Lord without salary, and the support was always forthcoming. In two and a half years their work had cost some $25,000, and was extended in its nature. He was president of some 32 associations, which had been formed within four years, and also of the International Congress, which meets at Chicago. He never made any claims, but trusted to the people to give as the Lord had blessed them.

In his address Dr. Dowie called the attention of his hearers to the passage which had been read to them about the beautiful gates of the temple, and said he would show how in the beautiful Temple of God was open for all ages and for all nations. He took up the miracle performed by Peter and John in healing the lame beggar at the gate of the temple. He said that true salvation meant the dwelling of the spirit in us, and not simply with us; and that if the spirit was in the body, in the flesh, the body would receive the nine gifts of the spirit mentioned in Corinthians, 12th chapter, one of which was Divine Healing. Jesus Christ, he said, came to save the soul, the spirit and the body, and this doctrine should be preached in all the churches. The reason for there being only forty million professing Christians out of about 1,400 million inhabitants of the globe, after more than eighteen centuries since Christ, was that the preachers did not preach the whole truth. They should uphold Christ as the healer of the body as well as of the soul. Salvation and repentance were, of course, of first importance in the preaching of the Gospel, but with the indwelling of the spirit came the power of the Holy Ghost with all its offices, including the gift of Divine Healing. He referred to the argument that the power of healing as given to the disciples had since been taken away from the church, but he defied anyone to show when, why and by whom this had been done.

No after-meeting was held, though such will probably be the case at future meetings.

Mr. Seward had a small choir present to lead the singing, but in one of the hymns Dr. Dowie requested that it be sung with the voice alone.

THE PROGRAMME.

All meetings will be held in the Baptist church until further notice, except the Sunday afternoon meeting, which will be held in the Opera House. Afternoon lectures daily at 3 o'clock. Evening lectures at 8 o'clock. The following are the subjects:—

Friday, Dec. 12.—Mr. Dowie, "The Gospel of Healing and How I came to Preach It." Mrs. Dowie, "Seven and a Half Years' Experience in the Healing Room."

Lord's Day, Dec. 14th.—Mr. Dowie, "The Two Chains: Good and Evil." Illustrated by a diagram.

Monday, Dec. 15th.—Mr. Dowie, "The Four Circles; or, How God Sanctifies Spirit, Soul and Body." Illustrated by a diagram.

Tuesday, Dec. 16th.—Mr. Dowie, "Five Beautiful Lessons from Bethesda. Illustrated by a diagram. Mrs. Dowie, "The Cleansing of Naaman, the Leper."

Wednesday, Dec. 17th.—Mr. Dowie, "Answers to Old Testament Difficulties, including Remarks on the Mystery of Suffering, the story of Job, Evil and its Origin," etc.

Live Stock Market.

TORONTO, Dec. 9.—The receipts at the western cattle market last week 1,313, 120 sheep and lambs and 657 hogs. To-day the offerings were 23 loads, including 150 sheep and lambs and only 7 hogs and the market all day was rather slow, but toward the close nearly everything was disposed of. Local butchers are beginning to buy for the Christmas trade, and this had a favorable effect on the market. Drovers say that the farmers are about ready to send in their good stock for the market, and next week will probably see a brisk trade. The quality of the offerings to-day was hardly up to the average; still there were a few good loads in, and they sold as high as 4c per lb. Prices ranged for good stock from 3½ to 4c; medium 3½ to 3¾c, and inferior from 2½ to 3½. Some purchases of good stuff were made for the Montreal market. Representative sales were: 24 butchers', 940 lbs., $38 per head. Four bulls, 1,150 lbs. 2½ per lb.; 4 feeders, 1000 lbs., $35 per head. Sheep and lambs—the demand has greatly fallen off, and to-day very few sales were made, and they were only for small lots. Prices were from $4 to $5 for lambs, and $4.50 to $5 20 for sheep. A few calves and milch cows were offered and they sold at $3 to $10 for calves, and $25 to $50 each for cows.

Grain Market.

Cables were firm on wheat and corn. American markets were weak. Locally wheat was dull and weak, with little doing, and this can be accounted for by the stringency in the American money markets. Oats continue firm and in demand.

BRANDON WHEAT MARKET.

BRANDON, Dec. 9.—Buyers on the street are paying 85c. for best samples of wheat. Between 3,000 and 4,000 bush. were marketed here to-day.

BARLEY MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Barley—Good barley sold a little more easily. There was no recovery from the recent decline, but lower prices seemed to have the effect of stirring up a little more demand. The quality was in several cases reported as of a lower average than for some days. Poorer lots were very dull, and enquiry was centred in fair to good malting grades mainly. Very choice white Bay of Quinte barley grading No. 2 was made at 78c., but the general business was in fair to good malting north-western barley within the range of 60 to 65c. A few choice lots sold at 66 to 68c., and really fine was about 70c. to a shade over, but extra qualities nominal for lack of offerings. Common thin, badly stained and dirty lots slow at 52 to 58c. Screenings sold at $16 to $18 50 per ton. The stock of barley increased slightly in the past week. To-day's receipts were 132 cars with withdrawals of 5 695 bush reported. Poor qualities proved finally to be lower. A number of lots had to be carried over for want of sale.

Puny [illegible] condition of [illegible] blood in [illegible] universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

Town and Suburban Property

Within the past few days I have received instructions from OVERLOADED owners to sell their surplus properties at once, and to do that means to sell at low prices, which I now have authority to do.

The man who is now occupying a very comfortable house at a low rent would consult his own interest by asking himself, How long will these low or cheap rents continue? If always, then remain as you are; but if your good judgment tells you that Edison having applied his electric magnetism to the town means that it is destined to make rapid strides and become a great city in the near future when your present neglect to provide a home for yourself much under value will be rewarded by having to pay double the rent you are now paying. All this loss and trouble can be easily avoided by calling at my office without delay and selecting a House and Lot, a vacant Building Lot, or any other kind of property you may desire at low prices and on most reasonable terms of payment.

THE BRAVE ENGINEER.

HOW JOE BIRSE SAVED A TRAIN LOAD OF PASSENGERS.

By His Heroic Conduct He and His Engine Go Down Under the Waters of the St. Lawrence, but the Passengers Were Saved.

The story of Joe Birse, the Grand Trunk engineer who saved the lives of a hundred passengers and train hands on Dec. 1, at the expense of his own, is that of as brave a deed as any which has come down to us in the storied history of past ages.

The heavy night express, which had left

JOE BIRSE, THE ENGINEER.

Montreal for Toronto several hours late, was switched at Lachine by mistake on to the wharf line, and as it went sweeping along to the engulfing of the entire train in Lake St. Louis Joseph Birse, the engineer, realized the danger. He could have saved his own life by jumping from his engine; but he was equal to the supreme test of bravery and devotion to duty. In that moment he decided to remain true to his duty and avert, if possible, the danger threatening the sleeping passengers on his train. There was not a moment to lose, and his prompt decision was followed by prompt action. The brake was applied and he reversed the engine, and the train came to a standstill just at the water's edge. But what of Joe Birse? With his hand on the throttle lever he plunged down with his engine to the bottom of the lake 25 feet below. Still, in such an awful moment, the record of his life as an engineer made no other course possible to him. In the daily round of his duties he was a faithful man, and had become one of the most trusted men in the company's employ. Brave Joe Birse! Faithful Joe Birse! He laid down his life to save that of people utterly unknown to him, and that, too, with the knowledge that he was widowing his wife, orphaning his sons and daughters. Honor the hero's memory!

Vice Chancellor Meredith.

This week we are enabled to present to our readers an excellent portrait of the new Vice-Chancellor, R. M. Meredith, Q. C., who was appointed when Vice Chancellor Proudfoot retired from the position. The new judge entered upon the duties of his position in September last, full of life and vigor, and as he is in the prime of life he will be able to give good service to the state. Mr. Meredith is well known in the western part of the province as one who has attained the front rank in the legal profession, and it is whose abilities and attainments qualify him for the judicial position to which he has been appointed.

Mrs. Partington's Debut

Speaking of Mrs. Partington's first successes, Mr. Shillaber in dulged in this reminiscence some years ago in the Boston Post: "Everything associated with the advent of the 'Old Lady' was pleasant. Col. Greene (of the Post) was absent, 'summering' high at Saratoga, when the saying began to go year day by day, and we bound to Jackson, ha 'hocum feneus.' Who the devil is 'Mrs. Partington?' I enjoyed covertly the pleasant things said about them, never revealing the authorship, and heard commendation bestowed upon this or that one suspected of writing them. Many imputed them to a female source, and when they had become quoted all over the land a Boston friend, who was in Nashville, Tenn., overheard in a restaurant a party discussing the question of the authorship of Mrs. Partington. Knowing, as he did, all about it, he ventured to say that the author was a friend of his of the masculine persuasion when one brought his hand vehemently on the table and shouted: 'By——! I know the woman!' It was a quietus for the Yankee!"

Mr. Shillaber (Mrs. Parti. ed a couple of weeks since aged [illegible]

High-Priced Preachers.

The following items were gleaned from a New York paper: Dr. Morgan Dix, rector of Old Trinity, has $15,000. His assistant has $4000. Of the chapels belonging to the parish, Trinity Chapel yields $8000 to Dr. Swope, and the assistants in charge of the others have $4000.

Dr. Huntington, rector of Grace Church, has $5,000 and a house, the rental of which is worth at least $5000 more.

St. Bartholomew is said to pay $10,000 to its rector, Dr. Greer, who, being wealthy, retains nothing for himself.

Dr. Brown, of St. Thomas, receives $15,000.

Dr. Rainsford, of St. George, has $10,000, and, being well to do, is said to give it all away.

A dozen other Episcopal parishes in the city pay from $4000 to $8000 a year. The Bishop receives $15,000

Among the Presbyterians Dr. John Hall draws $20,000. Dr. Paxton is reported to receive $10,000; Dr. Parkhurst, $8000.

Rev. Robert Collyer, Unitarian, has $10,000.

The pastor of the largest Methodist church has $5000 and parsonage; the Methodist Bishop also has $5000.

In Brooklyn Dr. Talmage is said to receive $13,000; Dr. Abbott, $6000.

The Merriest Girl That's Out.

"Bonnie sweet Bessie the maid of Dundee," was, no doubt, the kind of a girl to ask, "What are the wild waves saying?" or to put "a little faded flower" in your button hole, she was so full of vivacity, and beaming with robust health. Every girl in the land can be just as full of life, just as well, and just as merry as she, since Dr. Pierce has placed his "Favorite Prescription" within the reach of all. Young girls in their teens, passing the age of puberty, find it a great aid. Delicate, pale and sickly girls will find this a wonderful invigorator and a sure corrective for all derangements and weaknesses incident to females.

A Good Conundrum.

Mr. Williams—"Why is a drum without a head like a model wife?"

Mr. Cross, (a henpecked husband) "Because she is mute."

Mr. Williams—"Right, now tell me why a muscular wife, a drum without a head, a turnip, a plumber, and Imperial Cream Tartar Baking Powder are similar?"

Mr. Cross, (triumphantly), — "Because they can't be beat t th s

A Slick Swindling Scheme.

HAMILTON, Dec. 12.—A green-looking youth, who gave the name of Joseph Warner, and said he came from Orillia, was collared by Constable Campaign for working a new swindling game. He is 15 years old and appears very guileless; but he is very cunning. Yesterday afternoon he visited the jewelry stores of H. J. Geiger, C. W. Attwood, Davis & McCullough, Park & Montgomery, Thomas Lees & Son and James Davidson. His scheme was to make a bluff that he had left a watch to be repaired, but he was not successful in his dodge until he went into M. W. Attwood's store, where it so happened that a silver watch had been left by a man of his name. Warner got the watch and sold it for $1. The prisoner was remanded until tomorrow morning.

Stranded at Plymouth.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The Peninsular & Orient mail steamer Nepaula stranded on the Plymouth breakwater during a fog last night. She went aground at low water, and as the tide rose she rapidly filled. It is believed she will be a total wreck. No lives were lost. Among the crew were a number of Lascars, and when the steamer struck they became panic-stricken. The specie, baggage and despatch bags were saved. The cargo consisted of 1500 chests of tea, 1500 bags of wheat, 1000 bags of rice and a quantity of indigo, jute and other merchandise. It is thought it will all be lost. It is insured in the Lloyds for £100,000. The Nepaula was bound from Calcutta and Marseilles for London. She was a bark-rigged iron screw steamer of 3064 gross tons.

Lost With All Hands.

HALIFAX, Dec. 11.—The schooner sunk off Harbourville in the gale of the 1st inst. with all hands is believed to be the Daniel Morcy of Boston, Scott, master, from Boston for Port Williams, with cargo of hard coal.

The steamer Leanda of the new line running from St. John and Halifax to Bermuda, Barbados, etc., sailed on her pioneer trip from Halifax to-day with large general cargo of fish, potatoes, canned goods, butter, etc.

Five Years For Arson.

WOODSTOCK, Dec. 11.—George McCabe of Toronto, a notorious character with a checkered career, who has undergone three trials for putting fire to barns was arraigned at the quarter session to-day on a charge of arson. The jury only locked out 15 minutes to arrive at a verdict of guilty. Judge Finkle then sentenced the prisoner to five years in the penitentiary.

Found Dead on the Road.

ESSEX, Ont., Dec. 11.—An old lady by the name of Kaufman was found dead on the road about 2 miles north of here. She was found a short distance from her house on Saturday morning of last week. It is supposed she had started for some of the neighbors and dropped dead on the way.

Cattle Disease Decreasing.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The report of the Bureau of Animal Industry shows that during the past year no contagious pleuro-pneumonia has been found outside the district infected last year. The eradication of the disease has been most rapid since Aug. last and a gratifying improvement on that account of cattle throughout the country. The Merriest Girl That's Out.

"Bonnie sweet Bessie the maid of Dundee," was, no doubt, the kind of a girl to ask, "What are the wild waves saying?" or to put "a little faded flower" in your button hole, she was so full of vivacity, and beaming with robust health. Every girl in the land can be just as full of life, just as well, and just as merry as she, since Dr. Pierce has placed his "Favorite Prescription" within the reach of all. Young girls in their teens, passing the age of puberty, find it a great aid. Delicate, pale and sickly girls will find this a wonderful invigorator and a sure corrective for all derangements and weaknesses incident to females.

A Good Conundrum.

Mr. Williams—"Why is a drum without a head like a model wife?"

Mr. Cross, (a henpecked husband) "Because she is mute."

Mr. Williams—"Right, now tell me why a muscular wife, a drum without a head, a turnip, a plumber, and Imperial Cream Tartar Baking Powder are similar?"

Mr. Cross, (triumphantly), — "Because they can't be beat t th s

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

The Play.

The Ida Van Cortland company continue to give excellent entertainments at the Opera House, though unfortunately they are not patronized as well as they deserve. The people of Peterborough have paid 75c. and $1 to see worse performances. The managers are rather discouraged with Peterborough, the liveliest town in the Province, but very slow to appreciate a good thing. The prices are very low—35c., 25c. and 15c. Miss Van Cortland is more attractive than ever, her support is good, and a varied bill of fare is presented. Wednesday night a light piece was presented; Thursday night the "Colleen Bawn" held the boards. Both nights the varied resources of the company were demonstrated. This (Friday) evening the great society drama, "The Lady of Lyons," will be put on. The Hamilton papers say that Miss Van Cortland excels herself in this play. There should be a big house to-night. To-morrow there will be a family matinee, when the great success of Wednesday night, "The Factory Girl," will be repeated.

Young Foresters.

The Canadian Order of Foresters has introduced a juvenile branch into the Society, and already several courts have been established. By this means the rising generation is well grounded in the fraternal and beneficial principles of Forestry, and it is expected by thus allowing the boys to take an interest in the Order the general welfare of the Foresters' Society will be enhanced. Court Young Peterborough No. 5 was instituted Wednesday evening with a charter membership of twenty-five. The boys are very enthusiastic and promise to be as energetic and progressive as their older brothers. The officers of Young Peterborough Court are

After the Court had been duly established the boys were handsomely entertained by their seniors. Court Young Peterborough promises to be a thriving addition to Forestry here.

Dr. Koch's Remedy.

Dr. King has returned from his trip to Baltimore and New York. He went for the purpose of gaining information concerning the new discovery of a cure for consumption by Dr. Koch, of Berlin. Though he did not see any of the life-giving "lymph," nor witness the results of an inoculation he acquired considerable knowledge on the subject. The John Hopkins University, of Baltimore, receives daily cablegrams from Berlin regarding the progress made in the perfecting of the new remedy. The cables stated that the German Government was keeping secret the composition of the lymph, but were sending out samples to physicians the world over. The only sample yet received in this country was mailed to Dr. Loomis, of the Sinai Hospital, New York. It came into the country without any duty being charged. Dr. Loomis has inoculated a couple of patients, but as the operation took place only a couple of days before he returned Dr. King could not speak as to the results. The lymph is a brown liquid and is sent out in phials containing sufficient for about 125 injections. The results in New York will be watched with interest. Medical men are disposed to speak confidently of the new cure for consumption, because they say Dr. Koch is not the man to give any such discovery to the world without full consideration. A number of physicians from different parts of Canada and the United States have been sent to Berlin to get information on the subject, but as the government is keeping the manufacture of the lymph a secret, and Dr. Koch is a very retired man, little beyond samples of the consumptives' elixir and the observation of actual results can be gained. Dr. King spoke very highly of the medical department of the John Hopkins University, Baltimore. He was also in New York, but did not visit the hospital where the inoculation took place.

The Court Closed.

The Burglars Get Seven Years Each—Conclusion of the Civil List.

The December session of the County Court was closed Wednesday night. In Plant vs. Stewart, the jury awarded the plaintiff $11.06. In Hayes vs. Hayes, the plaintiff received $40, with certain points of law reserved. Best vs. The Crandell Co., of Lindsay, was adjourned.

As stated in the EXAMINER Wednesday, Geo. Bennett, Edward Malvern and Edward Barrett were placed on trial for the burglary of Henry Patterson's jewelry store at Lakefield last May. Bennett pleaded guilty, and tried to shield the others by stating that he did not meet with them until after the burglary, when he sold them the two watches which were found on Barrett and Malvern when arrested. Mr. Patterson, on the contrary, positively identified Malvern as the man he saw in Lakefield the day after the burglary. The jury placed no faith in the prisoner's stories, but returned a verdict of guilty against all three. Judge Weller concurred in the verdict, and sentenced the prisoners to seven years each in the penitentiary. The prisoners were dumbfounded at the severity of the sentence.

Personal.

Judge Weller is in Montreal attending a meeting of the Trent Valley Canal Commission.

Mr. John Kreusi, of Schenectady, N.Y., is in town in the interests of the Edison General Electric Company. A meeting of the Manufacturer's Committee was held today for the purpose of making arrangements for the extension of the waterworks into the premises.

REV. ALEX. BELL RESIGNS

The Commission Sitting To-Day.

St. Andrew's Pastor Resigns and Claims a Balance of Salary—The Question of His Claim Under Consideration—The Commission Temporarily Adjourns to Await the Report of a Special Committee.

In answer to a citation to the congregation and session of St. Andrew's church, to meet the Synod Commission appointed to deal with the difficulty in St. Andrew's church, about 75 people assembled in the church this afternoon, including members of the Commission, the Presbytery, the session and the congregation.

The Commission is composed of Rev. Dr. Torrance, Guelph, Moderator; Rev. John Somerville, Owen Sound, Secretary; Rev. Prof. McLaren, Toronto; Rev. D. J. Macdonnel, Toronto; Rev. M. W. McLean, Belleville; Rev. James Fraser; Messrs. Duff, (Barrie), and Gibson, (Guelph). Several members of the Presbytery were also in attendance, Rev. Messrs. Bennett, Hay, Cleland; Messrs. Roxborough, of Norwood, and other laymen.

The Moderator said that the commission had come in accordance with their decision arrived at last spring, in which all parties acquiesced, to the effect that another visitation should take place not later than the 15th of December, and if by that time a reasonable amount of between the pastor and the congregation, to take steps towards the severance of the ties between them. It was now in order to enquire if such had been accomplished.

Rev. Mr. BELL asked the privilege of addressing the meeting.

Rev. Mr. BELL said he had not made any change in his position; he felt he was in the right. But for other overpowering reasons he was compelled to resign. He then read the remarks which he had to address to the commission. He first laid before the meeting a brief history of the congregation when he took charge; it was at a very low ebb, its financial position low, and its members discouraging. The situation was disheartening and he received many letters stating that he had made a mistake in allying himself with the church. But he determined to place St. Andrew's in an independent position. At the end of the year the congregation had doubled and the financial condition improved; and up to January, 1889, the congregation had increased four-fold and the income trebled. Then he went on to show that salaries had been increased and other expenses increased to a total of $1,500 or $1,600 a year over and above the minister's salary. The church was then in a strong position and its name raised to a high place. He asked under whose regime did this advancement took place? At the congregational meeting in January, 1889, no murmurs were heard, but in the middle of the summer against him, and it had been continued, although several members were suspended. Rev. Mr. Bell protested against his position with the congregation being tried by the evidence and testimony of these men, and still adhered to his original position. But during the past summer he had been unable to attend to his ministerial duties owing to a physical infirmity, and several physicians in consultation on his case had given their opinion that complete rest was necessary for his recovery. Under these circumstances, therefore, out of regard for his own safety, he placed his resignation in the hands of the Presbytery, and hoped that it would be accepted.

AN AGITATION WAS BEGUN

A petition was presented and read by Mr. Roxborough, signed by 102 members of the congregation, stating their regret at the severance of the pastoral tie, due to the minister's failing health, and praying that he be allowed the sum of $500 per year from the income of the church until such time as he might be restored to health.

The Commission enquired if the minister's salary had been paid, and Mr. Paton stated it had up to the last quarter. Rev. Mr. Bell said he could not accept the last check which had been presented to him, because it had been made to read "in full payment," which he claimed debarred him from his moral claim for increased salary promised him by the congregations.

This question aroused considerable discussion, Rev. Mr. Bell, Messrs. McFarlane, Paton and Dr. Bell taking part, besides members of the Presbytery.

A BALANCE OF SALARY CLAIMED.

Dr. Bell read from the minutes of the congregational meeting when it was decided to extend a call to Rev. A. Bell, and on the resolution it was stated that his stipend would be $1,200 a year. Any mention, therefore, of a promised increase in the letter of invitation from Mr. Carnegie or anyone else was without the authority of the congregation. He denied having made any personal promise to Rev. Mr. Bell to that effect, and read a letter from Mr. Waldie, who also denied having made any promise of an increase.

Rev. Mr. BELL read another letter from Mr. Waldie, who stated to him that he had some conversation about it, and intended to bring the matter of an increase up at the next congregational meeting.

A member of the Commission demanded that the document upon which Rev. Mr. Bell based his claim for an increase should be produced.

Rev. Mr. BELL replied that he could not find it, but the letter was signed by Mr. Carnegie, who had all through conducted the negotiations.

Mr. CARNEGIE stated that in his communication with Mr. Bell he was acting for the congregation and understood that Mr. Bell was to share in the prosperity of the church.

Mr. JOHN MCCLELLAN said he was one of those who had called Mr. Bell upon receiving his terms of $1,200 a year, but no mention had been made of an increase.

Rev Mr. BELL denied that he had ever made a demand for any certain sum from any congregation.

Rev. Mr. MACDONEL thought Mr. Bell's claim should be arbitrated according to the facts concerning the prosperity and growth of the congregation, and it was suggested that it be left to a committee to confer with the managers, the representatives of the petitioners and Rev. Mr. Bell. This was agreed to, and a committee was named, composed of Rev. Messrs. Macdonnel, McLeod and Duff. An adjournment was made for half an hour to await the decision of the committee.

The Baptist Church.

Roll Call of Members—Resolution of Condolence—The Pastor's Resignation Discussed.

A very impressive ceremony took place in the Murray-street Baptist church Wednesday night—the roll call of members. Tea was served in the basement to about 150 persons, after which there was some time left for social intercourse. At the end of each table was a vacant chair, draped in black, in memory of two members of the church who had been invited and expected to be present at the roll call, but had been touched by the hand of death and had died within the week before. These were Mrs. George Davidson and Mr. James Stratton.

At eight o'clock the meeting was begun. The pastor, Rev. P. C. Parker, took the chair, and after prayer the church Covenant was read, Rev. Mr. Parker explaining that this was the Covenant which the Baptist church agreed to 250 years ago and was found on the books of the oldest churches in England.

The roll-call then took place, the clerk announcing the names of church members in alphabetical order, to which each one called responded with a passage of Scripture. Letters of regret, containing also testimonies of their Christian standing, were read from about twenty persons who were unable to be present, some of the letters being from Ottawa, Toronto, Millbrook, Gore's Landing, Cavanville, Oconabee, etc.

When the names of the members of the late Mr. Stratton's family were called the pastor rose, and explained that the resolution calling this meeting was made by their late brother, but God had called his name from the roll book of the Church above. The members all rose whilst the pastor offered a fervent prayer for consolation for the bereaved. Then the following resolution was offered, and carried by a standing vote:

"The members of the Peterborough Baptist church desire to put on record their sense of the loss sustained in the death of their late brother, Mr. James Stratton, who for many years has been a faithful member of the church.

"He was a wise counsellor, a generous supporter, and a willing worker.

"He has watched the cause from its infancy grow into its present strength, and in no small degree has contributed to this growth.

"We deeply sympathize with our sister, Mrs. Stratton, and the family in this sad bereavement, and prayerfully commend them to the loving care of the covenant keeping God of Israel."

The meeting was closed at half-past nine by singing "Blest be the Tie That Binds."

SUNDAY'S MEETING.

After the above meeting was closed a church meeting was held. The pastor vacated the chair, which was taken by Dr. Scott.

Mr. B. B. Matthews read the pastor's resignation, and moved, seconded by Mr. J. C. Tarabull, that the pastor be asked to reconsider his resignation. The whole of the members rose with one exception, and by a standing vote adopted the resolution. The pastor was then called in, when he explained that it would be impossible for him to do so, as he had written to the First Avenue church accepting their invitation. After some lengthened discussion it was resolved that the church clerk be instructed to write to the First Avenue church, Toronto, protesting against them taking away their pastor, and asking them to release him from the acceptance of their invitation. As this resolution was adopted against the Rev. Mr. Parker's wishes, there is no probability of it being complied with.

Punch Makes an Assertion

Punch says, "The milk of human kindness is not to be found in the PAIL of society." If so, we think it is time for all hands to "KICK THE BUCKET." Here in Canada we have seen considerable of "the milk of human kindness in the PAIL of society." When Canadian ladies find themselves benefitted in any way in their homes, they are always big-hearted enough to let their friends know it. In this way Diamond Dyes have been introduced and used, in almost every household of the Dominion, and in almost every case one trial demonstrated their great value. Ladies who had been deceived so often by common imitation dyes, were urged by their more fortunate sisters to try the Diamond Dyes, and to-day these ladies are the strongest defenders of Diamond Dyes. It matters not what material you wish to re-color; Diamond Dyes are the most powerful, surest and safest dyes in the world.

The North Grey Petition.

"Emperor" Creighton Still Homeless.

OWEN SOUND, Dec. 11.—Justices MacLennan and Falconbridge arrived here today and proceeded to the court house to hear the North Grey election petition against the return of James Cleland. John Creasor, Q.C., appeared for the petitioner, and Mr. Alfred Frost, county crown attorney, for the respondent. Mr. Creasor intimated to their Lordships that he had no evidence to offer in support of the petition. Mr. Frost asked that the petition be dismissed with costs, which was accordingly done, and Mr. Cleland is confirmed in his seat.

A Ten Thousand Dollar Fire.

COBOURG, Ont., Dec. 10.—About five o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the lodge room of McCallum's block, on Division street, opposite the Dunham house. The fire brigade got a stream of water on the building, and succeeded in subduing the blaze without much trouble. The water used, however, did far more damage than the fire. The following business men suffered losses. J. N. Campbell, dry goods, probably loses from $3,000 to $4,000, covered by insurance; W. Giddens, groceries, loss on stock over $2,000, only $1,500 insurance; George Vosper, tinsmith, loss about $500, fully covered by insurance; George Stephens, furniture dealer, loss about $4,000, fully insured. The building, which is owned by Mr. P. McCallum, is damaged to the extent of about $2,000, which we believe to be insured to cover the loss.

THE BRAVE ENGINEER.

HOW JOE BIRSE SAVED A TRAIN LOAD OF PASSENGERS.

By His Heroic Conduct He and His Engine Go Down Under the Waters of the St. Lawrence, but the Passengers Were Saved.

The story of Joe Birse, the Grand Trunk engineer who saved the lives of a hundred passengers and train hands on Dec. 4, at the expense of his own, is that of as brave a deed as any which has come down to us in the storied history of past ages.

The heavy night express, which had left

JOE BIRSE, THE ENGINEER.

Montreal for Toronto several hours late, was switched at Lachine by mistake on to the wharf line, and as it went sweeping along to the engulfing of the entire train in Lake St. Louis Joseph Birse, the engineer, realized the danger. He could have saved his own life by jumping from his engine; but he was equal to the supreme test of bravery and devotion to duty. In that moment he decided to remain true to his duty and avert, if possible, the danger threatening the sleeping passengers on his train. There was not a moment to lose, and his prompt decision was followed by prompt action. The brake was applied and he reversed the engine, and the train came to a standstill just at the water's edge. But what of Joe Birse? With his hand on the throttle lever he plunged down with his engine to the bottom of the lake 27 feet below. Still, in such an awful moment, the record of his life as an engineer made no other course possible to him. In the daily round of his duties he was a faithful man, and had become one of the most trusted men in the company's employ. Brave Joe Birse! Faithful Joe Birse! He laid down his life to save that of people utterly unknown to him, and that, too, with the knowledge that he was widowing his wife, orphaning his sons and daughters. Honor the hero's memory!

Vice Chancellor Meredith.

This week we are enabled to present to our readers an excellent portrait of the new Vice-Chancellor, R. M. Meredith, Q. C., who was appointed when Vice Chancellor Proudfoot retired from the position. The new judge entered upon the duties of his position in September last, full of life and vigor, and as he is in the prime of life he will be able to give good service to the state. Mr. Meredith is well known in the western part of the province as one who has attained the front rank in the legal profession, and as one whose abilities and attainments qualify him for the judicial position to which he has been appointed.

JUDGE MEREDITH.

Mrs. Partington's Debut.

Speaking of Mrs. Partington's first successes, Mr. Shillaber indulged in this reminiscence some years ago in the Boston Post: "Everything" associated with the advent of the 'Old Lady' was pleasant. Col. Greene (of the Post) was absent, 'summering' high at Saratoga, when the sayings began to pour day by day, and wrote home to Jackson, his 'locum tenens,' 'Who the devil is 'Mrs. Partington?' I enjoyed covertly the pleasant things said about them, never revealing the authorship, and heard commendation bestowed upon this or that one suspected of writing them. Many imputed them to a female source, and when they had become quoted all over the land a Boston friend, who was in Nashville, Tenn., overheard in a restaurant a party discussing the question of the authorship of Mrs. Partington. Knowing, as he did, all about it, he ventured to say that the author was a friend of his of the masculine persuasion when one brought his hand vehemently on the table and shouted: 'By——! I know the woman!' it was a quietus for the Yankee!"

Mr. Shillaber (Mrs. Partington) died a couple of weeks since aged 73 years.

High-Priced Preachers.

The following items were gleaned from a New York paper: Dr. Morgan Dix, rector of Old Trinity, has $15,000. His assistant has $6000. Of the chapels belonging to the parish, Trinity Chapel yields $3000 to Dr. Swope, and the assistants in charge of the others have $4000.

Dr. Huntington, rector of Grace Church, has $25,000 and a house, the rental of which is worth at least $5000 more.

St. Bartholomew is said to pay $19,000 to its rector, Dr. Greer, who, being wealthy, retains nothing for himself.

Dr. Brown, of St. Thomas, receives $15,000.

Dr. Rainsford, of St. George, has $10,000, and, being well to do, is said to give it all away.

A dozen other Episcopal parishes in the city pay from $4000 to $8000 a year. The Bishop receives $15,000

Among the Presbyterians Dr. John Hall draws $20,000; Dr. Paxton is reported to receive $10,000; Dr. Parkhurst, $3000.

Rev. Robert Collyer, Unitarian, has $10,000.

The pastor of the largest Methodist church has $5000 and parsonage, the Methodist Bishop also has $5000.

In Brooklyn Dr. Talmage is said to receive $15,000; Dr. Abbott, $8000.

A Slick Swindling Scheme.

HAMILTON, Dec. 12.—A green-looking youth, who gave the name of Joseph Warner, and said he came from Orillia, was collared by Constable Campaign for working a new swindling game. He is 15 years old and appears very guileless; but he is very cunning. Yesterday afternoon he visited the jewelry stores of H. J. Geiger, C. W. Attwood, Davis & McCullough, Park & Montgomery, Thomas Lees & Son and James Davidson. His scheme was to make a bluff that he had left a watch to be repaired, but he was not successful in his lodge until he went into M. W. Attwood's store, where it so happened that a silver watch had been left by a man of his name. Warner got the watch and sold it for $1. The prisoner was remanded until tomorrow morning.

Stranded at Plymouth.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The Peninsular & Orient mail steamer Nepaula stranded on the Plymouth breakwater during a fog last night. She went aground at low water, and as the tide rose she rapidly filled. It is believed she will be a total wreck. No lives were lost. Among the crew were a number of Lascars, and when the steamer struck they became panic-stricken. The specie, baggage and despatch bags were saved. The cargo consisted of 1400 chests of tea, 1500 bags of wheat, 1000 bags of rice and a quantity of indigo, jute and other merchandise. It is thought it will all be lost. It is insured in the Lloyds for £100,000. The Nepaula was bound from Calcutta and Marseilles for London. She was a bark-rigged iron screw steamer of 1864 gross tons.

Lost With All Hands.

HALIFAX, Dec. 11.—The schooner sunk off Barbarville in this gale of the 1st inst. with all hands, is believed to be the Daniel Morcy of Boston, Scott, master, from Boston for Port Williams, with cargo of hard coal.

The steamer Loanda of the new line running from St. John and Halifax to Bermuda, Barbadoes, etc., sailed on her pioneer trip from Halifax to-day with large general cargo of fish, potatoes, canned goods, butter, etc.

Five Years For Arson.

WOODSTOCK, Dec. 11.—George McCabe of Toronto, a notorious character with a check-ered career, who has undergone three trials for pocketing witness was arraigned at the quarter session to-day on a charge of arson. The jury only took about 15 minutes to arrive at a verdict of guilty. Judge Finale then sentenced the prisoner to five years in the penitentiary.

Found Dead on the Road.

EMBRA, Ont., Dec 11.—An old lady by the name of Kaufman was found dead on the road about 2½ miles north of here. She was found a short distance from her house on Saturday morning of last week. It is supposed she had started for some of the neighbors and dropped dead on the way.

Cattle Disease Decreasing.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The report of the Bureau of Animal Industry shows that during the past year no contagious pleuro-pneumonia has been found outside the districts infected last year. The eradication of the disease has been most rapid since August last and a gratifying improvement on the condition of cattle throughout the country is noted. The practically complete eradication of the disease from the United States is regarded by foreign governments as exceptionally favorable.

The Merriest Girl That's Out.

"Bonnie sweet Bessie the maid of Dundee," was, no doubt, the kind of a girl to ask, "What are the wild waves saying?" or to put "a little faded flower" in your button hole, she was so full of vivacity, and beaming with robust health. Every girl in the land can be just as full of life, just as well, and just as merry as she, since Dr. Pierce has placed his "Favorite Prescription" within the reach of all. Young girls in their teens, passing the age of puberty, find it a great aid. Delicate, pale and sickly girls will find this a wonderful invigorator and a sure corrective for all derangements and weaknesses incident to females.

A Good Conundrum.

Mr. Williams—"Why is a drum without a head like a model wife?"

Mr. Cross, (a henpecked husband) "Because she is mute."

Mr. Williams—"Right, now tell me why a muscular wife, a drum without a head, a turnip, a plumber, and Imperial Cream Tartar Baking Powder are similar?"

Mr. Cross, (triumphantly), — "Because they can't be beat!" 4 th s

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

THE FIGHT IN IRELAND.

PARNELL RECEIVES OVATIONS AT EVERY POINT

Except at O'Brien's Birthplace, Where He Is Hooted and Narrowly Escapes Being Mobbed—The Issue of United Ireland Seized—Davitt on the Effect of the Kilkenny Fight.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—The Times, referring to the Kilkenny campaign, says: "The efforts of the priests to obtain a cheer for Davitt utterly failed and Healy, on arriving, was vigorously groaned and surrounded by a menacing crowd, which would probably have handled him roughly but for the police who held them back and enabled him to reach a car. A man attempted to strike him when a clergyman struck back with his umbrella. Arriving at his hotel he tried to address the crowd, but his voice was drowned by their hooting and yelling. He exclaimed: "Who paid you for this?" and was answered with cheers for Parnell and more groans. He retired by shouting "Three cheers for Mrs. O'Shea."

A despatch from Kilkenny to The Dublin News says: Mr. Davitt was received with a tempest of cheers, but hissing and hooting were only too audible from boys and youths. It is alleged that over all the town boys were paid by Parnellites to hoot Mr. Davitt.

The Clankilty poor law guardians have demanded that J. E. Kenny, member of parliament for Cork South, shall support McCarthy or resign.

The Committee of Cork, city and county, formed to oppose Parnell, have received the names of a large number of priests, town commissioners and tradesmen from Queenstown, Youghal, Fermoy, Macroom and Bandon, who pledge themselves to support the cause of the secessionists. The town commissioners of Killarney, by a vote of six to two, to-day passed a resolution of confidence in Mr. McCarthy.

AT O'BRIEN'S BIRTHPLACE.

Parnell Is Nearly Mobbed in His Carriage at Mallow.

DUBLIN, Dec. 12.—Before the Parnell train departed the crowd at Mallow yesterday became very violent and made repeated attempts to enter Parnell's carriage. The mob flourished sticks in a menacing manner, and shouted, "Down with the blackguard," "Down with the libertine," and similar cries. A banner bearing a portrait of William O'Brien was carried by the crowd. At one time it seemed they were about to accomplish their purpose of forcing their way into the carriage occupied by Parnell, who tore a hatrack from the side of the carriage and prepared to defend himself. Mallow is the birthplace of O'Brien.

Parnell was received with enthusiasm yesterday at Thurles, the seat of Archbishop Croke, where doubts were entertained as to the character of the reception he would receive.

Seized the Day's Issue.

A wagon loaded with copies of the anti-Parnell edition of United Ireland was driven to the King-bridge railway station at Dublin to day, it being the intention to send them to southern Ireland. As the wagon drew up at the station two men, one of whom wore a mask and the other having a revolver in hand, sprang upon the vehicle and compelled the driver to proceed to the Island bridge. When they arrived upon the bridge the two men flung all the papers into the river.

The Parnellites to-day secured an injunction restraining the publishers of The Nation from issuing the anti-Parnell edition of United Ireland. The forbidden edition, however, appeared. It contains an article addressed in William O'Brien's name to every true lover of Ireland the world over, declaring that the sole alternative now is Parnell or Home Rule, and that Home Rule is impossible under Parnell's leadership. A Parnell edition of the paper was also issued from the regular office. It quotes a legal opinion justifying the seizure of the paper by Parnell.

A Parnell Ovation in Cork.

The streets of Cork yesterday were thronged with people and the wildest enthusiasm was manifested. The people unharnessed the horses from the omnibus in which Parnell rode and dragged it to the hotel. Notwithstanding a heavy rain the road was lined with cheering spectators, who stood eight deep on either side. Hundreds of torches lighted up the ranks of the paraders, who marched to the patriotic airs of a dozen bands. Parnell is uncertain whether to remain in Cork or go to Kilkenny, but he intends the campaign to be a sharp one.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon Parnell drove in an open car to the railway station at Cork, where he boarded a train for Kilkenny. He was cheered all along the route.

An attempt was made at Dublin to seize a second wagon loaded with the paper, but the police interfered to protect the driver. Under their guard the papers were loaded upon the train.

The new paper to be started by the anti-Parnellites will be called The Suppressed United Ireland. William O'Brien's name will appear as publisher. It will soon be succeeded by a morning journal on a more elaborate scale.

Another Attack on Parnell.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—The Star to-day makes a fierce attack upon Parnell, accusing him of Fenianism. It says: To-day possibly dynamite, to-morrow rebellion. He is dragging Ireland to red ruin and outlawry. He lied to Davitt and tricked his party and is fighting with poisoned weapons and a traitor's hand.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: There is too much pocket handkerchief about the American patriots manifesto. They are anxious to heal all wounds and their copious dropping of tears will give Parnell fresh powder for his campaign. Let the patriots preserve a tender place in their hearts for Parnell, but for which Parnell's for "Preston" drunk or Parnell sober? If they would still love Jekyll they should first extinguish Hyde.

Mr. Davitt upon his arrival at Kilkenny was greeted by a large crowd. His friends cheered him loudly, but Mr. Parnell's adherents in the crowd hooted and jeered him.

Although the Bishop of Ossory yesterday advised the electors of Kilkenny to cast their ballots in the coming elections according to the dictates of their consciences, he himself and the priests of the diocese in which Kilkenny is situated are supporting the canvass for Sir John Pope Hennessy. Messrs. Power, Mahoney, Dalton, Redmond and Fitzgerald are at Kilkenny and are working in the interest of Vincent Scully, the nominee of the Parnellites.

Asked to Call His Constituents.

CORK, Dec. 12.—Rev. Canon John O'Mahony, administrator of Cork Catbedral, has written to Parnell asking him to call a meeting of his constituents so as to give O'Mahony an opportunity to criticize Parnell and his treason to the Irish party.

The clergy of the Parliamentary divisions of North Cork and East Limerick are actively engaged in organizing public opinion against Parnell. A priest at Mitchelstown tore down a number of placards that had been posted about the town calling upon the people to support Parnell.

The municipal council of Skibbereen has adopted a vote of confidence in Mr. McCarthy.

On the arrival of Parnell's United Ireland at Castle Island to-day a crowd seized the papers and burned them.

At a meeting in Skibbereen a resolution objecting to Parnell's leadership was unanimously adopted.

The McCarthyite party have decided to establish a half-penny evening paper in Dublin.

The priests of Killarney and Condon have joined in denouncing the action of Parnell in refusing to retire.

Mr. Parnell left Cork to-day for Kilkenny. As his train left the station he thanked a body of Queen College students for the sympathy they showed for him. He told them he did not fear defeat if the youth of Ireland were on his side.

The journey was uneventful till the train reached Athay, where a crowd hooted and groaned at Parnell, shouted "To hell with Parnell!" gave cheers for the bishops and priests and cried "Long live Dillon and O'Brien!" At the other stations knots of people cheered Parnell.

Kilkenny was reached at 9 o'clock. A torchlight procession headed by the corporation officials escorted Parnell to his hotel, where he addressed the crowd briefly, pleading the weakness of his voice as an excuse for not making a longer speech. He warmly thanked the citizens for the reception accorded him, and promised to address them to-morrow. He will speak at Limerick Sunday, and will return to Kilkenny the following day.

If Parnell Wins Home Rule is Doomed.

KILKENNY, Dec. 12.—Mr. Davitt said to-day the present struggle in Kilkenny is the most important event of the last decade of Ireland's victory. If Parnell wins Home Rule is doomed. Parnell will ruin Ireland or ruin himself.

A meeting was held in the town hall this evening to form a committee to carry on a vigorous campaign in the interest of Hennessy. When the anti-Parnell candidate appeared in the hall he was well received. Mr. Davitt addressed the meeting.

Messrs. Hennessy, Davitt, Tanner and Freeds were given a warm welcome at Castle Comer.

One Who Fights and Runs Away.

CORK, Dec. 12.—A meeting of the National Committee of Cork city and county this evening was largely attended by clergymen and citizens. The high sheriff presided. Canon O'Mahoney made an address in which he declared Parnell left the city without accepting his challenge to call a meeting to give him an opportunity to show Parnell's treason to the party. Money, he said, had been distributed to organize in favor of Parnell. Maurice Healy also spoke, justifying the deposition of Parnell.

New York Irishmen Speak Out.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—The Irish Parliamentary Fund Association which has been so generous in its contributions in aid of Ireland's cause to-night issued a manifesto against Parnell. The paper is signed by the members of the executive committee including the best known and wealthiest Irishmen of New York.

West Virginia Labor Troubles.

MONGN, W. Va., Dec. 12.—The situation among the striking miners is becoming more serious hourly. Last night a desperate fight occurred in which Jason Hall, Master Workman of the Miners' Assembly, was shot and killed. Hall went with a number of strikers to persuade a party of men to leave work. They refused and the strikers assaulted them. About 30 men were engaged in the fight. Hall was shot through the heart by a man named Jenkins, who escaped. Hundreds of miners are looking for him and if caught he will be lynched.

On a Serious Charge.

FORT ERIE, Dec. 12.—"Gently there, gently, Miss Bailey," interrupted the prisoner in Magistrate Hall's court at Fort Erie, Ont., at noon to-day. He spoke in chiding tones. The complaining witness, a girl of about 18 years, was telling her story. The prisoner was George W. Long, aged 35, a black-whiskered farmer of the Township of Walpole, Haldimand, and a married man. The charge against him was that he wronged the girl and that he afterwards administered to her a powerful drug last March or April. He was committed to the Cayuga Assizes for trial.

Suicide Off the Circassian.

LIVERPOOL, Dec 11—The Circassian landed her passengers two days late. She experienced heavy weather and head winds throughout the trip. On Sunday, at 1¼ o'clock in the morning, the day after leaving Halifax, a Scotch steerage passenger named Charles McCabe, bound for Glasgow, quietly walked on deck and jumped overboard. An alarm was promptly raised, the vessel was stopped, but in the darkness and storm rescue was impossible. McCabe's wife was also a passenger.

Treasure in a Tree.

WEYMOUTH, N.S., Dec. 12.—James Brown, living near Weymouth, in cutting down a hollow tree near his place found a purse containing $4000 in a hollow of the tree, partly in bills, rest in gold. Mrs. Payson died at this place a few years ago, supposed to be worth considerable money, which was never found. It is alleged that this was part of the money hid by Mrs. Payson before her death.

Frozen to Death.

SHERBROOKE, Dec. 11.—An aged resident of the township of Whitton by the name of Donald Morrison was found in the snow, frozen to death on the way to his home, for which he had started the previous night. He had gone to Stornaway, where he received a letter from his daughter containing $10. This he expended in part for liquor, a certain amount of which was found on his person.

On a Serious Charge.

FORT ERIE, Dec. 12.—"Gently there, gently, Miss Bailey," interrupted the prisoner in Magistrate Hall's court at Fort Erie, Ont., at noon to-day. He spoke in chiding tones. The complaining witness, a girl of about 18 years, was telling her story. The prisoner was George W. Long, aged 35, a black-whiskered farmer of the Township of Walpole, Haldimand, and a married man. The charge against him was that he wronged the girl and that he afterwards administered to her a powerful drug last March or April. He was committed to the Cayuga Assizes for trial.

Suicide Off the Circassian.

LIVERPOOL, Dec 11—The Circassian landed her passengers two days late. She experienced heavy weather and head winds throughout the trip. On Sunday, at 1¼ o'clock in the morning, the day after leaving Halifax, a Scotch steerage passenger named Charles McCabe, bound for Glasgow, quietly walked on deck and jumped overboard. An alarm was promptly raised, the vessel was stopped, but in the darkness and storm rescue was impossible. McCabe's wife was also a passenger.

Treasure in a Tree.

WEYMOUTH, N.S., Dec. 12.—James Brown, living near Weymouth, in cutting down a hollow tree near his place found a purse containing $4000 in a hollow of the tree, partly in bills, rest in gold. Mrs. Payson died at this place a few years ago, supposed to be worth considerable money, which was never found. It is alleged that this was part of the money hid by Mrs. Payson before her death.

Frozen to Death.

SHERBROOKE, Dec. 11.—An aged resident of the township of Whitton by the name of Donald Morrison was found in the snow, frozen to death on the way to his home, for which he had started the previous night. He had gone to Stornaway, where he received a letter from his daughter containing $10. This he expended in part for liquor, a certain amount of which was found on his person.

OTTAWA, Dec. 12.—Some of Miss Leonard's documents, which were in the satchel that contained the money which was snatched from her accountant by two masked robbers on Saturday night last, have been recovered and it is expected that the thieves will be spotted in a few days.

The young man Annand who had one of his arms amputated three or four days ago is doing well under the circumstances.

A HEARTLESS SWINDLER DIES IN THE WOODS BESIDE HIS WIFE.

Laudanum for Two—Too Big a Draught Taken by the Woman, Who Lives—Strange Story of Vice, Dissipation and $2,000 Embezzled.

HALIFAX, N.S., Dec. 13.—A man who is supposed to be Marshall F. Gillon, wanted by the police of Boston for fraudulently obtaining $20,000 from Mrs. Matthias Mills, a widow of Needham Mass., was found dying in the woods near Hibbard's Cove, N.S., on Tuesday, from a dose of laudanum taken with suicidal intent. His wife was lying beside him, but as she took too big a dose her recovery is possible. The particulars are as follows:

In the latter part of July last a man of prosperous appearance, apparently between 35 and 40 years of age, arrived at Hubbard's Cove, Halifax County, accompanied by his wife, who was good looking and stylish. The couple took up their residence at the house of Josiah Miller, a well-to-do fisherman, whose wife was a sister of the newly arrived woman. With the exception of frequent visits to the United States made by he man, the pair have sojourned at Hubbard's Cove ever since.

Mysterious Behavior.

They spent money like water, seeming to have an inexhaustible source of supply. Whenever their funds ran short the man would start off for Boston and return in a few days with a fresh supply, which would be expended as lavishly as was that which had gone before.

The stranger was so mysterious in his movements that all the inhabitants looked upon him with suspicion and concluded that the money he was spending was not honestly come by. When the man went on one of his periodical trips to Boston he always started at night or late in the afternoon, so as to reach there at night or early in the morning. When he came back it was in some way arranged that he would pass through the city under cover of darkness. As a rule he left his wife behind and went on these excursions alone, but on the last occasion something unusual seemed to have occurred in Boston, as he sent for his wife who started off with a large sum of money her husband had left behind. This time he came back by way of Montreal, accompanied by his wife.

He was on several occasions to say that he received supplies of money from an old woman in the United States, for whom he was doing business, and this assertion, together with other circumstances, led people more firmly to believe that he was an embezzler or something of that kind. After his last return from the United States he lived more recklessly than ever and became dissipated.

A Man of Many Aliases.

The man was known by several names. At Hubbard's Cove he said his name was Marshall Gillon, but he received letters addressed to "Frank Fringe" and "Henry Schurman," and when he came to Halifax he always traveled under the name of Frank Fringe.

For days past the couple seemed to have been living in dread of detection and arrest; and on Monday their fears reached a climax when a despatch from the Boston police asking for information of Marshall F. Gillon, who was charged by a widow of Needham, Mass., of defrauding her of $20,000, was published in the Halifax papers. The man turned pale when a paper containing the despatch was shown to him.

He evidently told his wife what had occurred, for in a short time the couple started out of the house and went toward the woods. They did not return, and after some hours the people with whom they were living began to suspect that something serious had happened. A search of their rooms resulted in the discovery of a note left by Gilion's wife, in which she said that she preferred death to arrest, and wanted to die with her husband. She left her gold watch and chain to her sister and bade her goodbye.

Dying in the Woods.

Parties started out to scour the woods, but the pair were not found until yesterday afternoon, when they were discovered lying together on the ground in an unconscious condition. A large empty bottle that had contained laudanum was found close by, together with a breech-loading rifle, and in Gillon's pockets were found two loaded revolvers. The couple had swallowed the laudanum between them, but they were still alive, although suffering fearfully from exposure and the effects of the poison. They were taken as speedily as possible to Joseph Miller's house and a doctor was called in. Of the two Gillon was in the more precarious state, and, although the doctor worked hard with him all night, the man died this morning. His feet were badly frozen when found. The woman was not in such a serious condition, partly owing to the fact that she vomited the poison, having taken too much. There are hopes of her recovery.

Reckless As Well As Vicious.

Gillon made no statement during the night and spoke only once, when he asked for cold water. The quantity of laudanum swallowed by him was four ounces. The woman states that she did not want to see her husband arrested, and they determined to commit suicide together. Now that death has placed him beyond arrest she does not feel so anxious to die herself.

The couple had little if any money left when they went to the woods to take their lives. To give an idea of the reckless manner in which Gillon spent his ill-gotten wealth it may be stated that he offered a young girl living near Hubbard's Cove, of whom he had become enamored, $300 if she would live with him for a week. He had previously offered her $20 to meet him, and when she refused he sent that amount to her and made her the offer stated. Sometimes when he visited Boston during the summer he would send large sums of money to his wife, who remained at Hubbard's Cove. When he came back the last time in his most reckless moments he would talk of blowing off his head and said he would shoot any man that attempted to arrest him and then shoot himself. The place where the tragedy occurred is just over the Halifax county line in Lunenburg. It is not decided what will be done with Gillon's body.

The Story of Gillon's Swindle.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 13—Marshall Gillon's suicide, as reported in the Halifax despatch to-day, puts an unexpected end to an audacious and almost unique career of crime. Mrs. Mathias Mills, a wealthy widow of Needham, Mass., has lost some $20,000 through his misdeeds.

Gillon's mother and Mrs. Mills were old friends, and when young Gillon began to show evil tendencies the widow took a deep interest in his reformation. Her efforts failed, however, and Gillon was sentenced to the state prison. There he professed conversion, wrote Mrs. Mills of the fact and intimated that if he had the money he should prepare himself for the ministry. The result was that at various times he got sums amounting to $1200. Later he sought assistance in a business enterprise, continuing until $20,000 had been secured. This money he squandered in extravagance and dissipation.

The facts were brought to light in a Boston newspaper of Sunday, and were published in Halifax on Monday, together with the statement that the police were looking for him. This seems to have resulted in the suicide. Nothing is known here of the woman who accompanied Gillon. He was not known to be married.

Morin is Overjoyed.

QUEBEC, Dec. 12.—When Mr. Choquette announced to Morin, the Montmagny murderer, that his sentence had been commuted to life imprisonment Morin wept with joy and in a fit of delirious gratitude threw himself in Mr. Choquette's arms, exclaiming, "God will reward you for all you have done for me." Morin had a great horror of the rope.

HAMILTON'S ELECTION PETITION.

"Ten Dollar" Hackman Dent Enters the Box and Tells His Story.

HAMILTON, Dec. 12.—There are few new developments in the Stinson election trial. The examination of Secretary Fitzgerald of the Conservative Association was concluded last evening. Witness swore that he knew of no corrupt practices, but, on the contrary, particular care was taken that nothing should be done that would be liable to invalidate the election.

William Goering, who was in charge of the committee rooms at headquarters prior to election day, swore that he had not paid out any money during the election except to reimburse the caretaker.

Hackman J. D. Dent was in the witness box for a considerable length of time. He swore that prior to the election he was a Reformer. The night before the election, after driving him around, Mr. Stinson came up to me and put a bill in my hands and said: "Here, old boy, is a little present for you. I am done with you now for to-night. Call at the office and my clerk will pay you for to-night and this afternoon." I looked at the bill and found it was $10. Under cross-examination this witness, was once or twice reprimanded by Judge Ferguson for freshness. He admitted that he had been arrested for larceny, and also confessed to certain other shady transactions.

A SUICIDE'S END.

His Face Eaten Away by Muskrats—A Horrible Discovery.

ALMONTE, Dec. 12.—John Evans, an old man who resided in the township of Denholm, in Ottawa county, disappeared from home and after a lapse of two weeks his body was found in the midst of a thick bush lying on a heap of brushwood. One side of the face and a portion of one of the legs had been eaten away by muskrats. The deceased was subject to paralytic fits, and it was surmised that he was overtaken by one of those fits and died alone and unaided. It is alleged, however, that when found there was a cut across the throat, which would go to show that he may have committed suicide.

Still Further Duties.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The House Committee on Merchant, Marine and Fisheries to-day reported favorably on a bill to repeal so much of the Shipping Act of 1890 as authorized the President time to suspend collection of duty on tonnage engaged in foreign trade. The object of this provision in the Act of 1886 was to induce foreign countries, particularly Great Britain, which imposes lighthouse and other duties on American vessels to remove the same in return for similar exemption of their vessels from similar charges in our ports. Not a single foreign country has exempted American vessels from any of these charges in response to this tender of reciprocity, but several countries which impose no duties on foreign, and whose ports are rarely visited by American vessels, have secured exemptions from tonnage dues in our ports of a large fleet of vessels.

"If it be well to wash the skin—and we never heard the proposition questioned—it is well also that we should be familiar with the means by which that purpose may be most efficiently attained.

"We once knew a beautiful woman, with a nice complexion, who had never washed her face with soap all her life through; her means of polishing were, a smear of grease or cold cream; then a wipe, and then a lick with rose water. Of course we did not care to look too closely after such an avowal, but we pitied her, for soap is the food of the skin.—

Soap is to the skin what Wine is to the stomach;

The Resignation Accepted.

Rev. Mr. Bell Gets $600 Back Salary and $500 as a Parting Gift—The Pulpit of St. Andrew's Church Vacant the First of January.

The session of the Synod commission appointed to deal with the St. Andrew's church difficulty was concluded yesterday afternoon.

The committee selected to adjust the question of salary between Rev. Mr. Bell and the church managers, reported:

1. That after consultation the managers agree in the event of Mr. Bell's resignation being accepted to pay him the sum of $600, including the check now held for $500, in full for stipend to January 1st, 1891, and interest on each of the last three quarterly payments from the middle of the quarter to the date of payment, less any interest which may be payable to the bank on account thereof.

2. To pay a further sum of $500 as suggested by the petitioners and allow the use of the manse until the first of May, or until the first of July should it not be required for the use of another minister.

Dr. McLEOD, in presenting the report, said that it had been acquiesced in by the managers and the Rev. Mr. Bell, and the committee agreed further to recommend the Commission to accept Mr. Bell's resignation, to take effect the 31st of December.

Dr. McLEOD hoped the report would be acceptable, and that the congregation of St. Andrew's would enter on a more useful and prosperous course, and that Mr. Bell, who enjoyed the confidence of his ministerial brethren, would, when he recovered, have no difficulty in getting another pulpit.

The report was then adopted, and a resolution passed intimating this action to the Presbytery of Peterborough, with instructions to have the pulpit declared vacant in the usual manner, and further notify the Presbytery that there would be no session in existence in St. Andrew's after the New Year, the duties of the interim session appointed by the commission expiring at the end of the present year.

Mr. Roxborough said he was requested to ask the commission to make provision for the payment of expenses of the interim session in the performance of their duties. This matter was left to the congregation.

Representatives of the session and congregation of St. Andrew's, and Rev. Mr. Bell, formally acquiesced in the actions of the commission, after which the commission adjourned.

Ontario Millers.

Meeting of the Midland Association—The C. P. R. Charged with Discriminating Against Ontario Millers.

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 10.—The Midland Millers' Association was in session here today, and among those present were: Messrs. E. Peplow, president, Peterborough; D. McLean, Lakefield, secretary Midland Association; E. Plews, Brantford, secretary Dominion Association; John Hull, Lakefield; E. Rathbun, Deseronto; J. H. Sills, Myersburg; Chas. Smith, Campbellford. One of the members asserted that he had evidence that the Canadian Pacific Railway had brought a car of flour (twenty tons) from Winnipeg to Kingston for a Winnipeg miller for $110 freight, while at the same time the Canadian Pacific Railway would charge the Ontario millers $180 for the same weight of flour, thereby giving the Winnipeg miller a preferential freight equal to 10c. per bushel. It was decided to bring the matter up at the meeting of the Dominion Millers' Association to be held in Toronto the second Tuesday of January next. It was also decided to recommend the Dominion Association to employ a central wheat buyer. The export of cheap strong flour to London, Eng., was also discussed, and the Dominion secretary, Mr. D. Plews, was asked to open up this trade all he could this winter. Other items of interest to the millers and farmers were talked over, after which the meeting adjourned until next March, when the meeting will be held in Lindsay.

Norwood News.

The candidates for municipal honors at Norwood are working hard, if quietly, and the struggle for the reeveship particularly will be an exciting one. Mr. John Finley will again oppose Mr. Pearce for the reeveship, while for councillors a number of new men will be brought forward. Mr. R. J. Stewart will be a candidate for a seat at the council board, and as nomination day approaches other aspirants will show their hands. The more the merrier.

Mr. Geo. Bowen, a former resident of Tweed, died at Norwood on Tuesday, in the 33rd year of his age. Deceased was only sick for a few days, and his death was largely due to neglect. He was working with a farmer in Belmont when stricken with inflamation of the lungs, and, it is reported, received no medical attendance for a week. On Sunday he was brought to Norwood and a doctor called in. It was too late, however, for on Tuesday he passed away. On Tuesday, a fortnight previous to his death, deceased was married to Mrs. Davey, of this place. The remains were interred in the Norwood cemetery on Thursday.

The regular monthly meeting of L.O.L., No. 34, took place last Monday night, and the following officers were elected and installed for the ensuing year:—

Harvey.

Mr. James Kingsboro, of Harvey, met with an accident the other day, that it is a marvel did not result in his death. He was on the top of a straw stack, and standing close to the edge, he was lifting a big fork full of straw. As he was in the act of raising it the handle broke, and he turned a somersault over the edge, falling to the ground, a distance of twenty-three feet. He remained unconscious for some time, and it was found that besides a number of bruises, he had broken his jaw. He is progressing favorably.

Between half past eleven and twelve on Tuesday night, the barn of Mr. Joseph Kelso, jr., on the Fenelon road, burst into a mass of flames. The barn was a large one, containing the wheat of some forty acres, that Mr. Kelso was arranging to thresh on Thursday. The barn has had some eventful episodes in its history. Some fifteen years ago, a little cyclone, that started in about the end of the dam, tore a few piles of Mr. Petrie's lumber to pieces, and then waltzed off through the swamp, took a run along the Fenelon road scattering the fences, and then skipped over to Kelso's barn and playfully lifted the roof off, afterwards exhausting itself in Finley's woods. Last June, during the storm on election day, it was struck with lightning, and now it has been burnt. There is a strong suspicion that the fire was the work of an incendiary, as tracks were found in the snow, from the road and back again. The building and contents were insured in the London Mutual, for $800. It made a very fine fire, and was seen for a great many miles.—Independent

"Ich Bin Dein."

[This poem in English, French, German Greek and Latin, is one of the best specimens of Macaronic verse in existence.]

In tempus old a here lived,
Qui loved passing deux;
He no pouvait pas quite to say,
Which one amabat plenty.
Dit-first-meme un bean matin,
"Non possum both avoir,
Sed si I address Amanda Ann,
Then Kate and I have war.

"Amanda habet nappet coin
Sed Kate has curses curls:
Et both sunt very sensible
Et quite formosa girls."
Enfin the youthful sanitropus,
Philosus the duo maid-
Received propposuro ad Kate,
Devant est evening's shades.

Proceedens then to Kate's domo,
Il trove Amanda there,
Kal quite forgot his late resolves,
Both sunt so goo-ly fair.
So smiling on the new tapis,
Between pauline twain,
Conpit to tell his love a Kate
Dans un postique strain.

Mais, glancing over at anon
At fair Amanda's eyes,
Illis non possunt discuss
Pro which he meant his sighs.
Each virgo heard the demi-vow,
With cheeks as rouge as wine,
And offring each a milk-white hand,
Both whispered, "Ich bin dein."

A Choice Christmas Cake.

One of the best authorities on the household editorial staff of the Ladies' Home Journal gives the following excellent receipt for a Christmas cake in the December number:

Cream one pound of butter, and add one pound of soft, white sugar. Beat fourteen eggs very light, the yelks and whites separately. Sift and warm one pound of flour, and add it by the handful to the sugar and butter alternately with the egg yelks and whites. Stir in one tablespoonful of essence of lemon, and one tablespoonful of mixed spices, beaten very fine and sifted. Have ready two pounds of stoned and chopped raisins; two of currants, picked, washed and dried; two of citron, cut small; two pounds of almonds, blanched and pounded with rose water, and one gill of sweet cider. Mix the fruit and cider thoroughly into the cake, and bake it very slowly and carefully.

Cold Waves

Are predicted with reliable accuracy, and people liable to the pains and aches of rheumatism dread every change to damp or stormy weather. Although Hood's Sarsaparilla is not claimed to be a positive specific for rheumatism, the remarkable cures it has effected show that it may be taken for this complaint with reasonable certainty of benefit. Its action in neutralising the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of rheumatism, constitutes the secret of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla. If you suffer from rheumatism, give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial; it will do you good.

THE WORK WE ARE DOING.

Diseases of the Spine.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.
Messrs. Authors & Cox:
GENTLEMEN,—I have had considerable experience in spinal supports, and have no hesitation in stating that the one you made for my daughter last summer is superior to any she ever had before.
Respectfully,
C. W. MANSFIELD.

Mrs. Mansfield has been not to one only, but several of the large institutions in the United States, where they claim to cure everything. But we accomplished, in a few months, what they attempted for years without success.

Another young lady writes, from Hamilton: "Dear Sirs,—I have much pleasure in testifying to the great value of your brace. I have used it now seven months and find it very satisfactory. CATHERINE PEARCE." This was a case of lateral curvature of the spine. The young lady is now almost well.

Disease of the Knee.

Miss L., Claremont, suffered from an inflamed knee for eleven or twelve years, with a probability of losing her limb. We supplied her with a support about eighteen months ago, and to-day she is well. We can refer to a number of similar cases privately.

Hip Disease.

Miss R., Ontario st., aged about twelve years, had been in bed seven months with a weight attached to her foot. We put on a hip instrument about five months since. She can now stand her full weight on that leg. There is no shortening of the leg or deformity of any kind.

Miss Cogswell, Thornhill, case of chronic hip disease of 2½ years standing, leg very much contracted. Applied hip splint about four months since. Leg is now straight; no pain; is going to school; will make a complete recovery.

Trusses.

We can give references by the score, but many object to having their names published. Anyone calling on our Mr. Authors either at Peterborough or Lindsay will receive kind and careful attention. Mr. Authors will be pleased to confer with any doctor on any case, our object being the welfare of the patient.

Artificial Limbs.

A BALD-HEADED SINNER.

Elopes to Toronto With Another Man's Young Wife—His Whiskers Were Dyed a Delicate Auburn.

VICTORIA HARBOR, Dec. 11.—Joseph Matt, a mill employe here, mourns the loss of his wife, who has left home with a month-old baby and is now, it is alleged, in company with one Sykes, a former storekeeper in that town. Mrs. Matt is a prepossessing young woman of 20 years of age and the mother of two children, one three years of age and the baby before mentioned. The story is that Sykes, who is an old man and reputed to be wealthy, made over the store to his sons and left for Midland, where he purchased a stock of clothes for his new inamorata. Two days later Mrs. Matt left, taking, it is said, all the portable property on the premises, including a cloak belonging to the hired girl who had attended her in her sickness, and from previous evidences of an attachment for Sykes it is presumed that the two doves are now together. Sykes is a man of past 50, bald-headed and formerly his whiskers were grey, but prior to leaving home he dyed them a delicate auburn. Mr. Matt left on the evening train for Toronto, where it is supposed the guilty couple now are.

HAMILTON ELECTION PROTEST.

Opening of the Trial at Hamilton Yesterday—Secretary Fitzgerald's Evidence.

HAMILTON, Dec. 11.—The trial of the protest case to unseat T. H. Stinson, member for the city of Hamilton, opened at the court house this morning before Judges Ferguson and MacMahon. There was a very large crowd present.

Promptly at 11 o'clock the judges ascended the bench, and from the barristers' room came B. B. Osler, Q.C., and J. V. Teetzel, Q.C., counsel for the petitioner; W. R. Meredith, Q.C., J. W. Nesbitt, Q.C., and James Bicknell, counsel for the respondent.

Mr. Osler opened the case by explaining to the court that there were about 80 charges of corrupt practices.

Frank Fitzgerald, secretary of the Liberal-Conservative Association, was the first witness. He said he had been secretary for fifteen months, succeeding C. R Smith. He produced the books of the association containing the constitution, names of the officers, etc. The association was reorganized in April, 1890. Continuing, witness said that at a meeting on April 29, at which officers were elected and committees struck and preparations made for the fray, a number of gentlemen were named on the finance committee, but did not act. "It was a sort of go-as-you-please committee," said the secretary.

"Well, we say the money was disbursed in a go-as-you-please manner," said the counsel. "Did you have any finance committee?"

The only members of the finance committee who acted, as far as the witness could remember, were R. B. Skinner and J. J. Scott, but they were assisted by Robert Evans, E. VanAlles, J. H. Tildon and other members of the association originally appointed to other committees.

The proceedings dragged along without much of interest occurring until the counsel asked witness to produce the polling-book showing the result of the canvass throughout the city as reported to headquarters.

Mr. Fitzgerald said it did not contain the names of the canvassers, but he promised to produce the book for examination by the court.

Q. Do you know Col. Collier?—A. I do.

Q. Did you meet him during the election?—A. I met him in front of the arcade once prior to the elections. He said he was strongly opposed to Mr. Gibson and wanted to see Mr. Stinson elected. He told me he had seen Mr. Stinson and also what he had intended to do.

Q. What names did you give him on that occasion?—A. I never gave him any names. I subsequently saw him in the committee rooms, where he was talking to the crowd. I did not have any conversation with him on that occasion.

Capital Topics.

OTTAWA, Dec. 11.—Whilst Mr. Sawyer of the third concession of Huntley was away at the inquest on the body of Richard Langford, near Carp yesterday, a young man whose name was not ascertained ran away with his 21-year-old daughter and the pair were married at the Pincher's Corner's Methodist Church by special license.

Duncan Campbell, a well-to-do cattle drover and farmer from Ravenshoe, York county, spent last night on a bench at the C.P.R. Station. He states he was robbed of $150 in cash on his way home from Montreal on the C.P.R. train and had not a cent left on reaching Ottawa.

Omemee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Never before in the history of South Victoria was there such a keen struggle. The Conservatives only had a majority of 40 at the last election between the present Reform candidate, Mr. Londesborough, and the late Mr. Hudspeth. It can well be imagined the efforts put forth by the Tories at this time, but all in vain. There never was held in Omemee a more profitable, orderly, and instructive meeting than the one held in the interests of Mr. Londesborough last Thursday night. Dr J. N. Thomson was called upon to fill the duties of the chair, which he fulfilled in the most impartial manner. The opposition speaker, Mr. E. Cochrane, M. P., Northumberland, was the first speaker, and occupied about an hour in the usual harangue of statements, which seemed to catch the loyalty and attention of a part of his audience, until followed by Mr. Mulock, M.P., North York, and John A. Barron, M.P., North Victoria, both these speakers contradicting many of the rash statements made by Mr. Cochrane and carrying the intelligent part of the large assemblage with them by their convincing arguments regarding the outlook of our country's prosperity in the future, instead of abusing the Government in the past, as some naturally expected.

Both these speakers secured an excellent hearing, and asked the people to support Mr. Londesborough in the coming election in more extended trade relations with the United States, which is anxiously looked to at present by a larger majority than ever before, of all shades of politics throughout the Dominion.

The meeting at Frankhill on Friday night in the interests of Mr. Fairbairn was largely attended. Mr. E. Cochrane was their speaker, and Mr. W. T. R. Preston spoke in the interests of Mr. Londesborough. Mr. Cochrane went in for abusing the "Grits" in the worst possible manner, and also Mr. Preston, who replied in a very mild way, saying that he never at the worst in his life was forced to appear before a police magistrate for watering dairy milk.

This meeting was decidedly in favor of Mr Londesborough.

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

Eloped with His Wife's Sister.

Information has been received in town of an elopement from the city of Ottawa of a young man and woman who are well known in Peterborough. The public will remember Sutton, the restaurateur, who a year or more ago unexpectedly left town between two days without paying his numerous creditors. He and his wife (formerly a Miss Vinette) went to Ottawa, where they have since been keeping a restaurant. "Milla" Vinette, sister of Mrs. Sutton worked with them, and a few weeks ago Sutton again mysteriously disappeared and Miss Vinette with him. Their whereabouts is not known. Mrs. Sutton continues to run the restaurant.

His Home is in England, where he spent seven years in St. Andrew's College and afterwards two years at London University. After a couple of trips to India he came to Canada, and for the last two years has been lay reading under the supervision of Dr. Sullivan, Bishop of Algoma. When leaving his late work, the people to whom he ministered presented him with a purse containing $70 and a valuable gold chain with an inscription. We are quite sure he has cast his lot in a pleasant field, and wish him every success.

St. John's Mission School Building.

Mr. Arthur Ratherford, contractor, is pushing on the work in St. John's Mission School building, corner of Sherbrooke and Stewart streets, with great energy. The building is now enclosed, and work on the interior is going on, and there seems to be little doubt of its being ready for occupancy at the end of the present year. At a meeting of the ladies of the mission school, the Rector, Rev. V. Clements, and some of the congregation, the matter of the internal furnishing was discussed. After a little informal talk, those present were delighted with the generosity of Rev. V. Clements, who has been a firm friend of the mission, both in word and deed in all the struggles of the mission in the past. The reverend gentlemen in addition to the substantial contributions he has made, offered to provide a hundred chairs for the seating of the school room, besides providing a chandelier and an addition of $100 to his previous liberal contributions. Rev. Mr. Clements is somewhat infirm in health, but his interest in the St. John's Mission is still robust. Another friend or two like him, and the fairly satisfactory financial condition of the building fund would be placed in an undoubtedly satisfactory condition. It is to be hoped that the bazaar to be held on Tuesday next in aid of the funds of the Mission School will not be forgotten.

The Divine Healing Mission.

Continuation of the Mission—Rev. and Mrs. Dowie—Some Remarkable Cures Narrated.

At the Friday afternoon meeting in the Baptist Church addresses were given upon the healing of the leper, as mentioned in the 8th chapter of Matthew. Rev. Mr. Dowie emphasized the necessity of teaching the doctrine of divine healing before it was practised.

At night another large audience was present. Prayer was offered in answer to written requests, from one person for two others in the family who were insane, from another who was ill with the fever, from another who had suffered from paralysis for eight years, (perhaps, Mr. Dowie said, it was caused by the filthy habit of using tobacco,) and, lastly, from one who desired grace and wisdom. In speaking of the insane, he stated that, while labouring at San Francisco, he had been instrumental in the recovery of some insane persons.

Dr. Dowie and Mrs. Dowie gave addresses upon the Gospel of divine healing and how they came to preach it. Their addresses were largely repetitions of the previous afternoon's narratives of miracles of divine healing which had come under their notice. Dr. Dowie gave his own experience. When he came fully to understand that Christ was the healer of his body, as well as of his soul, he prayed to God to cure him of the chronic dyspepsia of which he was dying, and told God that if He did not answer his prayer he would never pray to Him again. He was immediately healed and has been enabled to endure hardships and labor ever since without wearying. When one had strong faith and believes Christ is really his Healer, he should petition God boldly. Then he told of a violent pestilence which attacked Sydney, Australia, where he was preaching, and how the urgent distress of the people led him to see the necessity of prompt action. Remembering his own case, he began to teach and practice Divine healing with great success. Divine healing, he said, had come to stay, and the preacher who did not preach it would soon be a back number and would have to step down and out. Some of them say Christ "may" cure and Christ "may" heal, while the Bible says "shall," if the people believe in Him. Dr. Dowie said the laying on of hands was not always necessary; he had seen scores of people healed while sitting or standing in their seats, at the moment when they realized that Christ was the Healer.

Mrs. Dowie gave a very interesting address narrating some remarkable cures, principally of organic diseases, such as cancer, as it was claimed by physicians that these were much more difficult to overcome than nervous and functional diseases. She said she could give but a few of the hundreds of miracles of healing and cures which she knew of, but mentioned one of epilepsy and several of cancer. She urged the people to accept this doctrine of divine healing. If they only knew what God would do for them they would not hesitate a moment.

An after-meeting was held for those who were seeking either divine healing or salvation.

Sunday at 4.15 and 8 p.m., meetings will be held in the opera house, and also Monday night in the opera house at 7.30. All afternoon and other night meetings take place in the Baptist church.

THE BRETHREN BANQUET.

Lansdowne and Peterborough Fraternize.

Sons of England Annual Banquet—Splendid Spread at Snowdon's—The Toast List—Patriotic Songs and Speeches.

Friday evening the members of Peterborough and Lansdowne Lodges, Sons of England united at the banqueting board in festive, social and oratorical intercourse. About fifty of the brethren and their friends sat down to the splendid spread in the bright and cheerful dining hall of the Snowden House. The material part of the dinner was capitally cooked, the tables neatly laid and the viands well served. Brother W. H. Bowman, a veteran caterer, had charge of the service. The banqueting hall was beautifully decorated by Turner, with the meteor flag plentifully placed. The three gasaliers were swathed in bunting—red white and blue, and over the head of the chairman, Dr. Pigeon, was a portrait of Her Majesty the Queen. Additional interest was given the gathering by the presence of Alderman Swait, of Toronto, Supreme President of the Grand Lodge.

THE TOAST LIST.

After the removal of the cloth, and previous to entering upon the toast list, the chairman said he had received a letter from Mr. J. R. Sheraton, M.P.P., expressing regret at his inability to be present at the annual banquet of the Sons of England on account of recent family bereavement, but wishing the brotherhood success in its patriotic and benevolent objects and wishing the brethren a delightful evening.

The first toast, "The Queen," was proposed by the chairman in a neat little eulogistic speech, and most heartily honored. "God Save the Queen" was sung with an earnestness and musical excellence worthy of a trained chorus, the different parts blending with as fine balance as though carefully selected.

"Our Order," coupled with the names of Bros. Waram and Somerville, presidents of Lansdowne and Peterborough lodges respectively, was duly drunk.

Mr. Waram briefly acknowledged the toast, and after eulogizing the objects of the order, gave figures showing the practical benefits conferred by the order. The past year there had been divided as follows: For medical attendance, $6,976.49; sick benefits, $3,525.08, and funeral benefits, $4,218.50.

Mr. F. L. Somerville, of Peterborough Lodge, after referring to the harmony that exists in the order, said that the chief object of the order was not its more material benefits, but its primary object was the promotion of the interests of the empire, to preserve its stability, and to strengthen imperial interests generally (Applause.)

The Chairman, in proposing "The British Empire," stated that as the empire was a rather large affair he would couple the toast with the name of Brother W. H. Morris, of Peterborough Lodge, (Laughter). "Rule Britannia" was sung with a vim.

Mr. MORRIS, in rising to respond, expressed his thanks for coupling his name with the British Empire, but the company would have to excuse him, as "the empire was bigger than he was," and he took his seat amidst loud laughter and applause.

Mr. J. J. TURNER gave in his usual good style a couple of humorous songs.

"The Grand Lodge" was most heartily honoured, and coupled with the name of Supreme Grand President Swait, who, on rising, was received with a volley of cheers. There was no order, believed, in Canada, growing in numbers, and progress, and usefulness more rapidly. He gave a few figures to show the growth of the order throughout the Dominion, from the Pacific to the Atlantic, there having been an addition of thirty lodges during the past year. One of the grand objects of the order was to and less dependent on charity. The relief the order extended was not charity, but a right due each member by virtue of his investments in the funds of the order. While the members of the order were loyal to and had a pride in the Mother land, yet they were generally loyal to Canada. He felt that the Sons of England would always be well to the front in resistance to any attempts to dismember the empire. The flag they all so much revered, the old flag, was the visible emblem of patriotism and liberty and civilization. The speaker, before closing, said that juvenile branches had been organized in Toronto, Montreal and Hamilton, and the order had invaded even the Dark Continent. The speaker resumed his seat amidst warm applause.

Bro. GUNN, Lansdowne Longe, gave a nautical song.

"The Army and Navy" was duly honored and acknowledged by Mr. Dadman in a brief and to the pointed speech.

Humourous song—Mr. J. J. Turner, jr.

'Our Sister Lodges" brought to their feet Brothers Smith, of Campbellford, and Baldson, of Lakefield, who briefly responded.

Mr. W. H. Bowman gave two humourous songs, and being recalled, gave another.

"Kindred Societies" was proposed, duly honoured and acknowledged by Mr. F. D. McKay, of Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows, and by Mr. T. W. Globe, on behalf of the Ancient order of Foresters.

"The Mayor and Corporation" was loyally honoured, and duly acknowledged by Councilor Rutherford, who paid a glowing tribute to Peterborough's position and progress.

Song—Mrs. W. H. Bowman, who was heartily encored and responded.

"Bro Brownsoombe and Clegg, members of our Sister Society, Peterborough" was creditably acknowledged by these gentlemen.

"The Press" was duly acknowledged by the representative of the EXAMINER and Review.

The "Citizens of Peterborough," was responded to by Mr. R. W. Muncaster in a neat speech

"Our Host and Hostess" was acknowledged by Mr. W. H. Bowman

"The Chair" was enthusiastically drunk, and responded to by Dr. Pigeon.

The last toast "Distressed Englishmen" was drunk in solemn silence.

The evening's pleasant proceedings were concluded the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," and "God Save the Queen."

The Telephone War.

Hostilities Fairly Begun.

Peterborough is bound to be distinguished, as the energy of her business men cannot be repressed. This town is at present the centre of solicitous interest, not only to telephone men, but to telephone users throughout Canada. The war cry has been sounded and the battle is to be waged here, to determine the important matter as to whether a telephone exchange can be conducted under local management at lower rates than have been charged by the Bell Telephone Company. The fight has been fairly begun by the opposition exchange here this week, though it is not yet in full operation. The issue to be decided is one of almost universal Canadian interest, and the contest as it proceeds will be daily watched.

Seeing that the public is concerned in the details of the fight, the EXAMINER saw Mr. W. C. Scott, special agent of the Bell Telephone Company on Thursday, and asked him as to the position and intentions of that Company.

"The object of my present visit," said Mr. Scott, "is to get personal knowledge of the situation."

Mr. Scott, continuing, said: "The policy of the Bell Telephone Company in dealing with opposition is fixed. They have supplied nearly every section of the Dominion of Canada with local and trunk telephone service at enormous outlay. Their business has given a return of less than six per cent. on the investment; in Peterborough they have maintained an exchange at a cost of $21 per set, charging only $25. An opposition is formed which the Bell Company feels seeks to undermine this business.

"Under these circumstances," said Mr. Scott, anything less than a determined fight is out of the question. To cut rates one-half would be a half admission that the opposition were right in their estimate of the cost of telephone service. The Bell Company has therefore determined that in all cases they will first see the capital of the opposition invested and then fight it out on the line they are pursuing in Peterborough."

"The opinion which many seem to hold," said Mr. Scott, "that eventually opposition will be bought up, is absurd, for the reason that money so invested would be simply a premium offered for opposition elsewhere. Equally baseless is the assertion that once opposition is removed the rates will go higher than before. The telephone business will, in such case, simply be restored to its normal condition at former rates."

"Two telephone exchanges," said Mr. Scott, waxing warm, "in a town are a nuisance. Each one has its own particular circle of patrons, and all business establishments are of necessity obliged to keep both; otherwise the town would soon become divided into two distinct communities for business purposes. This has been the experience elsewhere and will be here. In Montreal, where opposition has been fully and fairly tested, the Bell telephone has about 5,000 subscribers, while the opposition has about 1,200. The Bell Company has had a net increase in the last ten months of 900, or, in the year, of nearly as many as the opposition has altogether after three years' experience."

"This means," said Mr. Scott, "that the Bell Telephone Company, in the face of determined opposition, is doing five-sixths of the telephone business of Montreal."

In reference to the big profits of the Bel Telephone Company, Mr. Scott said:

"The Bell Telephone Company, with the whole of Canada for a field, with no opposition to speak of, and charging rates fixed by themselves, and which rates it is claimed are exhorbitant, has been able to pay an average dividend of less than 5½ per cent. This is certified to by unquestionable authority, and further, that the stock of the company has never been watered but always sold at par. Those gentlemen whose promises are so glittering must be a great deal cleverer than those who compose the Bell management."

In conclusion, the special agent of the Bell company gave this ultimatum:

"One thing is assured. Mr. Sise, President of the Bell company, has stated most emphatically that his company will protect their property and investments at any cost and that, as the local company commenced the war here, the fight will be continued so long as the opposition lasts."

A BAD FACE HUMOR

Covering the Face with Disfiguring, Painful Blotches, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About seven years ago I had a humor break out upon my face; it started in a small blotch and looked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and looked like a ringworm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best doctors in the city, and he could do me no good. No less than twelve of the best doctors here had a trial at my face, and all of them failed. I will not give you a list of their names, but will say that they were from Boston, New York and Maine, also from England, France and Canada. I have been a hotel cook and steward for years. In the summer I cook at watering places; that is why I have had an opportunity of being among good doctors. They could not cure my face, and I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June I went to Moosehead Lake, Maine, to cook for the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be seen. At the lake I met a gentlemen from England. He told me to use your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and they would cure me at once. I did so. The result was in three weeks the sores on my face were healed up. I used it all the season. My face is now well and no scars to be seen. I have recommended it to a number, and in every case it has cured them. It would take a good deal of money to put me back where I was one year ago, providing I did not know what your CUTICURA would do. I shall recommend it as long as I live, and shall ever remain,

H. STEVENS, East Jackson, Me.

St. Paul's Auxiliary

Of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society Holds Its Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the St. Paul's Auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society was held in the lecture room of St. Paul's church on Friday, Dec. 12th, at half past three.

After the opening services the reports of the Auxiliary and Mission Band were read. The President gave a short address, after which Mrs. Gray, of Brampton, gave an excellent address, to which all listened with the greatest of attention, and carried home many helpful thoughts.

While the collection was being taken up Mrs. Brodigan sang the missionary hymn, "Hark, the Voice of Jesus Crying"

Mrs. Dennistoun dedicated the funds raised by the society.

Mrs. G. A. Smith, on behalf of St. John's Auxiliary, made a few remarks. Miss Gilmour, from the Baptist, and Mrs. Locke, from George Street Methodist, also gave us a few bright and cheery words. After singing "God be With You Till We Meet Again," the meeting adjourned upstairs, where the ladies had provided a cup of tea.

OFFICERS OF THE SOCIETY.

The following officers were elected for 1891:—

PRESIDENT—Mrs. Fairbairn, re-elected.

1ST VICE—Mrs. Jas. F. Dennistoun, re-elected.

2ND VICE—Mrs. McPherson.

SECRETARY—Flora H. Davidson.

TREASURER—Mrs. Innes, re-elected.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—Mrs. Wm. Davidson, Mrs. Leek, Mrs. D H. Moore, Mrs Rich. Hall, Miss Roger and Miss Dickson.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The eighth annual report of St. Paul's Auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society:

During the past year our meetings have been held regularly on the second Friday of every month.

The total number of members is 54, 32 of whom belong to the general society and 7 of whom are life members 2 Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. D. H. Moore being added this year. The average attendance for the year was a slight decrease on last year, which was owing to the amount of sickness during the winter months. The fund contributed during the year is $229 52, $50 of which was received for life membership; $179 was raised by voluntary contribution As usual we sent a parcel to our mission school at Portage La Prairie, the value of which was $88. As in former years, our Auxiliary again subscribed for the "Interior," to be sent to our lady missionaries in India.

The annual meeting of the Presbyterial Society was held in January at Port Hope. Our Auxiliary was represented at the annual meeting of the General Society, held in Hamilton, by Miss Dickson, who brought back a very interesting report. The yearly thanksgiving meeting was held in October.

Miss Elsie Smith, organist of the past year, was obliged to resign owing to her removal from town, and Mrs. Brodigan was appointed in her place.

It is with sincere regret that we have to record the removal by death of two of our members, Mrs. Andrew Jackson and Mrs. Alexander Smith, the latter of whom has always held a prominent position in our society, has been one of our most active members, and has ever taken a deep interest in its progress. But, while deeply deploring the loss we have sustained in their death, we must remember that they have received the rich reward of Christ's promise to His loved ones.

Our society is still holding its own. The most cordial relations exist between its members, and since all are working for the one glorious end, viz., the spread of Christ's kingdom on earth, we feel sure that God will increase our blessings, and that in the future we, through Him, will have still greater results.

FLORA H. DAVIDSON,
Secretary.

TO BE USED AS A BANNER IN THE KILKENNY FIGHT.

Healy's Bitter Tongue Used Against Parnell—A Fight in Tipperary, in Which Shillelahs and Stones are Used—Mass Postponed For An Election Meeting—Parnell Breaking Down.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Mr. Parnell's speeches are thought by impartial critics to be losing in power, or at least becoming monotonous. He is plainly repeating a few stock arguments; perhaps denunciations would be the more correct word. His physical weakness is becoming more apparent also, and it is evident that the strain is beginning to be too severe for his endurance. His followers are considerably worried over this fact, and they are also excited because of his refusal to adhere to any plan of campaign in the usual political sense. He at first declined, then accepted, and finally declined again the invitation to speak at Waterford and Limerick, where great meetings are being arranged. His remaining at Kilkenny is supposed to be due to the belief that the contest there is to be a close one, needing all his energies.

It is generally thought that Mr. Parnell showed poor judgment in attacking the personal merits of Sir John Pope Hennessy, the anti-Parnell candidate in that district, in view of the fact that Sir John was selected by Mr. Parnell to be his own candidate before the split in the party became irrevocable.

The declaration of town corporations in favor of Mr. Parnell is in a number of cases brought about through the influence of the Conservative guardians, the boards appointed by the Government being able in many instances to turn the scale in Parnell's favor. The Nationalist vote in such cases will be found opposed to Mr. Parnell.

The prolongation of the crisis in the Home Rule party and the events which have taken place in Ireland during the past week have largely increased the numbers of the "party of dissolution" in the Conservative ranks. Up to within a few days the dissolution program found no adherents among the "official people," owing to the technical difficulties in the way, but this afternoon at least three members of the Cabinet are strongly in favor of clearing the decks for an appeal to the country. Several leading members of the Tory party, who also rejected the idea when it was first mooted, have changed their minds in consequence of the continuation of the Irish strife and of the break between Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Parnell, and are to-day declaring in favor of a field coup. It is hardly necessary to say that the Conservative managers are keenly alive to the immense advantage which a continuance of the present dispute would give them at the polls. Some of the Conservative candidates, who would admittedly have very up-hill work in ordinary circumstances, have sent word to London that under present conditions they would win easily. The temptation to make an appeal to the country is therefore great. Of course no one takes seriously of an immediate appeal. The Irish Land Purchase Bill and the Tithes bill must be passed, but it is believed that in present circumstances they will be carried easily and quickly, and everything else, it is thought, may go by the board until after the election. A number of the Irish Tories are strongly in favor of a dissolution, claiming that as matters now stand they could win at least six seats from the Irish Home Rule party. Several of Mr. Parnell's adherents claim that in the event of a dissolution the ranks of the anti-Parnellites would be greatly reduced, and that but few of them would be left to dispute Mr. Parnell's leadership in the next Parliament. The general feeling in Conservative quarters is that if the Irish leader adheres to his present position, and the strained relations between the Liberal and Irish parties continue, a dissolution in the early spring may be counted on as a certainty.

HEALY ATTACKS PARNELL.

Mrs. O'Shea Termed the Tory Joan of Arc.

KILKENNY, Dec. 13.—The committee appointed last night to conduct the campaign of Sir Pope Hennessy, the nominee of the McCarthy faction for member of Parliament, met to-day. Timothy Healy made an address in which he attacked Parnell for encouraging violence to prevent the arguments of his opponents from reaching the ears of the people. He charged that Parnell was supplying the mob with drink and that he was spending the Nationalist party's money and the tenants' money. He (Healy) and the late Mr. Biggar knew the facts in connection with the Eltham intrigue, and they should have strangled it when Capt. O'Shea was nominated by Parnell to represent Galway in Parliament. Unfortunately it was allowed to grow from the Tory point of view. Parnell was the saviour of the Tories and Mrs. O'Shea was the Tory Joan of Arc.

THE LIE DIRECT.

Given in a Speech by Healy to Parnell at Kilkenny.

DUBLIN, Dec. 14.—The anti-Parnellite leaders say they are satisfied with their progress at Kilkenny. They will have all members of parliament delivering addresses to electors to-morrow.

In his speech at Kilkenny Mr. Healy said: Parnell wanted to make men like Dillon, O'Brien and Sexton a holocaust on the altar of his lusts. He boasted that he could expel the Sixty-Justinians (McCarthyites), but he had undertaken a big contract. Mr. Healy then accused Mr. Parnell of prostituting the fund for evicted tenants to employ hireling boys to break his opponents' skulls. Parnell was showing wonderful zeal and activity now, but where had he been the last five years?

A Voice—With Kittie. [Laughter.]

Continuing Mr. Healy said that during that time Irish members sorely pressed had often come to him saying: "For God's sake let's go to Parnell," and he had had to confess his ignorance of Parnell's address. The only man that knew was Capt. O'Shea. [Laughter.] When Smith-Barry was evicting tenants Mr. O'Brien spent days in London hunting for "Mr. Fox." Then in desperation he was compelled to beg Mrs. O'Shea to give him an interview with Parnell. Fancy this humiliation for a man of honor and character like O'Brien. Mrs O'Shea replied she had not seen Parnell for three months. Mr. Healy declared Parnell's statement that he would have retired had Mr. Gladstone asked him earlier was an absolute lie. Mr. Gladstone, he said, could not find Parnell. He applied to Mr. McCarthy, who told Parnell, though the latter denied it. Mr. Healy challenged Redmond and Kelly to produce Parnell's letter declaring his innocence of the O'Shea charge. He also read Campbell's letter to Kenny declaring that the O'Shea issue was a worse plight than the Piggott affair. Mr. Healy then said Mr. Parnell's talk about Mr. Gladstone's "dictation" was false as hell itself.

He concluded by declaring that Campbell had confessed that he was keeping Parnell out of the way when Mr. McCarthy was seeking him to impart Gladstone's decision.

The Daily News says that Mr. Parnell in condemning Sir John Pope Hennessy condemns himself. "It is noticeable," it adds, "that Mr. Parnell avoids meeting his constituents in Cork face to face. While in that city he only addressed a few friends in the Chamber of Commerce.

"MISERABLE GUTTER SPARROWS."

The Term Parnell Applies to His Former Associates.

DUBLIN, Dec. 14.—Mr. Parnell and party drove from Kilkenny to Tuyllrone in a brake. They were preceded by a band and accompanied by a large number of vehicles filled with supporters. At Tuyllrone Mr. Parnell addressed a meeting of 500 persons. His speech was brief and was mainly a repetition of utterances in previous speeches. It was delivered amid a running commentary of cries such as "Down with Judas. Healy! "To Hell with Hennessy, the Zulu King!" etc., from certain of his hearers. Mr. Parnell apologized for the weakness of his voice but he appeared in good health. He promised the people a longer speech on another occasion.

From Tullyrone Mr. Parnell and his friends drove to Freshford, where Mr. Parnell addressed another, meeting referring, during his speech, to the seceders as "Miserable gutter sparrows," whom he had pushed out of obscurity and had given a better chance than he gave himself. After winning in Kilkenny he said he would go to every quarter of Ireland and ask the support of the people.

Here a gathering of his opponents interrupted Parnell with shouts of: "To hell with the adulterer."

A fight would inevitably have followed but for the presence of the police, who promptly interfered and succeeded in preserving order. Mr. Parnell closed his day's work with an address at Urlingford, where he will spend the night.

A FIGHT AT TIPPERARY.

Stones Thrown and Sticks Used Freely By the Mob.

TIPPERARY, Dec. 14.—The anti-Parnell faction held a meeting here to-day, at which about 2000 persons were present. Telegrams were read from Messrs. Healy and Sexton, both of whom apologized for not attending the meeting, on the ground that their presence was required elsewhere. Mr. Davitt telegraphed:

Impossible to leave Kilkenny. The fate of Home Rule depends upon the struggle here.

Canon Cahill's taking the chair was the signal for a band of 50 Parnellites to start cheering for their leader. This was responded to by the ante-Parnell men, and the cheering was kept up by the two factions for fully an hour, making it impossible for the speakers to be heard. Father Humphreys and others tried to pacify the opposing crowds, but in spite of their efforts stones were thrown and sticks were used freely, and a serious conflict was averted only by the withdrawal of the Parnellites. Speeches were made by Father Humphreys and Messrs. Condon and Patrick O'Brien, Nationalist members of parliament, and a resolution was carried in support of Mr. McCarthy and his followers.

MRS. O'SHEA'S PETTICOATS.

To be Made Into a Banner for Healy to Stump Ireland.

DUBLIN, Dec. 14.—Mr. Stephen, a graduate of Cambridge University, has issued an address to the electors of Kilkenny in which he announces his candidacy for Parliament as an independent supporter of the Government.

Messrs. Healy, Kenny, Tanner and Davitt to-day addressed meetings in support of Sir John Pope Hennessy. Mr. Healy declared that if Parnell were allowed to retain the leadership he would stump Ireland with a new banner made of Mrs. O'Shea's petticoats. Parnell, he said, put Capt. O'Shea in Parliament, the price paid being the honor of O'Shea's wife.

At a stormy Nationalist convention at Newry resolutions were adopted strongly denouncing Parnell and The Freeman's Journal and calling for the resignation of Justin Huntly McCarthy, who represents Newry in Parliament, because of his having supported Parnell.

At a large meeting at Youghal, at which Canon Keller presided, resolutions condemning Parnell were adopted.

The Hero They Longed For Never Came.

A procession of 400 torch-bearers accompanied by bands of music waited for Parnell at Waterford last night. When he failed to come the paraders marched to the town hall, where they were addressed by the mayor and members of the municipal council. When the speech-making was over the gathering adopted by acclamation a resolution in favor of Parnell.

Mr. Parnell was expected to speak at Limerick to-day, but owing to a change in his program John Redmond appeared in his stead. Mr. Redmond was warmly welcomed by an audience of 3000 persons.

The Clonakilty Board of Guardians have denounced Parnell and have resolved to withhold the collection of tenants' fund.

At Templemore a meeting of town commissioners, called to protest against the Parnellites' action, was invaded by citizens, who cheered stormily for Parnell.

The Carrick-on-Suir Board of Guardians have rescinded their vote of want of confidence in Parnell.

Messrs. Maurice Healy, Leamy and Morgh to-day delivered addresses before the Douglas branch of the League expressing approval of Parnell's deposition.

MASS WAS POSTPONED.

To Allow Pope Hennessy to Address His Constituents.

DUBLIN, Dec. 13.—There was a race between the opposing parties to catch the electors at Freshford. Mr. Davitt and Sir John Pope Hennessy reached that place just before the celebration of mass, although they were not expected until 2 o'clock. The priest, however, decided that the mass could wait and messengers were despatched to beat up the people. Forty-five members now a crowd collected in the market place, headed by Father Shortall. At the same moment the band of Parnellites arrived, headed by Father O'Shea, a suspended priest. The Parnellites, however, joined with the anti-Parnellites in the meeting, shouting to Mr. Davitt, "You're welcome." Mr. Davitt, after asking for a fair hearing, said "You know I never sought any man's favor. I have ever been faithful to Ireland. I never hesitated to sacrifice myself for the cause.

Cries of "You are right Davitt, we honor you for it," came in bursts of applause from the whole concourse, the Parnellites evidently desiring to see fair play.

Father O'Shea, their leader, becoming impatient, exclaimed, "I must stop you, Mr. Davitt." The latter, amid good humored laughter, then said he appealed to Father O'Shea as a chivalrous Irishman, to let him go on. Father O'Shea was mollified, and said he would allow Mr. Davitt to continue, but after Mr. Davitt had uttered a few words in condemnation of Parnell Father O'Shea lost his self-control and continued to indulge in burst of dissent and indignation, occasionally subsiding into a dogged silence when Davitt scored a point. Upon a second appeal being made by Davitt, Father O'Shea said: "My friends, let us hear Mr. Davitt. I don't agree with him, but I respect him from the bottom of my heart."

The whole scene was characteristic of the impulsive Irish race. There was no disorder and after the speech-making was ended the whole crowd filed quietly into church where mass was celebrated.

NOTES OF THE STRUGGLE.

Evicted Tenants Suffering—What Will Become of the Funds?

DUBLIN, Dec. 14.—The dispute in regard to the right of drawing upon the funds of the National League has caused the bank in which the league's money is deposited to order its branches not to honor checks sent to evicted tenants by that organization. In consequence of this action many families are deprived of the sustenance that they have received weekly from the league, and they must either suffer terribly or go to the poor-house.

The Freeman's Journal says Francis Xavier O'Brien, treasurer of the National League, refuses to pay the salaries of the league officials on the ground that they are not neutral.

The Dublin Express, commenting on the Parliamentary contest at Kilkenny, and the activity in the canvass shown by the Parnellites, asks, "Where is McCarthy?"

The Pall Mall Gazette says the question is not whether Parnell is mad, but whether the Irish patriots are maudlin. It urges that there be no more paltering or faltering.

Michael Davitt in an interview this evening said: "Our majority in the North Kilkenny election will certainly be 1500, and possibly 2000. I addressed three meetings to-day, all of the most enthusiastic character. The miners are with us almost to a man. I would not have taken part in the fight if Mr. Parnell had not touched United Ireland, which is as much mine as his." Mr. McCarthy is expected to speak at Kilkenny on Monday.

The Bishop of Ossory, whose diocese includes Kilkenny, has issued a strong address against Parnell. He reminds the electors that even a small minority in favor of Parnell will encourage him to pursue his "fell work of dividing the Irish nation."

WATCHED WITH DOUBT.

Nicknames Already Current for the Two Divisions of the Irish Party.

[G. W. Smalley's cable letter in N. Y. Sunday Tribune.]

LONDON, Dec. 13.—History, in the field of domestic politics, has been made rapidly this week. The Irish party is now divided into two distinct camps. The struggle of the Kilkenny cats began in the geographical home of that myth last Saturday. Mr. Parnell commanded respect from his enemies by his splendid manœuvres and his audacity in endeavoring to control the rebellious team. The issue he proposed to lay before Mr. Gladstone seemed a masterpiece of adroitness. Mr. Parnell looked like winning whatever might be Mr. Gladstone's answer to the two points put before him, but the old Parliamentary Hand was too artful. In his negotiations with the Committee of Four, he handed Mr. Parnell's case on a quicksand. Then followed those remarkable scenes in Committee-room No. 15, with which the cable has already made you familiar. But no reports of these occurrences fully represented even half that happened. The versions that were allowed to pass into print were all "Bowdlerized." Some of the most piquante incidents were omitted.

Lost His Best Debaters.

But these details sink into insignificance beside the political consequence which follow upon Mr. Parnell's deposition. He carries with him the administrative qualities of his party, but he has lost its best debaters, and from the time when he broke up Saturday's meeting he lost nearly every shred of sympathy among those who admired him for his courage. Public opinion, in England at least, has gone against him, as public opinion often goes against a losing cause. If he had beaten his enemies in the committee room, his prospects at the present moment would be materially different, even in England and Scotland; but the stress of the situation seems to be telling on his judgment. Every step that he has taken since Saturday has been fraught with mistakes, especially since he landed in Dublin. The melodramatic capture and recapture of United Ireland and Mr. Parnell's personal conduct in that affair, his address to the mob, indicating that he might have carried the citadel or achieved some work of real prowess, made sober-minded spectators question whether the man's mind had not become unsteady. His daring and absolutely untruthful assertions at Dublin and Cork are inexplicable. People hardly expected to hear him now declare his good opinion of the Grand Old Man. His assertion that he knew nothing of Mr. Gladstone's views before the party re-elected him leader are flatly denied by Messrs. McCarthy and Davitt. But behind this madness there is method, for the Rotunda speech contained much which sought to conciliate the mob and the laborers and artisans of Ireland.

Irish Opinion Veering Away.

Notwithstanding Mr. Parnell's remarkable reception in the Irish capital and along the journey to Cork, evidences abound that the cheering came almost solely from men in the street. The solid public opinion of Ireland has not yet declared itself, and it is becoming less doubtful whether it will ever do so in Parnell's favor. The North Kilkenny election will largely help to decide the issues of the future; but to-day's reports indicate that since the publication of the bishops' manifesto, though that document came late, Irish opinion is veering away from Mr. Parnell. It is coming home to the Irish electors that, however successful Mr. Parnell may be, English leaders can never again negotiate with him, and his admission that Home Rule cannot be accomplished without English help impresses many of the Irish politicians with the belief that Mr. Parnell is an obstacle rather than a help to Irish aspirations. He will doubtless succeed, especially if Kilkenny goes in his favor, in making a great demonstration throughout the country, but the want of funds alone will soon produce paralysis. His purse is becoming empty. He cannot touch the fund in Paris. Nobody knows how much, or rather how little, is left of the amount intrusted to him for payment of the Irish members. It has been a sort of secret service fund, used for many purposes, and the great drain which will be caused by the new condition of affairs will rapidly encroach on the balance. On the whole, Mr. Parnell's prospects are much worse than they were a week ago. His speeches betray the fact that he is fighting in the air. Defeat at Kilkenny will give his cause a staggering blow.

The "Split Peas."

Mr. Gladstone's action last week caused much discontent to English Radicals. Sir William Harcourt's declaration that the party had eaten enough dirt for Mr. Parnell was widely indorsed. The distinct unwillingness on the part of Sir William and Mr. Morley to enter into further negotiations with the Irish party not only shows that Mr. Gladstone acted individually, but also explains the cautiousness of his written answer after consulting his colleagues on Friday night, some of whom distinctly manifested disapproval of his complacence toward the Irish deputation. Nor is there much admiration of Mr. Gladstone's speeches at Bassetlaw, as most people believe that this election will result in a thumping majority for the Conservative candidate. Mr. Gladstone is blamed for appearing in the constituency at all.

The two Irish parties are now curiously designated the "Split Peas," and, according to others, "Justinians" and the "Fire Brigade." The Justinians are slow to begin their campaign, which is to open in Tipperary on Sunday, when Mr. Healy, Mr. Sexton and others take the field. Their manifesto, just issued, is considered a feeble production. It reads like one of the weak articles in The Daily News. It shows Mr. McCarthy's feebleness. The individual friends of Mr. William O'Brien are making tremendous efforts on his account in Dublin, promoting meetings to denounce Mr. Parnell, whose coercion in the matter of United Ireland is hotly resented, as an illustration of Mr. Parnell's arrogance. This feature of Mr. Parnell's proceedings is almost as grotesque as Mr. Healy's appeal to the police—"Balfour's bloodhounds," as he once called them—to protect him from the Dublin mob.

PARNELL BREAKS DOWN.

He Makes a Savage Attack on John Pope Hennessy.

KILKENNY, Dec. 13.—A mass meeting in the interest of Vincent Scully, the Parnellite candidate for the vacant seat for Kilkenny in the House of Commons, was held here to-day. Mr. Parnell made an address. He warned the electors not to trust Sir John Pope Hennessy, the candidate of the McCarthy faction. Sir John, he said, came before them with a record that well qualified him to be a leader in a party of renegades, there being no party to which he had not belonged save the Irish party. Mr. Parnell was obliged to bring his speech to an abrupt conclusion on account of his exhausted condition.

Mr. Parnell recalled the whole life of the Opposition candidate and concluded as follows: The electors must ask him whether he intends to go to Parliament as the place-hunter he has always been or as an independent Nationalist. If the reply is ambiguous, away with this dishonest time-serving politician. Mr. Parnell's voice is extremely hoarse. The reporters are intensely annoyed by the mysterious changes he makes in his plans. He has now abandoned his proposed visit to Limerick and will remain in Kilkenny until the election takes place. He has come to this decision notwithstanding everything has been arranged for the visit. Placards announcing his coming have been posted in Waterford and Limerick, and his agents in those places have appealed to him to keep his promises, but he insists upon remaining here until the election.

Denounced from the Altar.

DUBLIN, Dec. 14.—At Westport, county Mayo, to-day Mr. Parnell and his followers were denounced from the altar.

The "Fool Farmer's" Story.

What Mary Meant When She Said "Rats!"

KANSAS, NOVEMBER 4, 1890.
("The Women Did It."—John Sherman.)

I was one of them "fool farmers;" yes, I'll own it like a man ;
There was plenty of us fashioned on the same peculiar plan ;
And I've lived out here in Kansas more than five and twenty years,
A growin' poor and poorer as it certainly appears.

I seldom read the newspapers ; I worked too hard for that ;
And never knew why I got lean while other men got fat ;
I didn't fool with politics; I had too much to do ;
But I always voted as I shot and as they told me to.

The day before election, just imagine my distress,
When I ketched my wife a-readin'—now what ever would you guess?—
A free trade publication, and to make it worse, she said
She read it regular each night before she went to bed.

And, do you know, that wife of mine jest faced me up and down
That farmers slave to make a few monopolists in town?
I always try to get around these warm domestic spats,
But when I praised protection then she laughed and answered "Rats,"

I bristled up ; it kindled all the sentiments of strife
To think this free trade stuff should be corruptin' of my wife ;
I quit her then and there before her argument was through,
As every good protectionist makes it a rule to do.

That night we had a camp fire, and our congressman was there ;
We gave him "John Brown's Body," when he went to take the chair ;
I wore my old blue uniform to spite the democrats,
But all the time I wondered what my Mary meant by "Rats."

Our congressman was eloquent, he made a stirrin' speech ;
I could almost see the battle's smoke and hear the bullets screech ;
And when he bade us vote as we had shot at Malvern Hill,
We rose with one accord, and cried with one acclaim "We will."

We sang the good old war songs, and we ate a mess o' beans,
And we passed the evenin' pleasantly, recallin' bloody scenes ;
And we took the straight-out tickets, and we pinned 'em on our hats,
But all the time I wondered what my Mary meant by "Rats."

When I reached home I noticed that my Mary wore a smile,
Which seemed to me as indicatin' storms ahead, or bile ;
To head her off I said : "You'll call me early, mother dear,
For to-morrer'l be the liveliest day free trade will have this year."

Next mornin' jest at sun-up, as I woke and rubbed my eyes,
A-wonderin' what she meant by "Rats," I saw, to my surprise,
My clothes and hat and boots all ranged in order on the floor,
And bearin' each a card I'd swear I never saw before.

My flannel shirt displayed this sign, "Taxed 95 per cent ;"
My trousers "Taxed 100"—so this was what "Rats' meant ;
My vest said "Taxed 100," and my shoes "Taxed 25 ;"
My coat and hat "200" with "Protection makes us thrive."

I went to fill the basin and I noticed as I came,
"Taxed 45 per cent."—Great Scott! the towel said the same!
The soap was marked at "20 ;" as I dropped it on the floor,
I obsnced to see a scuttle full of coals, chalked "24."

I passed into the kitchen and it gives me pain to state
That my wife had on a woolen dress stamped "only 58 ;"
And in shooing out a guinea hen she made a little dive
Which showed a pair of stockings, with a card marked "35."

The baby in his little bed was lyin' fast asleep ;
I always held the little chap as most uncommon cheap ;
But when I saw them cards on blanket, pillow, crib and sheet,
I felt a lump rise in my throat ; I knew that I was beat.

No matter where I went I struck them pesky little signs ;
The stove, the plates, the knives, the forks, the window sash and blinds,
The scissors, needle, thread, all bore that terrible per cent ;
Bigosh, I didn't care to ask what card was on the rent.

That was the soberest meal I ever ate in all my life ;
And as I left the table, in remarking to my wife
That I was goin' to the polls, she helped me with my coat,
And said: "I reckon, John, I needn't tell you how to vote."

I walked to my voting place ; it looked like every yard
Was full of farmin' implements which bore a little card,
And seemed to say from plow to spade, from thresher down to ax :
"Good mornin', John, and don't forget the tariff is a tax."

I voted straight—O, yes, no doubt of that ; I voted straight,
But not exactly in the way expected of my state ;
And I showed the boys the little cards provided by my wife——
That night our congressman took formal leave of public life.

I was one of them "fool farmers" durin' five and twenty years ;
But I've learned a little common sense, as doubtless now appears ;
You can run and tell McKinley, and—say—don't forget to state
That we've voted out in Kansas, and we've voted Jarned near straight.

North Smith Dairy Company.

Annual Meeting of Stockholders.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the North Smith Dairy Company was held in their cheese factory on Tuesday, Dec. 9th, at 2.30 o'clock p.m. A considerable number of the shareholders attended the meeting, and appeared well satisfied with reports and result of the season's business. After reading the minutes of meetings held during the year, the Secretary read the following financial reports which were unanimously adopted:

An American's Discovery.

An American contemporary has discovered that the strength of paper is wonderful, and gives as an illustration of this the statement that a note of the Bank of England, twisted into a kind of rope can support as much as 329 pounds upon one end of it.

We know of something even more wonderful than this. Newspaper readers in Canada will be astonished when they are assured that a few dollars invested in Diamond Dyes has supported a family of seven for one year ; the total avoirdupois of the family was 855 pounds.

The family referred to did the dyeing for a large country village, and it was successfully done for years by the use of Diamond Dyes, which never failed in color, beauty or durability. Their trade increased through using such reliable Dyes, and their charge for work was very moderate.

Diamond Dyes are the support of a large number of men and women in Canada. They are so easily worked with that all have confidence in them. They assure all that what they promise will be fulfilled. No other make of Dye can give such an honest guarantee.

Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c. and $1, Trial size free. At all druggists. dw Experientia Docet.

Mr. J. H. Hourigan, after using Wilson's Wild Cherry in his family for eight years, writes us that it has never failed to cure coughs, colds, whooping cough or bronchitis. He wise, profit by the experience of others, and use Wilson's Wild Cherry when afflicted with any such trouble. Sold by all druggists. dw

Big Interest.

The biggest interest on any investment is that obtained by buying a bottle of B.B.B. The dividends of strength health, and vigor are always realized, and there are no assessments. Burdock Blood Bitters, the great blood purifier, costs one dollar a bottle —about one cent a dose. 2w49d

Pure ...rance of ...blood in ...e condition is ...erally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, the water we drink. There is nothing exclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

SCULPTOR BOEHM DEAD.

THE FAMOUS SCULPTOR'S SUDDEN DEMISE.

Found Lifeless in His Chair by the Princess Louise Who Had Called at His Studio With Respect to a Bust He Was Executing of Her.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Joseph Edgar Boehm, the sculptor, died suddenly, from heart disease it is thought, in his studio this evening. He was engaged on a bust of Princess Louise and the latter called at the studio in relation to the work. She found the artist's dead body in a chair. Shocked, the Princess fled and gave the alarm.

Deceased was a German, born in Vienna July 6, 1834. His father, who was director of the Austrian Mint, was the owner of a celebrated art collection. The son received his early education in Vienna and afterwards studied art in Italy and Paris, and in 1862 settled in England. He was an associate of the Royal Academy, Boehm. He obtained the first imperial prize in Vienna in 1856 and in 1875 was elected a member of the Florence Academy. He some years ago executed a colossal marble statue of Queen Victoria for Windsor Castle; one of John Bunyan, unveiled at Bedford; one of the Prince of Wales for Bombay; one of Gen. Burgoyne in Waterloo-place, London, and life-size statues of Thomas Carlyle and King Leopold of Belgium, the latter in St. George's Chapel, Windsor. He has also executed several monumental groups, colossal equestrian statues and portrait busts of Millais, the painter, Lord Shaftesbury and others, and the Government gave him the order to execute the statue of Lord Beaconsfield for Westminster Abbey.

After the Adventurers.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—At a conference here to-day between the Aborigines Protection Society a number of members of Parliament and the leaders of several religious bodies, a resolution was adopted demanding that the Government inquire into the atrocities committed in Central African by English explorers and other adventurers.

AFTER MANY DAYS.

Policeman Murphy's Body Found But it was Badly Decomposed.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 12.—The body of Mounted Officer Morphy, who was drowned off the yacht Keewatin on Lake Winnipeg over two months ago, has been recovered. It was badly disfigured through decomposition and being eaten by fish. It was interred at Jack Head, but will be moved in the spring and sent east. None of his companions were found.

PECULIAR FATALITY.

A Father Accidentally Hurt, the Son Drops Dead While Going for Help.

MITCHELL, Dec. 12.—Thos. Baker and his son, a young man, went to the bush in Logan township to chop cordwood. A limb of a tree fell on the elder man, rendering him unable to walk home. The youth, about 20 years of age, was sent to get a sleigh to convey the injured man home. The boy started off as fast as he could run, but before reaching the house he dropped dead. The young fellow was subject to heart disease, and the excitement of the accident was too much for him. The wounded man had to remain in the woods until he recovered sufficient to crawl home. On the way he discovered the dead body of his son.

SAD FATE OF TWO BABES.

A Dog-Sled Breaks Through the Ice and Both are Drowned.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 12.—Lake Winnipeg advices to-day give details of a double drowning accident in which two helpless infants lost their lives while on the way home by dog sled from church. An Indian named Amos Williams and his family broke through the ice. Himself, his wife, his sister-in-law and her infant son, his son and little girl were thrown into the water, but all escaped after heroic efforts by Williams except the two little children.

Five Doctors Gave Him Up.

MITCHELL, Dec. 12.—Joseph Connolly of Hibbert was leading a mare from water to the stable when two colts came up behind her and she kicked at them and struck Mr. Connolly in the bowels, knocking him down in the entrance to the stable, when the two colts jumped on him in trying to get into the stable after the mare. Five doctors have given him up.

Will Remain a Mystery.

HALIFAX, N.S., Dec. 12.—A despatch from Yarmouth to-night announces the death of Thomas Isaor, boatswain of the Newfield, whose carelessness is supposed to have caused the disastrous explosion. He never recovered consciousness, so the mystery of the explosion will never be cleared up. This makes the third victim. The injured men are doing well.

The Dead.

Rev. W. Davis, rural dean and rector of Woodhouse, Simcoe, in the diocese of Huron, died at the residence of his son, Richard R. Davis, 312 Seaton-street, from the bursting of a blood-vessel. The deceased was born in Ireland in 1817, and on coming to Canada settled in the neighborhood of Haysville, Waterloo County. Subsequently he entered Huron College as a student. He was ordained in 1864 by the late Bishop Cronyn, and accepted the incumbency of Tilbury, Essex County. In 1873 he was appointed rector of St. George's Church, Wingham, and two years later was appointed rural dean of the County of Huron. He left Wingham some years ago to accept the appointment of rector of Woodhouse, Norfolk, which he held up to the time of his death. Six sons survive him: two are publishers of The Mitchell Advocate, two more are clergymen of the Church of England, another is custom house officer, Wingham, and the other is in the employ of W. R. Brock & Co. of this city. The funeral will take place from St. James' Church, South London, this afternoon.

John Atwater Wilkinson, a well known political organizer, familiarly dubbed "Big Push," died yesterday morning at his residence, Cameron-street, in his 56th year. He was born at Wilson, N.Y., and when a child came with his parents to Canada. He was an active politician and Conservative organizer. About five years ago he came to Toronto, where his wife died at the commencement of the present year. He was an able speaker and of literary tastes. He published The West Durham News, a political paper dubbed The Lance, and stray verse and serial stories. The remains will be interred at Cobourg on Monday.

High School Opening.

BOWMANVILLE, Dec. 12.—The beautiful new high school building erected at a cost of over $11,000, was opened to-day with appropriate ceremonies. Mr. John Hoskin, Q.C., Mr. E. Douglas Armour, Mr. John Squair, professor at Toronto University, Mr. W. R. Brock and others were present to renew the acquaintances of their earlier days. Hon. G. W. Ross attended on behalf of the Department of Education, and Hon. Edward Blake took advantage of the occasion to visit again his constituents.

In the afternoon the formal opening of the new building took place. Messrs. Blake, Brock and others delivered addresses.

Suicide at Toronto Asylum.

TORONTO, Dec. 12.—An inmate of the Asylum for the Insane named Thomas Kane was found by Night-watchman Heaslip about 5 o'clock Wednesday morning hanging by his suspenders stone dead in ward No. 4. Around him were grouped about a dozen of his fellow-inmates apparently utterly unconscious of the tragedy transpiring in their midst. Deceased the day before he took his life was jovial and not the least suspicion was entertained then, or in fact at any time, that he had suicidal tendencies. He has been a patient about 10 years. He was 75 years of age nerd came from Newmarket.

The Simcoe Poachers.

SIMCOE, Dec. 12.—During the early part of the shooting season the owners of the preserve at Long Point secured the services of County Constables McLaughlin and McIlwane to watch their property and arrest all trespassers. They had a lively time while the so-called "poachers" firing at them frequently. Alvine Becker, one of the men, pointed a gun at the constables, and for this offence was fined by the court $30 and costs or twenty days. The case being appealed, the conviction was quashed. In arresting the two who came from Port Rowan the constables unmasked them and found the other one to be Dr. Sufford. Becker brought a charge of assault against the constables for unmasking them, and they were tried yesterday at the sessions by Judge Robb and acquitted.

Died to Death.

ALMONTE, Dec. 12.—Thomas Donnelly, a farmer on the Upper Ottawa, got his hand caught in a thresher while at work on his farm. The limb had to be amputated at the wrist. While it was being dressed shortly afterward the unfortunate man burst a blood vessel and gradually bled to death.

PURE Cod Liver Oil and Emulsions properly made from it are undoubtedly the best remedies for pulmonary complaints. Many emulsions have been placed on the market but none seem to have met with the success accorded to SLOCUM'S OXYGENIZED EMULSION of PURE COD LIVER OIL. Their laboratory at 186 West Adelaide street, Toronto, Ont., is kept constantly going and every druggist in the country is supplied with the famous remedy. w50ws

A Good Conundrum.

Mr. Williams—"Why is a drum without a head like a model wife?"

Mr. Cross, (a henpecked husband) "Because she is mute."

Mr. Williams—"Right, now tell me why a muscular wife, a drum without a head, a turnip, a plumber, and Imperial Cream Tartar Baking Powder are similar?"

TO TOAST THE TOES.

When you come into the house with numbed feet on a cold winter day, stretch yourself out in an easy chair and let the feet rest on the floor near the Countess Heater—if you have one. If you haven't, why not enquire into its merits and get one now? One of the special points of these heaters is the fact that they throw the heat downward, where it is wanted, instead of radiating outward and upward from the fire-pot, as most unscientifically constructed heaters do. Rooms, heated by the Countess are never stifling hot about your head, and one of the principal causes of sick headache is thus avoided. The heat being on the floor diffuses itself uniformly through the room and cools as it raises. This is merely one advantage of the Countess heater. Another is the fact that it gives more heat with less fuel, and retains a fire longer with less attention, than any other. Get one of these home comforts for this winter.

And Attachments.

THE WORLD'S BEST

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Pretentious Divine Healing.

"Try the Spirits whether they are of God."—(John I. 41.)

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—The Rev. Mr. Dowie, now lecturing here on Divine Healing, charges the ministers in town and the churches with preaching only a partial Gospel, the Gospel of salvation but not the Gospel of healing. Yesterday in the Opera House he thought it his duty to attack, somewhat fiercely, the Methodists. Did they dare to deny, he asked, that Jesus Christ, who, when on earth, opened the eyes of the blind, raised the dead and healed all kinds of diseases, was not the same yesterday, to-day and forever?

At the close of his lecture I rose to say a few words by way of reply. But no; "Sit down," said the reverend gentleman with a rudeness as though he had been living all his life in some part of Australia among the convicts and had not yet learned Christian courtesy. Being thus debarred a hearing in the presence of the gentleman himself in the Opera House, I will with your permission make my remarks in the columns of your paper.

First, as to the question itself. If by the question be meant Christ's power, no Methodist denies it. We believe He has all power in Heaven and on earth, but if the modes of its operation be intended we do most positively deny that these are the same to-day. When Christ was on earth He wrought miraculously by signs and wonders and mighty works, not according to the faith of the people, but His own will. He fed five thousand men with a few loaves and fishes. Where is this done to-day? Can Mr. Dowie do it? Let him by faith and prayer attempt it. Let him even say he has done it, and see whether the people will believe him.

Again, Christ, when on earth, with a word commanded the winds and waves of a great storm, and they were instantly hushed. He spake and called the dead to life again, and gave sight to those born blind. Do we see the power thus operating to-day? The apostles wrought in like manner, imparting the Holy Ghost and the gift of tongues to those on whom they laid their hands. The lecturer on divine healing professes himself to have the gift of healing, and affirms Christ's power is now with him the same as it ever was. Then let him heal that poor blind youth who attends his services night after night; or cure that consumptive young man who has attended for weeks his services in Toronto. If he cannot do these things, let him at least cure himself of that dimness of vision which he exhibited the other night in not being able to read small print in the hymn-book handed to him. If he cannot do any of these things, with all his pretentions and fiery speeches, let him know that the public will understand that there is more hypocrisy somewhere than in the ministers and churches he denounces.

Yours respectfully,
G. H. DAVIS.

Peterborough, Dec. 15th, 1890.

Y. M. C. A. Reception.

The monthly reception given Friday evening to the young men of our town was attended by as fine a lot of young men as one would desire to see. The St. Andrew's Y.P.S.C.E. gave the entertainment, and it reflected great credit on their ability to provide a pleasant and profitable evening, was the unanimous voice of the young fellows who filled our rooms.

Mr. Early, President of the Association, presided in his usual affable manner, and after devotional exercises called on the Y.M.C.A. band to give a selection which pleased all present, after which the following programme was carried out, each number being heartily received by those present:

Vocal Solo.....Mrs. Wilbur Daly
Reading.....Mr. O. C. Rowse
Vocal solo.....Miss Benbeck
Recitation.....Miss Addie Armstrong
Vocal solo.....Miss Patterson
Address, "True Manliness," Rev. P. C. Parker
Piano duet.....Miss Wrighton and Mr. Clarke
Vocal solo.....Miss Patterson

At the close of the programme the young ladies passed around an abundant supply of choice cake and coffee, which our young men did full justice to. A hearty standing vote of thanks was the St. Andrew's society for their kindness in providing such a treat, to which Mr. Albert Hamilton replied. Special thanks are due Mr. R. W. Erratt for the loan of the piano, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening's entertainment.

Church Chimes.

At a congregational meeting of the Baptist church after the regular service Sunday morning, a resolution was adopted accepting of the resignation of Rev. P. C. Parker.

Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., of Little Britain, occupied the pulpit of the Charlotte street church Sunday in the absence of the Rev. S. J. Shorey, who was preaching anniversary sermons in Picton. Rev. Mr. Young's address was very much liked by the congregation.

Rev. E. F. Torrance, of St. Paul's, and Rev. Mr. Johnston, of St. Andrew's, Lindsay, exchanged pulpits Sunday. Rev. Mr. Johnston is an earnest and successful preacher.

At the George street church Sunday evening Mrs. Seward sang a solo.

Personal.

Mr. J. Jeffries, English Master in the Collegiate Institute, has received flattering offers of positions in the London and Hamilton Collegiate Institutes, but has declined them both, preferring to remain in his present position as he believes there is a bright future ahead of the Peterborough school.

Rev. D. J. Scollard, Ennismore, deacon of the Roman Catholic church, who has pursued his studies for the church at St. Michael's College, Toronto, and the Grand Seminary, Montreal, will be ordained at St. Martin's church, Ennismore, next Sunday, Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Connor performing the ordination ceremonies.

DIVINE HEALING MISSION.

Sunday's Meetings in the Opera House.

Strong Statements by Dr. Dowie—He Complains of Discourtesy—Christ the Saviour and Healer—To-Night's Meeting in the Opera House at 7.30.

Dr. Dowie does not consider that he is receiving courteous treatment from the people of Peterborough. At the Opera House Sunday night he took occasion several times to rebuke his audience. The attention was not as good as he wished, and when about a quarter to ten o'clock some of the audience began to leave he gave them a piece of his mind. He told them that the meeting had been delayed till eight o'clock for the convenience of church people, who had disturbed those already assembled by coming in late, and then again they created a disturbance by leaving before the address was over. He refused to be treated like that. Next Sunday night, he said, the meeting would begin at seven o'clock. A hymn was then sung, while about a third of the audience was moving out.

In the afternoon also, there was a slight commotion. At the close of the lecture Rev. G. H. Davis, who had been sitting uneasily in the gallery, rose, and addressing himself to Dr. Dowie, remarked that he had alluded to some things which called for reply. Dr. Dowie brusquely ordered him to sit down, and the closing hymn was immediately begun, preventing further words.

AFTERNOON ADDRESS.

The opera house was filled in the afternoon. The lecture was on the subject of of miracles. Rev. Mr. Dowie prayed by request for a woman of 36 years Christian standing, who had been completely blind for the last two years.

Mrs. Dowie read as the lesson the 35th chapter of Isaiah and the 3rd chapter of Acts. Mr. Dowie's address was based upon these passages. He spoke fluently of the ministry of John the Baptist, his bold denunciation of the priests, high-priests, King Herod and the Roman soldiers, and his baptism of Christ. He pointed out the proofs offered of the divinity of the Messiah in the many miracles he wrought. Mr. Dowie maintained that Christ was still unchanged, was the Saviour and healer as much to-day as ever He was. Mr. Dowie said John Wesley preached the doctrine of divine healing, but the Methodist's to-day did not follow in his footsteps. The Baptist, church, too, administered the rite of baptism and then shut the door against the baptized. All ministers, Mr. Dowie said, who did not preach divine healing were recreant to their trusts, and Christians who did not believe in and practice it, the same.

EVENING MEETING.

At night a large proportion of the congregations of the different churches wended their way to the opera house, which was crowded. Blind Willie Mitchell occupied a seat on the platform.

Prayer was offered specially on behalf of a wife confined in the insane asylum.

In announcing the opening hymn, "Jesus Lover of My Soul," Dr. Dowie told the people not to talk about divine healing till they knew what they were talking about. "You brethren in the ministry," he said, "don't start kicking; you wait. And you people, don't open your mouths, as a friend of mine remarked, to put your foot in it." Some people, he said, apparently do not read their Bibles and hymn-books right. "Heal the sick, and lead the blind," was what Chas. Wesley wrote, and he meant it; and if Methodists were going to fight divine healing they would have to re-construct their hymn-books. So with the Presbyterians and all other denominations. The Bible and hymn-books were full of the doctrine.

Dr. Dowie said all he had to say would be found inside the boards of the Bible; if not, don't believe it. He then referred them to Isaiah v, 20, and began a vigorous, outspoken address upon "Good and Evil." It was illustrated by a chart, consisting of a sheet painted with two columns of words, headed Good and Evil respectively, one linked by a golden chain and the other by a black one. The opposing columns read:

Jesus	Satan
Salvation	Sin
Health	Disease
Life	Death
Heaven	Hell

Good and evil originated, one in Jesus and the other in Satan, therefore good and evil could never mingle. Jesus and Satan were persons, not principles or spirits. "Christian science lies," he said, "when it says God is a principle and not a person, and Satan a principle and not a person. It is an abominable lie. Just like Christian Science—which is neither Christian nor science." Satan was an archangel in the heavens, he fell and took revenge by entering the earth and destroying man. To do this he entered in the form of a beast—as he did when the evil spirit entered the swine. "I wish all the swine had been drowned that time," said Dr. Dowie. "Pigs are the nastiest, foulest, dirtiest animals in the world; and the man who eats pig's flesh is a filthy fellow." From the fall of Eve, Dr. Dowie drew the lesson that woman was never intended to be the head of creation, and he read the ladies a forcible lecture on the subject. It was a "diabolical lie." Woman was made to be man's helpmate—he was the head and she the neck, and if she was wise she could easily turn the head. So woman fell by sin, the second link in the chain begut by Satan. After the fall Satan filled the air with his demoniac spirits, and Adam and Eve began to feel the effects of the elements. They felt cold and heat. This confirmed Dr. Dowie's belief in the microbe theory of disease, that the air is filled with poisonous germs which create sickness, as proven by the epidemic "la grippe." This was the doing of Satan, and so man and woman felt the need of clothing to resist the elements. Proper clothing was now necessary to health because of the Satanic influences in the atmosphere. Dr. Dowie said he preserved his health in coming from a hot to a cold country by wearing suitable clothing. No theologian, he said, could assert that disease would have ever existed but for sin. As soon as Adam and Eve sinned they experienced the evil effects of it. Sin, therefore, begot disease, and disease death, which Christ has come to free us from. After death comes hell, the last link in the chain of evil.

THROUGH ENVY AND PRIDE

On the other hand Jesus, pre-existent and eternally divine, was opposed to sin, disease and death. "There was a minister in town to-day," said Dr. Dowie, "who was talking foolishly that as we had. What a foolish man! Why, then He could not have been our Saviour, because when He was offered on the cross He was to be a spotless being. If our Lord Jesus Christ's body had been just as ours, subject to disease, it would have indicated the presence of sin. But He went through life without sin, He fought and conquered Satan, therefore He broke every link of Satan's evil chain and would not be subject to any of them. The man who talked that nonsense to-day from the pulpit ought to be ashamed. There is no passage in the word of God that could justify him." Some might point out that Jesus was wearied; yes, but he slept after His weariness, which was natural after hard labour and an indication of good health. As sin comes through doubting God's Word, so salvation comes through believing it. The next link in the good chain was healing, the natural opposite of disease. Christ had conquered sin and disease, and was therefore able to heal. The Bible all through states this most emphatically. Said Mr. Dowie: "A man who says Christ did not come to heal is either a liar, who knows he is a liar, or else he is a fool, and does not know his Bible." Some quotations were given to prove that Christ came to heal. All the way through the Bible, he said, God was revealed as the

JESUS CHRIST HAD DISEASE

HEALER OF HIS PEOPLE.

"With His stripes we are healed from our diseases," etc. "The apostles preached that Christ was Saviour and Healer, and there is no other gospel," said Mr. Dowie. "If an angel from Heaven dares to preach any other gospel it is not true. The gospel must not be cut in two. What God hath joined together let no man put asunder." Death was overcome by Christ and life given in its place. God never came to give death, but life—"life made manifest in the mortal flesh"—"I am come that ye may have life"—"I am come to destroy death, and him that hath the power of death," etc. Christ came to give life—eternal life. For three centuries the early Christians never spoke the word death. They went cheerfully into the den of wild beasts, or to the stake, murmuring, "He giveth His beloved sleep." Some say the doctrine of divine healing is a timid clinging to life. Not so. It makes a man, said Dr. Dowie, have no fear of death, but to live pure and healthy in this life to fall asleep in Jesus at the end. Some say, Oh, you must have sickness before you die. That was not necessary, said the speaker, and he closed his address by a pathetic account of a death bed scene of one of his friends, who dropped off in the midst of her household duties, feeling the approaching dissolution only in time to send for Dr. Dowie and tell him she was going to sleep, to wake in eternal happiness.

FRIEND AND FOE.

THE NEW UNITED IRELAND MAKES ITS APPEARANCE.

These be Great Times in Kilkenny's Fire and Water Campaign—Both Sides Realise That the Fate of the Leadership Depends Upon the Outcome of the Pending Election Fight.

DUBLIN, Dec. 15.—Mr. Parnell slept last night at Urlingford, whence he drove this morning to Rathdowney. Messrs. Davitt and Tanner also started for Rathdowney with the avowed intention of confronting him publicly. Messrs. Harrison, O'Kelly, Edward Harrington and Joseph Nolan, members of Parliament, joined Parnell at the Osmory Hotel. Here a deputation of tenant farmers from the Aghadoe, Galway, branch of the league presented an address declaring confidence in Parnell. In presenting his thanks for the address Parnell said he rejoiced to see so many sterling farmers among the people rallying around him. It was an assurance that Irishmen never more would submit to English dictation. The seal of Kilkenny would be put upon his 16-years' war. [Cheers.]

Mr. Harrison then addressed the deputation. He said he regretted that the Irish members of parliament opposing Parnell had descended to the foul abuse of London music halls, hurling a woman's name at their former leader. [Cries of "Shame" and "dirty Tim Healy."] It was unmanly, ungenerous and un-Irish. [Cheers.]

The Opposite of Parnell.

During the meeting at the hotel Messrs. Davitt and Tanner arrived and began to speak from wagons in the market square. Several hundred persons were grouped around. Tanner in his speech said the Irish party could not whitewash Parnell. He complained of his old leader calling the seceders 'gutter sparrows.' Then stepping suddenly and pointing to Parnell, who was leaving the hotel in a carriage and driving off he shouted: "He is clearing out now, tally ho! the fox has got away." This sally was greeted with roars of laughter and cheers.

Mr. Parnell and party avoided the market square and managed to depart without any collision of the factions.

As they were passing through the village of Durrow a crowd of peasants gave cheers for William O'Brien, whereupon Mr. Harrington called for cheers for Dillon. They were freely given, but there was no response to his call for cheers for Parnell.

McCarthy Off for Dublin.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Justin McCarthy left to-day for Dublin. He is confident his party will win in Kilkenny. Before leaving, Mr. McCarthy stated that he would meet Mr. O'Brien when the latter arrived at Paris.

In Mitchelstown to-day a large meeting in the town hall, convened by clergymen, unanimously condemned Parnell.

A MANIFESTO FROM DILLON.

He Again Criticises Parnell's Action and Talks Some Sound Sense.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—John Dillon to-day issued a manifesto against Parnell, in which he counsels abstinence from all bitterness of language, and opposes personally offensive attacks on Parnell, notwithstanding the cruelly unjust charges Parnell has levelled against members of his party and extraordinary violence of methods by which he has sought to suppress all expression of opinion hostile to himself renders it difficult for his opponents to maintain moderation. Dillon trusts now that the Irish people will let their opinion be known with no uncertain fashion. If they declare for Parnell's leadership he says they must do so on the platform of his manifesto and his speeches at Dublin and Cork and that would mean a definite end for our time to all hops of winning Home Rule through the good will of the English people and there is only one other way of winning, that is by fighting for it. Dillon believes Parnell's new policy means the revival of the hatred between the Irish and the English people, which had during the last five years been dying away. He declares that some of the language in Ireland on both sides has been disgusting and humiliating to even true friends of Ireland. The issue, he says, is not personal, but simply whether if Parnell does not retire Tories will win at the general election and thus destroy all hope of Home Rule in our time. As to Parnell's complaint, that Gladstone attempted to dictate to the Irish party, Dillon says after the Phœnix Park murders in 1882 Parnell, who went to Gladstone, was not then a Home Ruler, and offered to retire from public life, and it was only at Gladstone's request that Parnell retained his position. Dillon defends Gladstone's action in the present crisis and says the cry of dictation is absurd. The Irish party, Dillon says, re-elected Parnell as a leader because it did not suppose he would allow his personal feeling to prevail when the safety of his country was at stake. He condemns Parnell's revelations of private conversation with Gladstone and Morley. But for the O'Shea divorce case and Gladstone's letter Dillon thinks the above two English statesmen would not have been "mingled out for gross and monstrous insult," nor unfounded charges of treachery and attempts to corrupt the Irish party have been made. Dillon also says Parnell insulted his colleagues, when he said, "If you wish to sell me I want you to get a good price." He expresses confidence in Gladstone's and Morley's good faith in advocating Home Rule, but says he relies mainly on independence of the Irish party and the unity of the national feeling of the Irish race for a satisfactory Home Rule bill. Dillon still hopes the conference between O'Brien and Parnell may restore unity to the party, but he says Parnell has plunged Ireland into a conflict which wrings the heart of every Irishman with pain and humiliation. He has done this for a purely personal end. Dillon remarks: "Since he commenced his Irish campaign Parnell has used language and done acts revolting to every free-born man, and if I could meet him in Ireland I should tell him to his face that unless he very much altered his tone and method of procedure he was quite apart from English politics, not a fit leader for a party aspiring to be free." He, however, appeals to his friends in Ireland while fighting for their cause not to forget what Parnell has done in the past for Ireland nor the services which in spite of his present action, is due to him, who for 10 years and up to three weeks ago was the leader of our race and one of the foremost figures in European politics.

THE FUNDS

Must Not Be Handed Over to Parnell Say the Envoys.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The following circular letter has been issued to the treasurers of societies collecting funds for the Irish cause:

"In view of the recent unhappy occurrences in Ireland we think it desirable to communicate again with you in reference to any funds in your possession arising from our late meetings. Before we left Ireland a clear understanding had been arrived at with Mr. Parnell and with the Irish parliamentary party as to the purpose to which the fund to be collected in America should be devoted. It was agreed it should be used for the support of the evicted tenants in Ireland, and chiefly for the support of those tenants who have been evicted in connection with the agitation of the last four years, by whose loyalty and sacrifices the Irish cause has been most signally advanced. Dr. Joseph E. Kenny, M.P., and Alfred Webb, M.P., two gentlemen who were appointed by us in consultation with Mr. Parnell, to act as treasurers of the fund, have taken opposite sides in the present controversy. But in any case we are quite confident that money sent to them will be honestly applied to purposes for which it was subscribed. We would, therefore, earnestly request you to forward immediately any funds in your hands to Dublin in draft payable to the joint order of Dr. J. E. Kenny and Alfred Webb.

Mr. Dillon received a letter from Mr Harrington Sunday as the latter was about to leave for England, advising the course taken by the circular.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Another important document was added to the archives of Irish history now being made on both sides of the Atlantic in a declaration made by the Irish Parliamentary Fund Association and given out this evening. This organization, by which such generous contributions have been made, has declared by this document against Parnell. The paper is signed by the members of the Executive Committee, including the best known and wealthiest Irishmen of New York. The statement is the result of a meeting held Thursday night, and is given below in full:

"The Parliamentary Fund Association is deeply grieved over the unfortunate condition into which the Irish parliamentary party is plunged by recent and occurring events, which threaten disaster to the hopes and plans of Ireland's friends throughout the world.

"While not seeking to dictate to the people of Ireland what policy shall be pursued in the interest of a cause which we all hold sacred, we feel it a duty of conscience to ask that Ireland's political life should not be imperiled by personal interest or factional strife. Deeply grateful for the services of Mr. Parnell, and recognizing his wonderful achievements in her behalf we cannot calmly consent to have all that has been purchased for Ireland at such cost and sacrifice shattered and lost in an hour of passion.

"While it pains us to take a stand against him whom we have heretofore recognized as Ireland's leader we unhesitatingly assert that the cause of home rule, which has been from the first the one reason for the existence of the parliamentary party and of our association, is superior to any man or set of men.

"We therefore endorse the position taken by the visiting parliamentary delegation, and unite with them in asking Parnell to recognize the will of the majority, and, by a personal sacrifice, save his country from being cast into a civil strife, which gives comfort to Ireland's hereditary enemies, disheartens her friends, alienates her allies and must result in the total destruction of all that has been gained by our race since the present constitutional movement begun."

The address is signed by Eugene Kelly, Joseph J. O'Donohue, William R. Grace, John Byrnes, John D. Crimmins, Morgan J. O'Brien, Joseph F. Daly, Dr. Thomas Addis Emmett, Dr. J. Duncan Emmett, James S. Coleman, Miles M. O'Brien, Henry McAleanu, E. D. Farrell.

In a wretched cabin in the woods near Earl Station, on the Lake Shore road, north of Seattle, R. K. McKittrick, at one time a priest of Burlington, Ia., was found dead from the effects of a self-administered dose of morphine. At the side of the bed was an empty morphine bottle, holding down a note dated Nov 27, which was headed: "Nothing to live for—no friends, no money, no clothes. I hope the drug I take will prove fatal. R. McKITTRICK."

SHE POISONED HERSELF

BECAUSE HER MISTRESS SCOLDED HER ABOUT HOUSEWORK.

Tried to Poison the Family—The Awful Crime of a Young English Emigrant Girl at Winona—She Confesses Her Guilt.

HAMILTON, Dec. 16.—The usually quiet village of Winona has had something sensational to talk about during the past few days. About one mile west of that village reside Mr. W. H. Smith and family. Just about six months ago Mr. Smith obtained a girl named Sarah Hunter, between 12 and 13 years of age, to help Mrs. Smith with the household duties. Sarah was an orphan, and the Smiths treated the girl with kindness. But Sarah, it is said, did not altogether appreciate the kindness bestowed upon her and did not return it as she should. She was an ignorant girl and showed a decidedly ugly spirit when spoken to about her wrong conduct. Last Thursday evening the family went out, leaving Sarah Hunter in charge of the house. When they returned they found that the girl had let the fires go out and she received a scolding for her carelessness. Sarah felt aggrieved at what was said to her, and Friday morning determined to end the life by taking a dose of "rough on rats." She did so and went to her bedroom to keep out of the way of the family. Here she was very sick, but did not tell Mrs. Smith the cause of her illness until 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. Dr. Carr of Stoney Creek, was at once summoned and he did all that was possible for the foolish girl, who, however, became worse and died about noon on Saturday.

The most sensational part of the story is that before she died the girl confessed to having attempted to poison the Smith family a week ago. It was Friday evening, while suffering great pain, that the girl admitted her terrible attempt on the lives of the family. She said that on that day she put a portion of a teaspoonful of "rough on rats" in the tea kettle. All the family but one child drank the tea made from the water taken from the kettle and were taken sick with diarrhœa and cramps. Fortunately the quantity of poison put in the kettle was not large and the family recovered from the sickness, which to them seemed a most mysterious one. They had no suspicion of the cause of their illness and never associated Sarah Hunter with the matter, and had she not confessed the affair would forever have remained a mystery.

Mr. Smith had a box of "rough on rats," which is nothing short of arsenic, and the girl obtained possession of it. Dr. Carr consulted Coroner Wolverton as to the advisability of holding an inquest, but after being informed of the facts the coroner decided that an inquest was not necessary.

The remains were interred at Stewart's Church, three miles east of Stoney Creek, yesterday.

CORYDON SMITH'S ALLEGED CRIME

To be Brought Up on a Writ of H.C.—Legal Notes.

TORONTO, Dec. 16.—Mr. Du Vernet, counsel for Corydon, W. Smith, obtained from Mr. Justice Rose, on notice to the Attorney General, an order for leave to issue a habeas corpus to the keeper of the jail of the county of Norfolk to produce Smith before the presiding judge in the chamber at Osgoode Hall and for a writ of certiorari in support thereof. Smith was arrested in August last on the charge of having in December 1881, administered a drug to one Maria Colville with intent to procure a miscarriage and having thereby killed her. He was committed to jail to await trial. The assizes were held at Simcoe on Oct. 20 last, but Smith's case was not brought before the grand jury, the excuse given by the crown counsel being that it was the desire of the crown to have Detective Murray investigate the case and that he had been too busy with the Birchall case to do so; also that some necessary witnesses were absent. A motion was made by Smith's counsel to have the case presented before the grand jury, but this Mr. Justice Rose refused to do. An effort was then made to have the matter disposed of by the county judge under the Speedy Trials Act, but the judge would not interfere. On the return of the habeas corpus motion will be made to discharge the prisoner.

SITTING BULL KILLED.

HIS SON CROWFOOT ALSO SHOT DOWN IN THE MELEE.

Indian Braves Endeavor to Rescue the Old Chief and Many of Them, Together With Several Indian Police, Are Killed—Sitting Bull's Career.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 15.—Official news of the killing of Sitting Bull has been received by Gen. Miles, who is now in this city at the military headquarters here. He received two despatches this evening, the first from Pierre, S.D., stating that Sitting Bull and his son had been killed, but giving no further particulars. The other despatch was from Standing Rock Agency, and stated that Indian police started out this morning to arrest Sitting Bull, having understood that he proposed starting for the Bad lands at once. The police were followed by a troop of cavalry under Capt. Souchet and infantry under Capt. Drum. When the police reached Sitting Bull's camp on the Grand River, about 40 miles from Standing Rock, they found arrangements being made for departure.

The cavalry had not yet reached the camp when the police arrested Bull and started back with him.

Killed in an Attempt to Escape.

His followers quickly rallied to his rescue and tried to retake him. In the melee that ensued the wily old chief is said to have been killed and five of the best of the Indian police were also killed.

One of the police jumped on one of Sitting Bull's horses and rode back to the cavalry and infantry, telling them to hurry to the support of the police, and then hurried on to the agency with the news of the battle.

Nothing later than this has yet been received, but the death of Sitting Bull and at least five of those who had captured him seems undoubtedly true.

CROWFOOT ALSO KILLED.

The Old Chief's Son and Several Braves Bite the Dust.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—At 9 o'clock to-night Assistant Adjutant-General Corbin of Gen. Miles' staff received an official despatch from St. Paul saying that Sitting Bull, five of Sitting Bull's men and seven of the Indian police were killed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Indian Commissioner Morgan this evening received a despatch from Indian Agent McLaughlin. The despatch is dated Fort Yates, N.D., and reads:

"Indian police arrested Sitting Bull at his camp, 40 miles northwest of the agency, this morning at daylight. His followers attempted to rescue him and fighting commenced. Four policemen were killed and three wounded. Eight Indians were killed, including Sitting Bull and his son Crowfoot, and several others wounded. The police were surrounded for some time, but maintained their ground until relieved by United States troops, who now have possession of Sitting Bull's camp with all the women, children and property. Sitting Bull's followers, probably 100 men, deserted their families and fled west up the Grand River. The police behaved nobly and great credit is due them."

President Harrison is Pleased.

Commissioner Morgan showed this telegram to the President. The President said he had regarded Sitting Bull as the great disturbing element in his tribe, and now that he was out of the way he hoped a settlement of difficulties could be reached without further bloodshed.

It is a Mistake

To try to cure catarrh by using local applications. Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It is not a disease of the man's nose, but of the man. Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood reaches every part of the system expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

OYSTERS AND ORATORY.

The Town Council Feast After Their Labors.

A Statutory Meeting of the Council Held —The Treasurer's Statement Presented —Nearly all the Taxes Paid—Better Representation on the Nicholls Hospital Board—A Short Meeting of the Town Council.

There was very little business on hand, and the councillors went to work last night with a determination to finish before ten o'clock and for the first time this year hold Mayor Stevenson to his long-standing promise of oysters for the aldermen at any time when they adjourned before ten o'clock. They just saved themselves by the skin of their teeth. At a quarter to ten o'clock the councillors began to hurry, and at exactly two minutes to ten the last motion was passed and "oysters" were called. The Mayor laughingly invited "all hands and the reporters" over to the Palace Restaurant, where Mr. Dunn set up a neatly prepared but none the less delightful repast of the luscious bivalves. Mayor Stevenson presided, surrounded by a jolly assembly of councillors and town officials, including the Police Magistrate, Town Treasurer, Street Inspector, Market Clerk, etc. Jokes and jollity, feasting and laughter, wit and wisdom wiled away a pleasant hour. The Mayor's health was cordially drunk with the hope all round that the council might be able more frequently to get through its business by ten o'clock, and wind up the night's proceedings in this most aldermanic fashion. All those around the festive board had something to say, civic animosities were forgotten, complete harmony prevailed, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening of speeches, toasts and song was concluded after the electric lights had faded into darkness and the jovial gentlemen had given full vent to their convivial eloquence. It was a happy occasion. May there be more of them.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

Every councillor was in his chair at the statutory meeting of the council last night. The meeting was held for the purpose of receiving the treasurer's annual statement, and very little other business was taken up.

The minutes were dispensed with, but some communications and accounts were presented.

A letter was read from Mr. Robt. McLean, secretary of the Fire Underwriters' Association, stating that if the town purchased a chemical engine the insurance classification would be raised to "A."—Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Wm. Byers asked to be relieved from the payment of statute labour tax in town, as he pays taxes in Cavan.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From Rev. G. H. Davis, asking for remission of taxes on the ground that ministers were exempt by law.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

Mr. Lewis Croly objected to paying statute labour tax in town as he was assessed in Ashburnham.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

Mrs. Melissa Thornton applied for remission of taxes.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

Mr. H. B. Meharry applied for rebate of taxes paid for one Duval by Mrs. Robinson.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

A NEW INDUSTRY IN VIEW.

A petition, signed by Mr. J. Burnham, Q C., and a large number of others, requesting a bonus of $10,000 or thereabouts to assist Mr. D Menzies in establishing a manufactory for shoe polish and a tannery.

Mr. CAHILL moved that it be granted and the clerk instructed to prepare a by-law. The petition was numerously signed, more so than the petition on which was granted permission to erect telegraph poles on George street, and the council ought to obey the wishes of the people.

There was no seconder and the motion dropped.

The petition was referred to the Manufacturers' Committee.

EXPENSIVE SCHOOLS.

There was some discussion regarding the increase of $1,000 in the school expenditure over last year. This year the expenditure was $18,000—last year $14 000. Mr. Moore and Mr. Rutherford claimed that the school board went on increasing salaries and running up the expenditures, and now were talking about building a new $40 000 Collegiate Institute.

Mayor Stevenson and Mr. Kendry, the School Board representatives, said that the accommodation had to be increased, and still it was insufficient for the children. The largest expense was in the engaging of a new teacher for the Institute at a salary of $900, but the principal had demanded it. They both claimed to have done their best to keep down the expenses, and said they were opposed to building a new high school. The public schools were still crowded. The north ward school, Mr. Kendry pointed out, cost annually $1,700 or over, and the other public schools had been extended.

Mr. CAHILL thought the presence of such an abundance of children showed a healthy growth in the population, and, of course, it was necessary to educate them. This discussion would, however, show the public that the town council was not responsible altogether for the increase in the taxes. The school board, though, no doubt, it had not been guilty of any extravagance, was responsible for the increase of one mill on the rate.

MAYOR STEVENSON said that Mr Dumble had complained at the last meeting that the money due the board had not been paid over to them by the town, and they had to pay $1,100 interest on borrowed money. Of course, the town in the end had to pay the interest, but it appeared in the school board accounts and raised the expenditure. That was what Mr Dumble objected to.

Mr. DAVIDSON pointed out that the school board would not lose any money, for if the debentures had been sold last July it would have been at a loss greater than the interest they would have to pay; whereas in waiting till 31st December they got $18,000 cash.

Mr. MOORE said he and others did not object to any expenditure whenever necessary upon the Public Schools, but they did object to expense for luxuries in the High School, such as singing, athletics, etc.

Mr. LANGFORD pointed out that $3,000 of the $4 000 extra expenditure was upon the Public Schools.

On motion of Mr. DAVIDSON, 200 copies of the statement were ordered to be printed for distribution among the ratepayers.

REPRESENTATION ON THE HOSPITAL BOARD.

Mr. MOORE, with a few introductory remarks, which were embodied in the resolution, moved, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, Whereas the Protestant ratepayers of the town under the Act of the Legislature, 49 Vict., chap. 87, are, subject to the benefit derived from the endowment fund, the gift of the late Mrs. Nicholls, liable and bound to maintain the Nicholls' Hospital, and the town is therefore greatly interested in the management of the hospital; Resolved: that this council is of opinion the town has not the representation on the Board of said Hospital, it should, and is entitled to have, that this council should by the Bill relating to the Hospital which will be introduced at the next session of the Legislature, have authority on the Bill being passed, and at the first meeting of the new council in January of each year thereafter, nominate to the said Board in addition to the Mayor, three members from this council not otherwise members of the Board; that said Hospital Board be requested to provide as herein required; that the town solicitor draft the necessary clause and submit the same so said Board.—Carried.

THOSE ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

Mr. ADAM HALL enquired why the motion ordering the new electric lights, passed at the last meeting, had not been put into effect.

The MAYOR replied that though he had declared the motion carried, a question had been raised by Mr. Cahill that new lamps were included, and therefore the motion was illegal. The Mayor had therefore rescinded his sanction.

DISPUTED TERRITORY.

Mr. Kendry brought up a claim put forward by Mr. Deans for the ownership of property on George street north, at present occupied as a street. The matter was on motion referred to the Street and Bridge Committee to report.

A PUBLIC SCAVENGER.

Mr. Moore moved, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that the clerk advertise for tenders for a town scavenger under the sanitary bylaw, and that applications for tenders as received stand referred to the Committee on Appointments.—Carried.

The council then adjourned—to the oyster parlor.

Purity The importance of pure blood in the condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

BIG RAILWAY STRIKE IN SCOTLAND THREATENED.

The Italian Forces to Occupy Massala—A Wealthy and Prominent Muscovite Murdered by Russians.

DEATH DUE TO NIHILISTS.

Fate of a Wealthy Moscow Woman—The Flight of Sellverskoff's Murderer.

MOSCOW, Dec. 13.—Madame Kartzoff, a member of the most aristocratic circle in Russia, was found dead in her home in this city to-day. All the evidence points to a murder, and it is believed that the crime was committed by Nihilists. Madame Kartzoff was immensely wealthy. She was an aunt of the Russian Consul-General in Paris, towards whom the Nihilists have long entertained hostile feelings. The head of the murdered woman was nearly severed from the body. Her mouth was stuffed with a stocking and her hands were tied behind her back. Everything in the room was in perfect order. The smell of burning bedclothes, which had been set afire by the assassin, first alarmed the household.

PARIS, Dec. 13.—The Anarchist Delabruyere has written to the newspaper Le Clair a letter in which he says that he assisted Padlewsky, the Russian Pole who is suspected of being the murderer of General Sellverskoff, to make his escape from Paris after the crime was committed. Padlewsky, Delabruyere adds, made his way to Trieste, where he embarked upon a vessel and sailed for South America.

According to Delabruyere's statement Padlewsky confessed to him that he killed Sellverskoff on the spur of the moment. The general had tried to pump him regarding the frequenters of Bernhoff's house, where Padlewsky was employed, and had proposed that Padlewsky act as a spy. Padlewsky resented this by shooting the general. Three nights later a woman visited Delabruyere and implored him to assist Padlewsky in leaving the country. Delabruyere says he assented on the ground that it was a political crime. He relates how he disguised the fugitive by changing the color of his complexion and hair and afterwards accompanied him to Trieste. Delabruyere assigns as a further motive for his action that he desired to show that French reporters were not behind American newspaper men in journalistic enterprise.

M. Gregoire, a journalist, says that he kept Padlewsky, the suspected murderer of General Sellverskoff, concealed in his house from Nov. 15 to Dec. 3, when Padlewsky went to the house of M. Delabruyere.

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA.

A Bill to be Introduced into Congress With That End in View.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—An informal conference has been held here in relation to the action of Congress regarding reciprocity with Canada.

S. J. Ritchie and Erastus Wiman, accompanied by some prominent gentlemen from New York and Boston, have had interviews with Messrs. Hitt, Butterworth, McCreary and other members of the House of Representatives and with Senator Sherman, who is chairman of the Committee of Foreign Affairs of the Senate and the leader of the movement in the upper house. The final result of the various conferences is set forth by Mr. Wiman, who spoke to a reporter of a local paper as follows: "The growth of the feeling in favor of reciprocity in Congress is greater than the growth of any other sentiment. Mr. Blaine's attitude in its behalf a year ago, followed by the political revolution of November, has had an influence in favor of freer trade relations that it is impossible to overestimate. So far as Canada is concerned there is a universal desire to extend in that direction, and there is every probability that a resolution inviting that country to unrestricted reciprocity will pass this session. Such a resolution is fortunately in an excellent position for passage, being favorably reported upon by the Committee of Foreign Affairs, of which Mr. Hitt is chairman. Unfortunately Mr. Hitt, ever since his election has been ill and unable to attend the sittings of the House, but he is rapidly gaining strength and he will after the holidays, I believe, be in his place to promote better relations with Canada. In the Senate Mr. Sherman has agreed to adopt the exact terms of the Hitt resolution, thus removing the idea of partial reciprocity suggested in the Senate resolution, and making possible the passage of a reciprocal measure which with that condition might be imperilled. There are very troublous times in prospect in financial affairs, and it is not impossible that we are on the edge of a prolonged and extensive panic, the anxiety in regard to which may so occupy Congress that other matters will be neglected, but if ordinary conditions prevail there is hardly any doubt but before the 4th of March, when the Congress dissolves, an invitation will be given to Canada of an open market, which there will be no justification under heaven to refuse, thus removing at once and forever the disastrous results of such adverse legislation as the McKinley bill or the Foster tariff."

Reconstructing the Cabinet.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Since Parliament rose on Tuesday the clubs have been full of rumors of the possible reconstruction of the Ministry. The ground for these rumors is found in the consideration that as Lord Salisbury intends to remain in power the full period of the present Parliament, this is a suitable time for recasting the offices. No hotly disputed question is just now under discussion. The Opposition is divided. The family policy of the Liberal alliance with the Irish is seriously threatened. These conditions make the present a suitable moment for changes, if any are contemplated. They certainly seem inevitable, if there is not soon to be a general election. It is curious to note, amid these rumors, that nothing is said about the probability that the Unionist leaders will be invited or will desire to enter the Cabinet.

Day Awaiting His Doom.

WELLAND, Ont., Dec. 14.—Arthur Hoyt Day, who is to be executed here on Thursday next for wife murder, has been visited by his mother, from Rochester, this being the first time she has seen him since his arrest. The prisoner does not appear to fear his approaching doom, and says he will walk firmly to the scaffold. He yet holds a slight hope that he will escape the gallows. No interviewers are allowed to see him, and he is kept strictly isolated by order of the sheriff. It is not thought he will make a confession. Radcliffe is to officiate as hangman.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

ONE OF THE THINGS
we are apt to grumble at
IN FRANCE,

THE providing of one's own soap at hotels! Permit me to remark that this is one of those things

They do manage better in France

than we do here. I am strongly of opinion that every one when travelling should carry his or her own soap as one takes one's own hair-brush or sponge. It is much more cleanly, and there can be no better providing in this respect for the hot sun and warm winds and dust of travel than a cake of
